THE HINDU DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACT (XV OF 1916).

Year.	No.	Short title.	Amendment.
1946	XV	The Hindu Disposition of Property Act, 1916.	XXI of 1929.

[28*th September*, 1916.

An Act to remove certain existing disabilities in respect of the power of disposition of property by Hindus for the benefit of persons not in existence at the date of such disposition.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove certain existing disabilities in respect of the power of disposition of property by Hindus for the benefit of persons not in existence at the date of such disposition: it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACT, 1916.

(2) It extends, in the first instance, to the whole of British India, except the Province of Madras: Provided that the [1][Provincial Government] may, by notification in the Official Gazette, extend this Act to the province of Madras.

Dispositions for the benefit of persons not in existence.

2. Subject to the limitations and provisions specified in this Act, no disposition of property by a Hindu, whether by transfer inter vivos or by will, shall be invalid by reason only that any person for whose benefit it may have been made was not in existence at the date of such disposition.

Limitations and conditions.

3. The limitations and provisions referred to in section 2 shall be the following, namely:—

(a) in respect of dispositions by transfer inter vivos, those contained in [2][Chapter II] of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and

(b) in respect of dispositions by will, those contained in [2][sections 113, 114, 115 and 116 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925].

4. Failure of prior disposition [Repealed by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act (XXI of 1929), S. 12.]

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted for the words "Governor-General in Council" by A.O., 1937.

2 Substituted by Act XXI of 1929, S. 12.

Application of this Act to the Khoja community.

5. Where the [1][Provincial Government] is of opinion that the Khoja community in [2][the Province] or any part thereof desire that the provisions of this Act should be extended to such community, [3][it] may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that the provisions of this Act, with the substitution of the word "Khojas" or "Khoja", as the case may be, for the word "Hindus" or "Hindu" wherever those words occur, shall apply to that community in such area as may be specified in the notification, and this Act shall thereupon have effect accordingly.

THE HINDU GAINS OF LEARNING ACT (XXX OF 1930).

[25*th July*, 1930.

An Act to remove doubt as to the rights of a member of a Hindu undivided family in property acquired by him by means of his learning.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove doubt, and to provide an uniform rule, as to the rights of a member of a Hindu undivided family in property acquired by him by means of his learning: It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU GAINS OF LEARNING ACT, 1930.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "acquirer" means a member of a Hindu undivided family, who acquires gains of learning;

(b) "gains of learning" means all acquisitions of property made substantially by means of learning whether such acquisitions be made before or after the commencement of this Act and whether such acquisitions be the ordinary or the extraordinary result of such learning; and

(c) "learning" means education, whether elementary, technical, scientific, special or general, and training of every kind which is usually intended to enable a person to pursue any trade, industry, profession or avocation in life.

Gains of learning not to be held not to be separate property of acquirer merely for certain reasons.

3. Notwithstanding any custom, rule or interpretation of the Hindu Law, no gains of learning shall be held not to be the exclusive and separate property of the acquirer merely by reason of—

(a) his learning having been, in whole or in part, imparted to him by any member, living or deceased, of his family, or with the aid of the joint funds of his family, or with the aid of the funds of any member thereof; or

(b) hmself or his family having, while he was acquiring his learning, been maintained or supported, wholly or in part, by the joint funds of his family, or by the funds of any member thereof.

Savings.

4. This Act shall not be deemed in any way to affect—

(a) the terms or incidents of any transfer of property made or effected before the commencement of this Act,

(b) the validity, invalidity, effect or consequences of anything already suffered or done before the commencement of this Act,

(c) any right or liability created under a partition, or an agreement for a partition, of joint family property made before the commencement of this Act, or

[2] Substituted for the words "British India" by ibid.

[3] Substituted for the word 'he' by ibid.

(d) any remedy or proceeding in respect of such right or liability; or to render invalid or in any way affect anything done before the commencement of this Act in any proceeding pending in a Court at such commencement; and any such remedy and any such proceeding as is herein referred to may be enforced, instituted or continued, as the case may be, as if this Act had not been passed.

THE HINDU INHERITANCE (REMOVAL OF DISABILITIES) ACT (XII OF 1928).

[20*th September*, 1928.

An Act to amend the Hindu Law relating to exclusion from inheritance of certain classes of heirs, and to remove certain doubts.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Hindu Law relating to exclusion from inheritance of certain classes of heirs, and to remove certain doubts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU INHERITANCE (REMOVAL OF DISABILITIES) ACT, 1928.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall not apply to any person governed by the Dayabhaga School of Hindu law.

Persons not to be excluded from inheritance or rights in joint family property

2. Notwithstanding any rule of Hindu Law or custom to the contrary, no person governed by the Hindu Law, other than a person who is and has been from birth a lunatic or idiot, shall be excluded from inheritance or from any right or share in joint family property by reason only of any disease, deformity, or physical or mental defect.

Saving and exception.

3. Nothing contained in this Act shall affect any right which has accrued or any liability which has been incurred before the commencement thereof, or shall be deemed to confer upon any person any right in respect of any religious office or service or of the management of any religious or charitable trust which he would not have had if this Act had not been passed.

THE HINDU LAW OF INHERITANCE (AMENDMENT) ACT (II OF 1929)

[21*st February*, 1929.

An Act to alter the order in which certain heirs of a Hindu male dying intestate are entitled to succeed to his estate.

WHEREAS it is expedient to alter the order in which certain heirs of a Hindu male dying intestate are entitled to succeed to his estate; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PREAMBLE.—"HINDU MALE DYING INTESTATE"—MEANING OF.—The words "Hindu male dying intestate", in the preamble of the Act, simply mean the Hindu male who has died or may die hereafter and they cannot be construed as meaning only a Hindu male who will hereafter die intestate as excluding one who has already died. 16 P. 215 =18 Pat.L.T. 8=1937 P. 117 (F.B.). The Act affects all Hindus governed by the Mitakshara. Hence in the absence of an interpretation clause the Courts should interpret the terms of the enactment in the sense in which they are used in the Mitakshara law. 69 I.A. 145=1943 P.C. 10=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 180 (P.C.). This Act is no guide to the interpretation of the rules of the old law of Inheritance. 1942 N.L.J. 65=1942 Nag. 57 =I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 629. The Hindu Law of Inheritance Amendment Act only applies to the separate property of a Hindu male

Short title, extent and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU LAW OF INHERITANCE (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1929.

who dies intestate. Where the estate in dispute is the stridhanam property of a Hindu widow, the property can only be regarded as belonging to her in her own right and hence the Act does not apply; succession to such property is governed by the ordinary rule of Hindu lalw. 59 L.W. 134=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 196. The Act applies not only to persons who were already heirs under the Mitakshara law but also to the persons specified so as to constitute them heirs even in those provinces where they were not heirs according to the prevailing view of the law of the Mitakshara. 69 I.A. 145=1942 P.C. 10=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 180 (P.C.). The Act does not apply to the Bombay Province, and the order of succession in Bombay giving the sister a place after the father's mother and before the father's father is not affected or altered by the Act. Under the Bombay school a full sister is a preferential heir to a half-sister. 45 Bom.L.R. 434=1943 Bom. 213.

SEC. 1: ACT, IF RETROSPECTIVE—SCOPE AND EFFECT.—The provisions of Act II of 1929 regulate succession to the estate of a Hindu male, governed by the law of the Mitakshara, who had died before the Act came into force but whose estate had vested in a female holder who was alive on 21st February, 1929, which is the date of the enforcement of the Act. 39 P.L.R. 448=1937 Lah. 196 (2). See also I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 948=46 L.W. 37=1937 Mad. 699=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 209 (F.B.); 18 Pat.L.T. 8=16 Pat. 215=1937 Pat. 117 (F.B.); 1937 O.W.N. 672 =1937 Oudh 402. The Act merely alters the order of succession but does not alter the date on which the succession opens out. It is clear the question about the order of succession is material only when the succession opens out, and so if that event occurs after the Act has come into force, the order given in the Act should apply. 172 I.C. 858=1938 Nag. 97. Where the last male owner dies before the passing of the Act leaving a female heir who is alive after that Act came into force, the succession to the last male owner is governed by the provisions of this Act. 1943 O.W.N. 140=1943 Oudh 316. Succession to the estate of a Hindu who leaves a widow surviving him is governed by the state of things which exists, not at his death, but at the death of his widow. In other words, for the purposes of succession a Hindu is deemed to have died not on the date on which he actually died, but on the date of the death of his widow. Where a Hindu dies intestate before the passing of the Act but his widow who takes the estate dies after the coming into force of the Act, the Act will govern the succession to that estate. To apply the Act when the widow dies after the Act is in no sense to make the Act retrospective. 40 Bom.L.R. 120=1939 Bom. 50. Stridhan of maiden dying after 1929 —Succession—Preferential right among heirs of father—Determination—Reference to Act is permissible. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 228=41 Bom.L.R. 287=1939 Bom. 194. The object of the Hindu Law of Inheritance (Amendment) Act is to allow a new class of persons "to succeed by inheritance" and the Act applies to all cases where succession opens after its coming into force. Where a Hindu owner dies before the coming into force of the Act and is succeeded by his grandmother who dies after the Act comes into force, the sister is entitled to succeed to his estate under the Act as succession opens when the grandmother dies, and not when the last male owner dies. 161 I.C. 353=1936 A.L.J. 64=1936 A. 154. If succession opens out after the coming into force of Act II of 1929, a sister can take advantage of the provisions of the Act even though the last male owner had died previously. A sister can, therefore, after the Act has come into force, maintain a suit for a declaration that an agreement entered into between the widows and the reversioners on the last male owner's death is not binding on her, even though the agreement was executed before the Act came into force. 163 I.C. 756=1936 A.L.J. 659=1936 A. 507 (F.B.). The Hindu Law of Inheritance (Amendment) Act applies even to cases where the last male Hindu owner had died prior to the coming into force of that Act, and after the passing of that Act, the sister has a reversionary right to his estate. Where, therefore, the last male owner died before the Act came into force and he was succeeded by his mother who remained in possession of the property till after the Act came into force and then executed a deed of gift in favour of her daughter, the deed of gift being by one limited owner in favour of another who is the next reversinary heir would have the effect of acceleration of the interest in her favour. 1937 O. 204=12 Luck. 324=1936 O.W.N. 712. Act II of 1929 is not retrospective and a sister is not an heir where the Hindu male through whom she claims died before the passing of the Act. 1933 L. 777 (1)=34 P.L.R. 964=146 I.C. 511 (1). See also 153 I.C. 545=1935 A. 203; 57 M. 718=66 M.L.J. 70=1943 M. 138. Act II of 1929 applies to the case of a person who dies before it came into force, if his widow, who inherits his estate, is alive at the time of its enforcement. (1932 L. 361 and 1934 P. 324, Foll.). 17 L. 356=1936 L. 124. Act does apply to cases in which a male governed by the law of Mitakshara has died before the date on which the Act came into force leaving a widow who was alive on such date. (1936 L. 124, Foll.) 163 I.C. 480 (1)=1936 L. 139. See also 1937 L. 196 (2). Where a widow is in possen-

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas, but it applies only to persons who, but for the passing of this Act, would have been subject to the law of Mitakshara in respect of the provisions herein enacted, and it applies to such persons in respect only of the porperty of males not held in coparcenery and not disposed of by will.

sion of her husband's estate as a limited owner, the question whether certain persons are heirs under Act II of 1929 depends on the date of the death of the widow and not on the date of the death of the last male-holder. In such cases the question is not whether Act II of 1929 is retrospective. 150 I.C. 1039=15 P.L.T. 707=1934 P. 324. But see also 66 M.L.J. 70. On the language of the Act as it stands, no question of its retrospective operation arises. The mere fact that the change of law introduced by the Act affects also the estates of persons who have died intestate before the Act does not, by itself, make the Act retrospective in its operation. The critical date being the date when the succession opens, the Act would be retrospective only if it was applied to cases where the succession opened before the Act. That the Act may in certain cases apply to the estates of persons who died before the passing of the Act cannot prejudicially affect any rights which the reversioner possesses only in a representative capacity. It cannot therefore be said that the Act is retrospective. 16 P. 215=1937 P. 117 (F.B.). The effect of the Act is simply to substitute a revised list of reversionary heirs to a Hindu male with certain additions and alterations in place of the list which was in force under the law as it stood before the Act. The Act, however, makes no reference to the date of death of the Hindu male and there is no reason why the operation of the Act should depend upon that date. The only date which is material is the date when the succession opens or when the question of succession to the estate arises. If such a question arose before the Act came into force, the succession would be governed by the Hindu Law as it stood then; but if the question were to arise after the Act, the Act would apply. The only criterion to be applied in determining whether the Act is applicable to a particular case is to enquire when the succession opened and whether the conditions laid down in the Act for its application have been fulfilled. The question of the applicability of the Act will arise only when the succession opens and not before it. 16 P. 215=18 Pat.L.T. 8=1937 P. 117 (F.B.). The Act was designed not only to give a sister a higher position in the order of succession than she previously held in provinces where she was already an heir but also to constitute her an heir even in provinces where she was not previously an heir according to the prevailing view of Hindu Law. 10 O.W.N. 424=1933 O. 231; 168 I.C. 733 =1937 Oudh 402=1937 O.W.N. 672. See also 57 B. 377=35 Bom.L.R. 397=1933 B. 272; 146 I.C. 511 (1)=1533 L. 777 (1). Right to challenge alienation by widow already barred by time—Persons becoming reversioners by reason of this Act—Right of suit. See 19 Pat.L.T. 145=1938 P. 510.

SEA. 1 (2): "PROPERTY NOT DISPOSED OF BY WILL"—MEANING OF.—The words "not disposed of by will" which occur at the end of the sub-sec. (2) of S. 1 of the Act cover also property that cannot be disposed of by will. 16 P. 215=18 Pat.L.T. 8=1937 P. 117 (F.B.). The term 'Hindu' should be interpreted as including Jains more particularly in view of the wording in S. 1 (2) of the Act. 1938 N.L.J. 168=1938 Nag. 298. The Act applies not only to persons who were heirs under some sub-schools of the Mitakshara but also to son's daughter, daughter's daughter, sister and sister's son in all the provinces governed by the Mitakshara and makes them heirs in those provinces. 15 Luck. 229=1940 Oudh 138 (F.B.). The Act applies to Hindus including Jains, and to all persons governed by the Mitakshara law including those governed by the Mitakshara law as modified by the Mayukha. Among Jains from Gujarat who have migrated and settled in the Belgaum District, the sister's son is entitled to succeed to a deceased male in preference to a father's sister. The position of the father's sister as a preferential heir as a gotraja sapinda is not saved by S. 3 (a) of the Act. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 250=43 Bom.L.R. 114=1941 Bom. 233.

SEC. 2.—The Act is very limited in its scope, and regulates succession only to the separate property of a Hindu male dying in intestacy. It does not purport to alter the law in respect of the property of a female. But where a husband succeeds to his wife's stridhana property, and dies, it descends in the same way as if it had belonged to the husband himself; and to ascertain as to who the heirs of the husband are, the Court must refer to the law governing succession to the property of the husband in force at the time when succession opens out. If at such time Act II of 1929 has come into force, it is that Act which governs succession and the property cannot be deemed to be property of a female,

Provided that a sister's son shall not include a son adopted after the sister's death.

Savings.

3. Nothing in this Act shall—

(a) affect any special family or local custom having the force of law, or

(b) vest in a son's daughter, daughter's daughter or sister an estate larger than, or different in kind from, that possessed by a female in property inherited by her from a male according to the school of Mitakshara law by which the male was governed, or

(c) enable more than one person to succeed by inheritance to the estate of a deceased Hindu male which by a customary or other rule of succession descends to a single heir.

THE HINDU MARRIED WOMEN'S RIGHT TO SEPARATE RESIDENCE AND MAINTENANCE ACT (XIX OF 1946).

[4th May, 1946.

An Act to give Hindu married women a right to separate residence and maintenance under certain circumstances.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the right to separate residence and maintenance under certain circumstances in the case of Hindu married women; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1937 Lah. 196. B gifted certain property inherited from her son to her daughter's son. In April, 1925, the reversioners obtained a decree to the effect that the gift did not affect the reversioner's rights. The donee preferred an appeal and during its pendency Act II of 1929 came into force. The donor being alive, held, that the suit should be dismissed because under the new Act the donee was entitled to succeed B in preference to the plaintiff. Semble: Had B died before the Act came into force the position would have been different. 13 L. 178=138 I.C. 291=1932 L. 361.

SISTER AND HALF-SISTER.—Although the term sister in S. 2 includes a half-sister, the full-sister and the half-sister will not take together. The latter will take the inheritance only when there is no full sister to claim it. 69 I.A. 145=1943 P.C. 10=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 180 (P.C.). See also 1938 Nag. 134 (F.B.). The word "sister" in S. 2, includes a half-sister by the same father. 1943 P.C. 184=(1943) 2 M. L. J. 459 (P.C.). See also 1938 Mad. 364; 1947 Mad. 555. The Act must be construed strictly but it must be construed in accordance with Hindu conceptions; the word "sister" in S. 2 includes also a half-sister by the same father. I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 235=56 L. W. 12=1943 Mad. 139=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 1 (F. B.); 1933 A.L.J. 680=1933 All. 491; 1935 Oudh 332; 1940 Pat. 310 are not good law). The word 'sister' in S. 2 of the Act includes half-sister. Consequently the son of the half-blood and the son of the full-blood both fall within the class referred to as 'sister's son' in the Act. It does not, however, follow that in contest between the son of a sister of the full-blood and the son of a sister of the half-blood the two would be deemed equal. 172 I.C. 858=1938 Nag. 97. The object of the Act was to legalise the position of certain heirs including the sister and it was not intended to change for the worse the position which the sister holds in the Bombay Presidency. Held, that the sister was the preferential heir to the brother's widow. 35 Bom.L.R. 397=1933 B. 272=57 B. 377.

SISTER—RIGHT TO SUCCEED TO MOTHER'S ESTATE.—A sister is an heir and is entitled to succeed to the estate inherited by mother, as such, after her death. 1934 A. 469.

"SISTER'S SON"—MEANING OF—IF INCLUDES SON OF HALF-SISTER.—The term "sister" in S. 2 includes a half-sister, (i.e.) a sister by the same father even though the mother is different; but cannot be extended beyond that to include one who has not the same father. By parity of reasoning the term "sister's son" includes a half-sister's son. Accordingly a half-sister's son is entitled under the Act to preference as heir over the father's uncle's son and on his death his mother is entitled to succeed him under the ordinary law. 67 I.A. 145=1943 P.C. 10=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 180 (P.C.).

SEC. 3 (a).—A custom in its legal sense is some established practice at variance with the general law. The practice by which sisters were excluded from inheritance in Oudh is merely in accordance with Hindu Law as interpreted there and hence it is not a special custom within the meaning of S. 3 (a) of Act II of 1929 so as to exclude sisters from inheritance after the passing of the Act. 10 O.W.N. 424=1933 O. 231. Whether or not the custom referred to in S. 3 (a) must be one in derogation of the law of the school governing the parties, it is clear that judicial decisions based either on inferences drawn from the texts or on the principle of stare decisis cannot constitute a custom within the meaning of the Act. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 250=43 Bom.L.R. 114=1941 Bom. 233. The position of the father's sister as a preferential heir as a gotraja sapinda is not saved by S. 3 (a) of the Act. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 250=43 Bom.L.R. 114=1941 Bom. 233.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU MARRIED WOMEN'S RIGHT TO SEPARATE RESIDENCE AND MAINTENANCE ACT, 1946.

(2) It applies to the whole of British India.

Grounds for claiming separate residence and maintenance.

2. Notwithstanding any custom or law to the contrary a Hindu married woman shall be entitled to separate residence and maintenance from her husband on one or more of the following grounds, namely,—

(1) if he is suffering from any loathsome disease not contracted from her;

(2) if he is guilty of such cruelty towards her as renders it unsafe or undesirable for her to live with him;

(3) if he is guilty of desertion, that is to say, of abandoning her without her consent or against her wish;

(4) if he marries again;

(5) if he ceases to be a Hindu by conversion to another religion:

(6) if he keeps a concubine in the house or habitually resides with a concubine;

(7) for any other justifiable cause:

Provided that a Hindu married woman shall not be entitled to separate residence and maintenance from her husband if she is unchaste or ceases to be a Hindu by change to another religion or fails without sufficient cause to comply with a decree of a competent Court for the restitution of conjugal rights.

Amount of maintenance.

3. When allowing a claim for separate residence and maintenance under section 2, the Court shall determine the amount to be paid by the husband to the wife therefor, and in so doing shall have regard to the social standing of the parties and the extent of the husband's means.

offspring of such widows by any second marriage are held to be illegitimate and incapable of inheriting property; and

Whereas many Hindus believe that this imputed legal incapacity, although it is in accordance with established custom, is not in accordance with a true interpretation of the precepts of their religion, and desire that the civil law administered by the Courts of Justice shall no longer prevent those Hindus who may be so minded from adopting a different custom, in accordance with the dictates of their own conscience; and

Whereas it is just to relieve all such Hindus from this legal incapacity of which they complain, and the removal of all legal obstacles to the marriage of Hindu widows will tend to the promotion of good morals and to the public welfare; It is enacted as follows:—

Marriage of Hindu widows legalised.

1. No marriage contracted between Hindus shall be invalid, and the issue of no such marriage shall be illegitimate, by reason of the woman having been previously married or betrothed to another person who was dead at the time of such marriage, any custom and any interpretation of Hindu law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Rights of widow in deceased husband's property to cease on her re-marriage.

2. All rights and interests which any widow may have in her deceased husband's property by way of maintenance, or by inheritance to her husband or to his lineal successors, or by virtue of any will or testamentary disposition conferring upon her, without express permission to re-marry, only a limited interest in such property, with no power of alienating

SEC. 1: SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF ACT. —Act is not retrospective. 28 Bom.L.R. 431=94 I.C. 704=1926 B. 381. All cases of re-marriage of Hindu widows are governed by Act XV of 1856. Customs can only take effect within the four walls of that Act. 12 I.C. 623. But see also 65 I.C. 117=24 O.C. 297. The Act applies to all Hindu widows irrespective of caste regulations concerning re-marriage. 17 I C. 133=8 N.L. R. 128. The Act was intended to render re-marriage valid and to secure the legitimacy of children. It conferred a benefit on those who could not re-marry, but at the same time imposed a restriction on them. It was not intended to deprive those who already possessed the right to re-marry, of whatever rights they enjoyed in their deceased husband's properties. 1932 A.L.J. 941 =1932 A. 617 (F.B.). Neither the conversion of a widow into Mahomedanism nor her marriage with a Mahomedan husband after con version could divest her of her interest in her deceased Hindu husband's estate. 35 A. 466=20 I.C. 335=11 A.L.J. 678. But see also 59 B. 417=37 Bom.L.R. 150=1935 B. 298.

CUSTOM.—Act does not apply where by custom, a widow is permitted to re-marry and does not forfeit the property inherited by her from her former husband. 65 I.C. 117= 24 O.C. 297. See also 55 A. 24= 140 I. C. 631=1932 A. L. J. 941= 1932 A. 617; 19 C. 289; 11 A. 330; 11 B. 119; 31 A. 161; 15 C.W.N. 579; 32 A. 489; 11 A.L.J. 683; 12 I.C. 623; 7 O.W.N. 206=121 I.C. 899; 12 L. L.J. 196; 122 I.C. 512. But see also 3 Luck. 610; 1929 M. 765=57 M.L.J. 253. Act does not override the customs prevailing in Punjab as regards non-forfeiture of widow's rights over her deceased husband's property by virtue of S. 7 of Act IV of 1872 (Punjab Laws Act, 1924), S. 17.

OBJECT OF THE ACT.—It is not the object of the Act to deprive a Hindu widow upon her re-marriage of any right or interest which she had at the time of her re-marriage. 4 Pat.L.T. 650=1924 P. 233.

RIGHT OF INHERITANCE.—When after the re-marriage of a widow her son dies and the question is of her right of succeeding to him, the Act must be held not to affect her rights. 4 Pat.L.T. 650=1924 P. 233. A Hindu widow can inherit from her son by a former marriage, though she had re-married at the date of her son's death. 26 C.W.N. 925= 1922 C. 140 (11 W.R. 82, Ref.; 29 B. 91, Ref.). A re-married Hindu widow succeeds to the property of her son by her first husband, whether or not the Act applies. 70 I. C. 479=79 I.C. 1048=1922 C. 140=26 C.W. N. 925=39 C.L.J. 88 (11 W.R. 82, Foll.).

SEC. 2: RIGHT OF WIDOW RE-MARRYING ACCORDING TO CASTE CUSTOM—FORFEITURE— CONFLICT OF RULINGS.—S. 2 applies not only to widows who could not re-marry before the passing of the Act but also to those who were not so precluded from re-marrying either by law or custom. In either case, the widow forfeits the estate inherited by her from her former husband. 50 C. 727=27 C.W.N. 669 =1924 C. 98. But see also 4 Pat.L.T. 650. S. 2 does not apply to the case of those widows who are entitled under the custom of their caste to re-marry the same, shall upon her re-marriage cease and determine as if she had then died; and the next heirs of her deceased husband, or other persons entitled to the property on her death, shall thereupon succeed to the same.

and are not bound to take advantage of the provisions of the Act. Accordingly there is no forfeiture of the Hindu widow's estate on re-marriage under the Act in such a case, nor can such forfeiture ensue as a matter of equity as it is against natural justice. The proof of mere custom of re-marriage would not be sufficient to involve forfeiture under the Hindu Law and it would be necessary for the party claiming that the estate has been forfeited on account of re-marriage to prove that there is a custom of such forfeiture in such a contingency. 55 A. 24 =140 I.C. 631=1932 A.L.J. 941= 1932 A. 617 (F B.). But see 154 I.C. 875=1935 P. 58. A Hindu widow of the Jat community, among whom the custom of re-marriage has existed even before 1856, does not forfeit her rights in her husband's estate on her re-marriage by virtue of S 2 of the Act. 49 A. 203=100 I.C. 734=1927 A. 523. S. 2 of the Act applies also to Hindu castes in which widow re-marriage is permissible and a custom permitting the retention, by the re-marrying widow, of her estate in her first husband's property after re-marriage cannot be pleaded in the face of the express statutory forfeiture of such estate enacted by the section. 1929 M. 765=57 M.L.J. 253. See also 122 I C. 512. S. 2 of the Hindu Widows' Re-marriage Act must necessarily apply where the validity of a Hindu widow's re-marriage arises from the statutory provisions of the Act and is not independent of it, and the widow on re-marriage would forfeit her husband's estate. Whether forfeiture should apply as a matter of course or should depend upon proof of a special custom entailing forfeiture on re-marriage depends upon the further question whether the re-marriage has been contracted under the Act or under custom independent of the Act. Where a person claims the estate on the ground that the widow had forfeited the estate by her re-marriage, before he can be called upon to establish a custom entailing forfeiture of the estate on re-marriage, it has to be found that the widow validly contracted a second marriage under a custom independent of the Act. Such a custom should be ancient and must be in existence before the passing of the Act of 1856. 1937 A.L.J. 255=1937 A. 343. A Hindu widow, when she re-marries loses the estate which she had inherited from her deceased Hindu husband, even though, in the particular sect to which she belongs, the re-marriage of a widow is permitted. 154 I.C. 875=1935 P. 58. If a Hindu widow is allowed to re-marry by the custom of her caste, there is no need for recourse to the Act for the validity of her marriage and there is, therefore, no forfeiture, under that Act, of her right to maintenance. (31 A. 161, Foll.); 52 A. 705=125 I.C. 468=1930 A. 593. A Hindu widow's right to retain property inherited from the husband ceases on her re-marriage, and the reversioners have a right to immediate possession of the properties on her re-marriage. 15 I. C. 602=12 M L.T. 158; 29 I.C. 612=11 N L.R 86. Apart from the Act, under the Hindu Law, a widow's right to succession is based on the ground that she is half of the body of her deceased husband and that she is capable of conferring spiritual benefits on him. When she re-marries she ceases to be half of the body of her late husband or to be able to confer spiritual benefits on him and she becomes the wife and half of the body of her new husband. 3 P L T. 551 (11 A. 330; 31 A. 161: 32 A. 489. Diss.: 1 M. 226; 41 M. 1078; 21 C.W. N. 996: 22 C. 589; 14 C.W.N. 346; 8 C. L J. 542, Rel.) An outcaste Hindu widow does not cease to be a Hindu and if she re-marries, the provisions of the Act would apply. An alienation by her of her first husband's property after her re-marriage would be invalid. 54 I.C. 820. A Hindu widow loses all her rights in the property of her first husband even if she is converted and married to a person of another religion. 41 M. 1078=35 M.L.J 317=48 I.C. 50 (F.B.) (overruling 44 I.C. 299=7 L.W. 411=1918 M W N. 274). See also 35 A. 466=20 I. C 335=11 A.L.J. 678. Even a Hindu widow who becomes a Mahomedan and re-marries, loses her right to her husband's property. 3 P L.T. 551. The expression "any widow" in S. 2 includes all widows who being Hindus became widows and is wide enough to cover the case of such a widow re-marrying a Hindu or a member of another religion. A Hindu widow who therefore becomes a convert to Mahomedanism and then marries a Mahomedan forfeits whatever interest she has in her husband's property. S 2 would apply to her notwithstanding her renunciation of faith and subsequent marriage with a non-Hindu. 59 B. 417=1935 B. 298 =37 Bom.L.R. 150. Where a Hindu woman becomes a widow and afterwards embraces Mahomedanism and marries a Mahomedan, and where afterwards her Hindu sister devises property to her by will, the right of the devisee to the property is not affected. Similarly when the devisee dies leaving a sister who has also embraced Islam after her widowhood and married a Mahomedan the latter sister can succeed to her property. 87 I.C. 621=1925 M. 861. Gift by father-inlaw to widowed daughter-in-law—Re-marriage—Effect on gift. 1924 M. 600= 47 M.L.J. 1. This Act applies even to widows among whom there is a caste custom permitting re-marriage. This Act operates as a forfeiture not only of property inherited Guardianship of children of deceased husband on the re-marriage of his widow.

3. On the re-marriage of a Hindu widow, if neither the widow nor any other person has been expressly constituted by the will or testamentary disposition of the deceased husband the guardian of his children the father or paternal grandfather or the mother or paternal grandmother, of the deceased husband. or any male relative of the deceased husband, may petition the highest Court having original jurisdiction in civil cases in the place where the deceased husband was domiciled at the time of his death for the appointment of some proper person to be guardian of the said children, and thereupon it shall be lawful for the said Court, if it shall think fit, to appoint such guardian who when appointed shall be entitled to have the care and custody of the said children, or of any of them during their minority, in the place of their mother; and in making such appointment the Court shall be guided, so far as may be by the laws and rules in force touching the guardianship of children who have neither father nor mother:

Provided that, when the said children have not property of their own sufficient for their support and proper education whilst minors, no such appointment shall be made otherwise than with the consent of the mother unless the proposed guardian shall have given security for the support and proper education of the children whilst minors.

Nothing in this Act to render any childless widow capable of inheriting.

4. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to render any widow who, at the time of the death of any person leaving any property, is a childless widow, capable of inheriting the whole or any share of such property, if before the passing of this Act, she would have been incapable of inheriting the same by reason of her being a childless widow.

rights at the time of re-marriage. 31 I.C. 290=11 N.L.R. 116. But see contra 61 I. C. 303=24 O.C. 11: 32 I C. 338; 40 I.C. 783=21 C W N. 900. She will also forfeit her right to maintenance out of the deceased husband's property. 40 I.C. 783=21 C.W. N. 906. But see 48 L.W. 592=1938 Mad. 994=(1938) 2 M L.J. 701. Act merely enables widows of those castes to re-marry, who by their custom are prevented from doing so and declares the consequences entitled thereon; it does not alter any customs relating to re-marriage or its legal incidents. 61 I.C. 303 =24 O.C. 11. S. 2 of the Act does not apply to a case where a Hindu widow re-marries according to a custom and such custom allows her to retain the property inherited from her first husband. 61 I.C. 303.

ALIENATION BY HINDU WIDOW.—An alienation by a Hindu widow of the property of her deceased husband for purposes not binding on the estate ceases to be effective on her re-marriage, even if such re-marriage be permitted by the custom of her caste and the next reversioner is entitled, on her re-marriage, to possession of the property as against the alienee. There is no analogy as regards the rights of the alienee between surrender and re-marriage. 1932 M. 120=62 M.L.J. 131.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—A Hindu widow who re-marries and who seeks to escape the operation of S. 2 of the Act, has the onus on her of establishing the existence of a custom, which is ancient and which has not come into existence since 1856, sanctioning the re-marriage of widows. 58 A. 1034=1937 A. L J 251=1937 A. 230.

SEC. 3.—There is nothing in the provisions of the Act that renders obligatory for the Court to remove a re-married widow from the guardianship of her minor sons. 38 C. 862 =15 C.W.N. 579. See also 32 P.W R. 1913: 4 A. 195 (as to meaning of "children"); 24 B. 89. S. 3 in no way makes it incumbent upon the Court to appoint a guardian nor does it provide in every case where a Hindu widow re-marries, some one should be appointed in her place. The scheme of the section is to allow any one of the relations named to apply to the Court in case of re-marriage of a widow, to be appointed guardian of the child, so that the Court may consider the position and if it thinks fit, appoint some person other than the mother, preferably from among the named relations in the order given as guardian of the child. If the mother as the result of her second marriage should have renounced her position as guardian, then the paternal grandfather may be appointed, but if when an application has been made, the Court is of the opinion that it is in the best interests of the minor for the time being to remain with the mother, there is nothing in the section which compels it to appoint a guardian of the child. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 29=A.I.R. 1942 Sind 121. A widow does not cease to be a testamentary guardian of a minor son by re-marriage. 47 P.L.R. 1913=18 I.C. 133. The provisions of S. 3 have no application to a case, where Saving of rights of widow marrying, except as provided in sections 2 to 4.

5. Except as in the three preceding sections is provided, a widow shall not, by reason of her re-marriage forfeit any property or any right to which she would otherwie be entitled; and every widow who has re-married shall have the same rights of inheritance as she would have had, had such marriage been her first marriage.

Ceremonies constituting valid marriage to have same effect on widow's marriage.

6. Whatever words spoken, ceremonies performed or engagements made on the marriage of a Hindu female who has not been previously married, are sufficient to constitute a valid marriage, shall have the same effect if spoken, performed or made on the marriage of a Hindu widow; and no marriage shall be declared invalid on the ground that such words, ceremonies or engagements are inapplicable to the case of a widow.

Consent to re-marriage of minor widow.

7. If the widow re-marrying is a minor whose marriage has not been consummated, she shall not re-marry without the consent of her father, or if she has no father, of her paternal grandfather, or if she has no such grandfather, of her mother, or failing all these, of her elder brother, or failing also brothers, of her next male relative.

from her former husband but of all existing the widow belong to a caste in which re-marriage is permitted. Hence where the widow has married under the Customary law the provisions of S. 3 are inapplicable to her and therefore she does not forfeit, her right of guardianship of her children. 183 I.C. 513=1939 Lah. 125. See also 61 I.C. 303. Under Hindu Law the mother is, after the father, the natural and legal guardian of her children and she does not lose her right by re-marriage in cases when such re-marriage is recognised as valid by custom. To such cases S. 3 was obviously not intended to apply. And even under the Act the mother is not considered to be physically dead and may, in appropriate cases, be appointed as guardian though not in her own natural right, but where it is for the welfare of the minor to do so. (1 L. 146 and 38 C. 862, Ref.) 1933 L. 817. On this section, see also 15 C.W.N. 579; 11 W.R. 82; 24 B. 89; 33 B. 107.

SEC. 5.—[See also notes under secs. 1, 2 and 3, supra.] The object of the Act is to remove all legal obstacles to Hindu widow re-marriages. S. 5 was never intended to lay down any proposition regarding the inheritance by a Hindu widow. 45 B. 1247=63 I.C. 947. A re-married Hindu widow is not entitled to inherit as a gotraja sapinda to the relations of her first husband. 45 B. 1247.

SEC. 6.—The purpose of the Hindu Widows' Re-marriage Act is not to limit but rather to increase the rights of Hindu widows and not to restrict any existing custom of re-marriage among Hindu widow's but to give the right to those to whom it had hitherto been denied. S. 6 of the Act does not apply to a case where the re-marriage is among people among whom widow re-marriage is recognized by custom. Where, therefore, the re-marriage is among sweepers, among whom widow re-mariage is generally recognized, it is not rendered invalid merely because the ceremonies necessary for the first marriage, as required by S. 6, have not been gone through. It is sufficient if the conditions essential by custom to validate the re marriage have been fulfilled and the widow becomes a married wife of the person to whom she is married, within the meaning of Ss. 497 and 498, Penal Code. 30 S.L.R. 421=167 I.C. 366=1937 C. 42. To prove the re-marriage of Hindu widow the same religious rites and ceremonies that are necessary to constitute her first marriage valid should be shown to have been observed in her re-marriage. Where, therefore, a Hindu widow had been validly married in the Brahma form but the observance of the aforesaid rites and ceremonies was not established as regards the re-marriage. Held, that the validity of the re-marriage was not established. 7 O.W.N. 753=1930 O. 426.

SECS. 6 AND 7.—There can be no valid marriage in any form without a substantial performance of the requisite religious ceremonies. The performance therefore of the necessary religious rites is necessary for the completion of a marriage even in a gandhrva form, of which re-marriage of a widow is an instance. So, neither the consent of a widow to re-marry herself under last paragraph of S. 7 nor mere talk by a person in the presence of visitors of his intention to take her as his wife is sufficient to constitute a valid marriage in the absence of the performance of some religious or secular rites. (12 Mad. 72, Rel. on). 174 I.C. 342=1938 Rang. 59.

Punishment for abetting marriage made contrary to this section.

All persons, knowingly abetting a marriage made contrary to the provisions of this section shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding one year or to fine or to both.

Effect of such marriage: Proviso.

And all marriages made contrary to the provisions of this section may be declared void by a Court of law: Provided, that in any question regarding the validity of a marriage made contrary to the provisions of this section, such consent as is aforesaid shall be presumed until the contrary is proved, and that no such marriage shall be declared void after it has been consummated.

Consent to re-marriage of major widow.

In the case of a widow who is of full age, or whose marriage has been consummated, her own consent shall be sufficient consent to constitute her re-marriage lawful and valid.

THE HINDU WOMEN'S RIGHT TO PROPERTY ACT (XVIII OF 1937).

[Amended by Acts XI of 1938 and XXXII of 1940.]

[14*th April*, 1937.

An Act to amend the Hindu Law governing Hindu Women's Rights to Property.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Hindu Law to give better rights to women in respect of property; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU WOMEN'S RIGHTS TO PROPERTY ACT, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, [1][* * * * * *].

SEC. 1: SCOPE—IF intra vires.—The provisions of the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act are intra vires the Legislature except in so far as they affect agricultural lands in the Governors' Provinces. I.L.R (1944) Mad. 556=(1944) F.L.J. 33=1944 Mad. 340=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 79; 58 L.W. 108=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 193=1945 Mad. 191.

VALIDITY OF ACT—"PROPERTY"—MEANING OF—ACT IF AFFECTS SUCCESSION TO AGRICULTURAL LAND.—No objection can be taken to the validity of the Hindu Women's Right to Property Act, 1937, on the ground only that it was introduced into the Legislature and passed by the Legislative Assembly before Part III of the Constitution Act came into force, as the Indian Legislature which was in existence immediately before the coming into force of Part III was continued in existence after that date, and was in all respects the same legislature, though its legislative powers were no longer as extensive as they had previously been. Nor can any objection be taken to the validity of the said Act on the ground that the powers of the Legislature changed during the passage of the Bill from the Legislative Assembly to the Council of State. The form, content or subject-matter of a Bill at the time of its introduction into, or of its consideration by, either Chamber of the Legislature is a matter with which a Court of law is not concerned. The question whether either Chamber has the right to discuss a Bill laid before it is a domestic matter regulated by the rules of the Chamber, as interpreted by its Speaker, and is not a matter with which a Court can interfere, or indeed on which it is entitled to express any opinion. The function of a Court is to pronounce upon the Bill after it has become an Act. Consequently the only date with which the Court is concerned is the date on which the Governor-General's assent was given; and the question whether the Act was or was not within the competence of the Legislature must be determined with reference to that date and to none other. 44 C.W.N. (F.R.) 81=1941 F.C. 72=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 12. See also 1937 A.W.R. (H.C.) 655; 195 I.C. 636=1941 Sind 114. The validity of the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act was impugned and the attack was based upon the date on which the Act was passed through the two chambers respectively of the Indian Legislature and at which the assent to the Bill was declared by the Governor-General. The Bill was passed by the Legislative Assembly on the 4th February, 1937, it was passed by the Council of State on the 6th April, 1937, and the Governor-General declared his assent thereto on the 14th April, 1937. In between the dates of the passing of the Bill by the two chambers, the provisions of the Constitution Act, 1935, other than those of Part II thereof, had come into force on the 1st April, 1937. It was contended that the impugned Act was not a valid enactment under the provisions of the Constitution Act, in that (a) the Bill had neither been passed by both chambers and assented to by the Governor-General before 1st April, 1937, nor had been passed by both the chambers and assented to by the Governor-General after the 1st April, 1937; (b) that the contents of the Bill as passed by the Council of State were different from the contents of the Bill as passed by the Legislative Assembly, and therefore it could not be said that the Council of State "agreed to" the Bill as passed by the Assembly, or that the agreement, if any, was without "amendment". It was further contended that as the Act purports to deal generally with "property" it was ultra vires the Indian Legislature so far as agricultural land could be comprehended within that general term and that it was not open to the Court to give it validity by excluding agricultural land from its operation.

Held (Per Spens, CJ. and Varadachariar, J., Zafrulla Khan, J., dissenting) that the objections to the validity of the impugned Act were untenable and that it was validly enacted by the Indian Legislature. Though the Act could not affect the devolution of agricultural land in the Governor's Provinces it did not follow that the Act was on this account wholly ultra vires the Indian Legislature. (1945) 1 M.L.J. 108.

Per Varadachariar, J.—The effect of the words "notwithstanding the repeal" of the old Act and "continue to have effect" used in S. 317 of the Constitution Act is to indicate that the provisions relating to the Indian Legislature have been continuous in their operation and hence there is no justification for importing a theory of repeal and re-enactment in respect of those provisions. All that S. 63 of the Ninth Schedule requires is that a Bill should be agreed to by both chambers by each of them successively passing it. This passing is a fact in respect of each chamber. There is no warrant for saying that the Bill was not duly passed by the Council of State or that it was amended when it was before it. There is nothing in the language of S. 316 of the Constitution Act to support the contention that any enactment of the Indian Legislature after 1st April, 1937, would have validity only if it had been initiated after that date. Though there was one state of law as to the powers of the Legislature at one stage and another state of law as to its powers at another stage with reference to the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, that would not preclude the application of the rule in Macleod's case, (1891) A.C. 455, which does not rest on any inference as to the actual intention of the members who took part in the enactment of the measre but on a legal presumption as to the intention to be attributed to the Legislature as a legal entity. The efficacy and operation of the Act must, in such circumstances, be determined with reference to the point of time when the process of its becoming a law has been completed. (1945) 1 M.L.J. 108.

Per Spens, C.J.—When a Court ascertains that a bill has in fact been passed by both chambers of the Indian Legislature in exactly the same words and form and has so been assented to by the Governor-General, it is impossible and improper for the Court further to investigate whether each chamber and the Governor-General gave the same meaning and connotation to the common terms used. Nor can a Court be asked to make presumptions from the powers of the Legislature at the material dates or from any other circumstances as to the meaning or connotation given to or held regarding words or phrases in Bills by the members of the Legislative Chambers who pass it. The powers of the Legislature cannot be used to found any such presumptions. Hence it cannot be presumed that the Council of State and the Governor-General did not legally agree to the Bill as pased by the Legislative Assembly. The effect of S. 317, India Act is prima facie to establish the uninterrupted continuation of the Indian Legislature and its legislative procedure, notwithstanding the formal repeal of the existing legislature in S. 321 of the Act. The powers of a Legislature, that is to say, the field within which it is authorised to legislate may vary from time to time without in any way affecting the validity of the enacting processes of that Legislature. Such variation may well result in a Court having to hold legislation ultra vires in part or even in whole, but, that is a different matter from holding that the legislation is invalidly enacted. For the validity of the laws of the Indian Legislature it was not necessary that they should be completely enacted through all their stages either wholly before or wholly after the 1st April, 1937. 1945 F.C.R. 1=A.I.R. 1945 P.C. 25=49 C.W.N. (F.R.) 27=(1945) F.L.J. 8=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 108. The Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937, and the Hindu Women's Rights to Property (Amendment) Act, 1938, do not operate to regulate succession to agricultural land in the Governors' Provinces; but do operate to regulate devolution by survivorship of property other than agricultural land. When a Legislature with limited and restricted powers makes use of a word of such wide and general import as "property," the presumption must be that it is using it with reference to that kind of property with respect to which it is competent to legislate, and to no other. In the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, 1937, the word "property" must accordingly be construed as referring to property other than agricultural land. Though S. 3 of the Act of 1937 does not use the word "survivorship", and it may be that the widow taking a share under the Act does not become a coparcener with the other sharers, yet there can be no doubt that in the cases in which it gives to the widow of a deceased co-parcener a right to a share in the joint property which she did not possess under the pre-existing law, it takes away, to that extent, the benefit of the rule of survivorship which would have accrued to the remaining co-parceners. So far as its effect goes, the Act does legislate "with respect to the law of survivorship. But it is not ultra vires the Indian Legislature on that ground, as the subject of devolution by survivorship of property other than agricultural land is included in entry No. 7 of List III of the concurrent list. 45 C.W.N. (F. R.) 81=73 C.L.J. 415=54 L.W. 22 (1941) F.C. 72=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 12. See also 1944 N.L.J. 179. The Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act does not operate to regulate succession to agricultural land in the Governors' provinces. Hence the widow of a pre-deceased son has no title except to maintenance according to ordinary Hindu Law. 1941 O.A. (Supp.) 715 (2)=1941 A.W.R. (Rev.) 804 (2)=1941 R.D. 742.

SUCCESSION TO AGRICULTURAL LANDS—AGRICULTURAL LANDS'—WHAT ARE.—A tenure-holder, be he a nishkar or a makarari mourashidar or a patnidar or a non-permanent tenure-holder, is not an ijardar or mere farmer of rent. He has a proprietary interest in the land which is comprised in his tenure. If his tenure comprises agricultural land and if he is a Hindu, his rights therein would devolve on his death not in the manner provided for in the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act but by the rules of Hindu law until they are modified by provincial legislation. If the tenure be of a composite nature consisting of agricultural and non-agricultural lands, the right in the agricultural portion would devolve in accordance with the Hindu law and in the nonagricultural portion according to the provisions of the aforesaid Act. Lands actually used or lands though lying unused, but capable of being used for raising food grains, vegetables and fodder, and other marketable commodities like cotton, jute, hemp, flax, etc., lands used as orchards, or for farming purposes (i.e.) for raising or feeding of cattle and other livestock, land containing cattle sheds for plough cattle, as also lands used as accessory to the above purposes (e.g.) the threshing floor irrigation tanks, pathways, khals and nullas and sites used for the farmer's residence should be regarded as agricultural lands. Dwelling houses other than those used for residence of cultivators or farmers should be regarded as non-agricultural property. Within the term "dwelling house" must be included not only the structure used for residence and its site, but also adjacent buildings or outhouses, cultilage, garden, courtyard, orchard which is within what can be regarded as the compound of the house, and all that is necessary for the convenient use of the house. Lands which are being actually worked for minerals would be regarded as mines and so non-agricultural property, as also lands covered by forest and also possibly land used for planting trees for being used for fuel. 1944 F.L.J. 231=48 C.W.N. 759=A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 421; 1942 Oudh 216.

BOTH AGRICULTURAL AND NON-AGRICULTURAL PROPERTY LEFT BY DECEASED.—As the Act as amended by Act II of 1938 is ultra vires of the Indian Legislature and does not operate to regulate succession to agrisultural land in the Governor's Provinces but operates only to regulate devolution by survivorship of property other than agricultural land, where the property left by the deceased is both agricultural and non-agricultural, the widow would have no right under the Act to succeed her husband even to a limited interest so far as the agricultural property is concerned. 1941 O.A. 1071=1941 O.W.N. 1359=A.I.R. 1942 Oudh 216. See also 58 L.W. 108 (1)=1945 M.W.N. 134=I.L.R. ACT (AS APPLIED TO BIHAR BY BIHAR ACT VI OF 1942)—SCOPE AND EFFECT.—Under the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, a widow is regarded by legal fiction as the survivor of her husband's persona. The Act applies to agricultural property in Bihar by reason of the Bihar Act VI of 1942, which applied it to such land in Bihar with retrospective effect. 10 B.R. 255.

the movables wherever they may be situate is ordinarily governed by the law of the domicile of the owner at the time of his death. It can make no difference for this purpose whether the law of the domicile rests on common law or on statute law. It is not right to restrict the application of the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act to properties lying within British India. 1945 F.C.R. 1=A.I R. 1945 P.C. 25=49 C.W.N. RIGHT OF HINDU WIDOW TO MAINTENANCE.—The Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act substituted a new and better remedy for the rights which a widow possessed before. But the Act having been declared to be ultra vires as regards agricultural land and therefore ineffective as regards such lands, the mere existence of the Act does not put an end to the right of maintenance on the part of a Hindu widow. Obviously, therefore, in so far as Act XVIII of 1937, is still valid, the widow may take advantage of it and so far as it does not take effect upon certain property, the widow's old right of maintenance is restored, the only proviso being that in assessing the amount of maintenance due and proposed to be charged upon agricultural property due allowance should be made for the property which comes to the widow by virtue of Act XVIII of 1937. 56 L.W. 150=1943 M.W.N. 169=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 417=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 235. See also 1942 Oudh 216. A mango grove forming part of an estate is 'agricultural land" in respect of which the Act does not operate to regulate succession. A Hindu widow is entitled to maintenance notwithstanding her right under the Act to a share in the non-agricultural part of the family estate which, however, will be taken into account in determining the amount payable as maintenance. I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 61=1944 F.L.J. 146=1944 M.W.N. 288=57 L.W. 260=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 401 =(1944) 1 M.L.J. 361.

POSITION AND RIGHTS OF A WIDOW.—Under the Act a widow becomes an heir co-equal with her sons. 1944 A.M.L.J. 58.

SEC. 3.—HERITABLE RIGHTS TO TRUST PROPERTIES.—The Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act would apply only to property beneficially owned by the propositus and not to anything in the nature of trusteeship. 1945 P.C R. 1=A.I.R. 1945 F.C. 25=49 C.W. N. (F.R.) 27=1945 M.W.N. 7=1945 F. L.J. 8=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 108. See also (1944) 1 M.L.J. 70.

"PROPERTY"—IF INCLUDES USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGEE RIGHTS IN AGRICULTURAL LAND.—The word "property" as used in the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act must be construed as referring only to those forms of property with respect to which the Central Legislature which enacted the Act was competent to legislate, that is to say, property other than agricultural land. The word "property" in S. 3 of the Act does not, therefore, include "agricultural land", which phrase is wide enough to cover usufructuary mortgagee rights in such land.

Per Abdul Rashid, J.—The usufructuary mortgagee rights do not constitute a debt so as to fall within the purview of the term "property" as used in S. 3 of the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act. The principal characteristics of a usufructuary mortgage are that there is no personal liability of the mortgagor to pay nor has the mortgagee a right to have the mortgaged property brought to sale. The essence of a "debt" is the liability of the obligor which the obligee is entitled to enforce by action. Where a transaction neither imports the personal liability of the obligor to pay, nor confers on the obligee the right to recover the amount by the coercive machinery of the law, it cannot be called a "debt". 47 P.L.R. 233=A.I.R. 1945 Lah. 282=1945 F.L.J. 234.

'SEPARATE PROPERTY'—MEANING OF.—The expression "separate property" may be the antithesis of three other expressions; viz., "ancestral property", "co-parcenary property", and "joint family property". The particular sense in which that expression has been used in S. 3 (1) of the Act has to be determined in the light of the scheme of the Act. The property held by a person as the last surviving co-parcener of a joint family cannot be regarded as "separate property" within the meaning of S. 3 (1) of the Act. "Separate property" would be property in respect of which the son of the surviving co-parcener will not be entitled to claim co-parcenary rights but only a right of inheritance on the father's death if he survived him. 49 C.W.N. Provided that the widow of a predeceased son shall inherit in like manner as a son if there is no son surviving of such predeceased son, and shall inherit in like manner as a son's son if there is surviving a son or son's son of such predeceased son:

Provided further that the same provision shall apply mutatis mutandis to the widow of a predeceased son of a predeceased son.

(2) When a Hindu governed by any school of Hindu Law other than the Dayabhag school or by customary law dies[3] [* * *] having at the time of his death an interest in a Hindu joint family property, his widow shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), have in the property the same interest as he himself had.

(3) Any interest devolving on a Hindu widow under the provisions of this section shall be the limited interest known as a Hindu woman's estate, provided however that she shall have the same right of claiming partition as a male owner.

(4) The provisions of this section shall not apply to an estate which by a customary or other rule of succession [4][or by the terms of the grant applicable thereto] descends to a single heir or to any property to which the Indian Succession Act, 1925, applies.

MONEY DECREE UNDER U.P. ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT.—Where a person in whose favour a money decree under the U.P. DEVOLUTION OF INTEREST ON WIDOW—IF BY SUCCESSION OR SURVIVORSHIP.—Under S. 3, a widow is clothed with the rights of her husband in the property by succession and not by survivorship. 1944 N.L.J. 179. See also (1941) 2 M.L.J. 12; (1943) 2 M.L.J. 172. SHARE OF WIDOWS WHERE THERE IS MORE THAN ONE.—The Amending Act (XI of 1938) which substituted for the original provisions in S. 3 (1) a clause to the effect that the widow 'or if there is more than one widow, all his widows together" shall be entitled to the same share as a son, has not effected a change in the law as it stood under Act (XVIII of 1937) and hence the widows, where there are more than one, take a unit of share along with the sons. 1945 F.C.R. 1=49 C.W.N. (F.R.) 27=1945 M.W.N. 57=(1945) F.L.J. 8=A.I.R. 1945 F.C. 25 =(1945) 1 M.L.J. 108. See also 23 Pat. 508.

SEC. 3 (1): "THE SAME SHARE AS A SON" —"SEPARATE PROPERTY"—MEANING OF.—The words "the same share as a son" in S. 3 (1) mean the same share as if she were a son and "separate property" means property which the intestate held without the participation of other co-parceners. 23 Pat. 508=1944 P.W.N. 465=1944 Pat. 87.

MOTHER AND PREDECEASED SON'S WIDOW—RELATIVE RIGHTS.—The predeceased son's widow would be entitled to the entire property under S. 3 of Act and the mother could not get any share in it. 1944 A.L.J. 319=1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 80=A.I.R. 1944 A. 224 (2).

HINDU WIDOW SUING FOR PARTITION—POSITION OF—IF TO BE REGARDED AS A PERSON OUT OF POSSESSION.—There is nothing in the Act to suggest that a Hindu widow suing for partition under the terms of the Act is to be treated as a person out of possession. There is no reason why she should not base her plaint on the same position as a male owner, viz., as a co-parcener in possession. Though her estate is limited to a Hindu widow's estate, she acquires full status as a co-parcener for the purpose of filing a suit for partition. 56 L.W. 417=1943 M.W.N. 519 (1) =A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 654=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 172. See also 1944 ...L.J. 179.

Joint family—Promissory note in favour of father—Death of father leaving widow and son.—Under the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, the effect of the death of a co-parcener with regard to property other than agricultural land is that his widow stands in the shoes of her deceased husband and although she is not a co-parcener she has the rights of her husband who was a co-parcener. She is a member of the joint family. She becomes entitled to her rights by statute and not as heir. Where a person dies leaving his widow and a son, a suit on a promissory note in the name of the deceased has to be brought by the son on behalf of the joint family when it is an asset of the family. It is not necessary that the mother (widow of the deceased) should be joined as co-plaintiff. 56 L.W. 487=1943 M.W.N. 478=A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 708 =(1943) 2 M.L.J. 282. See also I.L.R. 4. Nothing in this Act shall apply to the property of any Hindu dying intestate before the commencement of this Act.

TIVE.—Secs. 3 (1) and 3 (2) together, are intended to be exhaustive of the possible circumstances in which a Hindu may die intestate. 23 Pat. 508=1944 P.W.N. 465=1945 Pat. 87.

SEC. 3 (2): RIGHTS OF WIDIW IN HUSBAND'S PROPERTY.—The widow of a Hindu is undoubtedly an heir to her deceased husband under S. 3 (2) and has the same interest in his property as her husband had at the time of his death. 23 Pat. 599=(1944) P.W.N. 212=A.I.R. 1944 Pat 298 (F.B.).

SEC. 3 (2): SCOPE AND EFFECT OF.—Whatever inroads the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act may make on the doctrine of survivorship it does not effect a statutory severance or disruption of the joint family. The widow as a member of the Joint family is to have the same interest in the joint property as the deceased husband had and this devolution does not otherwise affect the Joint family status unless the widow, availing herself of the provisions of sub-sec. (3), claims a partition. As long as she does not do so, the status of a joint Hindu family continues, and though she may not be a co-parcener, it cannot be said that she is not a member of the joint Hindu family. She is therefore capable of being represented by the karta of the family in a suit to recover money due to the family. I.L.R. (1943) All. 307=1943 A.L.J. 161=A.I.R 1943 All. 188. See also (1943) 2 M.L.J 282.

"INTEREST"—WIDOW OF ADOPTED SON SUING FOR PARTITION.—The widow of an adopted son suing her father-in-law for partition after he has made a second adoption, is entitled to a third and not a half share. 57 L. W. 535=1944 M.W.N. 705=(1944) 2 M. L.J. 262=1945 Mad. 21.

INTEREST TAKEN BY WIDOW—NATURE OF—LIABILITY IN EXECUTION OF DECREE AGAINST HUSBAND'S ASSETS.—Under S. 3 the widow takes the property not as survivor but as heir and her interest can be attached and sold in execution of a decree against her husband's assets, even though it is undivided interest in joint family property. 23 Pat. 769=1945 Pat. 116.

SUIT ON PROMISSORY NOTE IN FAVOUR OF DECEASED HUSBAND—SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE —NOT NECESSARY.—A Hindu widow who is given a right under S. 3 of the Act does not obtain such right by survivorship; she was not a coparcener before her husband's death and is not one after that. It does not, however, follow that she obtains it by inheritance, so as to make it obligatory on her to obtain a succession certificate under S. 214 of the Succession Act in a suit on a promissory note in her deceased husband's favour. As the widow does not inherit no succession certificate is necessary. The effect of S. 3 (2) and (3) of the Act (XVIII of 1937), is a survival of the husband's persona in the wife, giving her the same rights as her husband had except that she can alienate the property only under certain circumstances. 55 L.W. 823=1942 M.W.N. 703=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 668. See also 1942 Oudh 216.

DEATH OF WIDOW—DEVOLUTION OF HER SHARE.—The provision of S. 3 (3) of the Act making the widow's share the limited interest of a woman's estate has the effect of giving the heirs of the husband a spes successionis during the lifetime of the sons under the Hindu Law as administered by the Courts as they would have had in the share given to the widow on a partiion among themselves. Therefore on the death of the widow her share will be taken by all those who would have inherited the estate of her husband had he died at that point of time, irrespective of whether they inherit under the Hindu Law or under the Act. 50 C.W.N. 555.

N died in 1938 leaving his widow B, three daughters R, N and S, and the widow of his predeceased son R.D. Held, (1) that B as N's widow took under S 3 (1) the same share as if she had been a son and R.D. the widow of the predeceased son inherited under the first proviso to S. 3 (1) in like manner as a son of N; (2) that under S. 3 (3), the interests devolving on them were limited interests but each had the same right of partition as a male owner; (3) the proviso to S. 3 (1) does not extend the scope of the main sub-section and the proviso could only take effect on the death of a male Hindu and not on the death of a woman. Therefore on the death of B, her share would pass not to R.D. but to the daughters. 23 Pat. 508=1944 P.W.N. 465=1945 Pat. 87.

SEC. 3 (2) AND (3): INTEREST TAKEN BY WIDOW IN JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY—EXTENT OF—LIABILITY FOR DEBTS.—Under S. 3 (2) of the Act, a widow gets the same interest which her husband had in the joint family property, that is the interest of an undivided member of a joint family in the joint family property. The widow takes that interest subject to the rights and obligations attached to that interest and subject to the restrictions placed on her powers by Cl. (3) of S. 3. As the husband's interest could be seized in execution by a creditor for his debt in his lifetime, the creditor of the husband is entitled to the same remedy against the interest of the widow accrued under the Act in respect of non-agricultural land, the property taken by the widow being liable for the debts of her husband. 54 L.W. 651=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 862. Sub-Secs. (2) and (3) of S. 3 of the Act do not contemplate that the sons of a deceased Hindu are to be excluded by the widow upon the death of their father. The right conferred upon the Hindu widow by sub-S. (3) is merely a limited right such as a Hindu widow possesses under the ordi-

Preamble.

Whereas, by deeds, wills and other instruments, powers are frequently given to appoint real and personal property amongst several objects, in such manner that none of the objects can be excluded by the donee of the power from a share of such property; and whereas appointments in exercise of such powers whereby an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share of the property affected thereby is appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any one or more of the objects thereof, are invalid in equity, although the like appointments are good and binding at law: And whereas considerable inconvenience hath arisen from the rule of equity relative to such appointments, and it is expedient that such appointments should be as valid in equity as at law; Be it therefore enacted, etc.

"An Act for consolidating and amending the Law relating to property belonging to infants, femme-coverts, idiots, lunatics and persons of unsound mind," shall * * * * * be extended to the territories of the East India Company, as far as it is applicable to the same.

LEG. REF.

Illusory appointments shall be valid in equity as well as at law.

That no appointment which from and after the passing of this Act shall be made in exercise of any power or authority to appoint any property, real or personal, amongst several objects, shall be invalid or impeached in equity, on the ground that an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share only shall be thereby appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any one or more of the objects of such power; but that every such appointment shall be valid and effectual in equity as well as at law, notwithstanding that any one or more of the objects shall not thereunder, or in default of such appointment, take more than an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share of the property subjected to such power.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, that nothing in this Act contained shall prejudice or affect any provision in any deed, will, or other instrument creating any such power as aforesaid which shall declare the amount of the share or shares from which no object of the power shall be excluded.

Not to affect any deed which declares the amount of the share; not to give any other force to any appointment than the same would have had.

3. Provided also, and be it further enactcd and declared, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed, deemed, or taken, at law or in equity, to give any other validity, force or effect to any appointment, than such appointment would have had if a substantial share of the property affected by the power had been thereby appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any object of such power.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE IMMIGRATION INTO INDIA ACT, 1924.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may notify in the Official Gazette.

(3) It shall extend to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "British possession" means any Part of His Majesty's Dominions other than British India, the United Kingdom and Ireland, and includes Protectorates and territories which are or may be administered by a Dominion as a mandatory on behalf of the League of Nations;

(b) "entry" includes landing at any port in British India during the period of the ship's stay on her way to destination outside British India.

Rules as regards entry into and residence in British India.

3. The Central Government may make rules for the purpose of securing that persons not being of Indian origin, domiciled in any British Possession, shall have no greater rights and privileges, as regards entry into and residence in British India, than are accorded by the law and administration of such Possession to persons of Indian domicile.

Power to make rules.

4. The Central Government may, without prejudice to the generality of the powers contained in section 3 of this Act, make rules—

(a) to provide for the establishment of a suitable agency to administer the rules and to define its functions and powers;

(b) to provide suitable penalties for the contravention of such rules or attempt to contravene them, or the abetment of such contravention; and

(c) to authorize the arrest of any person contravening or reasonably suspected of contravening any such rule, and to prescribe the duties of public servants and others in regard to such arrests.

Person claiming exemption to establish case.

5. If any person alleged to be domiciled in any British Possession and to be subject to the provisions of this Act raises the plea that he is not so domiciled or that the provisions of the said Act do not apply to him, the onus of proving the truth of such plea shall lie on the aforesaid person.

[19*th September*, 1920.

An Act to constitute an Imperial Bank of India and for other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to constitute an Imperial Bank of India and to transfer to the Bank so constituted the undertaking of each of the Presidency Banks and to dissolve those Banks and to make provision for the regulation and management of the Imperial Bank of India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA ACT, 1920.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "appointed day" means such day as the Central Government may appoint for the commencement of this Act;

SEC. 1.—O. 20, R. 11, C.P. Code, is not in any way controlled by the provisions of the Imperial Bank of India Act (XLVII of 1920) which limit the power of the Bank in the matter of advancing loans for a period exceeding six months. The Courts are not therefore precluded from granting instalments in proper cases simply because such a course would postpone realisation of the dues by the plaintiff (Imperial Bank) for over six months. 16 N.L.J. 78=146 I.C. 1046=1933 N. 330.

..(b) "the Bank of Bengal", "the Bank of Madras" and "the Bank of Bombay" mean, respectively, those Banks as constituted by the Presidency Banks Act, 1876.

(c) "dividend" includes bonus;

(d) "general meeting" means the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank;

(e) "goods" includes also bullion, wares and merchandise;

(f) "local meeting" means the annual meeting of the shareholders whose names are registered in a branch register;

(g) "meeting" includes an adjourned holding of a meeting;

(h) "prescribed" means prescribed by by-laws made under this Act;

(i) "Presidency Banks" means the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras and the Bank of Bombay as constituted by the Presidency Banks Act, 1876, and a "Presidency Bank" means any one of these Banks;

[1][(ii) "secretary" and "deputy secretary" mean, respectively, a secretary and treasurer and a deputy secretary and treasurer of the Bank];

(j) "special local meeting" means a meeting of the shareholders whose names are registered in a branch register, convened for the transaction of some particular business specified on the notice convening the meeting;

(k) "special local resolution" means a resolution passed at a special local meeting;

(l) "special meeting" means a meeting of shareholders convened for the transaction of some particular business specified in the notice convening the meeting; and

(m) "special resolution" means a resolution passed at a special meeting.

ESTABLISHMENT AND INCORPORATION OF THE IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA.

Establishment of the Imperial Bank.

3. (1) A Bank to be called the Imperial Bank of India and in this Act referred to as "the Bank" shall be constituted for the purpose of taking over the undertakings of the Presidency Banks and to carry on the business of banking in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) Every person who, immediately before the appointed day, was registered as a shareholder or as a holder of stock in any of the Presidency Banks, together with such other persons as may from time to time become shareholders in the Bank in accordance with the provisions of this Act, shall, as long as they are shareholders in the Bank, constitute a body corporate with perpetual succession and a common seal under the name of the Imperial Bank of India and shall sue and be sued in that name.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the capital of the Bank shall consist of one hundred and twelve millions and five hundred thousand rupees divided into shares of five hundred rupees each.

(4) The liability of the shareholders of the Bank shall be limited to the amount not fully paid up on their shares.

CHAPTER II.

TRANSFER OF THE UNDERTAKINGS OF PRESIDENCY BANKS TO THE IMPERIAL BANK.

Transfer of assets and liabilities.

4. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, as from the appointed day, the undertakings of each of the Presidency Banks shall be transferred to and shall vest in the Bank.

(2) The undertaking of a Presidency Bank shall be deemed to include all rights, powers, authorities and privileges and all property, movable or immovable, including cash balances, reserve funds, investments and all other interests and rights in or arising out of such property as may be in the possession of that Bank immediately before the appointed day, and all books, accounts and documents relating thereto, and shall also be deemed to include all debts, liabilities and obligations of whatever kind then existing of that Bank.

(3) If, on the appointed day, any suit, appeal or legal proceeding of whatever nature is pending by or against any Presidency Bank, the same shall not abate, be discontinued or be in any way prejudicially affected by reason of the transfer to the Bank of the undertaking of such Presidency Bank or of anything in this Act, but the suit, appeal or proceeding may be continued, prosecuted and enforced by or against the Bank.

(4) All contracts, deeds, bonds, agreements and other instruments of whatever nature subsisting or having effect immediately before the appointed day and to which any Presidency Bank is a party shall be of as full force and effect against or in favour of the Bank, as the case may be, and may be enforced as fully and effectually as if instead of the Presidency Bank the Bank had been a party thereto.

Terms of transfer as regards shareholders in the Presidency Banks.

5. (1) The name of every person who immediately before the appointed day was registered as a shareholder in any of the Presidency Banks shall be registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act hereinafter appearing as holding the same number of shares in the Bank as stood in his name in the register of such Presidency Bank:

Provided that, for the purposes of this section two half-shares standing in the name of any such person in the register of any Presidency Bank shall be taken as the equivalent of one share, and odd half-shares shall be dealt with as hereinafter provided.

(2) The name of every person who immediately before the appointed day was registered as a holder of stock in any of the Presidency Banks shall be registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act hereinafter appearing as holding one share in the Bank for every Rupees five hundred of stock of which he was the registered holder in such Presidency Bank, and odd amounts of stock not amounting to Rupees five hundred shall be dealt with as hereinafter provided.

(3) The Bank shall issue fractional certificates to the holders of odd half-shares and of odd amounts of stock, not amounting to Rupees five hundred, certifying, as the case may be, that the holder is entitled to one-half of one fully paid share or such fraction of a share as the odd amount of stock is of Rupees five hundred.

(4) Holders of fractional certificates shall, if resident in India, within three months and, in any other case, within six months from the date of the certificate either—

(i) surrender their fractional certificates with other similar fractional certificates representing in all one fully paid share, in which case the surrenderer shall be entitled to be registered as a shareholder and to have a fresh certificate for a fully paid share in the Bank issued to him and be entitled to an allotment of new shares in the same way as if he had been the holder of one fully paid share, or

(ii) at their option surrender the fractional certificates to the Bank, in which case the Bank shall be entitled to sell the shares represented by the fractions so surrendered from time to time in such manner as the Bank deems expedient, and the aggregate net sale proceeds realized by such sale or sales shall be divided proportionately and paid by the Bank to the holders of fractional certificates for whose account the shares may have been so sold.

(5) Every shareholder of the Bank whose name has been registered in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be entitled, in respect of every share of which he is so registered as the holder, to an allotment to himself or to his nominee (provided that such nominee is approved by the Bank) of two shares in the Bank with the sum of rupees one hundred and twenty-five credited as paid up on payment in respect of each share in the case of a former shareholder or stockholder of the Bank of Bengal or the Bank of Bombay, of Rupees one hundred and twenty-five, and of the Bank of Madras of Rupees two hundred and twenty-five.

(6) The Bank shall cause notice to be published in the Official Gazette and in two daily papers in each Presidency, and shall also send by post to every person whose name immediately before the appointed day was entered in the register of shareholders or shareholders of any of the Presidency Banks, a notice giving particulars of the terms hereinbefore set out as to the allotment of new shares and the surrender of fractional certificates, and as to the manner and form in which application for the allotment of new shares and the surrender of fractional certificates is to be made.

(7) If within a period of three months from the date of publication in the Official Gazette of the notice referred to in sub-section (6), any share holder has not made an application for the allotment of new shares to which he is entitled, the Bank may offer such shares for public subscription and allot them to any person applying therefor:

Provided that the Bank in the case of shareholders whose addresses are out of British India may, either generally or in any particular instance, fix an extended period for the admission of applications, but in no case shall that period be later than six months from the date of the publication of the notice in the Official Gazette.

Existing officers and servants of Presidency Banks and existing Provident Funds.

6. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, every officer and servant employed immediately before the appointed day by a Presidency Bank shall, from the appointed day, become an officer or servant of the Bank, and shall hold his office or service therein by the same tenure and upon the same terms and conditions and with the same rights and privileges as to pension or gratuity as he would have held the same under the Presidency Bank if this Act had not been passed.

(2) Any person who, on the appointed day, has been granted or is in receipt of a pension or other superannuation or compassionate allowance from a Presidency Bank shall be entitled to be paid by, and to receive from, the Bank the same pension or allowance so long as he observes the conditions on which the pension or allowance was granted. Any question whether he has so observed such conditions shall, in case of any difference arising, be determined by the Central Government.

(3) For the directors and officers of the Banks of Bombay and Madras who are at the commencement of this Act the respective trustees of the following funds, that is to say,—

(a) the Bank of Bombay Officers' Pension and Guarantee Fund, and

(b) the Bank of Madras Pension and Gratuity Fund, and the Bank of Madras Officers' Provident and Mutual Guarantee Fund, there shall be substituted as trustees of those funds, respectively, the members for the time being and the corresponding officers of the Local Boards of the Bank at Bombay and Madras; and if any doubt arises as to who are the corresponding officers to the officers who are trustees at the commencement of this Act, the decision of the Central Board shall be final.

Dissolution of Presidency Banks.

7. As from the appointed day the Presidency Banks shall be dissolved, and thereafter no person shall make, assert or take any claims, demands or proceedings against any of the said Banks or against a director or officer thereof, in his capacity as such director or officer, except in so far as may be necessary for enforcing the provisions of this Act.

CHAPTER III.

BUSINESS OF THE BANK.

Business which Bany may transact.

8. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the business which the Bank is authorized to carry on and transact shall be the several kinds of business specified in Schedule I, subject to the limitations therein mentioned.

9. [Business of London Office.] Rep. by the Imperial Bank of India (Amendment) Act (III of 1934), S. 3.

Bank may do Government business.

10. (1) It shall also be lawful for the Bank under any agreement with the [1][Reserve Bank of India]—

(i) [2][* *] to pay, receive, collect and remit money, bullion and securities [3][as agent for the Reserve Bank of India] on behalf of [4][any] Government.

(ii) to undertake and transact any other business which, [the Reserve Bank of India] may from time to time entrust to the Bank.[1]

(2) [2][* *].

Acquisition of business premises.

11. For the purpose of providing buildings and places in and at which to carry on and manage the business of the Bank and proper residences for its officers and servants the Bank may—

(a) acquire any interest in immovable property; and

(b) sell. buy, re-sell, exchange, let, furnish, repair; insure against fire and other risks or deal with all or any part of the same as it may consider most conducive to the interest of the Bank.

Establishment of branches and agencies

12. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Bank may—

(a) maintain, as branches or agencies of the Bank, any branches or agencies of the Presidency Banks which were in existence immediately before the appointed day, and may establish branches or agencies at such places, [5][whether in India or elsewhere], as it deems advantageous for the interests of the Bank, and

(b) discontinue any branch or agency maintained or established under this section.

Power of Bank to take over business of certain other Banks and for that purpose to increase its capital.

13. (1) With the sanction of the Central Government, the Bank may enter into negotiations for and purchase and take over the business, including the capital, assets and liabilities, of any Banking company carrying on business in India [6][or elsewhere] of which the capital is divided into shares, and may pay the consideration for such purchase either in cash or by the allotment of shares in the capital of the Bank, or partly in one and partly in the other of these ways, and may (subject to the provisions of this Act relating to the increase of capital) for the purpose of any such allotment of shares, increase the capital of the Bank by the issue of such number of shares as may be determined on by the Bank.

(2) Any business so purchased shall after the purchase be carried on by the Bank subject to the provisions of this Act.

[1][13-A. Notwithstanding anything contained in Schedule I, the Bank may either alone or conjointly with other persons, for the purpose of averting the winding up of any company [2 * * *] having a share capital which is expressed in rupees in its memorandum of association or of any society registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, [3][or any other law for the time being in force in British India [4][or British Burma] relating to co-operative societies] or, where any such company or society is being wound up, of facilitating the winding up, advance or lend money to or open a cash-credit in favour of, such company, or society or the liquidators thereof, as the case may be, for any period upon the security of all or any of the assets whatsoever of such company or society]

Power of Bank to grant loans to certain other Banks.

SHARES.

Nature of shares.

14. (1) The shares of the Bank shall be movable property.

(2) Each share in the Bank shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

Certificate of shares

15. A certificate under the common or official seal of the Bank specifying the shares held by any shareholder shall be prima facie evidence of the title of the shareholder to the shares therein specified.

Principal register of shareholders.

16. The Bank shall keep in one or more books a register of its shareholders (in this Act referred to as the principal register), and shall enter therein the following particulars so far as they may be available:—

(i) the names and addresses and occupations, if any, of the shareholders and a statement of the shares held by each shareholder, distinguishing each share by its number, and of the amount paid on the shares of each shareholder;

(ii) the date on which each person is so entered as a shareholder; and

(iii) the date on which any person ceases to be a shareholder.

Branch registers.

17. (1) The Bank shall cause to be kept at the local head offices of the Bank in Calcutta, Madras and Bombay branch registers which shall be deemed to be part of the principal register, and may do so at any other local head office which may hereafter be established under this Act.

(2) There shall be entered in the branch register to be kept in Calcutta the name of every person who having been registered as a shareholder or stockholder in the Bank of Bengal is entitled under the provisions of section 5 to be registered as a shareholder in the Bank, with the same particulars appended thereto as required in the case of the principal register, and the same provision shall apply mutatis mutandis to the branch registers to be kept in Madras and Bombay.

(3) Any shareholder may apply to the Bank to have his name transferred from one branch register to another in respect of either the whole or any part of the shares standing in his name, and the Bank shall, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, cause the registers to be amended accordingly.

(4) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3) no transaction with respect to any share registered in one branch register shall be registered in any other branch register.

Power to close register.

19. The Bank may close the principal register or any branch register for any time or times, not exceeding in the whole thirty days in each year.

Inspection of register of shareholders.

20. (1) The principal register of shareholders shall be kept at such places as the Bank, by notification in the Official Gazette, may appoint and, except when closed under the provisions of this Act, that register or any branch register shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions as the Bank may impose, so that not less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of any shareholder gratis.

(2) Any shareholder may require a copy of any such register, or of any part thereof, on pre-payment therefor at the rate of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

[1][(3) A copy of the principal register of shareholders shall be complied within 30 days after the date of the first ordinary general meeting in each year and shall be filed forthwith with the officer performing the duty of registration of companies under the Indian Companies Act, 1913.]

CONTRACTS.

Form of contracts.

21. (1) Contracts on behalf of the Bank may be made as follows:—

(i) any contract, which if made between private persons, would be by law required to be in writing, signed by the parties to be charged therewith, may be made on behalf of the Bank, in writing signed by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged;

(ii) any contract which, if made between private persons, would by law be valid although made by parol only and not reduced to writing, may be made by parol on behalf of the Bank, by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged.

(2) All contracts made according to the provisions of this section shall be effectual in law, and shall bind the Bank and all other parties thereto and their legal representatives.

25. Local Boards shall be established at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and may be established at such other places in British India [1][or British Burma] as the Central Board [2][* * *] may determine.

Powers of Local Boards.

26. Without prejudice to the powers conferred by section 24, the Local Boards established at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay shall have power generally to transact all the usual business of the Bank, and shall have power as regards entries in the branch registers, respectively kept at those places, to examine and pass or refuse to pass transfers and transmissions and to approve or refuse to approve transferees of shares and to give certificates of shares.

LOCAL BOARDS AT CALCUTTA, MADRAS AND BOMBAY.

Constitution of first Local Boards.

27. The several persons who were, immediately before the appointed day, respectively the directors of the Presidency Banks shall constitute the first Local Boards of the Bank at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, respectively, and the persons who were then president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the said Banks shall fill the same offices in the respective Local Boards until they vacate office in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

CENTRAL BOARD.

Constitution of Central Board.

[3][28. (1) The Central Board shall consist of the following Directors, namely:—

(i) the presidents and vice-presidents of the Local Boards established by this Act;

(ii) one person to be elected from among themselves by the members of each Local Board established by this Act;

(iii) a Managing Director who shall be appointed by the Central Board for a period not exceeding five years on such terms as the Central Board may direct, and may be continued in his appointment by the Central Board for such further periods not exceeding five years in each case as the Central Board thinks fit;

(iv) such number of persons not exceeding two and not being [4][officers of the Crown] as may be nominated by the Central Government. Such persons shall hold office for one year but may be re-nominated;

(v) a Deputy Managing Director who shall be appointed by the Central Board;

(vi) the secretaries of the Local Boards established by this Act; and (vii) if any Local Board is hereafter established under this Act, such number of persons to represent it as the Central Board may prescribe.

(2) The Directors specified in clauses (v) and (vi) of sub-section (1) shall be at liberty to attend all meetings of the Central Board and to take part in its deliberations, but shall not be entitled to vote on any question arising at any meeting:

Provided that the Deputy Managing Director shall be entitled to vote in the absence of the Managing Director.

(3) The Central Government shall nominate an [4][officer of the Crown] to attend the meetings of the Central Board, and such officer shall be entitled to attend all meetings of the Central Board and to take part in its deliberations but shall not be entitled to vote on any question arising at any meeting.

CHAPTER VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Power of Central Board to make bye-laws.

31. (1) The Central Board shall, with the previous approval of the Central Government make bye-laws consistent with this Act regulating the following matters, namely:—

(a) the maximum amounts which may be advanced, or lent to, or for which bills may be discounted for, any individual or partnership, without the security mentioned in sub-clauses (i) to (iv) of clause (a) of Part I of Schedule I, the conditions under which advances may be made on the said security and the extent of the sums to which accounts may be overdrawn without security;

(b) the conditions subject to which alone advances may be made to [2][Directors], members of Local Boards, or officers of the Bank, or the relatives of such [2][Directors], members, or officers, or to companies, firms or individuals with which or with whom such [2][Directors], members, officers or relatives are connected as partners, directors, managers, servants, shareholders or otherwise:

Provided that the bye-laws shall provide that no advance without security shall be made to any officer of the Bank without the specific sanction of the Local Board under which he is serving;

(c) the particulars to be contained in [2][the annual and half-yearly balance sheets]; and

(d) any matter which by this Act is directed to be prescribed.

(2) The Central Board may, with the previous approval of the Central Government, make bye-laws consistent with this Act regulating the following matters or any of them, namely:—

(a) the keeping of the register and branch registers of shareholders;

(b) the distribution of business amongst the [2][Directors] and their remuneration, if any;

(c) the distribution of business amongst the members of a Local Board and their remuneration; if any;

(d) the delegation of any powers of the Central Board or of a Local Board to committees consisting of [2][Directors] or members, as the case may be;

(e) the procedure to be followed at the meetings of the Central or Local Boards or of any committees thereof;

(f) the first appointment and the appointment of members of a Local Board established under this Act;

(g) the powers of Local Boards established by or under this Act;

(h) the localities in and with respect to which such Local Boards shall exercise their powers;

(i) the books and accounts to be kept at the local head offices of the Bank;

(g) the powers of Local Boards established by or under this Act;

SCH. I, PART I.—Where debentures which were issued by another Bank in favour of Imperial Bank of India, were only as collateral securities to promissory notes executed by it, on a prior occasion, the Imperial Bank is not prohibited from entering into the transaction by reason of Part 2 of the Schedule to the Act and can enforce the debentures. 1930 C. 536=57 C. 328=127 I.C. 760.

(vi) fully paid shares [1][* *] of companies with limited liability, or immovable property or documents of title relating thereto as collateral security only where the original security is one of those specified in sub-clauses (i) to (iv), [2][subject to such directions as may be issued by the Central Board], where the original security is of the kind specified in sub-clause (v) :

[3][Provided that any advances or loans which, under the law for the time being in force, any of the following Governments or authorities, that is to say, the Secretary of State, any Government in British India, the Federal Railway Authority, the Government of Burma or the Burma Railway Board, may lawfully accept from the Bank may, if the Central Board think fit, be made without any specific security.]

(b) the selling and realisation of the proceeds of sale of any such promissory notes, debentures, stock-receipts, bonds, annuities, stock, shares, securities or goods which, or the documents of title to which, have been deposited with, or [2][pledged, hypothecated, assigned or transferred to] the bank as security for such advances, loans or credits, or which are held by the bank or over which the Bank is entitled to any lien or charge in respect of any such loan or advance or credit or any debt or claim of the Bank, and which have not been redeemed in due time in accordance with the terms and conditions (if any) of such deposit [2][pledge, hypothecation, assignment or transfer];

(c) the advancing and lending money to Courts of Wards upon the security of estates in their charge or under their superintendence, and the realisation of such advances or loans and any interest due thereon, provided that no such advance or loan shall be made without the previous sanction of the Provincial Government concerned, and that the period for which any such advance or loan is made shall not exceed [2][nine months in the case of advances or loans relating to the financing of seasonal agricultural operations or six months in other cases ;

(d) the drawing, accepting, discounting, buying and selling of bills of exchange and other negotiable securities [1][* * *].

(e) the investing of the funds of the Bank upon any of the securities specified in sub-clauses (i) to (iii) of clause (a) and converting the same into money when required ; and alterting, converting and transporting such investments for or into others of the investments above specified ;

(f) the making, issuing and circulating of bank-post-bills and letters of credit [1][* *] to order, or otherwise than to the bearer on demand ;

(g) the buying and selling of gold and silver whether coined or uncoined ;

(h) the receiving of deposits and keeping cash accounts on such terms as may be agreed on ;

(i) the acceptance of the charge of plate, jewels, title-deeds or other valuable goods on such terms as may be agreed on ;

(j) the selling and realising of all property, whether movable or immovable, which may in any way come into the possession of the Bank in satisfaction or part satisfaction of any of its claims, [4][and the acquisition and holding of, and generally the dealing with, any right, title or interest] in any property, movable or immovable, which may be the Banks' security for any loan or advance or may be connected with any such security];

(k) the transacting of pecuniary agency business on commission [4][and the entering into of contracts of indemnity, suretyship or guarantee with specific security or otherwise] ;

(l) [2][the administration of estates for any purpose, whether as an executor, trustee or otherwise] and the acting as agent on commission in the transaction of the following kinds of business, namely :—

(i) the buying, selling, transferring and taking charge of any securities or any shares in any public company ;

(ii) the receiving of the proceeds, whether principal, interest or dividends, of any securities or share ;

(iii) the remittance of such proceeds [5][* *] by public or private bills of exchange, payable either in India or elsewhere ;

(m) the drawing of bills of exchange and the granting of letters of credit payable out of India, [5][* *]

(n) the buying, [5][* *] of bills of exchange payable out of India at any usance not exceeding [2][nine months in the case of bills relating to the financing of seasonal agricultural operations or six months in other cases] ;

(o) the borrowing of money [5][* *] for the purposes of the Bank's business, and the giving of security for money so borrowed by pledging assets or otherwise ;

[2][(p) the subsidizing from time to time of the pension funds of the Presidency Banks ; and]

(q) generally, the doing of all such matters and things as may be incidental or subsidiary to the transacting of the various kinds of business [4][including foreign exchange business] hereinbefore specified.

PART II.

BUSINESS WHICH THE BANK IS NOT AUTHORISED TO CARRY OUT OR TRANSACT.

The Bank shall not transact any kind of Banking business other than those specified in Part I and in particular—

(1) It shall not make any loan or advance—

(a) for a longer period than six months [4][except as provided in Cl. (c) and Cl. (n) of Part I], or

(b) upon the security of stock or shares of the Bank, or

(c) save in the case of the estates specified in clause (c) of Part I, upon mortgage or in any other manner upon the security of any immovable property, or the documents of title relating thereto.

(2) The Bank shall not (except upon a security of the kind specified in sub-clauses (i) to (iv) of clause (a) of Part I) discount bills for any individual or partnership firm for an amount exceeding in the whole at any one time such sum as may be prescribed or lend or advance in any way to any individual or partnership firm an amount exceeding in the whole at any one time such sum as may be so prescribed.

(3) The Bank shall not discount or buy, or advance and lend, or open cash credits on the security of any negotiable instrument of any individual or partnership firm, payable in the town or at the place where it is presented for discount, which does not carry on it the several responsibilities of at least two persons or firms unconnected with each other in general partnership.

(4) The Bank shall not discount or buy, or advance and lend, or open cash credits on the security of any negotiable security [1][not being a security in which a trustee may invest trust money under S. 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882] [2][or the corresponding provisions for the time being in force in Burma] having at the date of the proposed transaction a longer period to run than [3][nine months if a bill drawn for the purpose of financing seasonal agricultural operations and six months in other cases] or, if drawn after sight, drawn for a longer period than [3][nine months if a bill drawn for the purpose of financing seasonal agricultural operations and six months in other cases:]

Provided that nothing in this Part shall be deemed to prevent the Bank from allowing any person who keeps an account with the Bank to overdraw such account, without security, to such extent as may be prescribed.

SCHEDULE II.

REGULATIONS OF THE BANK.

(See section 22.)

1. SHARE CERTIFICATES.—Every person whose name is entered as a shareholder in the register of shareholders shall, without payment, be entitled to a certificate under the common seal of the Bank (or if the certificate relates to shares registered in a branch register under the official seal of the Bank) specifying the share or shares held by him and the amount paid up thereon : Provided that, in respect of a share or shares held jointly by several persons, the Bank shall not be bound to issue more than one certificate, and delivery of a certificate for a share to one of several joint-holders shall be sufficient delivery to all.

Lien.

2. BANK'S LIEN ON SHARES.—The Bank shall have a lien on every share (not being a fully paid share) for all moneys (whether presently payable or not) called or payable at a fixed time in respect of that share, and the Bank shall also have a lien on all shares standing registered in the name of a single person for all moneys presently payable by him or his estate to the Bank. The Bank's lien, if any, on a share shall also extend to all dividends payable thereon.

3. POWER TO SELL FOR DEFAULT.—The Bank may sell in such manner, as it thinks fit, any shares on which it has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless some sum in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable, nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, stating and demanding payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the share, or to the person entitled by reason of his death or insolvency to the share.

4. DISPOSAL OF PROCEEDS OF SALES.—The proceeds of the sale shall be applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the shares prior to the sale) be paid to the person entitled to the shares at the date of sale. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the shares, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money nor shall his title to the shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

Calls on Shares.

5. CALLS.—The Bank may, from time to time, make calls upon the shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their shares, provided that no call shall exceed one-fourth of the nominal amount of the share, or be payable at less than two months from the last calls ; and each shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least two months' notice specifying the time or times of payments) pay to the Bank at the time or times so specified the amount called on his shares.

6. LIABILITY OF JOINT-HOLDERS.—The joint-holders of a share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay all calls in respect thereof.

7. LIABILITY TO PAY INTEREST ON UNPAID CALLS.—If a sum called in respect of a share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of ten per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the Central Board shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

Transfer and Transmission of shares.

8. EXECUTION OF TRANSFERS.—The instrument of transfer of any share in the Bank shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of shareholders in respect thereof.

LEG REF.

[1] Inserted by Act III of 1934.

[2] Inserted by A.O., 1937.

[3] Substituted by Act III of 1934.

9. FORM OF TRANSFERS.—Shares in the Bank shall be transferred in the following Form, or in any usual or common Form which the [1][Bank] shall approve :—

I, A. B. of , in consideration of the sum of rupees paid to me by C. D. of (hereinafter called "the said transferee") do hereby transfer to the said transferee the share (or shares) numbered in the Imperial Bank of India to hold unto the said transferee, his executors, administrators and assigns, subject to the several conditions on which I held the same at the time of the execution thereof, and I, the said transferee, do hereby agree to take the said share (or shares) subject to the conditions aforesaid.

As witness our hand the day of .

Witness to the signature of, etc.

10. POWER TO DECLINE TO REGISTER TRANSFERS.—The Bank may decline to register any transfer of shares, not being fully paid shares, to a person of whom it does not approve, and may also decline to register any transfer of shares on which the Bank has a lien [2][or any transfer of shares to any person who is a minor or has been found by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be of unsound mind or to or in the name of any firm]. The Bank may also suspend the registration of transfers for any period during which it has under the provisions of this Act directed that the registers shall be closed.

The Bank may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless—

(a) a fee not exceeding two rupees is paid to the Bank in respect thereof; and

(b) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the Bank may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer.

Deceased shareholders.

[1][11. The executors or administrators of a deceased sole holder of a share, the holder of a succession certificate issued under Part X of the Indian Succession Act, 1925, in respect of the share, and the person in whose favour a valid instrument of transfer of the share was executed by the deceased holder during his lifetime, shall be the only persons who may be recognised by the Bank as having any title to the share. In the case of a share registered in the names of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, and, on the death of the last survivor, his executors or administrators or any person who is the holder of a succession certificate in respect of such survivor's interest in the share, and a person in whose favour a valid instrument of transfer of the share was executed by such survivor during his lifetime, shall be the only person who may be recognised by the Bank as having any title to the share.]

12. DEATH OR INSOLVENCY OF SHAREHOLDERS.—Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a shareholder [3][or in consequence of a transfer by a deceased shareholder during his lifetime] shall, upon such evidence being produced as may be required by the Bank, have the right [3][subject to the provisions of Regulation 10], either to be registered as a share holder in respect of the share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the share as the deceased or insolvent person could have made, [4][* * *]

13. RIGHTS OF PERSONS ACQUIRING SHARES ON DEATH OR INSOLVENCY OF SHAREHOLDER.—Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of the holder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share, except that he shall not, before being registered as a shareholder in respect of the share, be entitled in respect of it, to exercise any right conferred on a shareholder in relation to meetings of the Bank.

Forfeiture of shares.

14. FAILURE TO PAY CALL.—If a shareholder fails to pay any call or instalment of a call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Central Board may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

15. FORM OF NOTICE :—The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that, in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed, the shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

16. FORFEITURE OF SHARES.—If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by the notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Central Board to that effect.

17. DISPOSAL OF FORFEITED SHARES.—A forfeited share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the Central Board thinks fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the Central Board thinks fit.

18. LIABILITY OF SHAREHOLDERS AFTER FORFEITURE.—A person whose shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a shareholder in respect of the forfeited shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the Bank all moneys which, at the date of forfeiture, were presently payable by him to the Bank in respect of the shares, but his liability shall cease if and when the Bank receives payment in full of the nominal amount of the shares.

Alteration of Capital.

19. POWER TO INCREASE OR REDUCE CAPITAL.—The shareholders of the Bank may, by special resolution [1][* *] increase or [2][and with the previous sanction of the Central Government] reduce the capital of the Bank :

Provided that no such special resolution shall be deemed to have been passed, unless at least one-third in number of the shareholders, holding at least one half of the paid-up capital of the Bank for the time being, be present in person or by proxy, and the majority of such shareholders have voted either by show of hands or by poll, as the case may be, in favour of the said resolution.

20. PROCEDURE ON RESOLUTION TO INCREASE CAPITAL.—When any such special resolution to increase the capital has been passed, the Central Board may, subject to the provisions of this Act and to the special directions (if any) given in reference thereto by the meeting at which such resolution has been passed—

(a) make such orders as it thinks fit for the opening of subscriptions by the shareholders towards such increase of capital ;

(b) allow to the shareholders such period to fill up the subscription as it thinks fit ;

(c) direct the manner in which the shareholders shall subscribe and pay into the Bank the proportions of new capital which they may respectively desire to subscribe ; and

(d) make such orders as it thinks fit for the disposal and allotment of the amount of new capital that may not be subscribed for and paid up in the manner aforesaid.

21. NEW SHARES.—Any new shares shall be subject to the same provision with reference to the payment of calls, lien, transfer, transmission, forfeiture and otherwise as the shares in the original capital.

22. PROCEDURE ON RESOLUTION TO REDUCE CAPITAL.—When any such special resolution to reduce the capital has been passed, the Central Board may (subject, as aforesaid) determine the manner in which the reduction shall be carried into effect.

Meetings of Shareholders.

23. (1) ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.—On the first Monday of the month of August in every year, or as soon after such day as is convenient, a general meeting shall be held at such time and at such town where there is a local head office of the Bank as shall from time to time be prescribed by the Central Board, at which meeting the Central Board shall submit to the shareholders a [3][balance sheet] of the Bank made up to the preceding thirtieth day of June :

Provided that such general meeting shall not be held on two consecutive occasions at any one town in which there is a local head office of the Bank.

(2) A notice convening such meeting, signed by [3][the managing Directors or Deputy Managing Director] shall be published in the Official Gazette and in such manner as the Central Board may direct at least fifteen days before the meeting is held.

[3][24. (1) The Central Board shall convene a special meeting on the requisition of any three Directors or of not less than one hundred shareholders holding shares whether fully paid up or otherwise of the aggregate amount of not less than five hundred thousand rupees, upon which all calls or other sums due have been paid, if such requisition is signed by the requisitionists and addressed to the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director and contains a statement of the object of the proposed meeting.

Special meetings.

(2) The requisition may consist of several documents in like form, each signed by one or more of the requisitionists.

(3) Sixty days' previous notice of any such meeting shall be given by the Central Board under the hand of not less than three Directors, and such notice shall state the purpose for which the meeting is convened and the time and place of such meeting, and shall be advertised in the Official Gazette and in not less than three daily newspapers, of which one shall be a newspaper published in the vernacular :

Provided that not less than three months' previous notice shall be thus given of any special meeting held for the purpose of increasing or reducing the capital of the Bank.

(4) The place of such meeting shall be the place where the head office of the Bank is situated at the time of the meeting.

(5) If the Central Board does not proceed within 21 days from the date of deposit of the requisition referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) to cause a meeting to be called, the requisitionists, or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting, but in either case any meeting so called shall be held within three months from the date of deposit of the requisition.]

25. (1) QUORUM.—No business shall be transacted at any meeting, whether general or special, unless a quorum of two hundred shareholders, in person or by proxy, is present at the commencement of such business.

(2) If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting, a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened by shareholders not being [3][Directors], shall be dissolved ; in any other case, it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the following week at the same time and place, and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, those shareholders who are present, shall be a quorum.

26. (1) DECISION BY MAJORITY OF VOTES.—Save as is otherwise provided in this Act in regard to resolutions for the increase or reduction of capital or for the removal of a [1][Director] every election and every matter submitted to a meeting, whether general or special, shall be decided by a majority of votes.

(2) No shareholder shall be allowed to vote at any such meeting in respect of any share acquired by transfer, unless such transfer shall have been completed and registered at least three months before the time of such meeting.

(3) No shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any meeting in respect of any shares held by him alone or jointly, whilst any call due from him alone or jointly remains unpaid.

27. POWER TO DECLARE RESOLUTION CARRIED BY SHOW OF HANDS.—Save as otherwise provided in this Schedule a declaration by the chairman of any meeting, that a resolution has been carried or rejected thereat upon a show of hands, shall be conclusive, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Bank shall be sufficient evidence of that fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, such resolutions, unless, immediately on such declaration, a poll be demanded in writing by ten shareholders present and entitled to vote at such meeting.

28. POLL TO BE TAKEN, IF DULY DEMANDED.—If a poll be duly demanded, it shall be taken either at once or at such time and place and, save as otherwise provided in this Act, either by open voting or by ballot, as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

29. PROCEEDINGS AND RESOLUTIONS AT MEETINGS TO BE BINDING.—The proceedings at any meeting and all resolutions and decisions of such meeting shall be valid and binding on the Bank to far as such proceedings, resolutions and decisions are consistent with the provisions of this Act.

Votes of Members.

30. VOTES.—On a show of hands every shareholder present in person shall have one vote. On a poll every shareholder shall have one vote for every four shares of which he is the holder.

31. VOTES OF JOINT-HOLDERS.—In the case of joint-holders, the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint-holders; and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the register of shareholders.

32. VOTES ON BEHALF OF LUNATICS AND MINORS.—A shareholder of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any Court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee or other legal guardian, and a shareholder who is a minor may similarly vote by his guardian and any such committee or guardian may, on a poll, vote by proxy.

33. SHAREHOLDERS IN DEFAULT.—No shareholder shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting unless all calls or other sums presently payable by him in respect of shares in the Bank have been paid.

34. POLL.—On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

35. FORM OF PROXIES.—The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointer or of his attorney duly authorized in writing. No person shall act as a proxy unless either he is entitled on his own behalf to be present and vote at the meeting at which he acts as a proxy, or he has been appointed to act at that meeting as proxy for a corporation.

36. DEPOSIT OF PROXIES.—The instrument appointing a proxy and the power of attorney or other authority (if any) under which it is signed, or a notarially certified copy of that power or authority, [2][or, in the case of a power of attorney previously deposited and registered with any local head office, a certificate of the secretary of such local head office as to such deposit and registration], shall be deposited at the head office of the Bank in the place where the meeting is to be held not less than ninety-six hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in the instrument proposes to vote, and in default the instrument of proxy shall not be treated as valid.

Local Meetings.

37. ANNUAL LOCAL MEETING.—A general meeting of the shareholders on a branch register shall be held once in every year at the local head office of the Bank at which the branch register is kept. It shall be held on such date as the Central Board may direct.

38. PROCEDURE AT LOCAL MEETING.—The foregoing provisions of this Schedule as to the convening of general and special meetings and procedure at meetings shall, so far as may be, apply to local and special local meetings of the shareholders on a branch register:

Provided that references in the said provisions to shareholders shall be deemed to be references to shareholders on the Branch register, and references to [3][Directors, the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director] and the Official Gazette shall be deemed to be references, respectively, to the members of the Local Board, secretaries and to the local Official Gazette:

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted by Act III of 1934.

[2] Inserted by Act III of 1934.

[3] Substituted by Act III of 1934.

Provided, further that ten or more shareholders holding shares to the aggregaee amount of fifty thousand rupees may convene a special local meeting and that the number of shareholders to constitute a quorum and to demand a poll in the case of a local meeting shall be, respectively, twenty and five.

Qualifications and disqualifications of [1][Directors] and others.

39. (1) QUALIFICATION AND DISQUALIFICATION OF DIRECTORS AND OF MEMBERS OF LOCAL BOARDS.—No person shall be qualified to serve as a [1][Director] or as a member of a Local Board who is not a holder in his own right of unencumbered shares of the Bank, to the nominal amount of ten thousand rupees at the least:

Provided that this provision shall not apply in the case of a person who is an officer of the Bank or is nominated [2][* * *] by the Central Government.

(2) No person shall be qualified to serve as a [1][Director] or as a member of a Local Board—

if he holds the office of director, provisioal director, promoter, agent or manager of any joint-stock bank established, or having a branch or agency in British India [3][or British Burma] or advertised as about to be established, or to have a branch or agency in British India [3][or British Burma];

Provided that this disqualification shall not apply to any person being a director of a joint-stock bank, who may be nominated as a [1][Director under the provision of clause (iv)] of sub-section (1) of section 28; or if he is a salaried officer of [4][the Crown] not specially authorised by this Act or by the Central Government to serve as a member;

[1][and the office of a Director] or a member of the Local Board shall be vacated—if the person holding it resigns his office or dies;

if he accepts or holds any other office of profit under the Bank;

if he becomes insolvent or bankrupt, or compounds with his creditors;

if he is declared lunatic, or becomes of unsound mind;

if he is absent from the Central Board or the Local Board, as the case may be, for more than six consecutive months; or if he ceases to hold in his own right the amount of shares required to qualify him for the office.

(3) No two persons who are partners of the same mercantile firm, or are directors of the same private company, or one of whom is the general agent of, or holds a power of procuration from the other, or from a mercantile firm of which the other is a partner, shall be eligible or qualified to serve as members of the Central Board or [1][of the same Local Board] at the same time.

Removal of [1][Directors] and member of Local Boards.

40. REMOVAL OF DIRECTORS.—The shareholders may, by a special resolution passed by a majority of the votes of shareholders holding in the aggregate not less than one half of the capital, remove any [1][Directors (other than a Director nominated by the Central Government)] before the expiration of his period of office, and appoint, in his stead, a qualified person, who shall in all respects stand in his place.

41. REMOVAL OF MEMBER OF LOCAL BOARD.—The shareholders on a branch register may by a special local resolution passed by the votes of shareholders holding in the aggregate not less than one-half of the capital on the branch register, remove any member of the Local Board before the expiration of his period of office, and appoint, in his stead, a qualified person who shall in all respects stand in his place.

Meetings of Central Board.

42. (1) MEETINGS OF CENTRAL BOARD.—Meetings of the Central Board shall be convened not less than once in every [1][four] months by [1][the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director] and a meeting of the Central Board shall be held once at least in every year [1][at each of the local head offices established at Calcutta, Bombay and Madras:

Provided that not less than four meetings shall be convened by the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director in every year].

(2) Any Local Board may require [1][the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director] to convene a meeting of the Central Board at any time and [1][the Managing Director or Deputy Managing Director] shall forthwith convene a meeting accordingly.

(3) Four [1][Directors] entitled to vote shall form a quorum for the transaction of business.

Officers of the Bank.

50. APPOINTMENT, SALARIES, SUSPENSION AND REMOVAL OF OFFICERS.—The Central Board and subject to the provisions of this Act, the Local Boards shall have power—

(a) to appoint such officers and servants as may be necessary to conduct the business of the Bank,

(b) to grant salaries, pensions and other emoluments to such officers and servants, [1][and to grant gratuities or other financial assistance, either temporary or permanent, to widows, children or other dependents of deceased officers or servants], and

(c) to suspend or remove any officer or servant of the Bank.

51. ACCOUNTS, RECEIPTS AND DOCUMENTS OF BANK BY WHOM TO BE SIGNED.—The managing [1][Director and Deputy Managing Director] the secretaries and such other [2][employees] of the Bank as the Central Board may authorise in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette are hereby severally empowered for and on behalf of the Bank, to endorse and transfer promissory notes, stock receipts, stock debentures, shares, securities and documents of title to goods, standing in the name of, or held by, the Bank and to draw, accept, and endorse bills of exchange, bank post-bills, and letters of credit in the current and authorized business of the Bank, [3][*] to sign all other accounts, receipts and documents connected with such business [1][and to execute proxies to vote at meetings on behalf of shareholders from whom the Bank holds general powers of attorney].

52. OFFICERS FORBIDDEN TO ENGAGE IN OTHER COMMERCIAL BUSINESS.—No managing [2][Director] secretary, inspector, manager or accountant in the service of the Bank and, without the previous sanction of the Board no khazanchi cashier, or shroff, in the service of the Bank and no agent, at any branch or agency of the Bank shall, engage in any other banking or commercial business, either on his own account or as agent for any other person or persons, or shall act as broker or agent for the sale or purchase of Government or other securities.

53. SECURITY FROM OFFICERS.—Every person appointed to hold or act in any one or more of the said offices, and every other officer from whom the Central Board may think fit to require it, shall give security to the Bank for the faithful discharge of his duty to the satisfaction of the Central Board in such amount and in such manner as it thinks proper. The security to be given as aforesaid by the person holding or acting in the office of secretary shall not be in a less amount than fifty thousand rupees.

Accounts and Dividends.

54. (1) Books TO BE BALANCED TWICE A YEAR.—The Central Board shall cause the books of the Bank to be balanced on every thirty-first day of December and every thirtieth day of June.

(2) A statement of the balance at every such period, signed by a majority of the [2][Directors] shall be forthwith sent to the Central Government.

[2][(3) The statement of the balance shall contain the particulars and shall be in the form required by section 132 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and the provisions of that section and of section 136 of the same Act, shall apply to the Bank in like manner as they apply to a banking company.]

55. (1) DIVIDENDS TO BE DETERMINED HALF-YEARLY.—An Account of the profits of the Bank during the previous half-year shall be taken on or immediately after every thirty-first day of December and every thirtieth day of June, and a dividend shall be made as soon thereafter as conveniently may be and the amount of such dividend shall be determined by the Central Board.

(2) No unpaid dividend shall bear interest as against the Bank.

56. TRANSFER TO RESERVE.—The Central Board may, before declaring any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the Bank such sums as it thinks proper as a reserve or reserves which shall at the discretion of the Central Board, be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the Bank may be properly applied, and pending such application may, at the like discretion, either be employed in the business of the Bank or be invested in any of the securities specified in sub-clauses (i) to (iii) of claues (a) of Part I of Schedule I.

57. JOINT-HOLDERS.—If several persons are registered as joint-holders of any share, any one of them may give effectual receipts for any dividends payable on the share.

Audit.

58. (1) AUDITORS.—Three auditors shall be elected and their remuneration fixed at the annual general meeting. The auditors may be shareholders, but no [2][Director] or member of a Local Board or other officer of the Bank shall be eligible during his continuance in office. Any auditor shall be eligible on quitting office for re-election.

LEG. REF.

[1] Inserted by Act III of 1934.

[2] Substituted by Act III of 1934.

[3] The word 'and' omitted by Act III of 1934.

SCH II, S. 50 : CONSTRUCTION—SERVANT of BANK—TENURE OF—DISMISSAL WITHOUT NOTICE —IF JUSTIFIED.—It cannot be held that a servant of the Imperial Bank of India holds his office at pleasure and is liable to be dismissed withou notice. Servants even of a statutory body do not hold office at pleasure, merely because the statute provides the body or person by whom they may be dismissed. It is not right to assume that the power of dismissal is a power of summary dismissal. Where no stipulation exists as to notice, a hired servant can be dismissed only on reasonable notice. 1939 M. 580=(1939) 1 M.L,J. 615.

(2) The first auditors of the Bank may be appointed by the Central Board before the annual general meeting and if so appointed shall hold office only until the first annual general meeting. All auditors elected under this clause shall severally be and continue to act as auditors until the first general meeting after their respective elections :

Provided that, if any casual vacancy occurs in the office of any auditor elected under this section [1][the vacancy may be filled by the Central Board].

59. GOVERNMENT AUDITORS.—Without prejudice to anything contained in the foregoing provisions, the Central Government may appoint such auditors as it thinks fit to examine and report upon the accounts of the Bank.

60. (1) RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF AUDITORS.—Every auditor shall be supplied with a copy of the half-yearly balance-sheet, and it shall be his duty to examine the same, with the accounts and vouchers relating thereto. Every auditor shall have a list delivered to him of all books kept by the Bank, and shall at all reasonable times have access to the books, accounts and other documents of the Bank, and may, at the expense of the Bank if appointed by it and at the expense of the Central Government if appointed by it, employ accountants or other persons to assist him in investigating such accounts, and may, in relation to such accounts, examine any [1][Director] or any member of a Local Board, or any officer of the Bank.

(2) The auditors shall make a report to the shareholders or to the Central Government, as the case may be, upon the annual balance sheet and accounts and in every such report they shall state whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet is a full and fair balance-sheet containing the prescribed particulars and properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Banks' affairs, and in case they have called for any explanation or information from the Central Board, whether it has been given and whether it is satisfactory. Any such report made to the shareholders shall be read together with the report of the Central Board at the annual general meeting.

[2][60-A. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or in section 271 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, if the shareholders of the Bank pass a special resolution that the Bank be wound up voluntarily under the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, the Bank shall be wound up in accordance with the provisions of that Act with regard to the voluntary winding up of a company :

Liquidation.

Provided that, for the purposes of this section, no such special resolution shall be deemed to have been passed, unless at least one-third of the shareholders holding at least one-half of the paid-up capital of the Bank for the time being be present in person or by proxy and a majority poll by open voting in favour of the said resolution and such resolution is thereafter confirmed by a majority of the shareholders at a subsequent special meeting held at an interval of not less than two months or more than three months from the date of the meeting at which the resolution was first passed.]

Notices.

61. (1) SERVICE.—A notice may be given by the Bank to any shareholder either personally or by sending it by post to him to his registered address or (if he has no registered address in British India [3][or British Burma] to the address, if any, within British India [3][or British Burma] supplied by him to the Bank for the giving of notices to him.

(2) Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, pre-paying and posting a letter containing the notice and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

[1][62. A shareholder who has no registered address in India [3][or Burma] and has not supplied to the Bank an address for the giving of notice to him shall not be entitled to any notice, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act.]

Absence of registered address.

63. NOTICE ON JOINT-HOLDERS.—A notice may be given by the Bank to the joint-holders of a share by giving the notice to the joint-holder named first in the register in respect of the share.

64. NOTICE TO LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE.—Any notice given in accordance with the foregoing provisions shall be deemed to have been duly given notwithstanding that the shareholder be then deceased and whether or not the Bank had notice of his decease, and shall in that event, be deemed to be a notice to his legal representative.

65. SERVICE OF NOTICE ON BANK.—A notice may be served on the Bank by leaving it at, or sending it by post to, any local head office of the Bank.

[N. B.—The following S. 41 of the Act, the Amending Act III of 1934 is to be read along with this Act]

"41. Notwithstanding any amendment made in the said Act by this Act (III of 1934) in regard to the manner in which the Central Board shall be constituted, the Central Board existing at the commencement of this Act, shall, until it has been re-established in accordance with the said Act as amended by this Act, continue to transact business and shall have all the powers of the Central Board under the said Act as so amended."

Temporary saving of existing Central Board.

THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT (XI OF 1922).[1]

[5*th March*, 1922.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Income-tax and Super-tax.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Income-tax and Super-tax; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT, 1922.

LEG. REF.

[1] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1921, Pt. V, p. 159; and for Report of Joint Committee, see ibid., 1922 Pt. V, p. 31.

This Act has been declared in force in the district of Khondmals by sec. 3 and Sch. of the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (IV of 1936) and in the district of Angul by sec. 3 and Sch. of the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (V of 1936).

The Act has been applied with certain exceptions to persons in the Chittagong Hill-tacts, by sec. 2 of the Chittagong Hill-tracts Laws Regulation, 1937 (Ben. Reg. II of 1937).

SEC. 1: SCOPE OF THE ACT.—(Per Mukerjee.) 52 C. 1=28 C.W.N. 1074=1925 C. 34 (22 C. 788; 23 C. 563, Ref.). See also 18 S.L.R. 68=1925 S. 130.

CHARACTERISTIC OF INCOME-TAX— INCOME-TAX AND POOR RATE—DIFFERENCE BETWEEN.—The purpose of the Income-tax Act is to tax a person's total income from all sources; the method of assessing income derived by ownership or occupation of hereditaments is somewhat arbitrarily based on annual value and not on actual income, but that does not alter the essential characteristic of income-tax that it is a tax on income generally. On the other hand, the poor rate is levied in respect of the occupation of hereditaments, irrespective of a person's income generally, and irrespective of whether the rate payer is in fact deriving profits or gains from such occupation. A dwelling-house is a burden, not a source of profit, for the occupier, who pays rent for it. He is rated on the value of the burden, while he remains unrated in respect of his whole profits, be they from business or from investments. This marks the essential difference in character between income-tax and rates. 162 I.C. 479 (P.C.). Per Beaumont, C.J., and Broomfield, J.—It is clear that in a statute imposing income-tax, that is a tax on total income, the tax relating to land is none the less income-tax because it is assessed on the annual value of the land and not on the actual income. But it does not follow from that proposition that every statute which charges a tax in relation to annual value of land is charging a tax on income. Prima facie, a tax on the annual value of land is not a tax on income. 1940 Bom. 65. Kania, J.—In determining the nature of a tax though consideration may be given to the standard on which the tax is levied, that is not the determining factor. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 58=42 Bom.L.R. 10=3 F.L.J. 25=1940 Bom. 65 (F.B.).

Krishnaswami Ayyangar, J.—(1) The Income-tax Act, being a taxing statute, should receive a strict construction that is a construction in favour of the subject and not in favour of the Crown. If a case appears to be governed by either of two provisions, it is clearly the right of the assessee to claim that he should be taxed under the one which leaves him with a lighter burden. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 178=51 L. W. 222=1940 Mad. 366=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 319 (F.B.).

CONSTRUCTION.—On points specially dealt with in the Act it should be interpreted without reference to previous state of law. 28 C. W.N. 1074=52 C. 1=1925 C. 34. Construction most beneficial to the subject should be adopted. 48 C. 161; 43 A. 139. "If the Crown, seeking to recover tax cannot bring the subject within the letter of the law, the subject is free"—(Per Lord Cairns in Partington v. Attorney-General, L.R. 4 H.L. 100). But the Court cannot undertake, out of its notions of what is fair, to adopt or re arrange the machinery of the Act upon a question as to whether a certain payment made by the assessee is allowable or not in computing income-tax. 57 C. 918=1930 C. 641. Per Beaumont, C.J.—In construing a taxing Act, the Court is not justified in straining the language in order to hold a subject liable to tax. If the legislature intends to assess the estate of a deceased person to tax charged on the deceased in his lifetime, the legislature must provide proper machinery and not leave it to the Court to endeavour to extract the appropriate machinery out of the very unsuitable language of the Statute. 55 B. 312=33 Bom.L.R. 388=1931 B. 333. See also I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 178=1940 Mad. 366=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 319 (F.B.). It is obviously undesirable that in construing an All Andia Act like the Income-tax Act different constructions should be placed upon the Act in different provinces. 1940 I.T.R. 1. As to mode of keeping accounts for income-tax, see 7 Mys. L.J. 287. Income of previous year as basis of income-tax, see 1929 M. 35=55 M.L.J. 844 (F.B.). A man who is liable to pay a tax is entitled to take shelter under all devices which he may adopt within the law to avoid payment of the tax. 1929 A. 919=1930 A. INTERPRETATION.—Where a statute has been punctuated, the punctuation marks must be taken as part of the Statute. 46 M.L.J. 42 =1924 M. 455.

INCOME-TAX MANUAL.—The Income-tax Manual merely contains departmental instructions for administering the Act and for guidance of officials and is not authoritative of the statute which is binding on the Courts. 131 I.C. 193=1931 L. 320 (2) (F.B.); 49 M. 22=1926 M. 287=50 M.L.J. 63. See also 12 L. 757=1931 L. 441 (as to the effect of R. 25 of the Income-tax Manual).

OPERATION AND COMMENCEMENT.—Where the proceedings, such as issue of notice, etc., were taken under the Income-tax Act of 1918, the subsequent coming into force of the Act of 1922 does not make the latter applicable. 80 I.C. 362.

ENGLISH AND INDIAN LAW.—The English and Indian Income-tax Acts, not being in pari materia decisions of the English Courts are not as a rule useful guides on the construction of the Indian enactment. 59 I.A. 206=59 C. 1343=36 C.W.N. 653=63 M.L.J. 124 (P.C.); 52 C. 1=28 C.W.N. 1074. See also 67 I.A. 239=I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 215= 1940 P.C. 124=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 577 (P.C.). But on some fundamental concepts reference may be to some extent usefully made to English decisions, in particular as to the meaning of the word "income". 70 I.A. 180=22 Pat. 713=1943 P.C. 153=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 410 (P. C.). See also 1946 All. 306 (F.B.). English decisions are not decisions of "foreign Courts" and the decisions of English Courts on the English Income-tax Act are the best guides to the interpretation of the Indian Act. 44 M. 718=41 M.L.J. 177; 52 C. 1= 28 C.W.N. 1074; 1933 P.C. 145=65 M.L.J. 285=60 C. 1029=60 I.A. 196 (P.C.). Extreme care must be taken in applying English decisions to cases under the Burma Income-tax Act, because the Scheme of the English Income-tax Act, 1918, and the Schemes of the Burma Income-tax Act, 1922 are entirely different. 1938 Rang.L.R. 346=175 I. C. 287=1938 Rang. 151 (S.B.). An assessment is valid in law when the source of income is non-existent in the year of assessment but had been in existence in the previous year. Per Rankin, C.J.—The general scheme of the Income-tax Law in England is that tax is payable in respect of a source of income existing in the year of assessment, though the amount is often measured by the results of previous years. But under the Indian Income-tax Act the income of the previous year is not merely the standard by which the next year's income is to be computed but is itself the subject-matter of the tax. 54 C. 630=31 C.W.N. 557=1927 C. 553. The Indian Law bases the liability of a person to taxation on the place where the income accrues or arises, or is received, but not on the place of his residence. 10 L. 657=1929 L. 609 (F.B.). The invocation of Imperial Income-tax Code and of decisions pronounced upon it is apt to be very misleading in the interpretation of Indian Income-tax legislation which is framed on other and fortunately much simpler lines. 60 I.A. 196=1933 P. C. 145=65 M.L.J. 285 (P.C.).

DEBATES IN THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY are not admissible in construing this Act. 20 Luck. 212=1945 Oudh 35.

LEGAL OPINIONS.—It is not proper for the Income-tax Officer to ask the assessee to produce opinions of legal practitioners in support of his contention. Where such opinions are annexed by the assessees to their petitions the proper course is for the tribunal to state that the petitions cannot be received until the statements as to opinions are removed. 12 P. 5=14 Pat.L.T. 171=1933 P. 123.

INCOME, WHAT IS.—The word 'income' is not defined in the Act. It connotes a periodical monetary return "coming in" with some sort of regularity or expected regularity from definite source. The source is not necessarily one which is expected to be continuously productive, but it must be one whose object is the production of a definite return, excluding anything in the nature of a mere windfall. 59 I.A. 206=59 C. 1343= 1932 P.C. 138=63 M.L.J. 124 (P.C.).. See also 37 Bom.L.R. 126; 1933 P.C. 145=60 I. A. 196=65 M.L.J. 285 (P.C.), cited under sec. 3.

APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL—LIMITATION.— An application for leave to appeal to Privy Council in a case under the Income-tax Act is governed by Art. 179 rather than by Art. 181 of the Limitation Act and the date of the judgment is the starting point of limitation. 59 C. 251=36 C.W.N. 127=1932 C. 587. The Commissioner of Income-tax preferring an appeal to Privy Council is entitled in computing the period of limitation to deduct the period taken for copies of judgment. 59 C. 251.

PRESUMPTION OF GOOD FAITH OF ASSESSEE.— The normal presumption is in favour of good faith and not of bad faith on the part of the assessee. To start with, the assessee is entitled to the presumption that an entry in his accounts is made in the ordinary course and not with an intention to conceal the real income. 12 Mys.L.J. 245=39 Mys. H. C. R. 772. Where a system of accountancy has been adopted by an assessee and recognised by the Income-tax authorities in previous years as correct, and on that basis a particular item has been allowed as deductible in the computation of profits in previous years, the income-tax authority will not be justified in subsequent years to turn round and refuse to accept that system of accountancy; a party cannot both approbate and reprobate. 12 Mys.L.J. 245=39 Mys.H.C.R. 772.

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1922.

DOUBLE TAXATION, RELIEF AGAINST—INCOME-TAX ACT.—In order to claim relief afforded in respect of double taxation it is necessary to prove (i) payment of or liability to pay United Kingdom income-tax for a year of assessment or a part of the year's income, and (ii) payment of dominion tax for that year in respect of the same part of the assessee's income; those parts had to be ascertained by excluding from the statutory incomes in the two countries items which do not satisfy the conditions according to the true construction of the section; and it is the smaller of these two incomes in respect of which relief is afforded; (iii) the word "income" in the section meant not real income, but "statutory" or "notional income," by means of which tax is calculated; (iv) an analysis of the two incomes, for the purpose of comparing, for example, the respective allowances for repairs or depreciation, is inadmissible; (v) that nothing need be regarded except the two statutory incomes of the business, taking care, of course, to see that neither includes income from any other source; (vi) that the rules which determine in the United Kingdom or in a Dominion the allowances or deductions which are permissible for the purpose of assessing a tax-payer to income-tax in either country must be disregarded in determining the comparable incomes, provided that the incomes are derived from the same source; (vii) that actual payment, and not ultimate incidence, was the criterion both of the right to relief and of the right to deduct. 1939 I.T.R. 59.

CLAIM, ALLOWANCE OF—EFFECT FOR SUBSEQUENT YEARS.—The fact that in a previous year an Income-tax Officer had allowed a certain claim does not bind the Income-tax Officer in a subsequent year. 154 I.C. 191=1935 L. 81 (S.B.). As to application of principle of res judicata, see 1941 P. 527=194 I.C. 464. As to estoppel, see 1938 Cal. 557.

"OFFICER OF CROWN"—MEANING OF.—The expression "officer of the Crown", covers a Collector. The latter is in one sense an officer of the Provincial Government, but there can be no doubt that in India he is also an "officer of the Crown." 20 Pat. 573=1941 I. T.R. 386=194 I.C. 663=22 Pat.L.T. 863=1941 Pat. 306 (S.B.). The proceedings before the Income-tax Officer are not judicial proceedings in the sense in which this term is ordinarily used, and all that is required of him is to proceed without bias and give sufficient opportunity to the assessee to place his case before him, or in other words, to conduct himself in accordance with the rules of justice, equity and good conscience; and the control exercisable by the High Court on the Income-tax Officer in these circumstances is slight. 39 P.L.R. 1028=1937 Lah. 721.

AVOIDING INCOME-TAX by means not forbidden by law is not unlawful: 26 A.L.J. 280 =1928 A. 81 (F.B.); 1930 A.L.J. 26=126 I.C. 435=1929 A. 919; though it may be an offence by false return or concealment to evade payment of income-tax. 1928 A. 81 (F. B.). Any subject of the State is entitled to escape paying taxes if he can devise a lawful method of doing so but by dividing what is in fact a single transaction between two documents he does not achieve his object nor does he change the nature of the transaction. 9 P. 194=1930 P. 33 (S.B.). See also 57 C. 918=1930 C. 641; 1929 A. 919; 1928 A. 81 (F.B.).

SECOND INCOME TAX cannot be imposed without sanction of Governor-General. 9 Lah. 340=106 I.C. 882=1928 L. 53. See also 1945 Oudh 35.

SEC. 2 (1): AGRICULTURAL INCOME.—The imposition of income-tax in respect of income other than agricultural income derived from a permanently settled estate would not be a breach of the Madras Permanent Settlement Regulation. 59 L.W. 100=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 120. Forest income is "agricultural income" 45 M. 518=1922 M. 325 (F.B.). Income derived from pasturage is agricultural income. See 1924 Rang. 337; 1924 Cal. 668=51 Cal. 504=84 I.C. 31. Where cattle are wholly stall-fed and not pastured upon the land at all, doubtless, it is trade and no agricultural operation is being carried on; where cattle are being exclusively or mainly pastured and are nonetheless fed with small amounts of oil cake or the like, it may well be that the income derived from the sale of their milk is agricultural income. But between the two extremes there must be a number of varying degrees, and the task for the Income-tax Officer is to apply his mind to the two distinctions and to decide in any particular case on which side of the fence the matter falls. The Income-tax Officer has to see whether the cattle derived sustenance to a material extent from the produce of the ground, and whether they did so or not is entirely a question of fact for him and one which cannot be reviewed by the High Court. 176 I.C. 601= 1938 Rang. 260 (F.B.). In order to determine whether certain income is agricultural income or not, regard must be had to the source of such income; an annual sum in the nature of an ex gratia payment made by the Bettiah Raj to the assessee in consideration of some services rendered by an ancestor of his in the remote part is not derived from land and could not be regarded as agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) of the Act. 1941 Pat. 27=1940 L.T.R. 416. To bring rent or revenue derived from land under the head of agricultural income under sec. 2 (1) (a) it is necessary to show not only that the land from which it is derived is assessed to land revenue, but also that the land is used for agricultural purposes. This shows that double taxation is not legally impossible. 20 Luck. 212=1944 O.W.N. 443=1945 Oudh 35. Agricultural income does not lose its right to exemption because it can be brought under one of the heads of income set out in sec. 6 of the Income-tax Act. 45 C.W.N. 647 =1941 I.T.R. 292=1941 Cal. 598. Profits derived by a money-lender from a usufructuary mortgage is "agricultural income". 62 I.A. 215=69 M.L.J. 474 (P.C.). Where under an arrangement for the liquidation of a debt, a usufructuary mortgage is executed by the debtor and the mortgagee leases back the property to the debtor and the latter engages to pay the creditor definite annual payments, those payments stipulated for being rent reserved by the lease, are agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) (a) and no portion thereof could be considered to be interest, damage or compensation. 1944 O.W.N. 454=1945 I.T. R. 98=1945 Oudh 44. 'Dharat' which means weighing charges levied by the landlord on the tenants in addition to the rent is also agricultural income and is exempt from assessment. 165 I.C. 141=1936 L. 602. Sec. 2 (1) of the Act applies to the case of a person who gets agricultural income from the use of the land by direct operation. It is not applicable to a lambardar who gets certain fees which constitute his remuneration for the work of the collection of the land revenue. Lambardari fees are not, therefore, within the definition of agricultural income. 38 P.L.R. 402=1936 L. 595. Avakasam and additional avakasam, renewal fees paid by a tenant to his landlord in respect of agricultural lands under the Malabar Tenancy Act constitute "agricultural income" as defined by sec. 2 (1) (a). In the same way any further exactions collected by the landlord from his tenant before his lease is renewed must also be held to be "agricultural income" as the landlord gets the exactions as the owner of agricultural land. 58 L.W. 140=1945 Mad. 207=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 263=I.L.R. 1945 Mad. 837. Where a malikana is acquired just as an annuity or maintenance allowance might be acquired in consideration of the relinquishment of all claims to property which though it might have originally borne some relation to the land revenue, had now ceased to do so and which is in the nature of a feudal payment, is not agricultural income within the meaning of the Act. Such a malikana is something outside the ordinary law governing that malikana which is payable by an under-proprietor to a superior proprietor and cannot be considered to be rent or revenue derived from land. 1944 O.W.N. 454 =1945 I.T.R. 98=1945 Oudh 44.

(a) any rent or revenue derived from land which is used for agricultural purposes, and is either assessed to land-revenue in British India or subject to a local rate assessed and collected by [2][officers of the Crown] as such ;

Zar-i-chaharum which is one-fourth of the sale price of houses when houses are transferred by one person to another and to which the zamindar is entitled is not agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1). Nor is nazarana which represents the consideration received by the zamindar for granting permission to a person to build a house on a plot of land belonging to the zamindar, agricultural income. I.L.R. (1942) All. 39r=1942 A.L.J. 543=1942 F.L.J. (H.C.). 167=1942 All. 295. The rent of the site of a flour mill cannot be regarded as agricultural income, as the working of a flour mill is not an agricultural purpose. 38 P.L.R. 402=1936 L. 595. The net profit from commission charged to tenants for sale of their produce on their behalf does not fall within the definition of agricultural income. 38 P.L.R. 402=1936 L. 595. Where the tenant had executed a pronote for arrears of rent, interest earned on the pronote is not "agricultural income" and is taxable. 55 M. 830=63 M.L.J. 20. See also 1941 Cal. 443. Where the assessee being a usufructuary mortgagee is in the position of a landlord with respect to the actual cultivating tenants, the income derived from such lands must be agricultural income within the meaning of the Income-tax Act and is therefore exempt from taxation. 13 P. 336 =15 P.L.T. 85=1934 P. 178 (S.B.). Simple mortgagee—Rents and profits collected by receiver and deposited in Court—Payment to mortgagee—If not agricultural income. 53 L.W. 714=1941 Mad. 246=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 262. Cash remuneration received by Mutwalli, where wakf properties consisted entirely of agricultural income is taxable. 45 C.W.N. 647=1941 Cal. 598. Income derived from toddy extracted from cocoanut trees situated on lands asssed to Government revenue is agricultural income when it is received by the actual cultivator, whether owner or lessee of the land on which the trees grow. 50 M. 923=53 M.L.J. 666=1927 M. 1038 (F. B.). If the income is obtained by a person who has produced the trees from which the toddy is tapped, or has not done any agricultural operation whereby those trees have been raised, it is not agricultural income. 50 M. 923=1927 M. 1038=53 M.L.J. 666 (F. B.). Income from lease of fishery rights is not "agricultural income" which is exempt from taxation. 1932 M. 757=63 M.L.J. 634 (F.B.). The words "agricultural purposes" in sec. 2 (1) of the Act cannot be held to cover the process of flooding the land occupied by letting in the sea water and then extracting the sodium chloride from it by eliminating the other chemical constituents. A licensee of salt factory is liable to pay income-tax on the profits he makes by the manufacture of salt. 50 M. 763=1927 M. 848=53 M.L.J. 377 (F.B.). Fees received from land used for storing purchases of crops do not come within the definition of

(b) any income derived from such land by—
(i) agriculture, or
(ii) the performance by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of any process ordinarily employed by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind to render the produce raised or received by him fit to be taken to market, or

"agricultural income" and cannot therefore be exempted from assessment. 31 C.W.N. 1047=1927 C. 793. It is not possible to lay down any general rule that payments in the nature of salami or nazarana must be regarded as payments of rent and, therefore, income. The question would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. Salami or nazarana may in certain cases be payment of rent in advance, but in other cases it may well be a lump payment for the transfer of the leasehold interest. The nature of the payment whether capital or income, cannot be decided as a question of law, but can only be decided after a full investigation of all the facts. It must also be ascertained whether the holdings settled are holdings connected or unconnected with agriculture. If they are connected with agriculture, the payments would be agricultural income. 1940 P.W.N. 702=1941 Pat. 39. See also 31 C.W.N. 1047=1927 Cal. 793. "Selami" or premium when paid for recognition of a transfer of a holding from one tenant to another is not agricultural income. 1921 C. 262=48 C. 766=25 C.W.N. 80=61 I.C. 112; 53 C. 34=1925 C. 929. Nor does nazar paid by tenants to zamindar. 1941 P. 39. As to income received from Mukarraridars or permanent leaseholders, see 1941 Pat. 39=1940 P.W.N. 702. As to income from quarries, see 25 A.L.J. 816=50 A. 98=1927 A. 703. Income derived by letting out land for purposes of stocking timber is not agrigultural income. 86 I.C. 1028=1925 L. 488. Maintenance allowance is not agricultural income though paid out of the income from land. See 52 M. 827=1929 M. 598=57 M.L.J. 36; 10 O.W.N. 1003=1933 O. 475. See also 60 I. Whether the rent derived from lands leased out on patni leases is agricultural income or not is to be determined not with reference to the nature of the leases by which they were let out but by reference to the use to which the land has been put. Where a portion of the lands which a zamindar has given on patni lease is used for non-agricultural purpose, the rent paid by the patnidar to the zamindar which is attributable to that portion of the lands is not "agricultural income" within the meaning of the Act. The question whether any portion of the income derived from the patnidar by the zamindar is agricultural or not is one of fact. 1940 I.T.R. 378. See also 1941 Pat. 39=1940 P.W.N. 702. Mutation fees paid by transferee of occupancy holding and the landlord's fees paid under sec. 12, Bengal Tenancy Act, are agricultural income exempt from income-tax. 7 P. 550=9 Pat.L. Interest on arrears of rent collected by a landlord from agricultural tenants under sec. 67 of the Bengal Tenancy Act of 1885 is not agricultural income as defined by sec. 2 (1) (a) of the Income-tax Act and is therefore assessable to income-tax. Such interest is neither rent nor revenue derived from land. 1941 Cal. 443=1940 I.T. R. 460.

AGRICULTURAL LAND IN BURMA— INCOME FROM—IF EXEMPT.—Income from agricultural land in Burma is not covered by the definition of "agricultural income" in sec. 2 (1) (a). The definition can cover only agricultural income in British India. I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 775=58 L.W. 74=1945 Mad. 314= (1945) 1 M.L.J. 190.

INTEREST ON ARREARS OF RENT OF LAND.— Interest accruing on arrears of rent derived from land is agricultural income. 1944 I.T. R. 428=1944 Pat. 207 (S.B.). See also 23 Pat. 374=25 P.L.T. 146=1944 Pat. 198 (S. B.); 21 Pat. 461=1942 Pat. 381; 26 Pat.L.T. 43. Interest on arrears of rent payable by a ryot to the landholder under the Madras Estates Land Act is not agricultural income within the meaning of the Income-tax Act. Such interest is not rent. It is an additional sum payable to the landholder as compensation for the delay in the payment of the rent. Nor can it be classified as reveuue "derived from land." The fact that the landholder may distrain for arrears of rent and interest thereon does not make the interest "rent." The fact that the Madras Estates Land Act makes the rent and interest a first charge on the land does not also alter the character of the interest. In deciding whether it is or is not agricultural income within the meaning of the Income-tax Act, the Court can only have regard to the definition in the Income tax Act. I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 322= 56 L.W. 617=1944 Mad. 76=(1943) 2 M.L. J. 439. Arrears of rent under Bengal Tenancy Act—Interest on—Is not agricultural income and is taxable. 1943 I.T.R. 546. See also 199 I.C. 763.

FOREST TREES AND FROEST PRODUCE.—The word "agricultu e" implies something which is achieved with the aid of human agency. Income derived from trees which have grown wild canaot be legitimately described as agricultural income and to describe it as such would involve a distortion of the meaning of the word "agriculture." 59 L.W. 100=1946 I.T.R. 92=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 120. See also 1922 Mad. 325; 1946 I.T.R. 356. The term "agriculture" cannot be defined by the nature of products cultivated, but should be defined rather by the circumstances in which the cul-

(iii) the sale by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of the produce raised or received by him, in respect of which no process has been performed other than a process of the nature described in sub-clause (ii) ;

(c) any income derived from any building owned and occupied by the receiver of the rent or revenue of any such land, or occupied by the cultivator, or the receiver of rent-in-kind, of any land with respect to which, or the produce of which, any operation mentioned in sub-clauses (ii) and (iii) of clause (b) is carried on :

Provided that the building is on or in the immediate vicinity of the land, and is a building which the receiver of the rent or revenue or the cultivator or the receiver of the rent-in-kind by reason of his connection with the land, requires as a dwelling house, or as a store-house, or other out-building ;

tivation is carried on. The mere fact that an industry has some connection with or is in some way dependent on land is not sufficient to bring it within the scope of the term. The term "agricultural " for purposes of the Act should be construed in its primary sense as meaning the art or science of cultivating the ground. The expression "land used for agricultural purposes" in sec. 2 (1) (e) therefore cannot extend to forests of spontaneous growth where nothing is done to prepare the soil for trees to be planted therein, and where the growth of the trees is not fostered by tillage. Accordingly income from the sale of forest trees of spontaneous growth growing on land which is assessed to land revenue is not agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) (a). 20 Luck. 212=1944 O.W.N. 443=1945 Oudh 35. The income from the sale of forest trees growing on land naturally and without the aid of human agency is not agricultural income and as such is not exempt from income-tax 1944 O.W.N. 451 =1945 L.T.R. 94=1945 Oudh 42.

SECS. 2 (1) AND 4 (3) (viii): FIXED REMUNERATION PAID TO MUTWALLI OUT OF AGRICULTURAL INCOME OF WAKF ESTATE.—Although the income received by a wakf estate is agricultural income within the definition of sec. 2 (1), the remuneration paid to the mutwalli out of such income is not agricultural income received by him, when the amount of his remuneration is fixed and does not depend either on the nature of the properties or assets which constitute the wakf estate nor on the amount of the income derived therefrom by it. A different question may arise if the mutwalli's remuneration is by way of a fractional part of the income of the wakf estate or by a percentage commission. 70 I.A. 14=I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 367=1943 P.C. 20=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 494 (P.C.).

Under two deeds, a person was appointed mutwalli and he was to receive both the agricultural and non-agricultural income, and after performing the functions of his office, was allowed to appropriate the residue of the amount received in lieu of his services. The whole of the amount received by him was sought to be assessed on the ground that once the income of the agricultural properties reached the hands of the assessee in his primary character as mutwalli, its character as "agricultural income" was exhausted and therefore when the residue, after satisfying the prior trusts, was appropriated by the assessee in his secondary capacity as beneficiary, it ceased to be 'agricultural income" and had lost the protection of sec. 4 (3) (vii): Held, that so long as the services were and are performed the assessee was and will be, beneficially interested in the surplus income of the properties and was and will be, a beneficiary in respect of that surplus under the trusts of wakf. And the agricultural income which he received as mutwalli did not change its character when he received the residue as beneficiary. Held, further, that in determining the amount of the agricultural income in such residue which would be exempt from assessment, the principle to be applied was that the prior charges on the mixed income fund should be apportioned between the component parts thereof rateably and in consequence the surplus which remains should be rateably attributed to agricultural and non-agricultural income. Therefore the method to apply was to treat the residue in the hands of the assessee as being composed of agricultural and non agricultural income in the same ratio as the total of these two classes of income bore to each other at the time when they passed into the common fund. Where a resident of British India who has business in British India takes a lease of agricultural land in an Indian State and brings the crop into British India where it is sold, the profit is received in British India. "MARKET".—The word "market" in the section implies a real centre of economic exchange. The purchase by jails of aloe leaves for preparing fibre out of them through prisoners by crude methods is merely an artificial condition having no relation to a market for agricultural produce. 9 P. 185=123 I.C. 610=1930 P. 44 (S.B.). The process "ordinarily employed by cultivators" must mean one in ordinary use amongst cultivators generally. fide agriculturist carrying on that business in the ordinary course of good husbandry. Where cotton is first ginned and then sold in market, then, although it may be distinctly advantageous even from the mere point of view of transport to do so, it cannot be said that ginning is essential in order to enable the produce to be fit to be taken to market. 139 I.C. 316=1932 N. 61. Manufacture of biris or cigarettes made of tobacco wrapped in tendu leaves—Tendu plant growing wildly without human effort—Profits from business—Not exempt as agricultural income. 1939 I.T.R. 493. The assessees were growers of tobacco, the leaf of which was used for making virginia cigarettes. In order to make the leaf suitable for the market, the assessees dried it by a process called "flue curing" and the question arose whether the process was one ordinarily employed by a cultivator within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) (b) (ii). Held, (1) that the question was one of fact and no question of law arose under sec. 66 (1) of the Act: (2) that the process of curing employed by the assessees was a process ordinarily employed by a tobacco cultivator to render it fit to be taken to the market when the tobacco grown was of the nature grown by the assessees. (1944) I.T.R. 1=1944 M.W. N. 93=1944 Mad. 248. The assessees, a limited company, were appointed as managing agents of another company (principal company) under a contract which inter alia provided for payment to the assessee as managing agents of a commission "at the rate of ten per cent. per annum on the annual nett profits of the principal company. . . provided that such commission shall not in any year amount to a less sum than rupees ten thousand". The principal company derived its income from several sources, one of which was the manufacture of sugar. The cane used in manufacture was partly grown on the company's own farms and partly brought from outside. In assessing the principal company's income to income-tax, the part attributable to the manufacture of sugar from the cane grown on the company's farms was exempted from tax as "agricultural income". The assessees contended that the commission received by them on that part of the nett income which represented the income from the manufacture from cane grown on the farms of the principal company should also be exempted from tax under sec. 4 (3) (viii) of the Act as agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) of the Income-tax Act. Held, that it could not be said that the assessees (managing agents) received any portion of the agricultural income, when they received remuneration for services rendered for managing

CL. (1) (c).—In order that the income derived from any building may be held to be agricultural income, it is necessary that the building must be in the immediate vicinity of the land and it is a building which the receiver of the rent or revenue or the cultivator requires as a dwelling house or as a storehouse or other out-building. It is not open to the Commissioner to decide in the case of a large building of a zamindar, for instance, what portion of the building the assessee does in fact require as dwelling house by reason of its connection with the land. The word "requires" in sec. 2, subsec. 1, cl. (c) cannot be interpreted as "needs". The phrase "by reason of his connection with the land" has a qualitative and not a quantitative significance. CL. (6-A).—Where in accordance with a resolution passed at a general meeting of a company, its accumulated profits are capitalised and distributed to the shareholders in the form of bonus shares, unless the distribution amounts to a "release" of assets by the company to the shareholders, the shareholders cannot claim the value of the shares to be a dividend within the meaning of sec. 2 (6-A) of the Income-tax Act. Though the company's profits have been taxed at the maximum rate, a shareholder receiving such bonus shares is not entitled to claim a refund of the difference between the maximum rate, and what he would have paid if the tax had been levied according to the rate appropriate to his income. 1941 Mad. 922=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 900=I.L.R. It cannot be said that it is implied that a complete instrument only is intended to be valid for registration under sec. 2, that is an instrument which does not require supplementing by other evidence, but contains in itself the complete agreement constituting the partnership and by itself solely operates to create the partnership. It is not impossible that a firm should be constituted under an agreement, although the agreement has not been executed by all the partners. 58 C. 1005 =1931 C. 682 (S.B.). It is essential that an application for registration should be signed by at least one of the partners of the firm. An application made in that behalf by an agent of the partners would not comply with the statutory rules and the registration by the Income-tax Officer of such an application would be ultra vires and void. 1933 R. 229= 11 R. 380. Held, (1) that the Income-tax Officer has power to refuse an application for registration made in the prescribed manner with partnership deed prior to assessment; (2) that the law gives the Income-tax Officer power to call for evidence of dissolution of the joint family for the purpose of registration under sec. 2 (14) over and above the documentary evidence adduced by the partnership deed. 57 Cal. 1336=34 C.W.N. 363 =1930 C. 449. The certificate to be given in the form prescribed in the Income-tax Rules is not that the profits will be divided or credited within some fixed period. LEVY OF INCOME-TAX IN AREAS EXCLUDED UNDER SEC. 92 (1) INDIA ACT.—Unless a Finance Act has been passed which applies to an excluded or partially excluded area in the manner provided by sec. 92 (1) of the India Act (1935), the Income-tax authorities have no jurisdiction to impose a tax under the Income-tax Act on the assessable income of an assessee in such areas. 23 Pat. 5=(1944) I. T.R. 76=1944 Pat. 194.

SCHEME OF TAXATION.—The scheme of taxation under the Income-tax Act, 1922, is a definite departure from the system prevailing under the previous Income-tax Act of 1918. By sec. 3 of the Act of 1922, the tax to be charged for any year is in respect of income of the previous year. The intention of sec. 3 is not to treat the income of the previous year merely as a measure of the unascertained income of the year of assessment, but to tax the assessee in the year of assessment upon the income received by him in the previous year. 61 I.A. 1=56 A. 1=66 M.L.J. 127 (P.C.). The total income for the purpose of sec. 16 means the total amount of income, profits or gains from all sources including (1) certain receipts on which an assessee is exempt from paying income-tax and (2) the amount of tax deducted at the source by companies when paying dividends. 26 Bom. L.R. 366=48 B. 504=1924 Bom. 361. When the Act by sec. 3 subjects to charge "all income" of an individual, it is what reaches the individual as income which it is intended to charge. Where, therefore, a decree of the Court charges the assessee's whole resources with a specific payment to his step-mother, it to that extent diverts his income from him, and directs it to his step-mother; to that extent what he receives for her is not his income. It is not a case of the application by the assessee of part of his income in a particular way; it is rather the allocation of a sum out of his revenue before it becomes income in his hands. 1933 P.C. 145=60 I.A. 196 =60 C. 1029=65 M.L.J. 285 (P.C.). In the case of assessment of a Hindu undivided family, the whole of the income of the family is liable to assessment, and sums paid to the widow of a deceased coparcener by way of maintenance under a decree of Court cannot be deducted from the assessable income. The decree for maintenance does not amount to a severance or take the widow out of the family, and does not in any way alter the character of the sum which the widow receives as maintenance as a widow in the joint family, though the amount is fixed by the decree. She gets it in her capacity ultimately as a member of the family and the amount paid to her is a share of the income going to one of the members of the family. I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 827=39 Bom.L.R. 907=1937 B. 479. See also 23 Pat.L.T. 323=1942 Pat. 456. An allowance received by the Lord Bishop of Lucknow as such from the Colonial Bishopric Fund in England is an income within the meaning of sec. 3. 54 A. 223 =1932 A. 151. The tax is charged on profits "accruing, arising or received" in British India. It is immaterial if the work was done and money-spent abroad to earn it. So, a non-resident company assessed under sec. 42 in respect of a business in which the manufacture of a commodity takes place in a foreign country and the sale thereof takes place in British India, is not entitled, in computing the profits and gains of such business, to make a deduction representing the proportion of profits earned by manufacture in the country of origin. 59 C. 1226=36 C.W.N. 563=1932 C. 626. See also 62 I.A. 207= 1935 P.C. 143=69 M.L.J. 190=14 Pat. 552 (P.C.). The fact that in sec. 3 the legislature drew a distinction between a company and a firm or other association of individuals clearly shows that the provisions of the Act do not prevent an association formed for the purpose of doing business from being made liable to income-tax on the profits, even if it has not been registered in accordance with the law relating to the incorporation of companies. See also notes under sec. 2, Cl. as a member of a Hindu undivided family. In respect of such income, the holder must be assessed as an individual under sec. 3 of the Act and not as the representative of a Hindu undivided family. 45 L.W. 573= (1937) 1 M.L.J. 707=I.L.R. 'FIRM'—MEANING OF.—A firm for the purposes of the Income-tax Act is a collective term for a number of persons who enter into partnership with one another. 1935 L. 100.

"OTHER ASSOCIATION OF INDIVIDUALS".—The expression "association of individuals" in sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act does not include an association of companies. "Individual" must mean a human being, and therefore an association of individuals must be an association of human beings only The Ahmedabad Mill-owners' Association consisting of 61 members, 60 of whom are limited companies and one an individual person, cannot be treated as an association of individuals for purposes of sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 451=1939 I.T.R. 369= 41 Bom.L.R. 656=1939 Bom. 363. See also 1941 Sind 71=1940 I.T.R. 114. The words "other association of individuals" in sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act must be construed according to the ejusdem generis rule with reference to the word "firm" preceding it and they do not cover the members of a formerly undivided Mitakshara family after a preliminary decree for partition has been made. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 358=1937 Cal. 583. The words "association of individuals" in sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act have to be construed in their plain, ordinary meaning and cannot be read ejusdem generis with the word immediately preceding it, viz., firm. The only limit to be imposed is that the association must be one which produces income, profits or gains. An association of two or more persons for the acquisition of property which is to be managed for the purpose of producing income, profits or gains falls within the words "other association of individuals" in sec. 3 of the Act; and under sec. 9 of the Act, the association is the owner of the property, and as such is assessable. The fact that one of the assessees during the year of assessment is a minor does not affect the question of the libility to assessment. All of them can be rightly assessed as owners under sec. 9 (1). I.L.R. (1937) Bom. 830=39 Bom.L.R. 910= 1938 Bom. 41. Association of individuals— Hindu widows (wives of brothers) carrying on business but not as registered firm—Widows earning income from deposit in joint names —Assessment as association of persons may be made. 1942 I.T.R. 84. The expression "association of individuals" in sec. 3 includes cases of all trustees and does not exclude cases where the beneficiary is not a living person and as such the income of a newspaper and press run by trustees in the hands of the trustees is liable to be assessed. 16 L. 829=1935 L. 570=1940 I.T.R. 501 (F.B.). See also 1930 Lah. 929=11 Lah. 724. Bank which can be described as an "association of individuals" within the meaning of sec. 3 could be assessed to income-tax as such; the words "other association of individuals" in sec. 3 would apply to a corporate body which for the most part is composed of Co-operative Societies and would embrace an association of corporate bodies; Where the assessee bank carries on a banking business with non-members it cannot maintain its claim to be a mutual benefit society. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 627=190 I.C. 388=1940 I.T.R. 269=1940 Mad. 612=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 160 (F.B.). Where a partnership union purports to consist of two firms and one Hindu undivided family and the shares of the members of the firm are not mentioned in the deed of partnership and the partnership is undoubtedly a trading concern it cannot fall within the definition of the word 'firm' as given in the Income-tax Act. It is more appropriate to regard it as 'other association of individuals'. 1936 L. 548. See also 1936 A. 817. In cases of trust not covered by secs. 40 to 43 of the Act, the person liable to assessment is neither the trustee nor the beneficiary as such, but the person in actual receipt and control of the income which it is sought to reach. If the beneficiary receives the income or profits, he is liable to be assessed; if the trustee receives and controls them, he is primarily so liable. The trustees of Currimbhoy Ebrahim Baronetcy, having been created a corporation sole by an Act, constituted an "individual" within the meaning of sec. 3 and a taxable unit and as a matter of convenience may be assessed to income and super-tax. 1932 B. 106=33 Bom.L.R. 1549. The term "association of individuals" in sec. 3 has no technical meaning. It merely means a group when the properties of a number of individuals are put together and one business is carried on with the combined resources (for instance by a guardian on behalf of several minors having distinct and specified shares in the properties) it is open to the Income-tax Officer to regard it as one business carried on by an association of individuals within the meaning of sec. 3 and make a single assessment on the guardian as representing that association. He is not bound to assess each minor separately. It may be different if no business is carried on and the trustee or guardian is merely in receipt of the income on behalf of the beneficiaries or minors. 1932 Mad. 378=55 M. 891=62 M.L.J. 600 (F.B.). The words

"association of individuals" in sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act must be construed with reference not merely to the word "firm" immediately preceding them, but with reference to the other associations of individuals, namely, a Hindu undivided family and company which appear in the section. An association of individuals resembling a Hindu undivided family is an association of individuals contemplated by sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act. The question whether certain persons form an association of individuals under sec. 3, is a question which must depend upon the particular facts and circumstances of each case. 1941 Sind 71=1940 I.T.R. 114. Where several persons join together and remain joined together for the purpose of buying, holding or owning, and using property in order to make gain by it, they become and are an "association of individuals" within the meaning of sec. 3 of the Act. 63 C. 538=40 C.W.N. 476. It is the intention of the legislature that the expression "other association of individuals" in sec. 3 should be ejusdem generis with the word immediately preceding, i.e., the word "firm,'. Thus, before there can be an association of individuals within the meaning of the section, it must first be shown that the association has at least some of the attributes of a firm or partnership, though not in the strictly legal sense of the term. Accordingly the mere appointment by a body of co-owners of a common collecting agent, will not convert such body of co-owners into an "association of indiviuals" within the meaning of the section. 1936 A. L.J. 1109=1936 A. 817. The assessees were the co-heirs of a deceased Mahomedan from whom they inherited under the Mahomedan Law specific shares in the property left by the deceased. The income of the property was derived from rent deeds which stood in their joint names. A munshi was appointed to manage the property and collect the rent and after deducting the cost of collection and other expenses, the net income was distributed among the assessees in accordance with their respective shares. The Income-tax officer sought to assess them as an association of individuals. Held, that the assessees did not form an association of individuals, but should be assessed separately on their individual shares. "COMPANY"—COMPANY IN LIQUIDATION.—A company which has gone into liquidation is a "company" within the meaning of sec. 3 and the Official Liquidators can be assessed as representing the company. 1934 A.L.J. 221=1934 A. 170=56 All. 685. See also Notes under sec. 2 (12).

SECS. 3 AND 4: COMPANY—FOREIGN INCOME—LIABILITY TO ASSESSMENT.—In the case of a non-resident, income which neither accrues nor arises nor is received within British India may be liable to tax under the combined operation of secs. 3, 4 and 42. Profits made by an insurance company outside British India on premiums of participating policies collected and sent by its branches in India by investment outside India are profits or gains which are liable to tax in India. 57 B. 519=35 Bom.L.R. 896=1933 B. 427. The assessee, a resident of British India owned a saw-mill in Burma which in the account year commencing from April, 1936, resulted in a loss, and the income of the assessee consisted solely of interest received from investments. For purposes of assessment to income-tax, the assessee sought to set-off the loss sustained in the saw-mill in Burma against the profits derived from the investments. The Income-tax authorities held that as Burma ceased to be part of British India from 1st April, 1937, the loss sustained in Burma which was thus outside British India could not be set-off against the profits from the investments. Held, that when the assessee worked the saw-mill Burma was part of British India, and reading secs. 3 and 4 together, the sections should be so read that the loss must be deemed to have been sustained in British India, and therefore the set-off claimed ought to be allowed. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 388=49 L.W. 21=1939 Mad. 77=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 31 (F.B.).

There is no presumption that a business started or carried on by a member, even though a manager of a joint Hindu family is joint family business. Nor is there any such presumption where a business is carried on by such a member in partnership with a stranger. Where during the lifetime of a Hindu father his sons start a business of their own to the exclusion of the father and without his being associated with it, it cannot be said that any income derived from that business is joint family income or that property owned by them forms a nucleus for further acquisitions. The fact that the sons have been assessed as a Hindu undivided family without objection in previous years cannot operate as estoppel or res judicata against them and it is open to them to claim that they should be assessed as individuals in respect of property owned by them individually. (1944) I.T.R. 296.

The Madras Bar Council is an individual or Association of persons within the meaning of sec. 3 of the Act and its income is taxable unless exemption is obtained under sec. 4 (3). The income of the Bar Council derived from investments of the Council, if held by the Council for educational purposes, would be exempt from tax under sec. 4 (1) of the Act; but the income derived from enrolment of members of the profession and examination-fees of apprentices-at-law would be taxable. SECS. 3, 6 AND 9.—Held (1) that a difference must be made between a private wakf created, if not primarily, at least in part, for the maintenance of the settlor's family and a wakf created for charitable or religious purposes falling within the exception in sec. 4 (3) (1) of the Income-tax Act; (2) that so far as the wakf might operate as a wakf for charitable and religious purposes, to that extent immunity from taxation could be claimed, but so far as the wakf operated for the maintenance of the settlor's family, or other quasi-secular purposes, to that extent the income was liable to taxation; (3) that in the case a private wakf the estate is vested in the beneficiaries; (4) that for purposes of secs. 6 and 9 of the Income-tax Act the trustees could not be regarded as the owners of the income; (5) that the income in this case was bound up with the beneficiaries and should be taxed in their hands. 1940 I.T.R. 501. See also I.L.R. The assessees, two brothers, became entitled as residuary legatees under the will of their grandfather to certain house properties in Bombay in the year 1929. They got possession of the properties and managed it as joint owners and derived profit therefrom. Held, that as soon as they elected to retain the properties and manage them as a joint venture producing income, they became an association of individuals within the meaning of sec. 3 of the Income-tax Act, and they were properly liable to be assessed as the owners of the properties under sec. 9. 177 I.C. 447=40 Bom. SECS. 3 4 AND 42: FOREIGN MANUFACTURING COMPANY—SALES IN BRITISH INDIA THROUGH SALESMAN AND BROKERS—LIABILITY TO ASSESSMENT.—The profits and gains derived from sales made at Cawnpore by the assessee's salesman of the goods manufactured by the assessee at Ujjain outside British India are liable to assessment under sec. 4 (1) (a) as profits actually received as well as accrued and arisen in British India. Sec. 42 (1) of the Act cannot be divorced from secs. 3 and 4 so as to subject a non-resident assessee to a charge of income-tax arising only under sec. 42 and not under secs. 3 and 4. The general charge of tax under secs. 3 and 4 is given a particular application in respect of a non-resident foreigner. The relief under sec. 42 (3) applies only to a case in which profits and gains are deemed under sec. 42 to accrue or arise in British India and not to a case in which they actually so accrue or arise or are received in British India. As regards profits and gains derived from sales made from Ujjain to customers in British India through brokers in British India they cannot be held to be the profits or gains deemed to have accrued or arisen to the assessee company in British India within the meaning of sec. 42 (1) and the same cannot be assessed under sub-sec. (3) of that section. The profits cannot be described as accruing or arising through or from any business connection in British India. (1946) I.T.R. 417.

SECS. 3 AND 9.—The income of an impartible esate to which the assessee has succeeded by the rule of primogeniture prevailing in a Hindu Mitakshara family is not chargeable to income-tax in his hands as that of an individual. The owner of the property for the purposes of sec. 9 of the Income-tax Act is the Hindu undivided family and not its incumbent for the time being. I.L.R. (1959) Lah. 529=1940 Lah. 113=1939 I.T.R. 427.

SECS. 3 AND 16.—Hindu undivided family—Main business in name of head of family and other businesses in names of sons and wife—Assessment of income. See 56 L.W. 402= 1943 Mad. 648.

SECS. 3 AND 14 (1): CLAIM TO EXEMPTION —ONUS.—The burden is on the revenue authorities to show that income sought to be taxed is rendered liable to tax by the statute; but the onus of showing that a particular class of income is exempted from taxation lies on the assessee. In a case where the revenue authorities have discharged the onus which lay on them by showing that the assessee is in receipt of income, sec. 3 of the Act renders that liable to taxation; it is for the assessee then to prove that the income is exempted from taxation by the Act. For the purposes of sec. 14 (1) of the Act, what the assessee has to show is (1) that he is a member of a Hindu undivided family, and (2) that he receives the income in question as a member of the family. 14 P. 785 =1935 P. 342 (S.B.).

SCES. 3 AND 25-A.—Where an assessee, who is the father and manager in a joint Hindu family, is the Governing Director of a private company, and gets a sum of money as his remuneration as such Governing Director and the Articles of Association distinctly state that this sum is his personal remuneration, such sum is prima facie his own individual income and not that of the joint family. Even assuming that the shares held by him in the company belong to the joint family, the remuneration received by him cannot be held in law to be that of the joint family. 22 Pat. 55=(1943) I.T.R. 16 =1943 Pat. 169.

SECS. 3 AND 26-A.—The object of sec. 26-A is primarily to get a refund for the partner, and secondly, to ensure that the firm is not charged any super-tax. Sec. 26-A has nothing to do with a charge to tax or with the liability to pay tax. It is a procedural section and cannot affect the liability of a partner to pay the tax charged on him by sec. 3 on his total income; nor is there any other section in the Act which prevents the Crown from causing a correct assessment to be made. In assessing an individual partner of a firm which is registered, the Income-tax Officer is not precluded or estopped from inquiring whether the income shown against that partner's name is the true income of the partner or stands in his name as a nominee of another partner or another person. SECS. 3 AND 55.—"Individual"—"Hindu undivided family"—Widow holding after death of husband—Mother-in-law of widow entitled to maintenance—Daughter and mother-in-law, if undivided Hindu family. 1943 I.T.R. 154.

SECS. 4 AND 6: INCOME LIABLE TO BE TAXED.—The two terms "arising" and "accruing" denote the same idea or ideas very similar, and the difference only lies in this that one is more appropriate than the other when applied to particular cases. 10 L. 657 =1929 L. 609 (F.B.). See also 114 I.C. 296 1929 R. 1 (F.B.). The words "accruing or arising" merely refer to the connexion between the income and the country in question and they do not explain what is or is not income. 57 All. 737=1935 A.L.J. 374=1935 A. 378. The words "accruing or arising" in sec. 4 (1) of the Income-tax Act extend the scope of the Act to income which may not be received in British India; and if moneys are earned by carrying on a business by exercising a profession in British India, liability to tax cannot be avoided by arranging that the moneys are to be paid outside India. The question to be determined is the place where the profits accrue or arise, and not the place where the business in which the profits are earned is carried on or where the assessee resides. 59 Bom. 719=37 Bom.L.R. 753=1935 B. 423. Held, that in the case of Government of India Promissory Loan Notes repayable at Calcutta, the interest received by the assessee at Hyderabad (Deccan) was liable to be assessed to income-tax and super-tax. Meaning of expression "accruing or arising" in sec. 4 (1) of the Income-tax Act discussed. 54 Bom. 46=1930 Bom. 371 =32 Bom.L.R. 671. See also 10 L. 657= 1929 L. 609; 1941 I.T.R. 358; (1941) 1 M.L.J. 262; 1941 I.T.R. 358; (1941) 1 M.L.J. 262; 1941 I.T.R. 610; (1940) 2 M.L.J. 110. It is not just and equitable to treat the unrealised interest, although formally credited to the kasar khata, as income, profits or gains derived accruing or arising or received, for purposes of the Income-tax Act. The test to be applied is whether any profits in the shape of interest have become due to the creditor (assessee) in such a manner as to be immediately available to him in the account year so as to be capable of being received by him at his choice and pleasure. 25 N.L.R. 35=1929 N. 50 (F.B.). The words "accruing and arising" in sec. 4 (2) denote the same idea and are used in contradistinction to the word "receive" and indicate a right to receive. Income cannot be said to have accrued or arisen in a particular country merely by reason of the fact that it is earned in that country. It accrues or arises in the country where there is a right to demand payment of it or where it is in fact paid. Where an assessee receives in the United Kingdom payments of pension granted by the Madras Government under the Civil Service Regulations of the Government of India, such payments, when not brought into British India are not income accruing or arising in British India within the meaning of sec. 4 (1). 38 P.L.R. 911= 1936 L. 713. See also 37 Bom.L.R. 753= 1935 B. 423. By an agreement between a Joint Stock Company registered in Indore outside British India and the assessees who were the selling agents of the company and who had shops at Bombay and Indore, the assessees were to be entitled, amongst other things, to be paid by the company a commission of 1 per cent. on the gross sale proceeds of all cloth and yarn of the company and the commission was due to the assessees yearly on the 31st December in each and every year and was to be paid immediately thereafter. The sales were effected in Indore, being on terms F.O.R. Indore; the purchasers who were Bombay merchants paid the purchase money by accepting hundis drawn by the assessees through their Indore shop; the hundis were collected by the assessees in Bombay and after realisation paid to the company in Indore. Thus the position was that sales were effected outside British India the proceeds of such sales were collected by the assessees in British India and the commission payable to the assessees at the end of each year was paid in Indore and not received in British India. Held, that the source of the commission paid to the assessees was the sale which took place in Indore and not the receipt of the proceeds of the sale, and it could not therefore be said that the commission which accrued or arose was received in British India within the meaning of sec. 4 (1). "INCOME RECEIVED IN BRITISH INDIA".—What constitutes—Liability to tax. 3 L. 349=1923 L. 14 (F.B.). The assessees were a firm carrying on business in Bombay and acting as general agents for a company at Indore. By the terms of the agreement between them, the agents were entitled to a commission on sales effected by them and to retain that commission out of the proceeds. But, as a matter of fact, all the proceeds were sent to Indore by the Bombay firm and the commission was paid only at Indore. On a question arising whether the commission was "money arising or accruing in British India", it was held that the fact that the commission might have been segregated and paid in British India indicated that the income accrued in British India and was assessable accordingly. 33 Bom.L.R. 382=55 Bom. 231=1931 Bom. 236. The assessee, a firm consisted of four brothers who were joint and lived in Muttra in the United Provinces. The firm sold salt which was obtained from a lake in Rajputana outside British India. The head office of the firm was at Rajputana, but it had a branch at M in British India, where a business of selling salt to persons in the district was carried on. One of the partners came to M at intervals. There was a clerk at M. Orders for salt were accepted and contracts for sale and delivery of salt were concluded at M, and the orders were sent to the head office at Rajputana for execution, and payments made at the head office. Held, (1) that the assessee carried on business in British India; (2) that the assessee was liable to be taxed under sec. 4. 1942 I.T.R. 13=1942 Pat. 313. Where the assessee is a registered firm and the total income includes income accuring or arising without British India, the statutory deduction of Rs. 4,500 allowed by the third proviso to sec. 4 (1) must relate to the total income of the firm and not to the share of the income of each partner, for purposes of sec. 23 (5) (a). 1943 I.T.R. 259. The statutory deduction of Rs. 4,500 allowed by proviso (3) to sec. 4 (1) should, be made from the total foreign income of the firm and not from the share of each partner in the income of the firm included in his own total income. The assessee was the sister of a Ruler of an Indian State residing in British India. In the accounting year she received certain moneys as an allowance from the State. The allowance was made as an annual "ward-robe allowance" and as presents on certain specified days of festival in each year. Each payment was specifically budgeted for in the annual budget of the State and the evidence was that they had been made in each year consecutively for a period of almost twenty years. The assessee was never asked to give any account of her expenditure of these monies and the surplus left at the end of the year was tacitly assumed to be her personal property. 1946 All. 306 (F.B.)=1946 A.L.J. 416=1946 I.T.R. 561 (F.B.).

Per Full Bench.—The moneys received by the assessee during the accounting year do not constitute her personal income assessable under the Income-tax Act. (1946) All. 306 (F.B.)=1946 A.L.J. 416=1946 I.T.R. 561 (F.B.).

Per Braund, J.—The word "income" as used in sec. 4 (1) of the Act not only denotes something larger than profits and gains, but denotes whatever may be properly described as "income" in the ordinary parlance of language, unless expressly exempted from the charge of tax by the Act itself. It is not limited to something which must necessarily have its origin either in a business activity, an investment or an enforceable obligation. A regular payment or a payment expected to be regular may in principle be as much "income" when it is received from a giver who makes it systematically and for a known and rational reason (and a fortiori when it is received in accordance with custom) as it is if it is made in pursuance of some binding obligation whether arising out of business dealings, out of an investment or out of some other enforceable obligation. In construing the word "income" in the Act, one has to ask oneself whether, having regard to all the circumstances surrounding the particular payments and receipts in question, what is received is of the character of income according to the ordinary meaning of that word in the English language or whether it is merely a casual receipt or mere windfall. In the present case, what we have is a series of payments made over a period long enodgh to entitle them to be described as habitual, originating in nothing more than the bounty of the Ruler of the State. There may be special circumstances in which payments of this kind, though voluntary in the sense that if discontinued, there is no remedy, might be attributable to some custom, usage or traditional obligation which might invest them with the character of "income" in the hands of the recipient. But if there are, then it is for the Income-tax authorities to show them The burden is on them to show (apart from the mere circumstance of reptition) that there is any origin to account for these payments which could amount in its nature to a definite source so as to render each payment "income" and not merely "casual or a mere annual (though expected) windfall". It has not been proved in this case that there is anything more certain than the mere whim of the Ruler to support them. 1946 All. 306 (F.B.).

Per Malik, J.—The remittances received by the assessee are expressly exempted under sec. 4 (3) (vii), being of a casual and non-recurring nature. 1946 A.L.J. 416=1946 I.T.R. 561=1946 All. 306 (F.B.).

L.R. 570=1921 B. 159. Under certain circumstances, it is open to the Income-tax Officer to assume that the amount remitted to British India from the branch of the business outside British India represents profits made in such branch, in spite of the fact that the total amount of such remittances is less than what has been sent from British India to such branch. 1935 L. 727. Assessee was carrying on money-lending business in Tinnevelly and also in Penang. Deposits made with him in his Tinnevelly shop were repaid by him by means of hundis on his Penang shop, and the moneys having been paid at Penang, the payments were recorded in the Penang folio of the Tinnevelley books and in the Tinnevelly folio of the Penang books. The profits in Penang were sufficient to cover the payments made. Held, that what the assessee did was to use in British India moneys available to him in Penang, and this amounted to a receipt in India by him of gains made outside India and these were therefore taxable under sec. 4 (2). It is not necessary that there should be an actual transfer of the money and the receipt thereof in India to constitute "receipt" sec. 4 (2). 1936 M. 282=59 M. 171=1935 M.W.N. 1191=69 M.L.J. 844 (F.B.). The assessee, a Nattukottai Chetty, carrying on money lending business in the Federated Malay States, instructed his Bank at that place in the year of account to remit to its branch in British India a sum of Rs. 8,000, which the branch in British India was to hold as a fixed deposit of the assessee repayable at the end of 12 months. The money represented profits which the assessee had made in the Malay States. When the deposit matured, the amount was paid to the assessee in British India. Held, that the sum of Rs. 8,000 must be treated as profits of the assessee's business outside British India brought into British India by him in the year of account and was therefore liable to be taxed. I.L.R. 1945 Mad. 845=1945 Mad. 280=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 302. Under the Income-tax Act, income accruing or arising in British India in the "previous year" is assessable, though the place of accrual has ceased to be part of British India in the year of assessment. When a creditor executes a mortgage decree and puts to sale the mortgaged property in satisfaction of the decree and the total sum realised by the sale is less than the total of principal, interest and costs, the amount realised should be taken first after satisfaction of costs not towards the payment of interest and the balance only to be credited towards the satisfaction of the principal. If the creditor has made a declaration declaring what portion of the amount realised was interest and what portion was principal and has made an appropriation accordingly, the Income-tax Officer cannot insist on appropriating the realisations to interest first. 9 P. 48. The second proviso in sec. 4 (1) of the Income-tax Act does not apply unless there is control in British India of a foreign business. When it is found that there is no act of control in British India of a foreign business owned by a Hindu undivided family, the mere presence of the manager in British India cannot itself justify a finding that control of the foreign business is exercised in British India. Nor would the mere receipt by the manager of copies of the day books of the business be sufficient to justify such a finding. 58 L.W. 170 (2)=1945 M. SEC. 4: 'INCOME' AND 'PROFITS'—DISTINCTION BETWEEN.—In the wide sense, 'income' when contrasted with 'capital' means and includes not only income in its strict meaning, but also profits and gains. But in the strict sense, 'income' as contrasted, not with 'capital', but with 'profits' or 'gains' means a periodical monetary return coming in, and accruing to the assessee independently, and not as the nett proceeds, of a business carried on by the assessee as defined in sec. 2 (4). In this sense, 'income' connotes incomings without regard to out-goings. Profits are "the surplus by which the receipts from the trade or business exceed the expenditure necessary for the purpose of earning those receipts". 11 R. 521=1934 R. 27 (S.B.). See also 37 Bom.L.R. 126=156 I.C. 274= 1935 B. 197 (Assessee paying part of profits to third party under a contract not exempt); I.L.R. SALE OF PATENT—PRICE—IF 'INCOME' OR 'CAPITAL RECEIPT'—TEST.—If a transaction is an out-and-out sale of the patent by the patentee for a definite fixed price, even though it is payable in instalments, any such instalment received during the accounting period cannot be treated as taxable 'income', but is a 'capital receipt' exempt from assessment. If, on the other hand, it is merely a 'working licence' granted for an annual payment, it is clearly 'income' and taxable. 1937 Lah. 880. If the assessee has been carrying on the business of acquiring and selling patents as a regular trade, the price received by him by the sale of any particular patent would be income within the meaning of the Income-tax Act and assessable as such. The case would be similar to that of a speculator in immovable properties, who purchases and sells such properties as a regular trade. But this would not be so if a person who had inherited immovable property or had acquired it as an investment, subsequently sold it at a profit. 1937 Lah. 880. If a transaction is a working licence for a number of years in which no fixed sum is to be paid to patentee but he is to receive a royalty on a percentage basis on the nett profits made by the grantee, the amount of the royalty so received would clearly be assessable in the hands of the grantors. 1937 Lah. 880.

MORTGAGEE PURCHASING MORTGAGED PROPERTY IN EXECUTION OF HIS DECREE.—Whatever may be the right of a mortgagee when a sum of money is paid to him in cash by the mortgagor to appropriate it towards principal or interest, when the mortgaged property is purchased in satisfaction of the debt, the mortgagee receives a transfer of the property at the value of the purchase price in satisfaction pro tanto of the liability of the mortgagor for principal and interest and to the extent therefore that the purchase price exceeds the principal sum due there is a realisation of interest, that is payment of interest—and such payment is liable to income-tax. 1942 A.L.W. 205=1942 O.W.N. 289=1942 I.T.R. 186.

INTEREST ON ARREARS OF RENT—DEBTOR EXECUTING USUFRUCTUARY MORTGAGE BOND IN FAVOUR OF ASSESSEE FOR INTEREST.—Where a debtor executes a usufructuary mortgage bond in favour of the assessee in respect of interest due to the assessee on arrears of rent derived from land and puts the assesee in possession of certain lands for the purpose of realising his dues, the assessee gets merely a security for his debt which still remains unrealised and therefore the mortgage amount does not constitute taxable income (assuming that the interest on arrears of rent is taxable). 1944 I.T.R. 428=1944 Pat. 207 (S.B.).

COMPANY INVESTING SURPLUS SHARE CAPITAL IN PURCHASE OF SHARES OF SISTER CONCERN—PROFIT MADE BY SALE OF SHARES.—The act of a company in investing the surplus capital in the purchase of shares was part of business in order to make a profit, and they were business transactions and the profit by sale of such shares is taxable. 22 Pat. 742=1944 Pat. 102. Interest—Appropriation of—Decree obtained by assessee against two persons for principal and interest on handnotes and costs—Payment of lump sum by one debtor in full discharge of his half of liability—Amount to be appropriated as interest. See 1942 Pat. 457=203 I.C. 437. The assessee's father who was a partner in a money-lending firm died in 1921, but inspite of his death the business was carried on until 1928. Subsequently the amount payable and due to the assessee's father in respect of his share was ascertained and it was decided that the assessee should be paid the amount together with Rs. 21,153, as interest on the amount and he was paid in 1938. The Income-tax Officer included this amount of Rs 21,153 as the income of the assessee for 1939-40, but the assessee objected and claimed that the amount represented damages paid to him for the wrongful detention of the principal amount due to him. Held, that the amount represented interest and not damages and was therefore taxable as income. 56 L.W. 508=(1943) I.T.R. 470 =1943 Mad. 682=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 316.

EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION—RULER OF INDIAN STATE.—Per Braund, J.—The test of whether the Ruler of an Indian State can be made the subject of taxation in British India under a British Indian Taxing Act must ultimately rest on whether he is capable of being sued in British Indian Courts As the Ruler of an Indian State is personally immune from proceedings in British Indian Courts, he must necessarily be immune from taxation in British India under the Income-tax Act, which no Court in British India has the power to enforce against him. 1946 All. 306 (F.B.).

EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION—WIFE OF RULING CHIEF OF INDIAN STATE.—The wife of the Ruling Chief of an Indian State is not exempt under the canons of International Law from taxation under the Income-tax Act, in respect of whatever is, or is deemed to be, her income accruing, arising or received in British India. 1946 A.. 306 (F.B.).

"SOURCE".—The source of the income must be considered in its proximate rather than in its ultmate significance. 13 P. 336=1934 P. 178 (F.B.). The measure of such compensation is no test of its character as capital or income; whether such payment is enforceable as a claim for damages is immaterial. SECS. 4 (1) (b) (ii) AND 4-A (c): SCOPE—IF ULTRA VIRES OR EXTRA-TERRITORIAL IN OPERATION.—Secs. (4) 1 (b) (ii) and 4-A. (c) of the Income-tax Act cannot be held to be extra-territorial in their operation, taking the scheme of the Act as a whole; nor are those provisions ultra vires the Indian legislature. The legislature has not attempted to relegate, punish or directly deal with any act done beyond the territorial limits of British India nor does it seek to impose a liability on property situate outside its jurisdiction. (H.C.) 133=1943 Comp. C. 265. Control and management of the affairs of a business must be effected through the media of human minds and in dealing with a plurality of persons who either jointly or severally exercise powers of control and management over a particular business, and who may be either generally or from time to time in different places and in communication by letter, telephone or telegram, it may be difficult to ascertain where the control and management is situated, especially where it has to be ascertained whether such control is wholly without British India for purposes of sec. 4-A (b) of the Act. A liberal meaning is to be given to the words "wholly situated" and it must be ascertained in every case where in fact the control and management of the business is situated apart from the temporary journeyings of the active partners or the residence of the dormant ones. The mere fact that a person resident in India has a power of control, whilst it is a relevant consideration, is no evidence by itself of any fact of control or management and it is the acts and not the powers that are decisive. 1946 I.T.R. 334.

SEC. 4 (1) PROVISO (3) AND SEC. 16 (1).—When the income of a registered firm has had the benefit of statutory rebate of Rs. 4,500 in respect of its foreign income, then the benefit of that rebate cannot again be claimed by each individual partner upon his share in the profits which is liable to taxation for it will amount to a double rebate. Sec. 4 (1) Proviso, deals with the assessment of the tax and sec. 16 (1) deals with the levy. The rebate is allowed when the income-tax is assessed, it is not allowed again upon the levy. 1946 I.T.R. 407.

SEC. 4 (1) AND (2).—(See also notes under secs. 3 and 42). Sec. 4 (2) is for the purpose of ascertaining the profits of a partner and got from the business carried on outside British India and when such profits come into British India, that will be taken into consideration in assessing him. If a firm receives such profits from another firm, it is the firm that should be taxed. 31 L.W. 215=122 I.C. 349=1930 M. 119 (S.B.). See also 54 A. 223 =1932 A. 151; 59 C. 1226=36 C.W.N. 563= 1932 C. 626. What the Income-tax Act charges with tax is income and nothing but income, whether that income accrues or arises or is received in British India or is deemed so to arise or accrue or be received by reason of being brought into British India. But if income arising or accruing without British India is spent or otherwise so dealt with that it ceases to be income instead of being brought into British India, it is not chargeable under the Act merely because the thing upon which it has been expended or into which it has been turned is subsequently brought into British India. It is not necessary of course, in order to attract the tax, that the income received abroad should be brought into India in the exact form in which it has been received. Where the interest on certain sterling bonds belonging to the assessee company carrying on business in British India was payable in England and was in fact received by an agent of the company and expended on the purchase of certain mill stores and machinery which were later on sent to India and used for the purpose of the business of the company it was contended that the machinery bought with the sterling equivalent of the interest on securities, on their arrival in British India, resulted in so much of foreign income being brought into British India, but it was overruled and held that the income on the securities were not liable to be taxed under sec. 4 (2) of the Act. 67 I.A. 115=I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 332=1940 P.C. 36=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 137 (P.C.). The Court must look at the substance of the transaction and when that is done, the proper conclusion to be drawn should be that there was here a remittance of profits. The test is from where did the money for the remitance come. (1940) 2 M. L.J. 217 (S.B.). Krishnaswami Iyengar, J. —It would not be necessary that the assessee should receive the profits in the exact form in which they were made, but he must receive them in British India substantially as profits. The mere existence of an overdraft cannot save foreign income from liability to taxation, as money paid out of the overdraft and remitted to British India is not necessarily the money of the lender, and may be that of the recipient. There is no abstract rule of law to be applied generally to cases of this kind. The question in each case is what is the correct inference to be drawn; and the Court is entitled to get behind appearances in order to discover the truth. I. L.R. (1940) Mad. 715=52 L.W. 108=1940 Mad. 593=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 217 (S.B.). See also 1940 I.T.R. 474; Ibid. 432; Ibid 297; 1940 Mad. 416=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 543. A person in British India carrying on business there and controlling transactions abroad in the course of such business is not by these mere facts liable to tax on the profits of such transactions. If such profits have not been received in or brought into British India, it becomes necessary to consider on the facts of the case where they accrued or arose. It cannot be said that the place of formation of the contract prevails against everything else. In some circumstances it may be so, but other matters—acts done under the contract for example—cannot be ruled out a priori. Where the contract is neither framed nor carried out in British India, the profits cannot be said to have accrued or arisen in British India. I. L.R. (1938) Bom. 752=40 Bom.L.R. 916= 48 L.W. 204=42 C.W.N. 1070=67 C.L.J. 554=1938 P.C. 232 (P.C.). A person who is "not ordinarily resident" in British India gets relief in respect of income which had accrued or arisen to him in British India only in respect of such income as he does not bring into British India. If he brought the income which had accrued after the 1st April, 1933, his case would be covered by sec. 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Income-tax Act, provided it was income which had accrued before the beginning of the accounting year. If it was income which had accrued during the accounting year his case would be covered by sec. 4

(1) (b) (ii) and the income would be liable to be assessed only it was brought into British India; otherwise under the main proviso it would be saved. (1945) I.T.R. 376. The assessee, an Insurance Company, resident in British India, had certain securities in a foreign Bank (in England). The assessee recovered interest on those securities, but it was not brought into British India. The assessee claimed exemption in respect of such foreign income under sec. 4 (1). Held, that the income fell under sec. 4 (1) (b) (ii) and not under sec. 4 (1) (b) (i) and therefore the third proviso to sec. 4 (1) applied to the case, and the assessee could claim exemption under that proviso. Sec. 42 of the Act did not apply to the case. 1945 I.T.R. 405=47 Bom.L.R. 795. An assessee who is resident but not ordinarily resident in British India, and who earns income which accrues to him after 1st April, 1933, gets relief in respect of such income only if he does not bring it into British India during the accounting year. But if he brings such income accrued before the year of account into British India during the year of account, he is liable to be assessed upon such income. 48 Bom.L.R. 304.

Profits made in British India—Railway company—Contract with Secretary of State for Working Railway—Guaranteed interest on company's capital paid by Secretary of State in India and recouped out of earnings in India—If profits made in India—Liability to income-tax. A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 703=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 148. If there are profits in an assessee's foreign business sufficient to cover remittances to British India during the year of assessment, the presumption is that the remittances were from profits, and not from capital, and the onus of showing that they were from capital and not from profits lies upon the assessee, as also the onus of showing that they were profits earned more than three years before the date of the remittances. Where it is shown that the foreign business as a debtor is unable to pay the foreign business's debt and the assessee takes the debtor's land in British India in satisfaction of his claim against his debt, the land so taken in British India is not taxable as foreign profits under sec. 4 (2) of the Indian Income-Tax Act. 1930 M. 457=58 M.L.J. 602 (F.B.). See also 1932 M. 573=63 M.L.J. 227 (F.B.). See also 1940 Mad. 416=51 L. W. 362=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 543. The presumption that where money is remitted from a business abroad where profits have been made the remittance is a remittance out of profits is rebuttable. Where a partner receives moneys from the general account of the firm before profits are ascertained, the moneys so received cannot be treated as profits received and cannot be taxed, because profits may never accrue and he may have to refund moneys overdrawn. 1939 I.T.R. 40. The assessees who were partners in a money lending firm in foreign territory carried on the same kind of business in British India. The foreign firm was compelled to take over in satisfaction of debts due to it immovable properties which had been mortgaged as security for the debts. The value of these properties were treated as representing in part the return of capital and in part profits. The assessees in the year of account remitted to British India certain amounts and they contended that the profits represented by immovable properties were not capable of remittance, and so the remittances should not be taxed as profits. Held, that the withdrawals from the foreign firm and remittances to British India must be treated as withdrawals of profits. Receipts of profits by assessee in British India—What amounts to—Loan out of foreign profits to person residing in British India—If receipt of profits in British India not taxable. 1939 I.T.R. 160. It is enough for the purpose of liability to assessment if the profits of a business carried on by the assessee are received in British India and the place where the business is carried on is not material. The Pondicherry Railway Company worked the railway in the French Territory, but they had an office at Trichinopoly in British India where the agent received the gross proceeds of the line from that place; the agent transmitted the nett profits to the London Office. Held, the income in question was "received" in British India and liable to be assessed to income-tax. 58 I.A. 239=54 M. 691=61 M.L.J. 251 (P.C.). Dividends received outside British India from sterling companies registered and with their share register in the United Kingdom but satisfying the definition of a company in sec. 2 (6) of the Act and assessed to income-tax in British India are not to be taken into account as part of the total income of the assessee for the purposes of the income-tax assessment. 55 B. 734=33 Bom.L.R. 776 =1931 B. 420; 58 M.L.J. 581. The assessees were a company with their registered office in Calcutta. Their income, profits and gains were derived from the sale of tea grown and manufactured on a tea estate in an Indian State and then sent to Calcutta and sold there. Held, that sub-sec. place where the income, profits and gains arose and accrued and that sec. 4 (2) and the provisos thereto had no application to the case. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 201. See also (1937) 2 M.L.J. 310. In the case of coffee the processes subsequent to the picking of the seed are not treated as in the nature of manufacture, as in the case of tea, but are regarded only as process "ordinarily employed by the cultivator to render the produce fit to be taken to the market" within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) (b) (ii). 46 L.W. 247=1937 Mad. 745=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 310 (S.B.). The assessee was the owner of and worked coffee estates in the Mysore State outside British India, maintaining an office on the estates for the supervision of the labour which he employed in respect of them. At a place within British India he recruited most of the labour and purchased materials and equipment which he had sent from there to the estate. The crops were brought to the place within British India in their raw state, and he had the raw coffee cured for payment within British India where also he sold through his agents and realised and retained the proceeds. He kept a separate staff in British India for the operations which he conducted there. All the operations connected with the cultivation of the coffee plants and the collection, transport and sale of produce were controlled from within British India and the accounts were incorporated in a consolidated profit and loss account kept in British India. The assessee contested an assessment made upon him on an income which was computed as his profits from the said business of growing, curing and selling coffee for profit. Held, that the assessee was carrying on a "business" within the meaning of secs. 2 (4) and 10 of the Act inasmuch as the profit which he derived from his land was derived from the business. It was impossible to regard the green coffee itself as income within the meaning of the Act, or arbitrarily to divide into two parts the business operations which must be regarded as a whole. Held further, that assuming that the assessee's income had accrued without British India and the second proviso to sec. 4 (2) was applicable , the assessee must in any case be held liable to tax under sec. 4 (1), by reason of the fact that the income was received by him originally, and as income in British India and that no part of the income in question was exempt from taxation by virtue of the second proviso to sec. 4 (2) of the Act. The presumption that a remittance made by a foreign business is a remittance from out of the profits of the foreign business, is rebuttable. Where the assessee purchases timber in Burma, converts it into a saleable commodity in Burma and then consigns it to India to be sold, all expenditure incurred up to the stage the timber reaches the sales depots in India must be regarded as a capital expenditure of the Burma business and therefore to the extent of the costs of production of the timber consigned to India all remittances from India must be regarded as remittances of working capital and not remittances of profits. 197

Where money or something equivalent to money, that is something which can forthwith be used as an ascertained sum of money is remitted to British India from a foreign country where a firm does business and profits are available in that country, the onus lies upon the person denying that the remittance is of profits to prove his case, but no such presumption arises that stock in trade brought into India by a firm whose normal business is investing in a commodity, importing it and selling it, is profit. 1937 Lah. 884.

In deciding whether sums which are brought in from a business abroad are income, profits or gains, the Income-tax Officer must have regard to the business as a whole: where an assessee carries two money-lending businesses outside British India in close proximity, both being his sole business having current transactions and controlled by him, and where one of the two businesses has suffered loss and the other has profits, and the assessee has received remittances from both, in determining whether the remittances so received are his income, profits and gains under sec. 4 (2) the results of both the businesses should be considered together, and the assessee is entitled to set off his loss in one business against the profits of the other to arrive at the resultant profit available for remittance to be taxed. 48 L.W. 899 (S.B.). For purposes of sec. 4 (2) as it stood before its amendment in 1939 there is nothing in law to prevent a firm from having two places of residence as understood in law. Although a firm has a place of business or residence in a Native State, it can also have another residence in British India. Where the firm is registered under the Indian Partnership Act as a partnership and the registration certificate mentions the place in British India as the principal place of business, that must be held to be residence for purposes of sec. 4 (2) even though the firm may also have an other residence in the Native State. 47 Bom. Further as the assessee had in past years treated such profits as having been received in British India and his accounts on that basis had always been accepted by the taxing authorities, by reason of sec. 13 of the Act the assessees could not now seek suddenly to change their method of accounting. 1938 A.L.J. 1015=I.L.R. 1938 A. 1004=1939 A. 7.

Provided further that, in the case of a person not ordinarily resident in British India, income, profits and gains which accrue or arise to him without British India shall not be included unless they are derived from a business controlled in or a profession or vocation set up in India or unless they are brought into or received in British India by him during such year :

see. The proper rule is in the case of such a general Act to construe it according to the jurisprudence of the country wherein it was drafted. (1892 A.C. 531, Rel. on.) 132 I. C. 689=1931 L. 578=12 Lah. 725 (F.B.). The words "religious and charitable purposes" in the Income-tax Act are to be judged not by the personal law of the assessees, but according to the general principles of construction applying to statutes. 165 I.C. 32=1936 P. 532. "Charity" without any further qualification has a recognised meaning in law. It amounts to a general charitable intention for objects well-recognised as charitable in law, and if used generally or without qualifications or limitations, falls within the definition "charitable purpose" in sec. 4. 1946 Bom. 337=48 Bom L R. 63. Sec. 4 (3) (1) requires that the settlement should be wholly for charitable purposes. A charitable purpose which is not of a religious character must contain the element of benefiting the public. So that a trust the object and scope of which is limited to the education of the members of a family would not come within the definition of a charitable purpose contained in the Income-tax Act. Public utility must always be a matter of degree, so that circumstances must be examined to ascertain whether the section or class of the community to be benefited can be said to be public as opposed to being private. A trust for the benefit of the members of a family or for the descendants of a named individual imports a conception or notion of something which is private and not something which is public. 47 Bom.L. R. 786=1945 I.T.R. 465=1946 Bom. 44. The word "charitable" in the Income-tax Act has a technical significance other than the meaning which it bears in common parlance. Every institution whose object is to benefit the public or a section of the public is not necessarily "charitable". Before an institution can be held to be "charitable', there must be an element of altruism; that is to say, the beneficiaries must not be able to claim the benefit. This condition is wanting in the case of a mutual association, like the Chamber of Commerce, whose ostensible object is to provide facilities of trade and to improve business and whose whole idea is that the particular members composing it should be benefited. Such an association, therefore, is not a "charitable institution" within the meaning of sec. 4 (3) (a) of the Act and is not as such exempt from tax. 1936 A.L.J. 1085=1936 A. 764. An object of "general public utility" within the meaning of the proviso to sec. 4 (3) of the Income-tax Act is an object of public utility which is available to the general public as distinct from any section of the public; in other words the object in question should not be to benefit work of public utility confined to a section of the public, i.e., those interested in commerce. 40 B.L.R. 1227= A.I.R. 1939 B. 45. In order that a trust fund created for the relief of proverty may be a trust wholly for charitable purpose within meaning of sec. 4 (3) (i) read with the Explanation, it must be for the benefit of the public or a specified section of it. Private individuals including the employees of a firm are not part of the general public or of any section of the public. The principal deed of trust stated that the income from the fund should be applied for the benefit of any past, present and future officers and other employees of a certain company and its subsidiary concerns who in the uncontrolled discretion of the administrators should be deserving of consideration or help more especially on account of indigence, ill-health or other necessitous circumstances on their retirement. The supplemental deed declared that on deciding on payment more regard should be paid to the above circumstances rather than to length of service in this company. Held, (i) that the two deeds read together, did not preclude the administrators from making a grant to persons for long or faithful service with the companies, whom the administrators considered deserving of recognition, from the fund although in doing so they must pay more regard to poverty rather than the service or the length of service and on this ground the trust was clearly not a trust which was wholly for charitable purposes; (ii) that even if the words of the trust were to be construed so as to mean the relief of poverty and nothing else, such poverty must, if it is to come within the beneficial provisions of sec. 4 (3) of the Income-tax Act, be the poverty of some well defined section of the community and not of a fluctuating body of private individuals such as were the present and future officers and other employees of the companies, and that, therefore, the income of the fund was not exempt from the payment of income-tax. 46 C.W.N. 777=1942 I.T.R. 512. Whether a particular object or purpose is of general public utility so as to be a charitable purpose is not to be decided by what the testator or settlor considered to be beneficial to the public. The Court has a responsibility in coming to a finding on the point, and there is nothing in the Income-tax Act to discharge the Court of its responsibility. Where a newspaper is started with the object of supplying the province with an organ of educated public opinion, it should prima facie be held to be an object of general public utility. Such an object is not outside the ambit of the exemption clause sec. 4 (3) (i) of the Income-tax Act. 66 I.A. 241=43 C.W.N. 1065=1939 P.C. 208=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 444 (P.C.). Where a Mussalman executed a wakfnama and directed that the property should be in his possession as manager and that he could spend the income according to his wishes for the maintenance of himself and his family and also for religious or charitable purposes and the deed further conferred a similar right on his heirs: Held, that the property cannot be said to be in trust wholly for religious or charitable purposes and the income was assessable to income-tax while it was spent wholly for the maintenance of the assessee and his children. 132 I.C. 689=1931 L. 578=12 Lah. 725 (F. B.). Where under a deed of settlement the trustees are given power in their absolute discretion to apply the whole of the income of the properties settled in trust for the benefit of the poor relations of the settlor, though some other purpses are also mentioned, the deed does not fulfil the requirements of sec. 4 (3) (1). If the settlor merely directs that a part of the income of the property should be devoted to a purpose which is charitable within the meaning of the section, such part of the income would be exempt from tax. I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 837=57 L.W. 163=1944 Mad. 292=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 223. The activities of the All India Spinners Association consisted in the acquisition of yarn, and also of raw cotton which was then given out to various poor people to be spun by them into yarn, all of which yarn was then given out to other poor people for hand weaving into cloth. The cloth so produced was then sold by the Association. The monies realised by the Association by such sales were a little more or less than the cost of production and overhead charges. When there was a surplus in the amount realised by the sales of cloth, such surplus was utilised in the same manner as the other funds of the Association, inter alia in getting yarn and cloth manufactured and providing wages for the persons engaged in such manufacture. Cl. (i) of the constitution of the Association established the Association as an organisation for the development of hand-spinning and khaddar. It was to be a permanent organisation, unaffected and uncontrolled by politics and though established with the consent of the All India Congress Committee as an integral part of the Congress Association, it was to have an independent existence and powers. Under Cl. 3 the funds and assets were to vest in the Board of Trustees who were also to be the executive council and to "hold th same for the purposes of the Association" There was no power to distribute surplus income among the members. Association included the advancement of other purposes of general public utility. [The words "general public utility" would exclude the object of private gain such as an undertaking for commercial profit though all the same it would subserve general public utility.] (iii) Though economists might differ about the wisdom of some at least of the Association's purposes the Court could not hold that it was beyond the pale of legitimate charitable trusts. (iv) The "property" of the Association consisted of the organisation and the undertaking as well as the fluctuating stock of yarn and was held by the Association in trust. (v) Accordingly, the undertaking being a charity, the income of the Association was not liable to income-tax. 49 C.W.N. 1 =1944 I.T.R. 482=1944 P.C. 88=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 310 (P.C.). The expression "charitable purposes" in sec. 4 (3) (i) must be construed strictly and can only be applied to a public charity. There is no such thing as a private charitable trust. There may be a private trust for religious purposes and therefore sec. 4 (3) was amended in 1939 in order to put beyond all doubt the intention of the Legislature not to exempt even private trusts for religious purposes. Consequently, the exemption in sec. 4 (3) (i) only applies to a trust the object of which is public utility. A provision in a wakf deed for the maintenance, education, marriage, funeral and other necessities of the poor and needy among the descendants of the wakif in the male line cannot be said to constitute a trust for general public utility. The trust being clearly of a private nature, the income allotted under the wakf deed for the purposes mentioned therein which remains unspent for want of beneficiaries is assessable in the hands of the mutawali. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 862=54 L.W. 167=1941 Mad. 535=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 148 (S.B.). What an assessee has to establish, if he is to avoid liability to income-tax under sec. 4 (3) (i) is that the income assessed is derived from property held under trust or other legal obligation for religious or charitable purposes. If the purpose of an association is charitable, such as the relief of the poor, it is nonetheless charitable because some political body may consider that it affords the best method of relieving the poor and may therefore adopt the scheme. The fact that it is intended to advance the purposes of a political party, does not make it a purpose which is not charitable. But unless at the time when the profits were made, the assessee (Association), was under a legal obligation to devote the profits, to a charitable purpose the fact that in practice the profits have been devoted to charitable purposes would not create a legal obligation or trust. If the association is not bound to devote its profits to charitable purposes, and the members are free to apply the profits to any purposes they chose, it cannot be held that the property is held under trust or other legal obligation for charitable purposes, and sec. 4 (3) (i) cannot apply so as to exempt the profits from tax. I.L.R. 1941 B. 672=43 Bom. L.R. 742=1941 Bom. 374. Income from fees levied by the Madras Bar Council, is taxable. (1942) 2 M.L.J. 792. "Charitable purposes" in sec. 4 (3) of the Income-tax Act would include relief of the poor, education, medical relief and the advancement of any other object of general public utility. Trusts for the benefit of the inhabitants of a particular locality are regarded as charitable, but trusts for the benefit of a particular political party or for the advancement of particular political purposes are not regarded as charitable. A gift for such purposes as a particular individual or individuals may consider to be charitable is not a good charitable purpose although a gift for such charitable purposes as the managing committee of a trust may think fit would be good, because the commitee would be bound to keep within the ambit of charity and if they go beyond the legal boundary, they can be controlled by the Court. The objects of a trust created by a deed were (1) the advancement of any purpose which might in the uncontrolled opinion of the managing committee be national or of national importance for the inhabitants of British India by any means which in the like opinion of the managing committee be constitutional; (2) the political advancement of India having for its goal the acquisition of complete autonomy or "swarajya" to be attained by all constitutional agitation and means; (3) the diffusion of political education and knowledge as to the political affairs of India and propaganda work both in India as well as in any part of the world outside India having for its aim the acquisition of complete national autonomy or "swarajya" as aforesaid; (4) any object which may conduce to any of the aforesaid objects. Held, (1) that the objects specified in the four clauses were clearly distributive and since the whole of the trust fund could be applied for any one or more of the objects specified, the trust could not be regarded as charitable if any of those objects did not fall within the term

Although it was rather hard on the trust that was not a matter with which the court could deal. 43 Bom.L.R. 1027. 1942 B. 61. The burden is upon the assessee to establish that the income from the trust is exempt from taxation under sec. 4 (3). 1946 I.T.R. 362=50 C.W.N. 521. The word "wholly" in sec. 4 (3) (i) must be read in its ordinary acceptation and is in this respect closely akin to the word "solely". The word does not mean "mainly". 1928 N. 10=105 I.C. 155. N who was interested in motor engineering and transport companies created an industrial and educational trust and purported to endow it with immovable properties and shares held by him in six transport companies of which he had the control. He constituted himself the managing trustee and gave himself full power to deal with the assets. The Instrument of Trust provided, inter alia, "that the trustees shall as early as they consider it expedient utilise the trust for the purpose of starting an institute for industrial and scientific research and training," and the foundation of the institution was left over until the companies had made sufficient money for the purpose. The founder also reserved to himself a power to revoke the trust at any time, and had powers to utilise the assets for his own purposes or the purposes of his companies. Held, that it could not be said that a trust was created wholly for charitable purposes so as to entitle it to the benefit of sec. 4 (3) (i). Mere credit entries in books of account without allocation or setting apart of specific funds or assets corresponding to such entries cannot operate as valid gifts or trusts of the sums credited in favour of the persons in whose names they are credited so as to give rise to a claim for deduction of such sums in computing the profits of the assessee in whose books the credit entries are made. 1945 I. Where an assessee carries on business at places within and without British India and remittances are made from the place outside British India and into British India and spent on charitable and religious institutions by the assessee, the money's remitted are liable to assessment to income-tax unless it is shown that they were impressed with a trust before they left the foreign places for British India. The mere fact that they were allotted to a trust after their receipt in British India is not sufficient to secure exemption from liability to assessment. 1928 M. 371=54 M.L.J. 226 (F.B.). Where the property is vested in the head of a community under deeds of trust, but the trust property is applicable to purposes, many of which are neither religious nor charitable, and it is not suggested that any part of the property is set aside for any charitable or religious purposes, so that it can be identified as appropriated exclusively for such purposes, then the income of the whole of the property is assessable to income-tax. 57 I.A. 260=59 M.L.J. 905=1930 P.C. 226 (P.C.).

INCOME DERIVED BY TRUTEES FROM BUSINESS —IF EXEMPT FROM ASSESSMENT.—The word 'property in sec. 4 (3) (i) includes securities or business or share in a business. Clause (1-a) as it stands cannot in any way derogate or subtract anything from cl. (i). Viewed in its proper perspective, cl. (1-a) can be taken to apply only to such business as is carried on on behalf of religious or charitable institutions which were not held under trust and not to touch such business as was itself held under trust or was conducted by or on behalf of such charitable or religious institutions as were held under trust. It cannot reasonably be urged that something that was already included in cl. (i) has been removed by the insertion of an additional clause. Income derived from business by trustees is exempt from assessment to income tax. A.I.R. 1944 Lah. 465.

SEC. 4 (3) (v).—The word "injuries" in Cl. (v) denotes personal injuries and no other. 1932 M. 424=62 M.L.J. 656 (F.B.). [This clause was omitted by Act VII of 1939].

CL. (3) (v) AND (vii).—Government servant who was compulsorily retired receiving compensation amount is liable to be assessed as for receipt of salary under sec. 6. 1932 M. 424=62 M.L.J. 656 (F.B.). A capital sum received by the manager of the Court of Wards in commutation of the whole of his pension falls within sec. 4 (3) (iv) and is exempt from taxation. That paragraph makes no distinction between pensions which may be demanded as of legal right and those which are granted voluntarily and between those payable by Government and those payable by any private body or individual. In deciding if the payment is pension or a gratuity, the Court has to look into the real nature of transaction and the fact that it is called by one name in the Government letter is not conclusive. But the amount is not exempt under sec. 4 (3) (vii) as such payment must be considered to have 'arisen from' his occupation. (56 C. 211, Foll.). 10 P. 315=1931 P. 451. See also 12 R. 477=152 I.C. 986=1934 R. 377 (S.B.). The allotments made to the fund in the name of an officer of the company were not in the nature of salary for current services, but were merely the measure of a sum which the company volunteered to pay to him on the termination of his service, and this sum when paid was not "income" and therefore not taxable. The amount received was just as much a capital receipt in the hands of an employee as would be the payment of a lump sum from a provident fund on the employee's retirement. The latter would, apart from the specific exemption in sec. 4 (3) (v) of the Income-tax Act, be by its nature, capital and not income. [affirm. 1935 Mad. 953=69 M.L.J. 611 (S.B.); 1932 P. C. 138, Rel. on.] 64 I.A. 323=39 Bom.L.R. 1050=66 C.L.J. 36=41 C.W.N. 1157=46 L. W. 214=1937 P.C. 261 (P.C.). Where the maintenance allowance received by a junior member of a Hindu family possessed of an impartible raj, is not received by him as a member of an undivided Hindu family, his source is not the original source through which the estate received the money and his immediate source is the bounty or gift by the estate, in which case it cannot be considered to be agricultural income and cannot be exempt from income-tax under sec. 4 (3) (viii). 56 A. 1009=149 I.C. 306=1934 A. 818. Sec. 4 (3), Cl. (vii) can only apply when the receipt is not by way of addition to the remuneration of the employee. 42 L.W. 812=1935 M. 953=69 M.L.J. 611 (S.B.). The principle of sub-cl. (vii) is that it is only income from business carried on with the object of producing a definite return that is taxable. Anything in the nature of a windfall is excluded. 59 I.A. 206=59 C. 1343=1932 P.C. 138=63 M.L.J. 124 (P.C.). A mere speculation, not in the nature of trade, cannot, by any process of reasoning, be regarded as an adventure in the nature of trade. Whether a particular transaction of purchase of a commodity with a view to selling at a profit is called a speculation or whether it is called adventure, is of no account; the dividing line between assessability and exemption depends on whether what is done is done in the nature of trade or not. It is erroneous to hold that if an investment is safe and is a lock-up investment made without the intention of resale being in the forefront of the investor's mind, then it may be regarded as an accretion of capital and non-assessable, but that the instant speculation comes in, it is an adventure in the nature of trade. The fact that the assessee employs a business man whether her husband or a stranger to purchase the commodity and later to sell it, falls short of making her an adventurer in trade, when the transaction is an isolated transaction; in order to constitute an isolated transaction an adventure in the nature of trade, there must be some activity of a trading nature between the purchase and the sale, undertaken in order to make the property marketable, i.e., to put it into a saleable state or to attract purchasers. 1939 Rang.L.R. 757=184 I.C. 497=1939 Rang. 337. Profits made by money-lender out of exchange fluctuations—If assessable. 45 M.L.J. 707=1924 M. 208. No general rule can be laid down in cases where a money-lending business takes property in satisfaction of the debts due and sells them. But where, as a matter of fact, in a money-lending business, profits are generally got by taking lands in satisfaction of the debts due and selling them for profits later on, such profits must no doubt be considered as derived from such business and cannot escape taxation by saying that the profits have nothing to do with the business of the firm which was merely money-lending. 31 L.W. 215=1930 M. 119 (S.B.). The mortgagee who carried a money-lending business advanced a loan and the transaction was embodied in indentures. One of these was described as a zarpesagi lease with usufructuary mortgage. 'The mortgagee lessee was to be in possession of the properties, and, in his relation to the cultivators of the soil he stood in the position of landlord, dealing directly with them and collecting the rents. He had moreover to pay the Government revenue, cesses and taxes and his name was registered in the Land Registration Department. He alone was able to sue for rent whether current or arrears, to sue for enhancement or for ejectment and was able to settle lands with raiyats and tenants in all the properties; in fact he was in a position to take all proceedings which the mortgagor would have been able to take in the ordinary course if the lands leased and mortgaged had remained in her khas possession." Held, that the thika profits which formed part of the rents were agricultural income within the meaning of sec. 2 (1) (a) and as such were exempt from assessment. Held, further, that the fact that the recipient was a money-lender did not matter, as the business of money-lending may bring in an income which is exempt from income-tax on the ground that it is derived from agricultural land. The exemption is conferred, and conferred indelibly, on a particular kind of income and does not depend on the character of the recipient. 62 I.A. 215=14 P. 623=1935 P.C. 172=69 M.L.J. 474 (P.C.). See also (1937) 1 M.L.J. 351. Per Malik, J.—The word "non-recurring" in sec. 4 (3) (vii) does not mean that it has, as a matter of accident or as a matter of fact, recurred, but that there was a claim or a right in the assessee to expect its recurrence. A mere voluntary payment not being receipts arising from business or the exercise of a profession, vocation or occupation and not being by way of addition to the remuneration of an employee or not having been made expressly liable is not liable to be taxed. A voluntary payment must be deemed to be of a casual and non-recurring nature unless there is liability on the donor to pay, which liability may arise out of a contract, a custom or some order which is binding on him. A.I.R. 1946 All. 306 (F.B.). The assessee, a merchant carrying on business in hides in Madras was one of five persons chosen as arbitrators to decide a dispute among the heirs of the Nawab and he agreed to do so and to assist in settling differences of the heirs as he was a friend of the family. No stipulation was made for remuneration. The arbitrators did a considerable amount of work in connection with the administration of the estate and in view of the long time taken and amount of work involved, the assessee and the other arbitrators were granted remuneration, as a reward for their services. The Income-tax authorities sought to tax the amount of remuneration received by the assessee. Held, that the amount represented a receipt of a casual and non-recurring nature and hence was exempt from assessment. 56 L.W. 676=1943 M.W.N. 717 =1943 I.T.R. 590=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 63=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 530. Ordinarily profits arising out of an isolated transaction outside the scope of the business are not assessable to income-tax as a business profit and such profits are not taxable unless there is evidence that the income derived from, and the expenses incurred in, the transaction were included and made part of the assessee's business accounts. (Beynon & Co., Ltd. v. Ogg, 7 Tax Cases 125, Ref. to.) 1930 M. 123=58 M.L.J. 95 (S.B.). The question whether the profit that accrues to a banker and money-lender from an isolated transaction of a purchase and sale of certain property is taxable as profit arising from his business or exempt for taxation as arising from occupation of a casual nature within the meaning of sec. 3 (2) (viii) of the Income-Tax Act of 1918, is one of fact. 58 M.L.J. 68=1930 M. 121 (S.B.). A receipt arising from a speculative or wagering or gaming business arises from the exercise of a profession, vocation or occupation and does not come within the exception. 47 A. 372=23 A.L.J. 65. Purchase by assessee of large area of building site—Sale after several years in small plots to several persons—Profits earned is taxable—Claim to exemption as casual and non-recurring receipts not arising from business is not sustainable. 1939 I.T.R. 154. Where a certain company passed a resolution for voluntary winding up and at the same time voted a certain sum to the assessee company who acted as the managing agents of the former by way of compensation for the loss of their office, held, that the amount so received was not exempt from assessment. 56 C. 211=33 C.W.N. 112=1929 C. 212 (F. B.). Compensation received by a company as agent of a business concern, for determination of the agency, is a receipt arising from business, and consequently, if income, it would be taxable under sec. 10 as being an income from business, or at least under sec. 12 as being income from other sources. The circumstances that it is casual or non-recurring does not exempt it from taxation under sec. 4 (3) (vii). 58 C. 1153=35 C.W.N. 361=1931 C. 676 (S. B.). If a man claims an interest in the capital of a business and receives a sum of money in satisfaction of all claims he may have in the capital of the business, that income is not liable to income-tax. 34 C.W.N. 788. A remuneration earned by a cotton merchant who is appointed under a power-of-attorney to realize cotton which another merchant had purchased will be "receipts arising from business" and liable to be assessed to income tax. 27 Bom.L.R. 478=1925 B. 318. The phrase, "receipts arising from business" as used in sec. 4 (3) (vii) is not confined to receipts arising from a business carried on continuously during the year. Even if they are from a single adventure in business they would be liable to be taxed. 1925 B. 318. The question of the assessability to income-tax of profits realised by a banking concern from the sale of securities and shares must be determined on the facts of each case whether the banking concern had been dealing in securities and shares as part of its business. In this matter the finding of fact arrived at by the Income-tax authorities is conclusive unless it is found that that finding was based on no material . It does not necessarily follow from the circumstance that such profits have not been utilised in the revenue account and that they have been carried to the reserve capital en bloc that they were not trading profits. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 526=1938 Lah. 852. See also 45 M.L.J. 707=1924 M. 208. A solicitor who was employed by a shareholder of company interviewed the managing agents of the company and came to an arrangement with them which benefited substantially his client and the other shareholders for which he was duly paid for by his client. The arrangement incidentally benefited two firms of stock brokers who did not employ the solicitor. One of the firms paid a sum of Rs. 10,000 to the solicitor. Held, it was a receipt by him arising from the exercise by him of his profession and was part of his income which was not exempt from tax under sec. 4 (3) (vii) of the Act, assuming that it was of a casual or non-recurring nature. The sum received by the solicitor was not a testimonial to his ability or qualities as a solicitor generally, but was directly connected with a particular professional act, namely, the part he played in procuring the new issue of shares by which the payers had derived great benefit. I.L.R. (1941) 1 Cal. 562=1941 I.T R. 261=45 C.W.N. 542=1941 Cal. 666.

SPECULATION IN STOCKS AND SHARES.—A man may either buy shares or securities with the object and intention of making a gain from the sale when those shares or securities have risen to a higher price or he may purchase the shares or securities with the intention of keeping his capital safe and receiving meanwhile a certain amount of dividend or interest. The intention must be deduced from acts and from the circumstances of the case. It is only in the former case that the profits are taxable and the losses deductible. 1934 A.L.J. 61=1934 A. 370. See also 1939 Rang.L.R. 757=1939 Rang. 337. As to taxability of gratuity received by employee on termination of service, see 12 R. 477=1934 R. 377 (S.B.). Relief granted to decree-holder in respect of auctioneer's commission is exempt from tax. I.L.R. (1938) A. 691=1938 A.L.J. 736=1938 All. 464 (S.B.).

PURCHASE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTIES IN SATISFACTION OF DECREE—SUBSEQUENT SALE FOR PROFIT—PROFITS, IF EXEMPT FROM TAX.—The assessee, a professional money-lender, got an assignment of a mortgage from another, sued on the mortgage and having obtained a decree for a large amount, took possession of the mortgaged properties in satisfaction of the decree. Later on, he sold the properties for cash and made a large profit out of the transaction. On the net profits being assessed to income-tax, the assessee claimed exemption under sec. 4 (3) (vii) of the Income-tax Act, on the ground that the transaction was not one in the course of his business, but an isolated venture, speculative and casual in nature. Held, that the taking of the assignment was of a nature coming within the ambit of money-lending and not such an isolated transaction as to take it out of the category of his business, though it might be speculative; that the transaction could not be held to have been entered upon otherwise than as a matter of business and hence the profits were liable to be assessed to income-tax. 58 M. 105=1934 M. 539=67 M.L.J. 247 (S.B.). See also 1930 M. 119 (S.B.). Where a profit is made out of a single sale transaction the test to be applied in deciding as to whether it is capital assets or gain is to see whether the fact that there was a gain made it an operation of business in carrying out a scheme for making profits. 177 I.C. 630=1938 Rang. 315 (S.B.).

RECEIPT OF CASUAL NATURE.—Assessee financing an appeal—Additional sum received by him on appeal being successful is taxable. 154 I.C. 963=1935 A.W.R. 518=1935 A.L.J. 405=1935 A. 495. The assessee who was a tin mine owner and worker lent certain sums of money to W to enable him to work a tin area. Subsequently he again advanced a loan to W in order to enable the latter to do certain work and sell the mine and W executed an agreement by which he agreed to pay the assessee a third of the consideration which might be realised by the sale. Held, that the transaction was a private venture and not part of the assessee's business and was a receipt of a casual nature under sec. 4 (3) (viii) and not profits or gains under sec. 10 or sec. 12 (3). 11 R. 454.

SEC. 4 (3) (vii) AND (viii): ROYALTIES FOR PREPARING BRICKS.—Royalties for preparing bricks are assessable to income-tax. On the assessee's land, there was a quantity of earth suitable for brick-making. He granted licences to brick-makers to erect brick kilns upon the land, to take away brick earth and use it for making bricks. The assessee charged fees at certain rates for the licences. Held, the income was not of a casual or non-recurring nature, or agricultural income; it could not be considered as in the nature of a capital sale of the assets of the assessee and that it was assessable to income-tax. 10 P. 275=1931 P. 264. An assessee who owned patent rights which were originally used in his business conveyed the working rights under licence to another person against payment of a share in the profits. He subsequently cancelled this agreement and converted his rights under that conveyance into licence under an agreement against an annual payment during subsistence of agreement. Thus what was transferred by the assessee was not the corpus but the usufruct of the patent for an uncertain period in consideration of an amount which had not been definitely known. Held, that the annual receipts under the agreement were income, profits or gains and were not exempted by sec. 4 (3) (vii). 1937 Lah. 880.

SECS. 4 (3) (vii), 10 AND 66 (5): PROFITS FROM INVESTMENT OF CLIENT'S DEPOSITS IS TAXABLE.—Where an assessee doing business as a produce agent, receives large sums of money from his clients as deposits and invests them in Government securities and realises a profit by the sale of such securities on the questions whether such an investment was in the nature of fixed capital or of stock-in-trade, and whether such profits were exempt from payment of income-tax under sec. 4 (3) (vii) of the Act. Held, that if an investment is made with the object of permanently excluding a certain sum from the floating capital of a concern, it might be held to be fixed capital. But if the investment is part of the business and the sum is intended to serve as stock-in-trade, the profits arising therefrom will form part of the income of the concern. Held, further on the facts, that the business of the assessee was a quasi banking business and it received moneys from clients for the purposes of the business, and that the investments had been made as part of the same business, and hence the receipts therefrom were to all intents and purposes receipts from business. Even if they were of a casual or non-recurring nature they will not be covered by sec. 4 (3) (vii). An exemption under sec. 4 (3) (vii) if claimed for any item of income it is for the assessee to show that the receipt does not arise from business and is of a casual and non-recurring nature. In matters where the intention of the assessee is the factor to be considered, it is doubtful whether the High Court could go behind such finding of the department. 40 P.L.R. 256=18 Lah. 706=1938 Lah. 44. See also I.L.R. (1945) Lah. 43.

SEC. 4 (3) AND (viii)—[See also Notes under sec. 2 (1)] Usufructuary mortgagee leasing mortgaged property to mortgagor on fixed annual payments—Such payments are agricultural income and should be excluded from income-tax. 26 A.L.J. 280=1928 A. 81 (F.B.). See also 160 I.C. 948=43 L.W. 264=1936 M. 144=70 M.L.J. 24 (S.B.); 13 P. 336=147 I.C. 1236=1934 P. 178 (S.B.); 1928 M. 543=54 M.L.J. 524 (F.B.) Quaere. —A usufructuary mortgage was created in favour of the assessee at a specified rate of interest. On the same day and as part of the same transaction, the mortgagee gave the property to mortgagor on lease reserving rent exactly equal to the amount of interest on the money advanced at a stipulated rate. The Government revenue was to be paid by the mortgagor and in default the mortgagee was entitled to proceed against mortgagor. In default of payment of the lease rent, the mortgagee was entitled to take possession of the mortgaged property. In the event of any reduction of the principal, the rent payable was also to be reduced in proportion. Held, that the interest reserved by the documents in this case and paid to the assessee during such period as he was not in possession of the leased property was assessable to income-tax. 9 P. 194=123 I.C. 617=1930 P. 33 (S.B.). See also 13 P. 336=1934 P. 178 (S.B.). Per Das, J.—There is a clear distinction between rent and interest. Rent is the return from land for the use of one's land and signifies the sum payable in respect of the use of land. Interest is the return from money for the use of one's money and signifies the sum payable in respect of the use of money. Rent issues out of the land demised, whereas interest is revenue derived from the money lent. 9 P. 194. If, however, at the date of the purchase, the object of the purchase was not to bring the article in his own use but to sell it at a profit—the purchase being for no other purpose except that of resale at a profit—the transaction is a deal or venture in the nature of trade, though it may be wholly insufficient to constitute by itself a trade. 46 P.L.R. 246=A. SECS. 4 AND 24.—The assessee purchased shares to the value of a big amount in a limited company. The company afterwards went into liquidation, and out of that liquidation a new company was formed. This company having acquired the assets of the old company agreed to allot certain shares and debentures to the assessee, but the agreement was not fulfilled, with the result that the assesee lost a considerable sum of the money of his original investment made in the old company. Held, that the difference between what the assessee has in fact got and what he originally invested was a loss which was clearly a loss of capital and therefore it could not be taken into consideration for the purpose of arriving at the assessable income. 182 I.C. 841=1939 Pat. 107. 2 Secs. 4-A and 4-B inserted by sec. 5 of Act VII of 1939.

3 Added by Act XXIII of 1941.

SEC. 4-A (a) AND (b): "ORDINARILY RESIDENT" IN BRITISH INDIA—MEANING OF.—The test of a joint Hindu family being "ordinarily resident" in British India is the ordinary residence in British India of its Manager. In order to be ordinarily resident in British India, that Manager must have been resident in British India within the meaning of sec. 4-A (a) of the Act for a period of nine out of the ten preceding years and must also have been in British India for at least two years during the previous seven years. There is nothing in sec. 4-B to indicate that the periods of residence and stay in British India of the successive Managers of a Hindu undivided family during its continued existence should not count for purposes of sec. 4-B. 1945 I.T.R. 186=58 L.W. 214=1945 M.W.N. 260=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 307=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 352. A partnership to acquire and work a rubber plantation in Malacca provided for two of the partners having control of the partnership business in rotation. During the period of account one of the controlling partners was admittedly resident in British India and it was in evidence that his agent in Malacca had prior to the period of account, written to him for directions in regard to the partnership business. Held, that for purposes of the Income-tax Act, the partnership was resident in British India within the meaning of sec. 4-A (b). 58 L.W. 322=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 366=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 93. The assessee was the manager of a Hindu joint family having its residence outside British India, and he too lived outside British India with the family. The family, however, carried on business in British India through agents. The manager visited British India during the accounting year and stayed in a portion of the business premises for two days, but during his stay he did not exercise any act of management or control in respect of the business at that place. The Income-tax Department sought to assess him in respect of family income as a resident under sec. 4-A (b). Held, that the mere visit of the assessee, the manager of the family to British India and his stay there for two days could not amount to the exercise of control and management of the affairs of the family in British India, in the absence of anything to show that during such stay he actually exercised any act of control or management. 58 L.W. 91=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 174=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 61.

SEC. 4-A (b): CONSTRUCTION—"CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT OF ITS AFFAIRS SITUATED, ETC".—The words "control and management of its affairs" in sec. 4-A (b) do not mean the de jure, but the de facto control and management. The test is not where the control and management could be assumed by a partner by the exercise of power remaining in him under the partnership deed. The section must be construed to ascertain where the actual control and management is situated and not merely where the right to manage can come into existence. It has to be construed as deal-

Ordinary residence.

4-B. For the purposes of this Act—

(a) an individual is 'not ordinarily resident' in British India in any year if he has not been resident in British India in nine out of the ten years proceding that year or if he has not during the seven years preceding that year been in British India for a period of, or for periods amounting in all to, more than two years;

(b) a Hindu undivided family is deemed to be ordinarily resident in British India if its manager is ordinarily resident in British India;

(c) a company, firm or other association of persons is ordinarily resident in British India if it is resident in British India.]

In 1937, it opened a branch in Kilakarai in British India, and business was carried there by one of the partners of the firm resident at the place. Held, that the firm was "resident" in British India under sec. 4-A (b) and so liable to be taxed under the Act. 55 L.W. 718 (1)=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 736 (2)=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 620. Sec. 4-A (b) does no more than clarify the existing position by pointing out that in the case of a joint Hindu family business the residence of individual members of the undivided family cannot be material from which it could be inferred that the family resided there if such residence were fortuitous and divorced from control and management of the business. Consequently the family cannot be said to reside in all those places where members of the family live, and the fact that one member of the undivided family eats, drinks and sleeps at a particular place is not necessarily any evidence that the family resides there. 197 I.C. 260=1941 I.T.R. 685=1941 Rang. 273 (S.B.).

The assessee was a limited company incorporated in the United Kingdom, the control and management of its affairs being situated wholly in that country. It had no director in India but was a sleeping partner in a firm which carried on, and had a place of, business in Bombay. In the year of account 1938-39 (the assessment year being 1939-40), the total profits of the assessee in British India was over Rs. 17 lacs and its income accruing or arising outside British India in the material year was 7 1/2 lacs. Held, that since the income of the assessee in British India exceeded the income in the United Kingdom, the assessee was taxable to income-tax and super-tax in British India in respect of the whole of its income for the assessment year 1939-40, including the income accruing or arising out of British India. 45 Bom.L.R. 929=1943 I.T.R. 559=1943 Comp. goon in Burma. She stayed in the house at Srirangam for sometime in 1934 and 1936 and again 1937, each time making a stay of more than three months. In the assessment year of 1939-1940, the assessee claimed the benefit of the proviso to sec. 4 and contended that as she was and had been in Burma for some periods prior to 1st April, 1937, the date of separation of Burma she was not "ordinarily resident" in "British India" within the meaning of sec. 4-B, and that in defining "British India", regard should be had only to what was "British India" in the year of assessment. Held, the assessee should be deemed to have been "ordinarily resident" in British India, and that she was not a person "not ordinarily resident in British India" under sec. 4-B by reason of her stay at Rangoon. Where the Commissioner of Income-tax gave a direction to the effect that he appointed an Income-tax Officer to perform all the functions of an Income-tax Officer in respect of those persons in Calcutta whose cases may be made over to him from time to time, held, that that the persons referred to in the direction do not constitute "a class of persons" within the meaning of cl. (4) of sec. 5 of the Act. 33 C.W.N. 1206. Income-tax Officers have to perform very responsible duties and an assessee is entitled to say that he can only be assessed by somebody who is on the relevant date, in the grade of Income-tax Officer, and that he cannot be assessed by somebody who is not in that grade but is merely appointed to perform the function of an officer in that grade. Merely appointing a man to perform the duties of an office does not amount to a substantive appointment to that office. Where an Assistant Income-tax Officer is, by an order of the Commissioner of Income-tax appointed to perform the functions of an Income-tax Officer and posted to hold charge of a section vice an Income-tax Officer, granted leave, and he continues to draw the pay of and to sign as, an Assistant Income-tax Officer, it must be held that he is not properly appointed as Income-tax Officer and is therefore not entitled to make an assessment order. 1943 I.T.R. 104=45 Bom.L.R. 168=A.I.R. 1943 Bom. 122. 6 Inserted, ibid.

7 Inserted by sec. 4 of Act XL of 1940.

8 Inserted by sec. 85 of Act VI of 1939.

(2) The Appellate Tribunal shall consist of an equal number of judicial members and accountant members as hereinafter defined:

[1][Provided that the Tribunal shall not be deemed to be invalidly constituted merely by reason of a temporary inequality caused by the death, retirement or removal of any member.]

(3) A judicial member shall be a person who has exercised the powers of a District Judge or who possesses such qualifications as are normally required for appointment to the post of District Judge; and an accountant member shall be a person who has, for a period of not less than six years, practised professionally as a Registered Accountant enrolled on the Register of Accountants maintained by the Central Government under the Auditors Certificate Rules, 1932:

Provided that the Central Government may appoint as an accountant member of the Tribunal any person not possessing the qualifications required by this sub-section, if it is satisfied that he has qualifications and has had adequate experience of a character which render him suitable for appointment to the Tribunal.

(4) The Central Government shall appoint a judicial member of the Tribunal to be president thereof.

(5) The powers and functions of the Appellate Tribunal may be exercised and discharged by Benches constituted from members of the Tribunal by the president of the Tribunal.

(6) A Bench shall consist of not less than two members of the Tribunal, and shall be constituted so as to contain an equal number of judicial members and accountant members, or so that the number of members of one class does not exceed the number of members of the other class by more than one.

(7) If the members of a Bench differ in opinion on any point the point shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority, if there is a majority; but if the members are equally divided, they shall state the point or points on which they differ, and the case shall be referred by the president of the Tribunal for hearing on such point or points by one or more of the other members of the Tribunal, and such point or points shall be decided according to the opinion of the majority of the members of the Tribunal who have heard the case, including those who first heard it.

(8) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Appellate Tribunal shall have power to regulate its own procedure, and the procedure of Benches of the Tribunal in all matters arising out of the discharge of its functions, including the [2][places] at which the Benches shall hold their sittings.]

CHAPTER III.

TAXABLE INCOME.

Heads of income chargeable to income-tax.

6. Save as otherwise provided by this Act, the following heads of income, profits and gains, shall be chargeable to income-tax, in the manner hereinafter appearing namely :—

LEG. REF.

1 Added by Act XXIII of 1941.

2 Substituted for "place" by sec. 4 of Act XL of 1940.

CHAP. III.—See under sec. 4, Panckridge, J. —The provisions of ch. III of the Act are not limited by sec. 3 of the Act, and must be construed as they stand, and sec. 10 (1) does not require that the business should be carried on by the assesee personally. The assessee must be held to carry on the business, though he may not have any executive control over the conduct of it, and he is consequently liable to be assessed on the full profits and gains of the business which is his business. 41 C.W.N. 46=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 36.

SEC. 6: CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION—Per Courtney-Terrell, C. J.—The words "profits" and "gain" in sec. 6 are an amplification and not a limitation upon the word 'income." The words "other sources" indicate that anything which can properly be described as income is taxable unless expressly exempted. 13 P. 661 =1934 P. 384 (F.B.). See also 63 C. 109; 14 P. 552=62 I.A. 207=69 M.L.J. 190 (P.C.). The word "income" is not specifically defined in the Income-tax Act. The word is used along with the words 'profits and gains', and it may be that those words are explanatory of the word "income". Moneys paid to a Railway Company by the State by way of subsidy under the terms of an agreement between the company and the Secretary of State, in order to make up the minimum guaranteed interest payable to the shareholders should properly be

(i) Salaries;
(ii) Interest on securities;
[1][(iii) Income from property;
(iv) Profits and gains of business, profession or vocation.
(v) Income from other sources.]

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted for the original clause (iii), (iv), (v) and (vi) by sec. 7 of Act VII of 1939.

described and treated as income of the company assessable to income-tax. Moneys which are in the coffers of the company and are available in the same way as earnings for the purpose of payment out as interest or dividend are "income". The subsidy being in lieu of moneys which might have been earned by the company, and having the same nature as moneys earned by the company, as far as liability to income-tax is concerned, once that is paid by the State to the company, it is income and as such comes within the grip of the Income-tax Act, and is liable to income-tax in spite of the fact that it is intended to be paid to the shareholders. Such moneys cannot be deducted under sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Act. 63 C. 109.

SEC. 6, CL. (i).—Compensation amount paid to Government servant who had been compulsorily retired is liable to assessment as for salary received. 137 I.C. 557=1932 M. 421=62 M.L.J. 656 (S.B.). (56 C. 211, Ref. to). See also 137 I.C. 84, cited under sec. 7.

CL. (ii).—The border line between a case where interest is chargeable to tax and a case where it is not so chargeable appears at times to be extremely fine. Where interest is awarded under the provisions of sec. 28 of the Land Acquisition Act, it is in the nature of compensation for the loss of the late owner's right to retain possession of the property acquired. In other words it is damages assessed in terms of interest for loss of possession of property up to date of receipt of its consideration. Further, the awarding of such interest is not mandatory but is discretionary with the Court; and the claimant is not entitled to it as of right under any rule of law. Hence such interest is not income and is not assessable as such to tax. I.L.R. (1941) All. 54=193 I.C. 731=1940 A.L.J. 860=1941 All. 135. Foreign income—Profits actually earned in foreign business—Remittance to British India—Taxability—Subsequent incurring of loss in foreign business in same year—If changes nature of remittances. See 197 I.C. 707=1942 M.W.N. 107=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 890 (F.B.).

CL. (iii).—Royalty on mines cannot fall within the heading "income from property" in sec. 6 because such income is defined in sec. 9. 1940 I.T.R. 563=21 Pat.L.T. 897=20 Pat. 13 =1940 Pat. 633 (S.B.). Mineral leases must be regarded as leases and not as sales of coal, the annual payments of royalty in such case must be regarded as a rent in the hands of the assessee. They were therefore assessable to income-tax as they constitute "income from other sources." 20 Pat. 13 (S.B.). A sale may be made for a price which could properly be regarded as a capital receipt and therefore not assessible to income-tax. Such a transaction would amount to the exchange of one form of capital for another. The consideration for such a sale, however, need not be in the form of capital. A vendor might secure by the terms of the sale an income for himself, and such would undoubtedly be assessable to income tax. 20 Pat. 13 (S.B.).

The payments which under the mining leases are exigible by the lessor may be classed under three categories (1) the salami or premium; (2) the minimum royalty; (3) the royalties per ton. The salami is a capital receipt. The minimum royalty is "income" and in no sense a payment on capital account. The royalties payable on each ton of coal also constitute income. The royalty is "in substance a rent, it is the compensation which the occupier pays the landlord for that species of occupation which the contract between them allows." They are periodical payments for the continuous enjoyment of the various benefits under the leases. The actual acquisition of the property in a particular ton of coal at the moment when the lessees have cut and taken away the coal is only the final stage. The fact that the mines, which form an element in the consideration for the royalties, are wasting assets is irrelevant. And on this question there is no difference in principle between the effect of the Act of 1922 and the Act of 1886. 22 Pat. 713=1943 A.L.J. 493=48 C.W.N. 59=A.I.R. 1943 P.C. 153=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 410 (P.C.). Receipts from capital which is exhausted in the process of realization may be none the less income. Where a forest was worked as a business by selling trees and subsequently it was decided to commence fellings so as to exhaust the forest and clear it for growing crops, the business is not terminated by the decision to clear the remaining stock-in-trade and for that purpose to sell every year more trees than had been sold each year previously and the receipts from sale of the forest trees would not be capital converted into cash but income liable to income-tax and the fact that receipts from the new business, i.e., of growing crops on the land cleared would not be subject to income-tax is immaterial. Since the sale of the forest trees was a business the sale of the stock-in-trade (forest trees) spread over a number of years cannot make it any the less a business and the proceeds from the sale of the trees cannot come within the purview of sec. 4 (3) (vii) so as to make them exempt from income-tax. But if the whole forest is sold in one transaction with the land it would clearly be a sale of the capital and the proceeds would constitute capital and not income. 20 Luck. 212=1944 O.W.N. 443=1945 I.T.R. 74=A.I.R. 1945 Oudh 35.

CL. (iv).—Contributions made entirely by members to a Mutual Insurance Company are not assessable. See 56 B. 119=135 I.C. 813 =33 Bom.L.R. 1581=1932 B. 104. See also 55 B. 637=33 Bom.L.R. 807=1931 B. 448, 1936 A.L.J. 1085=A. 764; 1941 I.T.R. 627.

CL. (vi).—Employee's gratuity — Termination of service on insolvency of employer—Payment of gratuity by stranger not taxable. 12 R. 477=1934 R. 377 (S.B.). Income from Jalkars which were included in the assets of the estate at the time of Permanent Settlement is not liable to assessment to income tax. Such income does not fall under the term "other sources." 53 C. 524=1926 C. 819; 54 C. 863=31 C.W.N. 765=1927 C. 432 (F.B.). (Case-law fully discussed). Foreign firm lending to resident firm, see 30 Bom.L.R. 1172. Where the assessee has taken land on lease and has erected on a part thereof temporary houses and shops which are let out on rent and has let out the rest to squatters on rent, the income derived from such rents comes under sec. 6 (vi) and must be assessed as income from "other sources". 1930 A.L.J. 643=1930 A. 288. Where the income tax authorities concede, whether rightly or wrongly, that the income of a Chamber of Commerce, which is a mutual concern, derived from its members in the shape of a certain fixed amount on each transaction registered in the Chamber, is not income from business, such income is not taxable as income from "other sources" within the meaning of sec. 6 (vi) of the Act. If these payments are not income from business, it is difficult to see from what "other source" a mutual concern can derive profits. 1936 A.L.J. 1085=1936 A. 764.

SECS. 6 AND 7.—A relationship of employer and employee or of principal and agent is essential before a payment from one party to another can be salary within the meaning of secs. 6 (i) and 7 of the Income-tax Act. A restrictive covenant whereby a person undertakes for consideration to abstain from doing a particular act or from following a particular course of conduct, is something quite outside an ordinary contract of employment, and the amount so paid as consideration under such a covenant cannot be held to be "salary" under sec. 6 (i) of sec. 7 of the Act. Nor would it fall under sec. 6 (iv) or sec. 10 of the Act. The amount is not received as the direct consequence of any actual business transacted. On the other hand it is the direct consequence of no business being transacted. To fall under the head business in sec. 6 (iv) of the Act, an amount must be the direct result of profits or gains accruing from particular business actually carried on by the assessee. When the object of the transaction in pursuance of which the amount is paid is not to secure an income to the assessee, the amount cannot also fall under Cl. (vi) of sec. 6 or sec. 12. The fact that the payment is spread over a number of years would not make it income, because a capital payment is not any the less a capital payment because it is to be paid in equal instalments over a period of years. If the object of the agreement is not the production of an income to the assessee, it is not income within the meaning of sec. 12. 1941 I.T.R. 642. As to allowance for bad debts see 1941 Rang. L.R. 529=1941 Rang. 185 (S.B.) and notes under, see infra.

SECS. 6 AND 7: MAINTENANCE CHARGE—NATURE.—Where by the decree of a Court, the assessee's step-mother has a charge not only on his zamindari property from which his agricultural income was derived but also on all his other sources of income included in the assessment, the assessee's liability to his step-mother is not of the same kind as his liability to provide for his wives and daughter. The case was not one of a charge created by the assessee for the payment of debts which he has voluntarily incurred and the liability to his step-mother does not fall within any of the exemptions or allowances allowed under secs. 7 and 12. 60 I.A. 196=60 C. 1029=1933 P. C. 145=65 M.L.J. 285 (P.C.). Allowance for children paid to a missionary father is liable to assessment. I.L.R. (1942) All. 472=1942 All. 265. See also 10 O.W.N. 1003=1933 O. 475; 57 C. 918=1930 C. 641.

SECS. 6 (i) (iv) AND (vi), 7, 10 AND 12.—Applicability—Payment of fixed sum annually for several years by one to another in consideration of latter undertaking not to do particular act or business not taxable as salary or business profits or otherwise. See 1941 I.T.R. 642=I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 512=1942 Sind 53.

SECS. 6 AND 12.—The assessee was the owner of a landed estate known as the "nine annas Tikaraj Raj." He had contracted heavy debts. He executed a deed by which he transferred his entire interest in that estate to the transferee. The consideration for the transfer was the payment by the transferee of the transferor's debts amounting to a considerable sum, the further payment by her of the expenses of the marriage of the daughter of the transferor and life annuity of Rs. 2,40,000. It was contended by the assessee that the life annuity payments must be considered as payment by instalments of a capital purchase sum and secondly, that the payment was derived from the estate and therefore exempt from taxation under sec. 12 as agricultural income. Held, (1) that an owner of capital might exchange it for an income which was taxable, or for another form of capital which was not taxable and the question whether what was obtained in exchange should be considered as taxable depended upon the nature of the transaction in the particular case. (Per Full Bench). (2) that the annuity cannot be considered as 'revenue derived from land which he used for agricultural purposes." (By majority, (3) that in spite of the use of the word annuity) the sum in question was not capital but was income and was so taxable, and it was immaterial that it was the "price" of the property transferred. (Foley v. Fletcher, 3 H. and N. 769; Minister of National Revenue v. Spooner, (1933) A. C. 684; Secretary of State v. Scobble, (1903) A.C. 209, Expl. 13 P. 661=15 P.L.T. 325=1934 P. 384 (F.B.).

7. (1) The tax shall be payable by an assessee under the head "Salaries" in respect of any salary or wages, any annuity, pension or gratuity, and any fees, commissions, perquisites or profits, [1]* * * in lieu of, or in addition to, any salary or wages, Salaries.

LEG. REF.

[1] Words "received by him" were omitted by sec. 8 of Act VII of 1939.

SECS. 6 AND 23 (3).—Where an assessee who is required to explain a credit entry in his books under capital, offers an explanation which is false or unbelievable, there is nothing in law which casts the burden of proof on the Income-tax Officer or the appellate authority to prove by positive evidence that it is an item of revenue assessable to tax. The officer can act on circumstantial evidence and is not bound to prove affirmatively the source of such income. 1944 I.T.R. 441=A.I.R. 1945 Cal. 62.

SECS. 6 AND 24.—The maintenance management and running in races of race horses by an assessee, and his betting do not in law constitute the 'business,' 'profession,' 'vocation' or 'occupation' of the assessee, nor any part of such 'business', 'profession', 'vocation,' or 'occupation' and the receipts by the assessee from the said sources or any of them, would not, if a profit had been derived there from have in law, constituted income, profits or gains of the assessee from 'other sources' within the meaning of sec. 6 (vi) of the Income-tax Act (1922); and accordingly, the assessee is not entitled under sec. 24 of the Act to set off any loss of profits or gains in any year of assessment in respect of the said maintenance, management and running of his race horses or in respect of betting, against his income, profits or gains in the year under any other head of assessment. SECS. 7 TO 12: TAXABLE INCOME—EXECUTORS SPENDING AMOUNTS OUT OF INCOME—EXEMPTION.—Where the executors made payments for the shradh expenses and for the cost of probate, out of the income of the estate coming into their hands as executors and in pursuance of obligations imposed on them by the testator, it is simply a case in which the executors having received the whole of the income of the estate apply a portion in a particular way pursuant to the direction of the testator and as such no allowance could be made in respect thereof in computing the taxable income. 65 I.A. 150=I.L.R. The mere fact that a lawyer by reason of his position as a lawyer is engaged in service (e.g., as Official Liquidator) will not convert his salary into professional earnings. Where an advocate of a High Court is appointed Official Liquidator of a company and his remuneraion is fixed at 5 per cent. on assets actually realized by him the commission earned by the advocate could be taxed only under sec. 7 of the Income-tax Act, and he could therefore seek relief under under sec. 60 (2). Neither sec. 11 nor sec. 12 would apply. 1944 I.T.R 193=(1944) Comp. C. 19.

SEC. 7 (1).—Scope of. 6 Pat.L.T. 47=4 P. 210=1925 P. 281; 40 C.W.N. 827; 1935 L. 978. A sum paid to an employee as gratuity not by the employer but by a stranger who was interested in the employer out of charitable motives is not chargeable under the head "salaries" in sec. 7 of the Act, because it is not paid by the employer or any one on behalf of the employer. 12 R. 477=1934 R. 377 (S.B.). "Income" in the Income-tax Act connotes a periodical monetary return coming in which some sort of regularity from definite sources. The source is not necessarily one which is expected to be continuously productive but it must be one whose object is the production of a definite return, excluding anything in the nature of a mere windfall. Where the assessee, after the termination of an agency, is granted by his employer a certain periodical sum of money during the lifetime of the assessee and in the event of his death before expiry of five years from the date of the termination of the agency payment is to be made to his son for the unexpired period of five years, for the services rendered during the agency, provided he does not enter into a competitive business, the periodical sums of money fall clearly within the purview of sec. 7, Income tax Act, and as such taxable income, unless the assessee is able to bring his case within one of the exemptions contained in sec. 4, Cl. (3) of the Act. 31 S.L.R. 432=171 I.C. 375=1937 Sind 234. As to assessment of income tax on salaries, see 1 R. 335=1924 R. 30. The annual allowance received at London from a fund by the Lord Bishop of Lucknow as such is a salary within the meaning of sec. 7 (1). 1931 A.L.J. 1107=1932 A. 151. A transfer by the trustees of the shares to the employee at the termination of his employment is not a payment perquisite or profits thereunder received by the employee in addition to his salary or wages, which are paid by or on behalf of the company within the meaning of sec. 7. 11 R. 70=1933 R. 22. The interest paid by a company on the contributions which the company makes to the Provident Fund is a perquisite in addition to the salary or wages of the employees of the company. It is a sum that accrues to the members of the Provident Fund because they are under a contract of service with the company and as such it falls within the ambit of the term "salaries" in sec. 7 (1). But unless and until the salary has been received by the employee and has been paid by the company to him, such aalary is not assessable to income-tax. When therefore the interest of the company's own contributions to the Provident Fund is paid by the company and received by the

SEC. 7 (1): EXPLANATION 2—APPLICABILITY.—Explanation 2 to sec. 7 (1) deals with the case of termination of employment irrespective of the causes governing the termination. Where a sum of money is paid as compensation for termination of employment, the fact that if the appointment had not terminated and if the assessee had continued the amounts would be payable to him for services rendered, would not make the amounts remuneration for past services. 1945 I.T.R. 436.

SECS. 7, 18 AND 60: SALARY OF GOVERNMENT SERVANT—DATE ON WHICH IT BECOMES ASSESSABLE—POSTPONEMENT IN RECEIPT OF SALARY—EFFECT.—Upon a true construction of sec. 7 (1) read with secs. 18 (2) and 60 (2), Income-tax Act, salary is not assessable to income-tax until it has been paid to and received by the employee, the scheme of the Act being to levy income-tax not upon potential but actual profits. An assessee, a Government servant, requested the head of his office to pay him his February salary on 1st April, instead of on 1st March. The head of the office drew the salary in March and paid it to the assessee on 1st April as requested. The Income-tax Officer included the salary for February in the year's assessment on the ground that as it was drawn in March it must be regarded as having been paid in that month, because it was held by the head of the office in trust or bailment for the assessee until it was actually paid to the latter. Held, that the head of the office in the circumstances of the case could not be regarded as a bailee or trustee. The obligation to pay a a certain sum of money to the assessee could not make him a bailee, for bailment could be of specific property only. He was clearly not acting as the assesee's agent in drawing the salary for February, for he had not been authorized by the assessee either to draw the February salary in March or to keep it on the assessee's behalf. In these circumstances the February salary received by the assessee in April could not be included in year's assessment. 1937 Lah. 878.

SECS. 7 (1) AND 24-B.—One C who was the managing agent of a company and who was remunerated upon a commission basis died in May, 1938, without drawing the commission earned by him prior to 1st April, 1938. After C's death, the company paid this commission to his widow as his legal representative during the financial year 1938-39 without any deduction of income-tax. The Income-tax Department assessed the widow under sec. 24-B of the Income-tax Act for the year 1939-40 on the income of the deceased for the previous year 1938-39 and included in that income the total sum due to him for commission at the date of his death. Held, that by virtue of sec. 7 as amended in 1939, the commission earned by the deceased which remained undrawn down to the time of his death remained salary at all material times and that by reason of sec. 24-B of the Act the widow as

The interest on Government securities does not accrue from day to day but accrues on certain specified dates. It cannot, therefore, be said to have accrued to the vendors of these securities at all, since they sold these securities to the assessees before any interest accrued on them. 9 P. 194=1930 P. 33 (S.B.). SEC. 8, PROVISO (1) AND 2: SCOPE AND EFFECT OF.—Even if the assessees under protest accepted certain figures as interest on tax free securities, and inserted it in their return, they are free to challenge it in appeal. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 191=193 I.C. 714 =1941 Sind 17. The mere fact that the accounts of a Life Assurance Company have to be kept under the provisions of the Life Assurance Companies Act and the rules made thereunder in a particular manner or that the income, profits and gains are to be calculated in the manner prescribed in r. 25. Income-tax Rules, does not affect the statutory exemption from income-tax on the interest of certain securities given by the proviso to sec. 8, Income-tax Act. However the income or actuarial surplus be called, however arbitrary be the manner of its calculation, it is an income on which the company is assessed; it is sufficiently real to them, and if the assessee company hold income-tax free securities, they are entitled to a real and not an illusory benefit from such holding, and they are entitled to ask that the whole of the interest of their tax free securities should be deducted from their total income before the tax is assessed, even if that total income be calculated according to statutory rules. I. L.R. (1941) Kar. 191=193 I.C. 714=1941 Sind 17. The assessee, a Provincial Co-operative Bank, Limited, registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, received in the year of account 1938-39, the sum of Rs. 69,975 as interest on tax-free securities. The assessee was entitled under the second proviso to sec. 8 of the Act to deduct this sum when calculating the amount of income for purposes of income-tax. The assessee, however, claimed a further reduction of Rs. 26,729 being the interest which was paid in the year of account on moneys borrowed for the purpose of buying tax-free securities. The assessee had invested money in debentures issued by the Madras Co-operative Central Land Mortgage Bank and these debentures were bought by the assessee in the open market. The assessee claimed exemption from tax in respect of the interest paid on these debentures, on the plea that the debentures represented loans to the Madras Co-operative Central Land Mortgage Bank and therefore represented transactions which were part of the ordinary business of the assessee. Held, (1) that the assessee was entitled to the benefit of the first proviso to sec. 8 in respect of interest received from securities which were not tax-free and to the benefit of the second proviso in respect of tax-free securities, but was not entitled to a double exemption in respect of the tax-free securities; the assessee therefore could not get exemption in respect of the amount of Rs. 26,729; (2) that the fact that the assessee went into the open market to purchase the securities (debentures of the Madras Co-operative Central Land Mortgage Bank) showed that the object was investment, and the interest paid on the debentures represented taxable income as interest on investments. SECS. 8 AND 9.—By Act IV of 1913, for settling certain properties belonging to Sir Currimbhoy Ebrahim, Baronet, appellants were incorporated as trustees for executing the trusts. By sec. 6 the Corporation was to pay out of the income from the properties all rates and taxes and other outgoings. By sec. 7 the Corporation was required to form two funds, called the Sinking Fund, and the Repair Fund, and to carry annually thereto respectively, out of the income of properties, certain sums calculated on percentages of capital sums there specified. By sec. 8 the residue of the income was to be paid to the Baronet for the time being, if of full age, for his own absolute use and benefit. Held, that, so far as concerns the money which the appellants employ in maintaining the Sinking Fund and the Repair Fund and in defraying outgoings, they are not exempt from liability to pay tax. SECS. 8 AND 10.—The objects of the Madras Provincial Co-operative Bank were (i) to collect funds for financing Co-operative Societies, (ii) * * * * (iii) to purchase and sell Government Promissory Notes, and (iv) to carry on general business in banking. Its income was derived, inter alia, from interest on investments in Government securities. It contended that the purchase and sale of Government Promissory Notes having been found by the Income-tax Authority to be a part of its business, the interest derived therefrom constituted "the profits of a Co-operative Society exempted from income-tax by the Notification" of the Government of India, dated the 25th August, 1925. Held, that the word "profits" as subject of taxation, was distinct from, and did not include, interest on Government securities and that such interest was not exempted from income-tax under the Notification. 1933 M. 489=37 L.W. 758=64 M.L.J. 640=56 M. 837 (S.B.).

SECS. 8 AND 12: INCOME OF AN IMPARTIBLE ESTATE—NATURE OF.—The income of an impartible estate is not income of the undivided family but is the income of the present holder notwithstanding that he has undivided sons. Unity of ownership, unaccompanied by joint possession on the part of the sons would not affect the character in which the income is received. Income is not jointly enjoyed by the party entitled to maintenance and the party chargeable. The respective chances of each son to succeed by survivorship does not make them all co-owners of the income with their father, or make the holder of the estate a manager on behalf of himself and them. 1941 P.C. 120=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 972 (P.C.)=I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 1=44 Bom.L.R. 196=1942 A.L.J. 159.

SEC. 9 (1).—Sec. 9 (1) which deals with assessment under the head "property" in respect of the bona fide annual value of buildings does not apply to property in a foreign country. 1933 M.W.N. 1362=65 M.L.J. 849 (F.B.). The scheme of the Income-tax is that the income from property which is made liable to tax is not the actual income but an artificial or statutory income as defined in sec. 9 and that is the bona fide annual value of the property. The fact that the owner of the property receives no income in fact or even that there is no possibility of his receiving an income is irrelevant. The test and only test is the bona fide annual value of the property. The liability arises from the fact that the assessee is the owner of the property;; the Act makes the annual rental value of the property, the income of the owner of that property and it is that income which has to be taxed under the Act. 48 Bom.L.R. 52. Where the whole of the income of an assessee the sole surviving coparcener of a Hindu joint family, is derived from immovable property, but the income is made subject to certain maintenance allowances in favour of widows in the family, such maintenance allowances are a charge on the property. Though these charges do not fall under sec. 9 of the Act and cannot be deducted under that section, yet, the real income of the assessee which is liable ta tax is the income subject to the deductions in respect of the charges. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 445=41 Bom. L.R. 652=1939 Bom. 362. In order to come within the provision of sec. 9 (1), the person who owns the building need not also be the owner of land upon which it stands. An assessee who takes on long lease a parcel of land from Government and erects buildings thereon with their permission and is entitled under the terms of the said lease to remove the buildings within a stipulated period on the termination of the said lease is assessable in respect of the annual value of the buildings. 151 I.C. 879 (2)=1934 M. 670 (F.B.). Sec. 9 is inapplicable to a case where the assessees have only a limited interest of a lessee for 50 years. 34 C.W.N. 327=1930 C. 1 (F.B.). Before an assessee can be taxed as an "owner" under sec. 9 of the Act it must be decided that he is in fact the owner of the property in question. The mere existence of a dispute as to title, cannot of itself hold up an assessment and the Income-tax Officer has power to decide if the assessee is the owner of the property, without waiting for the determination of any pending suit. I. L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 358=1937 Cal. 583. (1937) Bom. 830. Beaumont, C. J.—The language of sec. 9 (1) does seem to involve that the assessee must be the owner of the property from which the income is derived, but in order to bring the section into conformity with the general scheme of the Act, the words "of which he is the owner" have to be read as meaning "of which annual value" he is the owner. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 284. But see (1941) 2 M.L.J. 972 (P.C.) contra. Rangnekar, J.—A departure from a strict grammatical construction of sec. 9 is not unjustified, because the whole object of the Act is to tax the income of the subject where it is found.

SEC. 9 (1) (iv).—The property belonging to an estate subject to the rule of primogeniture is still the property of the family and not the sole property of the manager for the time being for the purposes of super-tax. In computing income of the head of an impartible family governed by the law of primogeniture, the allowances paid to junior members thereof should be deducted. They cannot be deemed to be part of the income of the family. They are the separate property of the junior members on which they can be separately assessed. 14 L. 255=1933 L. 284. The words 'property of which he is the owner' in sec. 9 (1) are not to be read as meaning 'of which annual value he is the owner'. However difficult it may be in some cases to apply the phrase 'owner of property' to the facts of each case, it is not permissible to substitute a phrase of dubious and noticeably different meaning. Again the distinction between property owned by an individual Hindu and property owned by a Hindu undivided family must be made by applying the Hindu Law. It cannot be said that because the statute to be interpreted is an Income-tax Act broader or more general notions of ownership than the Hindu Law affords are to determine the matter. The Act is an Indian Act and the distinction takes its meaning from the Hindu Law. Property though impartible may be the ancestral property of a joint family, and in such cases the successor falls to be designated according to the ordinary rule of the Mitakshara. Though the co-ownership of the junior member may be 'in a sense' only, carrying no present right to joint possession, if the question be whether the Hindu undivided family or the present holder is owner of the estate the answer of the Hindu Law is that it is the joint family property. The present holder cannot therefore be charged in respect of it under sec. 9 of the Income-tax Act. 54 L.W. 635= 1941 P.C. 120=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 972 (P.C.). A Hindu undivided family is a single unit for the purpose of income-tax matters and sec. 9 (1) (iv) of the Income-tax Act can be applied only when the property, i.e., the property which constituted the taxable property of the undivided Hindu family is subject to a mortgage. The word 'mortgage' in sec. 9 (1) (iv) must, when a Hindu undivided family is being assessed as such in respect of the income under sec. 9, be taken to refer only to a mortgage by the Hindu undivided family as such and cannot include a mortgage of the share of some individual member or members Interest in respect of a mortgage by some members of the undivided family cannot be deducted in computing the profits of the property. 63 C. 1157. The deposit with the creditors of title-deeds relating to property for the purpose of borrowing money for the purchase and extension of property does not constitute a charge on the property within the meaning of sec. 9 (1). Cl. (iv) of the Act. 1932 A. 451. See also 63 C. 1157.

The words "an annual charge not being a capital charge" in sec. 9 (1) (iv) is not intended to cover and does not cover municipal taxes which are made a charge on property and which the assessee has paid to the Bombay Municipality during the accounting period as property tax. Hence an assessee is not entitled to a deduction of the tax so paid by him to the municipality in respect of the property belonging to him. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 628=45 Bom.L.R. 584=1943 I.T.R. 320=A.I.R. 1943 Bom. 311. Limited company owning house properties—Issue of debentures covered by trust deed—Properties of company conveyed and transferred in trust as security for benefit of debenture-holders — Company redeeming debentures and raising loan from bank on security of debentures—Interest in respect of debentures—If deductible under sec. 9 (1) (iv). 1944 I. T.R. 434=1945 Cal. 53=218 I.C. 457.

SEC. 9 (1) (iv) AND (v): APPLICABILITY.—Urban immovable property tax of the Bombay Presidency paid under the Bombay Finance Act, is neither an "annual charge" within the meaning of sec. 9 (1) (iv), nor "land revenue" within the meaning of sec. 9 (1) (v). It is in no way different, so far as the Income-tax Act is concerned, from taxes levied by a municipality, and an assessee is therefore not entitled to claim any deduction in respect of such tax under sec. 9 of the Act. 1943 I.T.R. 484=1943 M.W.N. 551=56 L.W. 526=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 10=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 364=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 399.

SEC. 9 (1) AND (2).—The amount of house-tax and water-tax imposed by the Municipal Board and paid by the owner as a lessor, should not be deducted from the gross amount payable as rent by the tenant of that property in determining the bona fide annual value of property under sec. 9 (1). Such amount should be deducted as an allowance from the bona fide annual value of the property determined under sec. 9 (1) read with sub-sec. (2) of the Act. I.L.R. (1944) All. 780=1945 A.L.J. 130=A.I.R. 1945 All. 147.

SEC. 9 (1) (vii).—'Vacancy' cannot mean or include occupation. Consequently where an impecunious tenant fails to pay the rent, the house cannot be treated as not having been let at all. Nor can unrealised or unrealisable rent be treated as rent which did not accrue. 32 P.L.R. 418=1931 L. 656. The provision in sec. 9 (1), para. (vii) is intended to apply primarily only to those cases in which the house in question is not in the occupation of the owner but is habitually let to tenants and the vacancies referred to are vacancies between the different tenancies. It may also be applied to cases where a house though not let is dismantled and shut up by the owner but it has no application to a house kept always furnished and ready for occupation by the owner but never in fact used by him at all. 1931 L. 656. "Vacancy" meaning of. See 40 M. 22=1936 M. 287=50 M.L.J. 63.

SUB-SEC. (2): "ANNUAL VALUE".—Annual value in sec. 9 (2) does not mean only annual money benefit derivable from property but the sum for which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year. In estimating the sum for which the property can reasonably be expected to let from year to year, the amount paid by the tenant on account of the Municipal house-tax should be included, that is, should be treated as part of the rent payable by the tenant to the landlord. 17 L. 494=1936 L. 762 (F.B.). But see 131 I.C. 193. The sum for which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year is a hypothetical sum into which rates as such do not enter at all and from which they are not to be deducted.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "annual value" shall be deemed to mean the sum for which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year:

Provided that, where the property is in the occupation of the owner for the purposes of his own residence, such sum shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed not to exceed ten per cent. of the total income of the owner.

[1][(3) Where property is owned by two or more persons and their respective shares are definite and ascertainable, such persons shall not in respect of such property be assessed as an association of persons, but the share of each such person in the income from the property as computed in accordance with this section shall be included in his total income.]

time might well lead to the inference that the notional rent included that amount of But if and so far as the actual bargain made by the parties is considered as evidence of the amount which a hypothetical tenant would give or the landlord reasonably expect to get is the figure which represents the whole of the consideration exacted by the landlord for the right to use and occupy the property—comprising not merely the rent paid by the tenant as such, but also the tax paid to the Corporation by the tenant. 36 C.W.N. 1144=1932 C. 886 (S.B.) (1930 L. 320, Diss.). The owner's share of Municipal tax payable under this Municipal Act, is not a tenant's tax. It is a liability of the owner and if under the agreement it is paid off by the tenant, it represents part of the consideration received by the landlord and has to be included in the computation of the annual value of the premises. 36 C.W.N. 1144=1932 C. 886 (S.B.). See also 1929 L. 503. The phrase "annual value" whether in Income-tax Acts or wherever else it appears with rating or taxation means the same thing, i.e., "the sum at which the property may reasonably be expected to let from year to year". Per Addison, J.—What the landlord has been able to collect for past year is a fair measure of what the property may reasonably be expected to let from year to year. The question is one of fact. 131 I.C. 193 (2) (F.B.). Per Dalip Singh, J.—The sum for which the property might be expected to let from year to year is a notional amount and has nothing to do with the rent actually received. A good way of arriving at the notional sum would be the correct average of the rents paid for similar and similarly situated buildings in any given area. The sum for which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year does not mean the sum that the most grasping landlord can secure from the most necessitous tenant but is the sum which might reasonably be expected to be paid for that building from year to year regard being had to the rents paid for similar and similarly situated buildings in that locality. If circumstances make it impossible or inconvenient to apply this method, other factors may be taken into consideration. One consideration is the length of time for which the landlord had been able to shift the burden to the tenants of the taxation. A long the tax. Held, by the majority of the Full Bench (Addison, J., dissenting) that the "annual value" of the property for purposes of sec. 9 of the Act does not include sums paid by tenants to the owner on account of Municipal house-tax. 131 I.C. 193=1931 L. 320. Per Tek Chand, J.—Tht question in such cases does not admit of a general answer. The provisions of the Municipal Act in force in a particular locality and the relevant notification under which the taxes are levied have an important bearing on the decision in question. 131 I.C. 193=1931 L. 320 (2) (F.B.). The income and profits from immovable property are to be ascertained by finding out the sum for which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year. Where the immovable property consists of a number of market-stalls, this is to be done by ascertaining the annual value of each of the stalls which in the aggregate make up the property to be assessed. In determining what that annual value is, the Income-tax Officer must have regard to the actual daily rent of each of the stalls. 9 R. 154=1931 R. 99 (S.B.). In computing the notional annual value of a house which is not in fact let, the cost of collecting the rent if the house was let cannot be deducted from that notional value; because even in the case of a house which is in fact let, the collecting charges may not be deducted unless they have actually been incurred and in that case the sum which may be deducted is limited to a sum "not exceeding the prescribed maximum". 10 P. 261=1931 P. 223. The house-tax is not a part of the rent of the annual income accruing from the house property to the landlord, but is a mere liability of the landlord incidental to his owing the property which he lets out to the tenants on rent. 30 P.L.R. 429=1929 L. 503; 140 I.C. 1=1932 C. 886 (S.B.); 131 I.C. 193=1931 L. 320 (2) (F.B.). permanence or continuance of such eating, drinking and sleeping. It does not bear the extended meaning, which it bears in the case of a company, namely, the place where the company keeps house and does business. There is no justification for applying the word to a fictional person, such as that f a limited liability company. Consequently, a building owned by a Stock Exchange Association, which is partly occupied by its offices, and partly let out to its members for their business, but not used by them for their residence, does not constitute "residence" under the proviso to sec. 9 (2). 39 C.W.N. 327=62 C. 547. Though the shares of co-heirs under Mahomedan Law are, ordinarily, definite and ascertainable, so long as the dispute between the heirs inter se (whether daughters were excluded by custom) continues, it is impossible to hold that the share of one heir was definite and ascertainable to attract the provisions of sec. 9 (3). (1944) I.T.R. 302.

SECS. 9 AND 6.—Royalties cannot be regarded as "profits or gains" of a business. The sources of the royalties may properly be deemed to be the lessees' covenants to pay them and hence royalties fall under "other sources". 22 Pat. 713=70 I.A. 180 =1943 A.L.J. 493=48 C.W.N. 59=A.I.R. 1943 P.C. 153=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 410 (P.C.).

SECS. 9 AND 10.—Assessment of income from foreign property taken over by an assessee in the course of money-lending business should be made under sec. 9 and not under sec. 10. 58 L.W. 139=1945 M.W.N. 209 (1)=1945 I T.R. 183=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 186=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 258. Income derived from the ownership of buildings is chargeable to tax under sec. 9 irrespective of whether an individual or a company is the owner and also irrespective of whether one of the company's objects, or its sole object, is to acquire and let out buildings at rents. Ownership itself is the criterion of assessment under that section. The assessees were a limited company, one of its objects being to acquire land by purchase, lease or otherwise and to build houses thereon and let them out. By a deed of lease the lessors let to the assessees a vacant piece of land for a term of 40 years. The assessees were entitled to erect buildings thereon and let them out for rent. After the expiry of 40 years the lessors were entitled to take possession of the entire land together with all the buildings, and the assessees had no right, title or interest thereto. The assessees were to pay a proportionate part of the municipal tax in respect of the land and the entire municipal tax upon the buildings to be erected. In the case of acquisition of the land by the Government the lessors should have the entire compensation in respect of the land, but in respect of the buildings on the land, that was to be divided between the lessors and the assessees. Held, that the assessees were the owners of the houses during the currency of the lease and that the rents derived by them from the houses were assessable under sec. 9 and not under sec. 10. 50 C.W.N. 598.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—In estimating or arriving at a decision as to the annual value of a building, the Income-tax Officer is entitled to take into account the actual sum expended in the erection of the building. The finding of the Income-tax Officer is one of fact with which the High Court cannot interfere. 146 I.C. 550 (1)=1933 L. 829. No mandamus to be issued when the amount involved is very small. 146 I.C. 551=1933 L. 822.

SECS. 9 AND 12.—Where the assessee having taken land on a long lease under which the land together with the buildings thereon will revert to the possession of the lessor on the expiry of the lease, has erected thereon masonry buildings and has received rents from lessees of the buildings, whether the tax payable by the assessee in respect of the rents is to be determined in accordance with sec. 9 or with sec. 12. 144 I.C. 344=37 C.W.N. 881=1933 P.C. 180=65 M.L.J. 247 =55 A. 452=60 I.A. 307 (P.C.) SEC. 10: BUSINESS—MEANING.—See 41 C.W.N. 46=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 36. Carrying on business can exist only when there is a succession of acts and the performance of a single act apart from special circumstances is not enough even though it may result in gains or profits. 57 B. 651=35 Bom.L.R. 914=1933 B. 422. See also 1935 L. 53. Sec. 10 of the Act deals only with businesses which are being carried on and not businesses which have ceased to be carried on. A company can carry on several distinct and separate businesses and it must always be a question of fact whether those businesses are separate or so interlocked with the main chief business of the company as to be really one business. If separate businesses are carried on during the year of account, the profits and gains of each of them separately will have to be arrived at under sec. 10 (1) and

(2) of the Act after making the allowances given in sub-sec. (2); and the loss, if any, in any one or more of the businesses would under sec. 24 of the Act, be set-off against the profits and gains of the more successful businesses arrived at in the same way and the aggregate income computed. But an assessee company cannot adopt this course when the businesses in which the losses are incurred have ceased to be carried on in the year of account. 1935 M. 330=68 M.L.J. 379=58 M. 433 (F.B.). The members of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce provide for themselves certain facilities in trade, such as a measurer of merchandise, and pay for these facilities. They combine as a Chamber and provide these facilities for themselves as members of that Chamber and they pay more than is actually necessary for the provision of these services. Held, the measurement fees and charges realized by the Karachi Chamber of Commerce from its members are not taxable income. They are not profits of trade within the meaning of sec. 2 (4) and sec. 10 of the Act, but are savings. The fact that the office of public measurer serves not only members of the Chamber but members of the public as well or that the members are incorporated as a Chamber under the Companies Act, does not destroy the mutual basis of the members dealing with the Chamber. 1939 I.T.R. 575=1939 Sind 308. Association of merchants formed for protecting and promoting interests of members trading in grains and seeds—Opening of Produce Exchange Department and clearing house—Charging of fees from members —Income from sale of samplse received for qualitative analysis and penalties levied for trading in breach of rules not taxable as profits and gains of business. 1939 I.T.R. 594.

"INCOME" AND "PROFITS"—DISTINCTION. —52 M. 640=1929 M. 387=56 M.L.J. 481 (F.B.). Term "profits" implies a comparison between the state of a business at two specific dates usually separated by an interval of a year, and if the company is to be regarded as dealing in house property by letting out for premium and rent in the course of and for purpose of its business, the money value of the extent to which at the end of the year it betters its position by such means will be assessable as profit. If its position is bettered by other means from causes not directly connected with the business of the company, the enhanced value though realised is not part of the profits of the business. Everything depends on what the business is. 34 C.W.N. 327=1930 C. 1 (F.B.). Debt discharged by consideration other than cash. True value of consideration must be looked to. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (S. B.). Sec. 10 deals solely with the profits or gains of any business carried on by the assessee. It does not refer to profits or gains generally from whatsoever source derived. 26 N.L.R. 75=1930 N. 183. Sums received by a firm, in the nature of a solatium, for the compulsory cessation of certain agency contracts, are not "income, profits or gains" arising from business carried on by them and they are consequently not liable to be assessed to income-tax. 59 I.A. 206=59 C. 1343=1932 P.C. 138=63 M.L.J. 124 (P.C.). See also 1941 I.T.R. 642 (business "profits or income", what are). Per Kania and Chagla, JJ. (Stone, C.J., (dissenting).—Income or receipts from a business or profession which has been discontinued must be held to be income liable to tax under the Income-Act. The only reservation is that the gross outstanding fees are not chargeable, they being subject to the deductions permitted under sec. 10 of the Act when the method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee is the cash receipts basis. Per Kania, J.—The question whether a particular amount is income or not has nothing to do with the time of its receipt. Per Stone, C.J.—For a receipt to be assessable to tax under sec. 10, it must be a receipt in respect of an existing business, profession or vocation capable of being processed to profits or gains by the method of computation laid down by sec. 10. 47 Bom.L.R. 742=1945 442 (F.B.). Where there is no Hindu joint family but still on account of the minority of sharers, the sharers have all to be looked after by a common guardian and the business is carried on with the properties of the tenants-in-common put together with the advantages of such condition, the Crown can assess the person carrying on the business under sec. 10 (1). 55 M. 891=1932 M. 378=62 M.L.J. 600 (F. B.). In order that a payment in kind may be taxable income, it is essential that what is received in kind should be the equivalent of cash or should be money's worth. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). Assessee having more than one business can set off expenses incurred in re-starting business which has to be stopped on account of cyclone as against profits and gains in other business. 1935 M.W.N. 1208=69 M.L.J. 876 (F.B.). The assessee, his father and brother were members of a joint Hindu family carrying on a money-lending business in Malaya. At a partition effected in 1925, the money-lending business fell to the share of the father and thereafter the assessees and his brother started separate money-lending businesses of their own in Burma. In 1939, the father retired from business, and gave his money-lending business in Malaya to the assessee and his brother in equal shares, and also gave each of them a rubber plantation and a cocoanut plantation in Malaya which he had owned in Malaya. The assessee entered in the books of account of his money-lending business, the value of the rubber and cocoanut plantations which he got from his father, and they were treated as part of the capital of the money-lending business; the expenses of running the estates were debited in the accounts of the money-lending business and the profits from the estates were entered as profits of the money-lending business. The assessee sold a portion of the rubber estate in the year of account and entered in the accounts of the business the sale proceeds, which showed a profit. The Income tax Department sought to tax this profit. Held, that the plantation formed part of the assessee's capital of his money-lending business, and the profit made on the sale of a part of the rubber plantation was included in the profits of the business and therefore the profit arising from that sale was liable to income-tax. 1946 I.T.R. 61 =59 L.W. 82=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 96. Where a partition award directs the divided members of a Hindu family to pay certain amounts to their mother and step-mother as maintenance and makes the amounts a charge on the properties allotted to them, it cannot be held that the ladies receiving the allowances receive them as members of a joint Hindu family falling under sec. 14, Income-tax Act; in computing the assessable income, therefore, the amounts of the allowances paid should be deducted. 1946 I.T.R. 66. A debtor who gives his creditor a promissory note for the sum he owes can in no sense be said to pay his creditor. He merely gives him a document or voucher possessing certain legal attributes. The assessee does not receive payment of any taxable income from his debtor. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M. L.J. 612 (P.C.).

APPROPRIATION OF PAYMENT TO INTEREST—OPTION OF TAX-PAYER.—An assessee took over from the debtor in satisfaction of a loan six items of property. Assuming that these six items might be treated as money's worth, it was contended that the sum which far exceeded the total amount of interest due on the loan must be treated as applicable in the first place to the discharge of the debtor's liability for interest. Held, that the basis of the presumption, namely, that it is to the creditor's advantage to attribute payments to interest in the first place, leaving the interest bearing capital outstanding, was gone. Moreover, if the question were one between the debtor and the creditor (i.e., assessee), the assessee might at the last moment appropriate the above mentioned amount to capital account, for in a question of the revenue the tax payer is entitled to appropriate payments as between capital and interest in the manner least disadvantageous to himself. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P. C.).

FOREIGN REMITTANCE—CAPITAL OR PROFITS.—There is no praesumptio juris that a sum received from a foreign partnership is remitted out of the profits of that business. 11 R. 397=1933 R. 217.

PAYMENT OF ARREARS OF ROYALTY.—Where an assessee agreed to take a colliery business on the representation that it was free from encumbrances which had accrued due prior to his getting possession. Held, that he could not deduct the amount so paid from his income. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.).

LOSS OF CAPITAL.—The assessee who was carrying on business in piecegoods accepted deposits from various people for the purpose of that business and paid interest on those deposits which were used in his piecegoods business. He had, however, no money-lending business. A sum lost in a dacoity in his premises was sought to be deducted. Held, that the amount was neither the stock-in-trade nor expenditure necessary for the carrying on of the 'business', but was clearly a loss of capital and was not deductible. 16 Lah. 494=1935 L. 53. As to what is capital expenditure, see 62 C. 87=39 C.W.N. 70.

ISOLATED SPECULATIVE VENTURE—PROFITS FROM.—Assessee who was a landowner and money-lender purchased in Court auction the right- title and interest of a certain person in some legacies which were the subject of litigation and, after several years, he was able to realise a sum in respect of the legacies, far in excess of the purchase-money paid by him. The excess receipt was sought to be assessed to income-tax. Held, that the transaction could not be described as an adventure or concern in the nature of trade, but was an isolated transaction, and was not assessable. 68 M.L.J. 222=58 M. 363=1935 M. 387 (F.B.).

BAD DEBT AND TIME-BARRED DEBTS.—The presumption that a debt barred by time is prima facie bad is rebuttable by evidence according to the circumstances of the case. A debt becomes actually bad when it becomes irrecoverable and not when it is merely time-barred . It may become bad even before it is time-barred, when it becomes quite irrecoverable by the circumstances of the debtor. WHAT ARE PROPER DEDUCTIONS.—Money embezzled by the clerk of the assessee is a deduction in computing the income or profits of the business; so also the boarding expenses of servants and their transit charges. 4 P. 385=1925 P. 408. Cf. 59 M.L.J. 403. The amount of interest due on a mortgage debt but not actually paid is an allowable item of expenditure under head "house property income" under the section. 54 C. 630 =31 C.W.N. 557=1927 C. 553. The mere fact that the debtor of an assessee has made an entry in his books showing a credit to the assessee for the amount of interest due in the accounting period does not necessarily mean that the amount had been received or realised by the assessee and does not justify income-tax assessment. A presumption by itself does not justify assessment. 15 L. 486 =1934 L. 408. But see 13 R. 243=1935 R. 171 (S.B.). Where the debtor executed a fresh promissory note for interest due on a prior debt and both in the interest account of the creditor and in the account which they kept, the interest in question was shown as having been received by the assessees during the year of account, and it was so stated in the profit and loss account of the firm. Held, that in effect the assessees were investing the old interest as capital in the new loan. Hence such amount was interest upon loans that had accrued to the assessees in the accounting year, and as such was assessable to income-tax for the year. 13 R. 243=1935 R. 171 (S.B.). The question whether there has been an advance of capital by particular partners, or bona fide borrowing of money by the firm in which the lender happens to be a partner must be treated as one of fact in each case. 46 All. 1=21 A.L.J. 703; 1933 Sind 192. There is nothing in law to prevent a partnership starting business without capital, and there is nothing to prevent a partner or partners in such a case lending to the partnership money which would bear interest deductable under sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Income-tax Act. Where the instrument of partnership contains a provision to the effect that the net profits of the business after deducting all working expenses and interest paid or payable on capital whether belonging to the partners or depositors or others from whom moneys mgiht have been borrowed shall be divided between the two partners in certain proportion, and it is found that the partners have advanced amounts to the firm by way of loans, the amounts paid as interest to the partners cannot be treated as profits of the firm and liable to assessment, but must be allowed as deductions under sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Act. The fact that there is no instrument to evidence the loans, on which a suit might be based, is immaterial, as it is not necessary that there should be an instrument to evidence a loan. 1939 I.T.R. 662. Where a property is purchased by an assessee in execution of a mortgage decree against his debtor, the amount of which the assessee bids at the execution sale must ordinarily be taken to be its market value. It is, however, open to the Income-tax Department, if there is anything before it, to hold that the property was worth either more or less than the price which the assessee bids for it. But in order to hold that the property is worth more than the price fetched at the public sale, the department must have in its possession some tangible evidence. 1942 Pat. 65=1941 I.T.R. 474. The Income-tax Officer was justified in inferring that the assessee had purchased outright and that having treated it as his own property along with his other immovable property, it was not open to him to treat the purchase as a part of his money-lending business transaction and claim credit for the loss he sustained by the resale of the property many years after its purchase. 183 I.C. 823=1939 Sind 61. See also 1942 Pat. 65. Where remittances have been made by an assessee from a foreign state (Penang) into British India out of profits available for remittance, and such remittances are not in anticipation of profits having been actually earned more than sufficient to cover the remittances, the incurring of losses by the assessee in his foreign business subsequently in the same accounting period cannot change the character of the remittances so as to exclude them from assessment as profits, though such losses were sufficient to wipe out these profits. 1941 I.T.R. 663=54 L.W. 707 =1941 Madfl 928=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 890 (F. The commission paid by a company to underwriters for raising fresh capital is not an expenditure solely incurred with the object of earning profits for the company's business and therefore is not within the scope of sec. 9 (2) (x) [now sec. 10 (2) (ix) of the Income-tax Act]. 45 B. 1306=23 Bom.L.R. 576. When a question arises whether certain payments made by a company to its directors by way of remuneration for their services, as provided in the Articles of Association, are expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning profits or gains, the fact that those sums are such expenditure, and the fact that the sums allotted have been paid and passed by the auditors are also not conclusive. The Income-tax authorities are entitled to look at the resolution, the accounts and the Articles of Association, but are not bound by them. They can go behind the accounts and ascertain for themselves whether or not the payments made were reasonable sums by way of remuneration and then can consider what payments are made for similar services in similar businesses and allow deductions which they consider proper and reasonable. 40 C.W.N. 833. PAYMENT IN KIND—WHETHER TAXABLE.—In order that a payment in kind may be taxable income, it is essential that what is received in kind, should be the equivalent of cash or should be money's worth. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.).

PAYMENT OF ARREARS OF ROYALTY.—Where an assessee agreed to take a colliery business on the representation that it was free from encumbrances which had accrued due prior to his getting possession, held, that he could not deduct the amount so paid from his income. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.).

CAPITAL AND REVENUE EXPENDITURE—DISTINCTION.—See 46 C.W.N. 6. When an expenditure is made, not only once and for all, but with a view to bringing into existence an asset or an advantage for the enduring benefit of a trade, there is very good reason—in the absence of special circumstances leading to the contrary—for treating such an expenditure as properly attributable not to revenue but to capital. If the money is spent for purposes of the trade, and the expenditure would, if successful, produce a capital asset or an asset of an enduring character, which is of a capital nature, it is equally a capital expenditure if the expenditure is unsuccessful. The question whether the expenditure is a capital or a revenue payment is not to be tested by seeing whether it can be shown to be productive. Nor is the fact that what is produced by the expenditure is impalpable or intangible or incalculable any justification for holding that it must be treated as of a revenue nature. And when the payment in fact creates advantages of an enduring nature, it must be properly treated as capital and not as revenue, and therefore it cannot be charged against the profits for purposes of assessment to income-tax. 1939 I.T.R. 92. See also 41 C.W.N. 46; 1933 Cal. 777=60 C. 840.

SEC. 10 (1): "CARRIED ON"—MEANING OF.—The assessee was a partner in a firm carrying on a money-lending business, which was dissolved on 11—1—1939, and the assets of the business were realised between that date and 26—3—1939. No business was transacted after 11—1—1939, beyond that involved in the realisation of the assets. In the assessment of the year of account ending 13—4—1939, the assessee claimed that an aggregate sum of £ 1,38 348 should be treated as trading loss and deducted in assessing his income as a partner. This amount was arrived at by deducting the sums realised in the course of the winding up from the values of the assets as shown in the books of account. Held, that the business was not "carried on" after 11—1—1939, within the meaning of sec. 10 (1), that the loss incurred was not incurred either in or for the carrying on of the business of the partnership, and therefore the loss suffered in realisation was not deductible under sec. 10 of the Act. 1943 I.T.R. 540=A.I.R. 1944 Mad. 58=(1943) 2 L.J. 446=I L.R. (1944) Mad. 328.

SEC. 10 (2).—Unless an expenditure can be brought under the clauses of sub-sec. (2) of sec. 10 of the Act, it cannot be allowed as a deduction. 40 C.W.N. 833. There is no presumption that a property standing in the name of a married Hindu lady does in fact belong to her husband. The ordinary presumption of law is that the apparent state of affairs is real unless the contrary is proved. Where the payment of royalty to the assessee's wife is proved, the assessee is entitled to a deduction of the amount in the absence of evidence that the lady was a benamidar of her husband. The absence of evidence one way or the other does not under the law justify the inference that the lady was a benamidar. 160 I.C. 611=1936 P. 267. A payment by the assessee out of profits and conditional on profits being earned cannot be treated as rent. Nor can such payment be described as a payment made to earn profits. Moneys so paid by the assessee cannot, therefore, be deducted either under cl. (i) or under cl. (ix) of sub-sec. (2) of sec. 10 of the Act. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 426=40 P.L.R. 228=1938 Lah. 530.

SEC. 10 (2) (iii).—A finance company, which as part of its business, invested money in various parts of the world, borrowed in India a sum of thirty-two lacs of rupees, and invested it in foreign securities. The company claimed to deduct from their taxable profits in British India the interest on the borrowed amount notwithstanding the facts that the borrowed money was employed outside British India and that the profits derived therefrom were not brought within British India and therefore did not attract income-tax in India. Held, that an allowance cannot be made under sec. 10 (2) (iii) in respect of interest on capital borrowed for the purpose of the business—that business should be one that earns or is capable of earning taxable profits, or at least one which is so carried on that taxable profits may be earned whether in fact profits are earned or not. 56 B. 92=33 Bom.L.R. 1587=1932 B. 94. See also 1936 Lah. 1001. Sale of its shares and investments by a bank in order to meet withdrawals by depositors is a normal step in carrying on the banking business. It is an act done in "what is truly the carrying on" of the banking business and consequently profits arising from such sales are assessable to income-tax as profits of the banking business. In such a case in order to prove that profits made on sales of investments by the bank are taxable it is not necessary to prove that the bank carries on a separate or severable business of buying and selling investments. 67 I.A. 464=52 L.W. 926=1940 I.T.R. 635=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 130=1940 P.C. 230 (P.C. (3), sec. 10, to suggest that interest paid on the initial capital invested in a firm cannot be the subject-matter of an allowance. Where therefore a capitalist partner advances money to the firm on condition that interest would be paid to him, whether the business of the firm results in profit or not and is in no way made dependent on the profit, if any, earned, the firm is entitled to claim an allowance for the interest paid on such capital. It is immaterial whether such capital was advanced as initial capital or subsequently. There is no distinction between capital borrowed and capital contributed. Capital contributed by a capitalist partner is capital borrowed from him by the firm. 1933 S. 192. See also 1939 I.T.R. 662; 46 All. 1=21 A.L.J. 703. Railway company—Guaranteed interest or dividend on shares out of profits—If deductible. See (1943) I.T.R. 578. The Madura Hindu Permanent Fund was incorporated as a limited company under the Companies Act, 1882. Its objects were stated to be (a) to enable persons to save money; (b) to invest their savings in landed property and Government Promissory Notes; (c) to secure loans at favourable rates of interest and to grant loans on sound securities. The capital of the Fund was contributed by two classes of subscribers at the rate of Re. 1 per mensem per share, the A class subscriber for 45 months, the B class subscriber for 84 months. At the end of the period, the former was paid off Rs. 50, the latter Rs. 102-8-0 and the account was closed. The amount so paid to the subscribers in excess of their subscription was called "guaranteed interest" which the Fund claimed to be entitled to deduct from its income in computing its taxable profits. It was assumed for the purpose of the reference that the transactions of the fund were confined to its members though the rules provided for loans also to non-subscribers and to registered Co-operative Societies. Held, (i) that the ruling in Styles' case had no application to the case and the guaranteed interest was part of the profits; but (ii) that in view of the explanation to sec. 10 (2) (iii) the recurring subscriptions should be deemed borrowing of capital, the interest whereon, not being in any way dependent on the earning of profits, could be deducted under sec. 10 (iii). (47 M. 1 and 3 I.T.C. 385, Disc.) 56 M. 415=1933 M. 347=64 M.L.J. 260 (F.B.). When money is borrowed, which would probably not have been borrowed had not the assessee's own capital been invested in an income producing business, the interest paid on such borrowing is not deductible under sec. 10 (2) (iii) from the income of that business. 161 I.C. 681=38 P.L.R. 402=1936 L. 595. See also 1941 I.T.R. 358. Sec. 10 (2) (iii) makes a distinct departure from English law which provides that interest on capital employed in business is not an allowable deduction. Interest paid to a partner on capital borrowed from him is an allowable deduction from the profits earned under sec. 10 (2) (iii). 163 I.C. 275=1936 S. 68. Agricultural income is totally excluded from the operation of the Income-tax Act and the sources of income enumerated in sec. 6 cannot include agricultural income. Sec. 10, therefore, applies to "business" assessable under the Act and the "allowance" referred to in sub-sec. (2) of sec. 10 cannot apply to agricultural income but only to interest paid in respect of capital borrowed for the purposes of the "business" assessable under sec. 6 of the Act. Therefore, the money borrowed by the assessees for the purpose of paying land revenue cannot be exempted from income-tax under the provisions of sec. 10 (2) (iii). 161 I.C. 681=38 P.L.R. 402=1936 L. 595. In the absence of any express provision in the Act, an assessee is not to be deprived of the advantages conferred by exemptions such as sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Act because the capital benefiting therefrom by means of permissible deductions happens to produce a non-taxable income. Where a person carrying business as a money-lender borrows money for his money-lending business, lends it out to constituents, and is obliged in the course of business to receive agricultural lands in repayment of his debts from such constituents, he is entitled to a deduction of the interest paid by him on so much of the capital borrowed by him for business purposes as is represented by the agricultural lands got in under sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Act, in computing the profits and gains of the banking business for the year of account. The assessee is also entitled to a deduction in respect of the establishment and other charges, such as for managing and cultivating the lands got and the amount spent for obtaining conveyances. I.L.R. 1937 Mad. 734=1937 M. 393=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 351 (F.B.). See also 69 M.L.J. 474 (P.C.).

SEC. 10 (2) EXPL. APPLICABILITY—CONDITIONS—"RECURRING".—In order to satisfy the requirements of the explanation to sec. 10 (2) (iii) there must be recurring subscription paid periodically and the assessee must be a mutual benefit society. "Recurring" means a happening again and again—not that which occurs only once. Where the shares are paid in one lump sum, and the assessee is an ordinary banking concern whose transactions are not confined to their members only, the allowance under sec. 10 (2) (iii) cannot be permissible. 58 M. 8=1934 M. 653 (2)=67 M.L.J. 532 (F.B.). R 31 of the Income-tax Rules clearly applies to the business of a dividing (Insurance) society; when the Memorandum of Association and the Rules of the company show it to be a dividing society, the fact that part of the policy monies are divided among the subscribers cannot make it a mutual benefit society, especially when there is no mutuality between the shareholders of the company, the assessee and the policy holders, the shareholders and policy holders being two separate entities. (1939) 1 I.T.R. 341=1939 Sind 301. See also 1939 I.T.R. 575=1939 Sind 308. Before there can be mutuality between an Association and its members, the services must be supplied by the Association to its members as such services for which the members themselves pay from which payments any surplus is saving and not profits or gains. The nature of the services or the purpose of the Association is not the test. The nature of the Association is the test. 1939 I.T.R. 575=1939 Sind 308. A company was floated with members subscribing its capital by way of share. The main source of income was the interest on the loans advanced to the shareholder members. It also derived interest on its securities, etc. In giving the return, the fund did not show the interest derived from the loans to the shareholders as its income. Question was if that income was assessable. Held, the fund though a registered company was in fact a Mutual Benefit Fund Society and that the income was not assessable; in enacting the Explanation to sec. 10 (2) and (3) of the Income-tax Act, the Legislature must have intended to recognise the existence of such a Mutual Benefit Society like one in question. 176 I.C. 374=47 L.W. 28=1938 Mad. 57 (F.B.). See also I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 779=1939 Sind 293 (Dividing Insurance Co.). A fund which was a company registered under the Indian Companies Act, made considerable profits out of lending money to non-members, and was, on that ground, held to be a banking concern and not a Mutual Benefit Society as it claimed to be. Subsequently it altered its memorandum and articles of association. Under the altered articles, a person who wanted a loan had to become a member, but he could become a member by paying a sum of one rupee for a share which he could withdraw at the end of two years. The membership in many cases was merly nominal; the large profits which the company (fund) made by way of interest on loans granted to those taking one rupee shares were distributed to its real shareholders and the nominal members who had taken one rupee shares invested practically nothing and consequently no hing was paid to them out of the profits either by way of dividend or in reduction of interest. These members by borrowing from the company made for it large profits in which they were not allowed to share. Held, (1) that the company was not a Mutual Benefit Society in spite of the altered memorandum and articles of association but was a banking concern, and its income was therefore taxable; (2) that as there was no payment of interest to shareholders or subcribers on the capital subscribed by them, and as the company only paid dividends to its members, which were dependent on the earning of profits, the company was not entitled to claim a deduction in respect of these sums under sec. 10 (2) (iii) of the Act, the sums so paid not being in the nature of interest on borrowed capital, I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 183=47 L.W. 24=1938 Mad. 148=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 130 (F.B.).

SEC. 10 (2) (vi).—There is no provision in the Income-tax Act which authorises an apportionment of depreciations on an assessee who sells his machinery or plant during the accounting period. There is no such provision in the Act as would justify the view that if the machinery is not used throughout the year, then the period for which it has worked should be calculated and depreciation should be allowed in proportion to such period. It cannot be held that if the machinery is not the property of the assessee throughout the year, then he cannot get the benefit of the full depreciation allowance. The Court cannot invoke an equitable rule in the construction of a taxing statute (1946) I.T.R. 106=25 Pat. 131=1946 P. 414. The words "original cost" refer to the genuine original cost to the assessee and not to that paid by the predecessor in business of the assessee. 13 Pat.L.T. 618=12 Pat. 12=1933 P. 28. (56 B. 129, Foll.). See also 59 Mad. 175=159 I.C. 545=69 M.L.J. 879 (P.C.). The original cost of any particular asset is entirely a question of fact, and, like any other question of fact, depends upon the evidence produced to prove the same. The mere production of documentary evidence showing that a contract has been made for purchasing assets at a certain price does not conclusively establish the correctness of a claim made by an assessee that for the purpose of sec. 10 (2) (vi) the original cost is the amount shown in the document. Where the circumstances show that an assessee has arranged to put an entirely fictitious price on his assets, it is open to the Income-tax Authorities to refuse to accept that price and to ascertain what the true value is. I.L.R. 1940 Mad. 985=1940 Mad. 602=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 95 (F.B.). Where a business which had gone into liquidation is taken over by the assessee for the purpose of running it, for a certain price, and he has to advance various sums of money to the liquidators and to invest capital, he cannot claim to include the losses incurred in previous years or the interet on the sums advanced to the liquidators or the interest on the capital invested by him in the working of the business in determining the "original cost" to the assessee of the machinery and buildings, when these items do not form part of the consideration for the sale in his favour. But sums spent by him in making additions to buildings and machinery must be taken into account in calculating the depreciation to which he would be entitled. (1939) I.T.R. 374. The word "assessee" in sec. 10 (2) of the Income-tax Act, in the case of an assessment under sec. 26 (2), based on the profits of a predecessor, must refer to such predecessor. The word

"assessee" cannot in such a case be interpreted as meaning the person by whom the income-tax assessed is actually payable. The successor is for the purposes of assessment under sec. 26 (2) to be assumed as his predecessor with respect to the previous year and the profits have to be computed on this assumption. For the purposes of notional assessment under sec. 20 (2), the assessee must be deemed to be his predecessor in the business and allowance for depreciation must be made on that basis. 1939 I.T.R. 374. See also 40 Bom.L.R. 343=I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 374=1938 Bom. 241. The word "assessee" in sec. 10 (2) (vi) must be read with the definition in sec. 2 (2) in its ordinary and natural meaning as meaning the person by whom income-tax is payable. Per Rangnekar, J.—Where the Court is concerned with a hypothetical assessment in the very first year of a successor taking over a business from his predecessor, apart from the fact that the words "original cost" would be inappropriate, it would be difficult to hold that depreciation should be allowed on the original cost to the successor and not on the original cost to the predecessor. I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 374=40 Bom.L.R. 343=1938 Bom. 241 (S.B.). See also 45 C.W.N. 681. It is not intended by the legislature that no allowance should be made for depreciation of "buildings, machinery, plant or furniture" belonging to the assessee merely because the assessee had acquired title to the property by bequest and not by purchase. The intention of the legislature in using the words "the original cost thereof to the assessee", is that the owner to be assessed should not receive an allowance for depreciation based on a capital value of the property higher than or different from the value of the property to the assessee at the time when he originally acquired it. If the assessee purchased the property, the best evidence of the value of the property to the assessee would be the price that he paid for it, but where the assessee acquires the property otherwise than by purchase (e.g., by bequest) "the original cost thereof to the assessee's means, and is, the real value of the property at the time when the assessee acquired it less the expenditure (probate charges actually paid) necessary for the purpose of completing the title. Semble: the word 'assessee' in sec. 10 (2) (vi) means the assessee as defined in sec. 2 (2) of the Act. 11 R. 514=1933 R. 348 (S.B.). See also (1940) 2 M.L.J. 95 (F.B.), 1939 L.T.R. 160; 45 C.W.N. 681; 1938 Bom. 241. The letting of a jute press at a rent is as much a business as the letting of a ship to freight or the letting of a motor car or any other kind of machine, or machinery for hire. The fact that the lessor originally intended to work the press himself is immaterial. The lessees are liable only for repairs and not for depreciation, and in no circumstances could they claim an allowance for depreciation under sec. 10 (2) (vi) because the buildings, machinery, etc., mentioned in that sub-section must be the property of the owner assessee and hence the owner assessee is entitled to claim allowance for depreciation in respect of buildings, machinery, etc., leased. (1926 M. 1032, Rel. on; 1 I.T.C. 50 and 1028 C. 456, Dist.) 1935 C. 344=62 C. 804=156 I.C. 394. An assessee who succeeds to a business in the middle of the previous year is entitled to have the current depreciation allowance permissible under sec. 10 (2) (vi) of the Income-tax Act computed on the original cost of the assets of such business to his predecessor only with regard to that portion of the previous year prior to the succession, and not for the whole of the previous year. For the post-succession period, current depreciation should be computed on the costs of the assets to the assessee, that is to say, on the basis of the price paid for the assets by him. 1941 I.T.R. 539=45 C.W.N. 681; 1941 I.T.R. 568. See also 40 Bom. L.R. 343=I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 374=1938 B. 241. To entitle an assessee to claim an allowance under sec. 10 (2) (vi) of the Income-tax Act on account of depreciation of buildings, machinery, plant, etc., "used for the purpose of the business", it is not necessary that there should have been an actual working of the machinery in the year of account. The word "used" may be given a wider meaning so as to embrace passive as well as active user. When machinery is kept ready for use at any moment in a factory under an express contract from which taxable profits are earned, the machinery can be said to be used for the purpose of the business which earns the profits, though it is not actually worked. If the contribution of the assessee to the business in question is the obligation to keep his machinery ready for actual use at any moment, and if the profits of the assessee during the year of assessment could not have been earned except by his maintaining his factory and machinery in good working order, that involves the user of the machinery and the factory, entitling the assessee to claim deduction under sec. 10 (2) (vi). SECS. 10 (2) (vi) AND 3.—The allowance for depreciation under sec. 10 (2) (vi) of the Income-tax Act is not dependent on a time factor; nor is the sub-section governed by sec. 10 (3) or by sec. 26 (2) of the Act. Sec. 10 (3) cannot deprive an assessee of what he is entitled to under sec. 10 (2) (vi) and sec. 26 (2) is not concerned with the computation of tax, but the person upon whom the liability is imposed. Where an assessee, a limited company, worked an oil mill in the year of account only for a period of two months and seven days in all, the assessee, on the wording of sec. 10 (2) (vi) would be entitled to a depreciation allowance as if the machinery had been worked throughout the year. Such an interpretation would not affect the Income-tax Authorities detrimentally, as the depreciation can only be allowed to the extent of the cost of the machinery, and the allowance of the full amount for the year of account would mean that the benefit conferred on the assessee by sec. 10 (2) (vi) would be more quickly worked out. 1946 Mad. 327=1946 I.T.R. 130=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 220.

SECS. 10 (2) (vi), 14, 19 AND 20.—The Income-tax Act is concerned with securing revenue to Government, and there can be nothing in it which would justify a company in retaining for itself income-tax in respect of its shares with no obligation to pass the amount on to Government. In the case of a company the tax has to be paid by the company direct and not on behalf of the shareholders. The provisions of sec. 20 of the Act, which are no doubt mandatory, only apply where the company is liable to tax. A company is assessed to income-tax on its profits and pays the tax direct. There is no express provision in the Act enabling a company which has paid tax to deduct from dividends the amount of such tax. But since income-tax has to be discharged out of profits before any distribution can be made, where tax has been paid, the company must apportion the burden amongst the different classes of shareholders, according to their legal rights; sec. 20 recognises a right in the company to deduct tax where tax has been or will be paid on the profits distributed. But where no income-tax is payable by the company there is no burden to adjust, and the company is not therefore entitled to make any deduction in respect of income-tax from the dividends paid. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 165=42 Bom.L.R. 57=1940 Bom. 97 (F.B.).

SECS. 10 (2) (vi), PROVISO (b) AND 26 (2). —Accumulated unabsorbed depreciation allowance of owner of business—If available to successor. The depreciation allowance to which an owner of business is entitled to under sec. 10 (2) (vi) being a deduction permitted to him in respect of wear and tear of his plant and machinery based on its cost to him, against the profits he may make when carrying on his business, is a statutory privilege personal to him so long as he carries on his business. When he ceases to pay income-tax on his business profits through ceasing to carry on his business, the permission to deduct ceases; it is not a right which passes to his successor under the Act, nor is it a right which he can transfer by agreement. Sec. 26 (2) of the Act says nothing as to any right of the successor to take advantage of the unabsorbed depreciation his predecessor, might have been entitled to. Its effect is simply to provide that as regards the year of assessment, where a succession has occurred in the ownership of the business in the previous year, the successor is made liable to pay income-tax for that year on the total profits actually earned by the business during the previous year (i.e.) the one in which the succession occurred—whether earned under the predecessor or the successor. 1941 I.T.R. 539=45 C.W.N. 681. The right to set-off past depreciation under sec. 10 (2) (vi), proviso (b) of the Act, only exists in the person who continues to derive profits in respect of the business concerned. 1940 Bom. 169. Per Kania, J.—The right to claim depreciation is not a personal right of the party who has parted with the ownership of the property in respect of which depreciation is to be assumed. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 287=42 Bom.L.R. 120=1940 Bom. 169. The allowance under sec. 10 (2) (vi), in addition to being given in respect of the depreciation of buildings, etc., being the property of the assessee, is to be calculated on the original cost of the assessee. But once the property has passed to the successor, he is the assessee. The depreciation is, in the words of the Act, to be calculated on the cost to him, and the cost to the predecessor is not thereafter to be adopted as the basis of depreciation. 48 C.W.N. 52= 56 L.W. 772=1943 A.L.J. 300=1943 I.T.R. 328=1943 P.C. 124=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 325 (P.C.). No doubt the word "assessee" in sec. 10 (2) must, when there is a successor to the business charged to tax, be read in certain of the paragraphs as including both predecessor and successor, but it does not follow as a consequence that the unabsorbed depreciation allowance of the predecessor must be added to that of the successor or when the only business concerned is that which is transferred, the business when transferred carries to the purchaser its unabsorbed allowance. The right to the unabsorbed allowance is not transferable by agreement nor does it pass to the successor under the Income-tax Act. 48 C.W.N. 52=1943 P.C. 124=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 325 (P.C.).

of the Income-tax Act does not deal with employees of any p rticular class nor contemplates the exclusion of any class; the business of a company or a corporation does not become an agreement to share profits unless the expenditure incurred in remunerating them falls outside the scope of Cl. (ix) of sec. 10 (2), as being either capital expenditure or not incurred for the purpose of earning profits or ga ns. The taxable profits or really net profits can only be discovered when every outlay has been provided for including expenditure out of income which has been incur ed solely for the purpose of earning the profits or gains. Where an outlay incurred in earning the profits of an assessee company is the remuneration payable to the secretaries, treasurers and managers of that company, and it is now disputed that the assessee could not earn profits or gains without secretaries, treaurers or managers, such expenditure has to be deducted from the profits and gains. It is necessary to scrutinize with care the sense in which the word "profits" or even the phrase "net profits" is employed. A sum which is to be regarded as "net profits" for the purpose of ascertaining the remuneration of the agents of a firm or the secretaries, treasurers and managers of a company, is only "net profits" in the different sense of being taxable, when such re muneration can be classed as outside the scope of expenditure, from income which is incurred so'ely for the purpose of earning profits. 1941 Rang.L.R. 181=1941 Rang. 145= 1941 I.T.R. 155. Dunkley, J.—When there is an agreement between the assessee corporation and the secretaries, treasurers and managers under which, before ascertaining the divisible profits of the assessee at all, the ecretaries, treasurers and managers are to receive upon a particular conventional basis a commission as remuneration for their services, there is no agreement for division of profits, because in order that it can be held to be an agreement for division of profi s, there must be a sort of joint venture and there must be one single profit fund for all purposes, not two profit funds to be ascertained for different purposes. Where there is one profit fund which has to be ascertained for the purpose of calculating the remuneration of the secretaries, treasurers and managers, and another and quite distinct profit fund to be ascertained (after the remuneration of the said employees has been fixed) for the purpose of calculating the p'ofits divisible among the shareholders, there is no case for divis'on of profits. In the second the sum payable as such remuneration must of necessity appear as an expenditure or a "revenue charge". Such remuneration is clearly an expenditure incurred by the assessee solely for the purpose of earning such profits or gains, wit.in Cl. (x) of sec. 10 (2) of the Income-tax Act. (Ibid).

(ix) of sec. 10 (2) does not include "agricultural income" and when the business of an assessee comprises both agricultural income, as defined in the Act, and o.her (taxable) income, the assessee is not entitled, under sec. 10 (2) (ix), to deduct from such other income the exptnditure incurred for the special purpose of earning the agricultural income. 1938 Rang.L.R. 346= 175 I.C. 287=1938 Rang.L.R. 346=175 I.C. 287=1938 Rang. 151 (S.B.).

SEC. 10 (2) (ix) (as amended in 1939—Applicabity.—The assessee, a Hindu father, and sons forming a Hindu joint family, and owning an ancestral firm of printe s and publishers, in order to secure full-time work for the press and in the interests of the business, entered into an arrangement with two competing and rival firms and persuaded them to quote uniform rates with the assessee in the various tenders given to obtain Government orders for printing and publishing works. Under this arrangement not to underbid each other, the assessee agreed to pay to his rivals certain sums of money, which were in the shape of a share in the estimated profits of the assessee in working the orders secured from Government, such estimate of profits being arrived at by deducting certain agreed cost contemplated to be incurred in the execution of the job from the amount of the tendered price. The actual profits or loss that may accrue were not taken into consideration in the estimate, and the payments were to be made when Government paid the bills. The assessee further paid certain amounts by way of subscription to various schools which agreed to prescribe for their classes school books published by the assessee. The amount of subscription to each school was calculated after taking into account the number of boys in each class for which the assessee's books would be prescribed. The assessee sought to deduct the amounts paid to his rival firms and the subscriptions paid to the schools from his taxable income under sec. 10 (2) (ix) of the Income-tax Act. Held, (1) that the payments made to the assessee's competing firms and the subscriptions paid to the schools were expenditure (not being in the nature of capital expenditure) incurred solely for the purpose of earning profits and gains of the business, and as such, allowable under sec. 10 (2) (ix), both before and after the amendment of 1939. 1946 I. T.R. 66.

PRINCIPLE OF SUB-SECTION.—It is not possible to lay down any hard and fast rule for determining whether a particular expenditure is capital expenditure or not. The question is one of fact. But the question whether a particular sum is or is not a permissible item of deduction is one of law or at any rate one of mixed law and fact. If it is found that the expenditure in question is or is not made, with a view to bringing into existence some asset or advantage for the enduring benefit of the trade the finding will be one of fact. 62 C. 87=39 C.W.N. 70. LEGAL EXPENSES.—In computing the profits and gains of the business of an assessee as a money-lender, the assessee is entitled to the deduction of money expended by him in defending a suit filed against him for damages for breach of contract in respect of a transaction which is not foreign to his money-lending business. 69 I.A. 15=46 C. W.N. 750=44 Bom.L.R. 778=1942 P.C. 11 =(1942) 2 M.L.J. 261 (P.C.). See also 1942 Cal. 297. See also 48 Bom.L.R. 141 (Expenses of election proceedings and suit thereon). The legal expenses incurred by the assessee company in connection with a suit brought by them against a rival company to restrain them from using a trade mark, to which the assessee had acquired exclusive right by long user, amount to a revenue expenditure and could properly be deducted under sec. 10 (2) (ix) in computing the taxable income of the assessee company from the business. It is indeed difficult to draw a line of demarcation between what is capital expenditure and revenue expenditure. The real test is not whether the money spent once and for all is for the enduring benefit of a trade but whether the money so spent makes an addition to the asset or brings an advantage for the enduring benefit of a trade or it served to remove a particular difficulty and to enable the assessee to continue to carry on the same type and high quality of business or to reserve the status and dividend-earning power of the company. The object of launching legal proceedings against the competitor was to displace a counterfeit trade mark which prejudicially affected the sale of the goods of the assessee company. The threat was not directed against the capital of the company but against its trade. The assessee was hit not as an industrialist but as a trader, and the expulsion of the counterfeit trade mark from the market by means of litigation in Court did not make any addition to the capital of the company or bring any additional advantage but only removed an impediment in the way of earning legitimate profits by sale of the goods produced by the assessee. I.L.R. (1942) Nag. 307=1943 N.L.J. 261= 1942 Nag. 219. See also 1942 Cal. 297= 1942 I.T.R. 95. The word "solely in sec. 10 (2) (ix) is related to the object of expenditure, the earning of profits and gains, and not to the profits and gains of the particular year in which the expenditure is made and deducted. While a trademark is a capital asset, an attack on a trade mark made by infringement is to be regarded not as an attack on a capital asset but rather on existing and future trade and on the value of stock-in-trade, existing and in course of manufacture and to be manufactured in future. 1943 I.T.R. 266. The costs incurred by an assessee in successfully defending a suit filed by the Government of the Federated Malaya States to recover from the assessee death duty on his father's estate is not an expenditure allowable in computing the foreign business income of the assessee where he was not sued as owner of the business and the amount was not expended wholly or exclusively for the purpose of his business. 1945 I.T.R. 183=1945 Mad. 186 =(1945) 1 M.L.J. 258. It is as necessary for a businessman to protect his business premises as his stock-in-trade. There is no distinction in principle between litigation expenses incurred to defend the business premises and those incurred to defend the stock in-trade. Both are incurred wholly and exclusively for the purposes of the business and do not result in the acquisition, improvement or alteration of a capital asset. Hence, legal expenses incurred in defending a pre-emption or other suit relating to immovable property acquired as a capital asset for business purposes, is expenditure not in the nature of capital expenditure, but a revenue expenditure within the meaning of sec. 10 (2) (xvi). 1945 I.T.R. 340=1945 Lah. 217 (F.B.). The legal expenditure incurred by an assessee in defending a suit against him for damages for infringement of a trade mark, including the costs of the plaintiff paid by him to compromise the suit, is not in the nature of capital expenditure but is a revenue expenditure and as such is an admissible deduction in computing his taxable income under sec. 10 (2) (xii). ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—The share of profits allowed to participating policy holders is conditional on profits being earned and cannot accurately be described as a payment made to earn profits. It assumes that profits have first come into existence. But profits on their coming into existence attract income-tax at that point, and the revenue is not concerned with the subsequent application of the profits. The share of profits so allotted to participating policy holders is not, therefore, a permissible deduction. In the subsequent year he sought to deduct those items from his income. Held, that the proper remedy for the assessee was to move the income-tax authorities and to show to their satisfaction the mistake he had made and to claim a refund for that year and not to ask for its deduction in the current year. 17 Pat. 102 =174 I.C. 580=19 Pat.L.T. 176=1938 Pat. 159. The payment was not made in order to carry on an already existing business and to earn a profits out of it. The payment to be made was merely for the purpose of starting that particular venture. Any expenditure made thereafter would of course be deductible. I.C. 202=1933 S. 145. A payment, the making of which is conditional on profits being earned cannot properly be described as an expenditure incurred for the purpose of earning such profits. A company carrying on the business of communication by wireless entered into an agreement with the Communications Company which was carrying on business of communication by cable. It was agreed between them that the Communications Company was to deliver all plant and machinery belonging to them to the Wireless Company, on the Wireless Company agreeing to carry on the business of the Communications Company in India in conjunction with its wireless business. It was also agreed that the Wireless Company was to give one-half of the nett profits of each year in consideration of the use of plant and the business given to it. The consideration money was not described in the agreement as rent for the use of plant. Tht agreement did not also contain several of the clauses which a lease of a plant of such character would naturally contain. The Income-tax Officer assessed the Wireless Company on the total income derived from the business and securities without making any allowance for the one-half profits which were paid by the Wireless Company to the Communications Company under the agreement. Held, that it was impossible to presume or infer that the half share of profits was being paid only as rent, or as a similar payment, in consideration merely of the use of plant. The sum was in truth made payable as part of the consideration in respect of a number of different advantages which the Wireless Company derived from the agreement. The agreement as a whole was much more like one for a joint adventure for a term of years between the Wireless Company and the Communications Company than one for a lease for that period. The consideration money was not therefore allowable to be deducted for the purpose of income-tax under sec. 10 (2) (ix), as it was not in the nature of expenditure solely incurred for the purpose of making or earning 'income, profits or gains'. 41 C.W.N. 869=I.L.R. Where a private company consisted of only two shareholders, who were also the sole directors, and where a very large sum was claimed to be deducted as fees for the directors: Held, (i) that the mere production of a resolution fixing the remuneration of the directors and vouchers for payment did not preclude further enquiry by the Commissioner and entitle the company to the deduction claimed; (ii) that having regard to the complete identity of the persons interested as shareholders in fixing the fees and of the persons to whom the fees were to be paid, and to the refusal of the directors to allow themselves to be examined as to how the amount was fixed, the company had failed to discharge the onus cast on them; and (iii) that the Magistrate was justified in holding it not proved that the amount was exclusively incurred in the production of the assessable income. 139 I.C. 649=63 M.L.J. 920 (P.C.). Whether a sum is received on capital or revenue account depends or may depend on the character of the business of the payer and upon other factors related thereto. The case of payer and payee must be considered upon an independent statement of the relevant facts proved in his presence, there being no overriding principle of law that the Income-tax Authorities are entitled to tax once at least on every payment. Where the assessees paid to their agents in 1928 a certain amount as compensation for the loss of their office as agents to the assessees and the payment came to be considered by the Income-tax Authorities in 1929-30 and in that year the assessee put forward the payment as a permissible deduction from their gross profits: Held, that the claim should be allowed. 37 C.W.N. 430=60 C. 840=1933 C. 777. See also 41 C.W.N. 46; 1945 I.T.R. 457. In the case of a brick field, which was very similar to that of a quarry or mine, the proprietor of the land or the lessee was not a mere purchaser of raw materials—in which case the assessee would be entitled to a deduction of the price of such materials from the total income realised by the sale of the bricks during the year—but was a person who had acquired certain rights in the land, and the amount invested by him must therefore be treated as capital expenditure within the meaning of sec. 10 (2) (ix) of the Income-tax Act, and therefore the assessee was not entitled to deduct the amount claimed as expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning such profits or gains under sec. 10 (2) (ix), or otherwise as a depreciation in the value of the land. The assessee, carrying on business in chanks and chank beads, acquired from certain zamindars the exclusive right to collect conch shells from certain conch beds belonging to those zamindars, for a period of years, the consideration fixed for the grant of the right being payable in instalments. The assessee claimed that the moneys paid by him in instalments were in the nature of expenses which he was entitled to deduct under sec. 10

(2) (ix) of the Income-tax Act, for the purpose of arriving at his assessable income. Held, that the sums paid by the assessee for the right to collect conch shells (the means of obtaining the material for his business and not the material itself), were expenses of a capital nature and were not therefore a permissible deduction. 1939 I.T.R. 652. See also 67 M.L.J. 550. The assessee was a manufacturer of saltpetre and common salt and the crude saltpetre that he manufactured at different places was brought to his refinery and analysed into potassium nitrate and sodium chloride. He acquired salt-bearing lands in several places for the purpose of manufacturing crude salt-petre on short term leases varying from one to two years. He employed his own labourers on the sites who scraped and collected the salt-bearing earth and by an elaborate process of evaporation obtained the crude saltpetre which was sent to the refinery. The assessee claimed to deduct the cost of acquiring the sites under sec. 10 (2) (iv) and was allowed to do so as a revenue expenditure for some years, but in 1936-1937, the Income-tax Department disallowed the claim on the ground that it was a capital expenditure, because the sum spent neither represented the price of raw material nor rent of land. Held, that the asset acquired was not even a mine in the true sense, and got exhausted in the course of a year or so and was acquired with several other similar assets for the sole purpose of providing raw material for a manufactory and not for the purpose of producing a marketable commodity for sale, and the expenditure incurred was not a capital expenditure but a revenue expenditure. (1945) I.T.R. 157=1945 Lah. 137 (F.B.).

The assessee was a manufacturer of saltpetre. Crude saltpetre was extracted from land, acquired for that specific purpose. The earth containing saltpetre was scraped and brought to the manufactory where it was boiled in water. The earth was allowed to settle down and the water was separated in boxes where it crystallized. The assessee acquired leases of lands from which crude saltpetre was to be extracted and he claimed that the rent paid by him in acquiring the leases should be allowed as a business expenditure under sec. 10 (2) (xii) of the Income-tax Act. The Income-tax Department rejected the claim holding that the expenditure was in the nature of capital expenditure.

Held, that the leases were really contracts for the sale of crude saltpetre deposits that emerged on the soil of the grantor and a licence to the purchaser to enter on the soil to collect those deposits, the purchaser acquiring no rights in the land itself; the moneys spent by the lessee in acquiring the leases of the lands in question were therefore an allowable deduction under sec. 10 (2) (xii). 1946 I.T.R. 277.

Where a saltpetre manufacturer takes leases of land containing deposits of crude saltpetre, on the ground that it is cheaper to remove the deposits from the lands than to purchase crude saltpetre from the market, the amounts spent by him in acquiring the leases of lands must be treated as revenue expenditure allowable as a deduction under sec. 10 (2) (xii). (1946) I.T.R. 181. See also (1946) I.T.R. 277.

The expression "rents, royalties, premiums or any other profits arising from property" in sec. 5 (f) of the Income-tax Ordinance of Northern Rhodesia, 1926, implies that the property from which the rents, royalties, premiums or other profits arise, remains in substantially the same condition in the possession of its owner, and is not consistent with the property itself being transferred. 223 I.C. 164=1946 P.C. 25 (P.C.). For the purpose of assessment to income-tax, the proceeds of sale of an asset are brought into account if the sale is in the course of the tax-payer's trade or business. Thus if it is his trade or business to make and to sell, or to acquire and to sell, shoe-making machinery then the proceeds of sale of each machinery are brought into account; if it is his trade to make and sell shoes and for that purpose, he owns and uses shoe-making machinery, then if he sells such machinery, the proceeds of such sale are not brought into account. In the former case, the machinery is sometimes called "floating" or "circulating" capital; in the latter "fixed" capital. In the former case, the gain or profit arising from the sale cannot be ascertained until its cost has been ascertained; in the latter no question of cost arises; the receipts are sometimes referred to as "capital receipts" and no tax is payable. Where the business of the assessee is to acquire and dispose of mining rights, the proceeds of a sale or other disposition of such rights are not chargeable to tax without any deduction for the cost of acquisition. Rather it would seem that the ordinary rule must apply and that no gain or profit can be said to arise under sec. 5 (a) of the Income-tax Ordinance of Northern Rhodesia, 1926, unless and until a balance has been struck between the cost of acquisition and the proceeds of sale. Nor is it material that in dealing with the mineral rights the assessee has retained an interest either by way of a possible reverter of the property or by the shareholding in a company to which the assessee made special grant. 223 I.C. 161=1946 P.C. 25 (P.C.). A minor sued the assessee for a declaration that his share, i.e., 1/8 in the mortgaged property, was not affected by the decree obtained by the assessee. Pending the decision in the suit, the mortgagee deposited a certain amount, i.e., 1/8 of the purchase-money at which the property was purchased by him in sale, held in execution of his decree. The case was decided only more than two years after the purchase. Held, that the assessee was to be assessed on the whole of the purchase-money as being the income in the year of purchase and that it was not permissible for him to deduct from such amount the amount deposited in computing the assesset's profits or gains for the year following the year of purchase. 60 I.A. 133 =12 P. 305=1933 P.C. 101=64 M.L.J. 544 (P.C.). It would make no difference that the annual sum should be made payable out of a particular receipt of the business, irrespective of the earning of any profit from the business as a whole. CL. (xi): BAD DEBT—DEBT—WHEN BECOMES BAD—QUESTION OF FACT.—It is purely a question of fact as to when a debt becomes bad. The onus of proving that a debt has become bad and when it has become bad is on the assessee. 1941 I.T.R. 222. See also 1940 I.T.R. 69. A bad debt presupposes the existence of a debt, and if there was no debt due to the assessee at any time there can be no bad debt. A claim to refund of customs duty paid under protest in respect of which a suit is filed cannot be considered to be a debt due to the plaintiff; and if the suit is ultimately dismissed the unsuccessful plaintiff cannot claim that the amount of the claim in the suit should be deducted as a bad debt which became bad when the suit was dismissed. (1945) I.T.R. 336. Although the Act nowhere in terms authorises the deduction of bad debts of a business, such a deduction is necessarily allowable. In order to permit of deduction the loss must be in the nature of a commercial or professional loss which means a loss which it was either reasonable or necessary to incur in carrying on the particular trade or profession concerned. 1941 Rang.L.R. 529=1941 I.T.R. 339=1941 Rang. 185 (S.B.). It is not possible to argue that merely because a debtor had become insolvent therefore the debt was irrecoverable or to what extent it was so irrecoverable. This would be a matter which would turn on a variety of circumstances which would include the amount of property at the disposal of the insolvent, the skill with which the sale was conducted, which in the case of official auctions might be presumed, and on circumstances which nobody could entirely foresee in the future, such as the presence of bidders and the amount of property which could be attached and sold in insolvency proceedings which again might be a varying factor. The market value of a debt in 1933 could not be determined by the amount received as dividend in 1936. 1941 I.T.R. 202. See also 67 I.A. 71=44 C.W.N. 373=I.L.R. The substance of the matter as distinguished from the strict legal position cannot be regarded in revenue cases. 53 L.W. 738=1941 Mad. 492=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 776 (F.B.). In 1930 the assessee with a number of other co-creditors seized the property of the debtor and paid themselves to the extent of 8 annas in the rupee. This transaction released the debtor from all further liability. The assessee prepared his account on the mercantile system. In the year of assessment the assesee claimed to deduct Rs. 1,600 which remained unpaid, from the total assessable income as a bad debt. It was found however that subsequent to the year 1930, the assessee did not make return of interest on this debt. Held, that the debt ceased to be a liability in the year 1930 and become a bad debt from the point of view of the assessee in that year and hence the assessee subsequently in the year of assessment was not entitled to treat the sum of Rs. 1,600 as a bad debt and claim deduction thereof. 1938 Pat. 577. A and B who carried on a joint business separated and divided between themselves the assets and liabilities of the joint business. Thereafter each carried on his separate business which had nothing to do with the former joint business. B during the year of assessment claimed that an outstanding debt assigned to him in partition with A was irrecoverable and hence should be exempted. Held, that the loss claimed was in the nature of a capital loss and hence could not be exempted. 1938 Cal. 636. bad debts disallowed as premature—Claim in succeeding year—Decision that debts had become bad long before—Legality—Finding of fact not to be interfered by High Court. 1941 Pat. 527=194 I.C. 464. Where the book-debts taken over by an assessee turn out to be irrecoverable, the loss incurred by the assessee is a capital loss and not a trading loss. The determination of this matter is entirely a question of law once the facts have been ascertained. 1941 I.T.R. 685= 1941 Rang. 273 (S.B.). The assessee, the manager of a Hindu joint family trading in timber, etc., and running a money-lending business, carried on before 1933, a separate money-lending business in partnership with a third person. In 1933, the latter business was dissolved and the assets were divided. As part of its share the family of the assessee received certain promissory notes by certain debtors of the dissolved partnership and these debts were entered in the books of the family relating to its own money-lending business. The promissory notes were renewed from time to time, and interest paid to the family by the debtors was included in the profits of the family business and assessed to income-tax. In the year of account 1941-42, the assessee wrote off three of these debts as irrecoverable and claimed to deduct the total amount of the three debts (Rs. 8,855) in calculating his assessable income under sec. 10 (2) (xi) of the Income-tax Act. Held, that the sum of Rs. 8,855 was allowable as a deduction under sec. 10 (2) (xi) of the Act. (1946) I. T.R. 227=59 L.W. 254=1946 Mad. 494= (1946) 1 M.L.J. 362. A money-lending business, in which two brothers were the partners, advanced a sum of 5,000 dollars on a second mortgage to a customer of the firm. As the chances of recovery of the amount were very doubtful, it was written off in the books of the firm to 5 dollars. On dissolution of the partnership in 1939, each brother took a half share of the assets and undertook to pay half the liabilities. Thereafter one of the brothers, who had been the managing partner in the dissolved firm, started the assessee firm in 1940, consisting of himself and his four sons who formed a joint family. In the books of the new firm, a sum of 2.5 dollars, representing the half share of the partner in the assets of the old dissolved firm, was shown as an item. In the assessment in respect of the year of account commencing from 13-4-1940, the assessee firm claimed to deduct the sum of 2,500 dollars as a bad debt in calculating the profits and gains, that amount being a trade loss, being one-half of the mortgage debt of 5,000 dollars, written off in the books of the old firm. Held, that the assessee would not be entitled to this deduction unless it represented a trade loss incurred during the year of account. As the assessee was entirely a different entity from the dissolved partnership, and as the value of the asset in question so far as the assessee was concerned was really nil, it had sustained no loss in the year of account in that connection and the assessee was not therefore entitled to the deduction claimed. 1945 I.T.R. 290 =1925 Mad. 365=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 118. By a registered deed of 4—8—1921, the assessee's father entered into an agreement with K to do some business. The assessee's father was the principal and K agent. Later on when the business was closed all the assets were taken over by the assessee's father and the assessee succeeded to the business of his father including these assets. S, a customer of the business, owed a debt in the form of a bill which was assigned by K to the assessee on 30-4-1925. The assessee suffered a loss in respect of this transaction, and the loss occurred in the "previous" year, i.e., in August, 1936, the assessment year being 1938-39. K as agent of the business had supplied goods to M who owed the value of the same and M had pledged some shares. The shares were assigned to K who assigned them to the assessee on 30—4—1925. The assessee also suffered a loss on this account as the companies whose shares they were, had gone into liquidation and the assessee therefore wrote it off as a bad debt in the year of assessment. Held, that the losses were business losses and not capital losses and the assessee was entitled to deduct the same from his total income as bad debts. 22 Pat. 727=(1944) I.T.R. 116=1944 Pat. 107. The assessees were the executors of a deceased who was one of the directors of a Bank which went into liquidation in 1935 and which was placed in charge of an Official Liquidator. In the course of liquidation, misfeasance proceedings were taken out against the directors under sec. 235 of the Companies Act, and the deceased director offered to settle the matter and paid Rs. 35,000 to the Liquidator whereupon the proceedings were dropped. In the return submitted by the executors of the deceased for the assessment year 1939-40, they claimed a deduction of this sum against the income of the corresponding year. Held, that the deduction claimed was not permissible under sec. 10 (2) (xii) or sec. 12 (2). (1943) I.T. R. 478. A loss or expenditure connected with or arising out of a trade must, at any rate, amount to something in the nature of a loss or expenditure which is contemplatable and in the nature of a commercial loss or expenditure. The assessee who had entered into a contract with other traders in the same line of business under which his goods were to be sold at specified rates committed breach of the contract and sold goods at lower rates to the detriment of the other parties to the contract. Consequently in an action brought by the other parties for breach of the contract the assessee had to pay them damages and costs. The assessee claimed to deduct the amount of damages and costs awarded against him as business expenditure under sec. 10 (2) (xii) of the Income-tax Act. Held, that the award of damages which followed the assessee's dishonest act in disregarding the undertaking given by him did not constitute an expenditure falling within sec. 10 (2) (xii); and hence could not be deducted. 1943 I.T.R. 454=56 L.W. 515=1943 Mad. 670=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 274. Where an assessee makes good as guarantor on default of repayment by the borrower of the amount borrowed, the assessee cannot claim to be entitled to deduct this amount in his assessment under sec. 10 (2) (xii). But this does not mean that he is not entitled to the deduction. The amount represents a loss incurred by the assessee in carrying on his money-lending business and therefore he is entitled to the deduction as such. Further, by reason of the practice among Nattukottai Chettiars in the matter of such mutual guarantees the debt can only be regarded as a business loss. 59 L.W. 225 (1)=1946 Mad. 508=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 330.

CL. (xi): BAD DEBT—ONUS OF PROOF.—A claim to any of the allowances mentioned in sec. 10 (2) is a claim which the assessee must prove. Where the assessee claims deduction of an amount as bad debts, he must produce satisfactory evidence (1) of the nature and character of the debts, (2) that they were really and justly due to the assessee firm, and (3) that they became bad in the year of account. If the debt is in respect of another business, the assessee cannot claim deduction of the same as bad debt. 58 C. 1446=1931 Cal. 683=35 C.W.N. 589 (S B).

(e) where an asset is used in the business after it ceases to be used for scientific research related to that business, and a claim for an allowance under clause (vi) or clause (vii) is made in respect of that asset, the actual cost to the assessee of the asset shall be treated as reduced by the amount of any deduction allowed under this clause;

(f) clause (b) of the proviso to clause (vi) shall apply in relation to deductions allowable under this clause as it applies in relation to deductions allowable in respect of depreciation;

(g) if any question arises under clause (xii, clause (xiii) or this clause as to whether, and if so to what extent, any activity constitutes or constituted or any asset is or was being used for, scientific research, the Central Board of Revenue shall refer the question to the prescribed authority, whose decision shall be final;

Explanation.—In clause (xii), clause (xiii) and this clause—

(i) "scientific research" means any activities in the fields of natural or applied science for the extension of knowlege;

(ii) references to expenditure incurred on scientific research do not include any expenditure incurred in the acquisition of rights in or arising out of, scientific research, but, save as aforesaid, include all expenditure incurred for the prosecution of, or the provision of facilities for the prosecution of, scientific research;

(iii) references to scientific research related to a business or class of business include—

(a) any scientific research which may lead to or facilitate an extension of that businessess or, as the case may be, all business of that class:

The deposit was exacted as a condition of the assessee being given an agency which they hoped to manage profitably. The purpose of being permitted to engage in such a business must be considered to be a purpose of securing an enduring benefit of a capital nature and the deposit could not, upon a true view of the terms of the agreement and the circumstances of the case, be regarded as an expenditure made in the course of carrying on an existing agency or any other business. 67 I.A. 71=I.L.R. SEC. 10 (3). The words "not wholly used for the purposes of the business, profession, etc". in sec. 10 (3) do not mean not used throughout the year or during the whole of the year in question. They mean that the building, machinery, etc., have not been used exclusively for the purpose of the profession or vocation, that is to say, they have been used for other purposes also. There is no justification for the view that if the machinery is not used throughout the year, then the period for which it has worked should be calculated and depreciation should be allowed in proportion to such period. 24 Pat. 630=1945 I.T.R. 415=1946 Pat. 3. There is nothing in sub-cl. (3), sec. 10, to suggest that interest paid on the initial capital invested in a firm cannot be the subject-matter of an allowance. Where therefore a capitalist partner advances money to the firm on condition that interest would be paid to him, whether the business of the firm results in profit or not and is in no way made dependent on the profits, if any, earned, the firm is entitled to claim an allowance for the interest paid on such capital. It is immaterial whether such capital was advanced as initial capital or subsequently there is no distinction between capital borrowed and capital contributed. Capital contributed by a capitalist partner is capital borrowed from him by the firm. 144 I.C. 353=1933 S. 192.

paid as a Union Board rate in Nalhati under the provisions of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act in respect of the building within the union occupied by the assessee and used for the purpose of the business, as an allowable deduction in computing the profits of the business under sec. 10. The crown in resisting the claim and while admitting that the Union Board rate was a local rate and that it was not levied on the profits of or gains of the Nalhati business, maintained that the Union Board rate was assessed at a proportion of or otherwise on the basis of the profits or gains of the Nalhati business, business, and as such the case would fall under sec. 10 (4). Held, that in the absence of the necessary powers and machinery, which are not provided in the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, the estimate of the annual income from business can only proceed on a rough guess. Hence, the inclusion of this element of business income as part of the "circumstances" of the assessee as referred to in sec. 38 (1) of the Act with a view to the imposition of the union rate does not fall within sub-sec. (4) of sec. 10 of the Income-tax Act. When it is conceded that union rate is not "levied on profits or gains" which clearly implies an ascertainment of such profits or gains, the words "assessed. . . . on the basis of any such profits or gains" in the latter part sub-sec. (4) of sec. 10 must also be so limited. No such ascertainment of the profits and gains of the business can be undertaken for the purposes of the union rate and hence the argument of the crown fails. In any case where the union rate is not wholly referable to premises occupied for the purpose of a business or businesses, the assessee on establishing the portion of the rate which is so referable, would be entitled to deduct such portion be entitled to entitled to deduct such portion under head (ix) of sec. 10 (1). 50 C.W.N. 240=(1946) 6 M.L.J. 70 (P.C.). See also 1943 I.T.R. 499=1944 Cal. 125.

See 11 p. 47=1932 P. 102 (Salary of receiver and manager appointed to manage zemindari estate if and how far can be deducted as expenditure incurred for earning income.) (Ibid.) It is not a correct proposition of law that, as soon as a property is mortgaged the realisations from that property no longer wholly belong to its owner, the mortgagor; nor is it correct to say that a portion of the rents and profits legally belongs to the mortgagee on account of interest and that the balance, if any, alone belongs to the mortgagor. In an assessment of busti lands under sec. 12 of the Income-tax Act, the incom is not to be computed after deducting the interest on the mortgages on such properties from the gross realisations in cases where the mortgages have not been made for purposes of the said properties, but for raising a loan for some other purposes of the assessee. The interest payable in respect of the mortgages cannot in such a case, by any stretch of language, be accurately described as expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning the income which is derived from the busti lands: 63 C. 1157=63 C. 1157=1937 Cal. 369.

The assessee granted a mining lease of some colliery lands upon, inter alia, these terms:—(1) the lease to be for a period of 20 years; (2) the lessees should be at liberty to abandon the lands at any time before the period of the lease expired, provided they paid up in full the rents and royalty due to the lessor at the time of abandonment. Before the expiration of the lease an agreement was made between the parties by which it was, inter alia, agreed that (1) the lessees undertook to continue to hold the lease and to be bound by the terms and conditions thereof so long as any coal remained workable, (2) in the event of any coal remaining unworked for any reason whatsoever, royalty thereof should be payable to the lessor in the same manner as if the coal had been worked, as soon as the said coal should have been abandoned. After some years, the parties disagreed as to the method of working the coal mines, and the lessees proposed to relinquish the coal mines, and the lessor (asessee) assessed the royalty on the coal left unworked at Rs. 2,28,000 and asked the lessees to pay Rs. 1,50,000. Ultimately matter was settled by an instrument of surrender made between the parties by which the lessees paid to the assessee a sum of one lakh of rupees, and relinquished the coal mines. Held, the assessee did not receive this sum as consideration for terminating the lease and the agreement, but as royalty on abandoned coal pursuant to a term in the agreement, and as such it was neither a capital receipt nor a casual receipt within the contemplation of sec. 4 (3) (vii). 50 C. W.N. 493. See also 1945 Pat. 338.

PRIVATE VENTURE—LOAN ADVANCED TO GET SPECIFIC AMOUNT—WHETHER AMOUNTS TO PROFITS OF BUSINESS.—The assessee, who was a tin mine owner and worker, lent certain sums of money to W to enable him to work a tin area. Subsequently, he again advanced a loan to W in order to enable the latter to do certain work and sell the mine and W executed an agreement by which he agreed to pay the assessee a third of the consideration which might be realised by the sale. Held, that the transaction was a private venture and not part of the assessee's business and was a receipt of a casual nature under sec. 4 (iii) (7) and not profits or gains under sec. 10 or sec. 12. 11 R. 454=1934 R. 4.

SEC. 12 (2).—When an expenditure is made, not only once and for all, but with a view to bringing into existence an asset or an advantage for the enduring benefit of a trade, such expenditure must properly be attributed not to revenue but to capital. But when the expenditure is incurred for the maintenance and preservation of an existing asset, it is not a capital expenditure, but an income or revenue expenditure. The assessee, a well known businessman, who was elected a member of the Local Board for the western area of the Reserve Bank of India, had to defend a suit brought against him to declare his election invalid and he defended it successfully, incurring an expenditure of Rs. 7,500, by way of legal expenses, in the year of accounts. Held, that the amount of Rs. 7,500, incurred as legal expenses, should be allowed as a deduction under sec. 12 (2) of the Indian Income-tax Act. 48 Bom.L. R. 141=1946 B. 401.

The assessee, the owner of a Zamindari, was assessed to pay an annual jama or Government revenue. He was sought to be assessed to income-tax in respect of non-agricultural income, i.e., royalty derived from coal-fields situated within the Zamindari. The assessee claimed that in assessing such income he should be permitted to deduct the jama paid by him but the Income-tax Department disallowed the claim on the ground that it was not a permissible deduction under sec. 12 (2). Held, that the assessee was entitled to claim deduction on account of the jama paid which could be attributed to the coal-fields from which the royalties included in the assessable income arose. 1945 I. T.R. 17=1945 P.W.N. 406=1945 Pat. 338.

SEC. 12 (3).—A hire purchase system is nothing but a sale or an agreement to sell with an extended period of instalments. It is certainly not a case of hiring in which the lessor is enitled to claim depreciation allowance and the lessee would be excluded from so doing. Motor vehicles which have been disposed of on a hire-purchase system cannot be held to be "machinery let on hire" under sec. 12 (3). (1945) I.T.R. 240.

SEC. 13.—Wholly arbitrary assessment by Income-tax Officer is not justified by the section. 7 L. 201=1926 L. 161. The basis and the manner of computation under sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act have to be obviously judicial and legal, and not arbitrary or capricious. "Local reputation" can hardly be said to be a judicial basis or legal basis under sec. 13, and an assessment which is based entirely on local reputation of the conditions of the business during the year is vitiated, and cannot be said to be based on evidence on which the Income-tax Department is empowered to act and is not in accordance with the provisions of sec. 13. 1939 I.T.R. 607. See also 58 A. 200=1936 A. 286. Accounts suspicious and unreliable—Absence of vouchers for purchases, suspicious entries and suppression of proceeds of retail sales—Accounts disregarded and profits estimated on basis of overage profits made by other dealers in similar business and on income of previous years—If justified and legal. 1939 I.T.R. 647. of the Income-tax Officer as to method of accounting—Finality of. See 94 I.C. 128= 1926 L. 446. Per Sulaiman, C.J. and Niamatullah, J.—The Assistant Commissioner is not authorised under sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act or otherwise to make private enquiries and to take the result of such enquiries into account in making the assessment under sec. 13. Per Bajpai, J., contra.—The Assistant Commissioner is auhorised under sec. 13 and also otherwise to make private enquiries, but he is not permitted to take the result of such enquiries into account in making the assessment, without giving an opportunity to the assessee to meet them. 38 A. 200=1936 A. 286 (S.B.). See also 1939 I. T.R. 607. Sec. 13 relates merely to the method of accounting, and under this section, though the Income-tax Officer may adopt a method of accounting which he prefers where the assessee has no regular or proper method he cannot reject the assessee's books. Nor can the books of the assessee be rejected merely because they do not relate to his foreign business also. I. L.R. (1939) Mad. 397=181 I.C. 97=1939 I. L.R. (1939) Mad. 397=181 I.C. 97=1939 Mad. 357=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 402. The fact that the Income-tax Officer has justifiably proceeded on a basis and in a manner of his own in computing the assessee's income, profits and gains, does not exempt his computation from examination on appeal, and if it appears that he has adopted a wrong method, the assessment may be set aside. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=1933 P.C. 108=64 M. L.J. 612 (P.C.). In order to compute the income in a particular year, the Income-tax Officer was entitled to take into account both the interest entered for that year by transference from deposit register and the interest actually received in that year. 60 I.A. 146=12 Pat. 318=1933 P.C. 108=64 M.L. J. 612 (P.C.). The provisions of sec. 13 to the effect that income, profits or gains shall be computed in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed by the assessees do not imply that the assessees must necessarily adopt the financial year as the account period or must adopt a method which would avoid two dates of the 31st March falling within one accounting period. 164 I.C. 316=1936 L. 546. Where an assessee keeps his books on a cash basis and the officer accepts that basis the calculation must be based on actual receipt in the year of computation. 1930 A.L.J. 549=1936 A. 279. It is perfectly open to an assessee to change a method of accounting which he has regularly employed for some years at any period in any particular. He can thus change from a mercantile basis to a cash basis, provided that the change is not merely for a sacual period. If a change is made, it must be at some definite moment of time and must be in good faith. 60 B. 1003=38 Bom.L.R. 934 =1936 B. 397. Sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act relates to a method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee for his own purposes and does not relate to a method of making up the statutory return for assessment to income-tax. The section clearly makes such a method of accounting a compulsory basis of computation, unless, in the opinion of the Income tax Officer, the income, profits and gains cannot properly be deduced therefrom. It is not a correct view of the section to say that the Income-tax Officer is prima facie entitled to accept the profits shown by the accounts where there is a method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee; it is the duty of that officer, where there is such a method of accounting, to consider whether the income, profits and gains can properly be deduced therefrom, and to proceed according to his judgment on that question. 65 I.A. 1=1 L.R. 1938) Bom. 239=42 C.W.N. 194=40 Bom.L.R. 227=1938 P.C. 1=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 1 (P.C.). When the income-tax authorities had once adopted the method of assessing interest on the accrued or mercantile basis, it would not be open to them to turn round and adopt a cash basis when the interest was subsequently realised by the assessee, so as to get over the period of limitation prescribed by sec. 34. Per Manohar Lal, J.—What the law required the Income-tax Officer to see is not a system of account to be kept by the assessee in respect of a particular loan which may have been omitted in that account, but the system of accounting which the assessee regularly adopts for his purposes with respect to all the loans which he discloses. If any loans are deliberately left out from the account regularly kept by the assessee, it would then be open to the Income-tax Department to disbelieve the accounts and to proceed in any way they choose by acting under the proviso to sec. 13, but on exercising a judicial discretion. 1940 P. 239=185 I.C. 83= I.T.R. 522. An assessee is, no doubt, at liberty to adopt any system of account that he likes, but it must be one that clearly reflects his income in respect of the fixed period of the "previous year" and one regularly adopted by him for the purposes of his business. Under the mercantile system, entries are made in the accounts on the date, not of receipt or expenditure of money, but on the date of transaction irrespective of the date on payment; ordinarily as soon as the transaction is entered in account books, the assessee can be said to have received the sum, whether it is actually realized or not. Where, therefore, after entering such transaction, an assessee credits that sum to suspense account, because he is not hopeful of recovering that sum. Held, that this crediting to the suspense account is not based on any regularl system and as such the sum credited to suspense account cannot be excluded in computing income that is taxable. 168 I.C. 549=18 Laa. 306=1937 L. 338 (F.B.). Where the assessee, a building rontractor has been maintaining accounts on the mercantile system of accounting, he is liable to be assessed on the profits shown in the accounts even though a portion of the amount spent by him in making the constructions has not been realised. 1939 I.T.R. 513. Where the creditor does not allocate the sum between principal and interest but records it in a general ledger as suspense, the assessing officer is justified in the absence of any evidence of appropriation to interest, wherein a particular payment did not exceed the amount due in respect of interest, in assuming that the ordinary course of business had been followed and treating it as interest. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (S.B.). Where an assessee receives payment in respect of a mortgage decree, but he does not credit the amount towards outstanding interest due to him, the Income-tax Officer is entitled to treat the amount as first applicable to the outstanding interest and assess on that amount. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). When a mortgagee purchases at auction under a decree of the Court the property which was the subject of the mortgage, he can be said to have received the equivalent of the interest due on his mortgage. (1929 P. 476, Ref.) 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318=1933 P.C. 108=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). Where a method of accounting is accepted by the Income-tax Officer in one transaction, he cannot object to the same method, in similar other transactions. 1928 N. 102. Stock valued at cost price—Market price less in year of assessment—Assessee not claiming loss on that head—Cost price should be considered. 12 P. 318. It is unjust that, in treating the book income as the actual income, the losses which would have been deducted if the book income had been treated as the actual income in a particular year by the assessee, should not be deducted. That being so, the assessee is entitled to deduct from his estimated income the actual losses that may have been suffered in a particular year and the amount of irrecoverable debts that should have been discovered and could have been discovered in a particular year. 1929 A. 819=124 I. C. 467. The procedure of the assessing authority is a judicial one and he ought to act on evidence. But where money is brought into cash account, he has the right to require a satisfactory explanation of how and why it came in; and in the absence of a satisfactory explanation or if he receives an explanation which he cannot believe, the assessing officer is entitled to regard the account as unsatisfactory. If he finds that a money-lender is in the habit of showing in his books that loans carrying interest have been repaid without interest or that a loan secured by a note has been renewed by a new note without any provision for interest, he is at liberty to consider the accounts unsatisfactory. 1937 Lah. 919. In the case of an assessment under the Income-tax Act, the only person who has knowledge of all facts in regard to the maintenance of accounts is the assessee himself. The burden in the first instance is always on his to establish that accounts asked for are not maintained, and his attempt to prove that point may always be met by reliance on circumstances indicating that the evidence given or led by him cannot be relied upon. The Income-tax Officer is entitled to disbelieve improbable statements and to ask for something more to be produced by the assessee which will satisfy him that the accounts demanded are not, in fact, maintained. 16 Luck. 579=1941 I.T.R. 225=1941 Oudh 279. See also 1937 Lah. 721.

LANDS TAKEN OVER IN LIQUIDATION OF DEBTS DUE TO ASSESSEE—PROFIT AND GAIN, HOW COMPUTED.—No doubt the value of the land taken over in liquidation of debts due to the assessee as set out in the assessee's books of account may be treated as prima facie evidence of its true value, and the assessee normally would have no cause of complaint if the Income-tax Authorities accepted for income-tax purposes the value which the assessee himself had put upon his assets in his books of account. But the Income-tax Officer must find what are the real profits and gains of the business in the accounting year. Thus, if the estimated value of the lands in the accounting year is greater than the principal sum than was lent, the Income-tax Authorities will be entitled to treat the balance, after deducting an amount eqiuvalent to the loan, as representing profits and gains accruing from the transaction, and to assess the same as income chargeable with income-tax. But if the estimated value of the lands is less than the amount of the principal sum that has been lent, no tax will be chargeable in the accounting year in which the lands are transferred, although it may be that the estimated value of the lands in that year exceeds the amount due to the assessee in respect of interest on the loan. But as the assessment is made upon the footing that the transaction has been completed during the accounting year. the assessee is not entitled to have the value of the lands reassessed in any other accounting year except that in which the lands are sold by him, and until the sale takes place the final adjustment of the assessment must necessarily remain in suspense. 12 R. 483=1934 R. 274 (S.B.). If the assessee gives no information whatever of the sources of the credits in his bank accounts, the Income-tax Officer is authorised to act under sec. 13 in making the assessment. As no question of law arises in such case, a reference under sec. 66 (2) cannot be made. 50 C.W.N. 377. On 12—2—1891, A, an Oswal Jain, the founder of the assessee's firm, died leaving a widow who on 26—2—1891 adopted a son M. M died on 5—6—1895 without issue but leaving his widow S. On 31—8—1896, S adopted a boy, under an agreement with father to the effect that she should not be divested of the estate of her husband. The adopted boy died in July, 1915 and on 14—4—1918, S gave the business and its assets to her daughter in-law, who in May, 191., adopted the assessee, Mohanmull. He had two sons and two daughters. S died in 1923 and in October, 1930, her daughter-in-law gave to each of her grandsons Rs. 1,50,000 and to their mother (the assessee's wife) Rs. 1,00,000. She died in 1931. With the monies given to the sons of the assessee

Provided that, if no method of accounting has been regularly employed, or if the method employed is such that, in the opinion of the Income-tax Officer, the income, profits and gains cannot properly be deduced therefrom, then the computation shall be made upon such basis and in such manner as the Income-tax Officer may determine.

and to his wife, three businesses were started in their respective names. The assessee succeeded to the main business in 1931 on the death of his adoptive mother. From 1931 to 1939-1940, the four businesses were assessed separately to income-tax, but in that year the Income-tax Officer held that all the four were really one and carried on by the joint family of which the assessee was the head. This was reversed by the Appellate Assistant Commissioner on appeal. There was an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal, who made a reference to the High Court. Held, (1) that since the gifts made by the widow S were found to be bona fide transactions and were accepted as being valid by the family, it followed that the businesses carried on in the names of the two sons and wife of the assessee were genuine businesses and were not parts of the business carried on by the assessee, Mohanmull; (2) that it was open to the members of the family to accept the gifts made as being valid and binding on them and that the assessee who was most concerned not having challenged their validity, it was not open to a third party to do so; (3) that the income of the business in the names of the assessee's sons and wife could not therefore be assessed as the income of a Hindu undivided family in the hands of the assessee. 209 I.C. 472=1943 I.T.R. 352=56 L.W. 402=1943 Mad. 648.

UNREALISED DECREE—ENTRY IN INTEREST KHATA — ITEM NOT TAXABLE.—Unrealised decree entered in the interest khata, the amount of which has not been received in fact is not taxable income for the purpose of assessment. There is nothing in sec. 2 (15) or of sec. 16 of the Act, which would imply that the total income is to include an amount which had been decreed but not received. 57 A. 737=1935 A.L.J. 374=1935 A. 378.8 Bad debt—Personal decree obtained in 1928—Appeal dismissed in 1931—Amount due on personal decree—Whether can be claimed to be bad debt during accounting period of 1932-33. 163 I.C. 629=1936 L. 441.

FRESH PROMISSORY NOTE ISSUED BY DEBTOR FOR OLD DEBT INTEREST.—Where the assessees have elected to treat the interest due under the original loans as having been received and paid on the execution and delivery of the fresh promissory notes by the debtor and the interest is entered as having been received both in the interest account and in the personal accounts of the respective debtors, and the creditors have accepted the obligations of the debtors under the fresh promissory notes in substitution for the old debts and the interest due thereon, and in past years were content that the interest accruing in this manner should be assessed to income-tax, it cannot be said that there were no materials before the Income-tax Officer which would justify him in concluding that these sums represented interest liable to assessment, which the assessee has regarded as being liquidated by delivery of fresh promissory notes. In such cases, if the assessees want to escape assessment for such interest, they should so adjust their accounts as to make it clear that the acceptance of a fresh promissory note is not taken as effecting payment of the interest due under the old loan. 13 R. 231=1935 R. 109.

SEC. 13: PROVISO.—No burden is imposed on the Income-tax Authorities to prove by 'positive evidence' that the accounts are unreliable or that the figure at which they assess is the correct figure. The question of unreliability of accounts is a question of fact and primarily falls for the determination of the Income-tax Authorities alone. If, therefore, it is once decided by them that the accounts are fictitious or unreliable, their finding cannot be disturbed, unless of course it is altogether capricious and injudical. Secondly the Income-tax Officer cannot be expected to lead evidence to prove the assessee's transactions for the accounting year. There must be some material before the Income tax Officer on which to base his estimate, but no hard and fast rule can be laid down to define what sort of material is required. The law nowhere contemplates that the Income-tax Officer is a party to the case in the sense in which an ordinary party to a civil litigation is, and he cannot be expected to be in possession of such evidence as would be required from an ordinary litigant to refute the case of his adversary. I.L.R. 1938 L. 10=39 P.L.R. 1028=1937 L. 721. See also 16 Luck. 579=1941 Oudh 279; 1943 I.T.R. 525. Under sec. 13, proviso of the Income tax Act the Income-tax Officer is the sole judge on the question of the possibility of deducing the income from the method of accounting employed by the assessee, and if the principle of applying a flat rate is not objected to, its reasonableness cannot be made the subject of a reference to the High Court under sec. 66 (3). 1939 I.T.R. 151. The language of the proviso to sec. 13 makes it clear that discretion is vested in the Income-tax Officer; but obviously it was not the intention of the Legislature that such discretion should be arbitrary. What the Court has to consider is whether the Income-tax Officer exercised his judgment in arriving at the conclusion that the income, profits and gains were not properly deducible from the assessee's regularly kept books of accounts. I.L.R. (1940) All. 805=1941 A.L.J. 79=1941

All. 24. There is nothing in the Act to restrict, in respect to an assessment made under the proviso to sec. 13, the powers which the higher authorities of the Department have under secs. 31 and 32 respectively. The basis and the manner of assessment adopted by the officer can be set aside in appeal by the Assistant Commissioner. 1942 I.T.R. 239=1942 A.L.J. 388=1942 A. 307. It is a question of law, into which the High Court is entitled to inquire, whether there is any evidence on which the Income-tax Officer could come to the decision that the method of accounting adopted by the assessee is such that the gains could not be computed except by the arbitrary method contemplated by the proviso. If there was no evidence to justify the Income-tax Officer's rejection of that method of under first part of sec. 13, and not under the proviso. Where there is no other reason except the fact of reduced profit to justify the assumption that profits cannot properly be deduced, from a method of accounting which admittedly has been regularly employed by the assessee and has been accepted in the past, the use of the proviso to sec. 13 for the purpose of introduction of an arbitrary manner of computing the profits is not justified. 1934 L. 876. Under sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act, the Income-tax Officer has a discretion to accept or reject the assessees' books. If he rejects them, as he is entitled to do and if the principle of flat rate thereby becomes applicable, the amount of such rate is entirely in the discretion of such officer. The mere fact that a high rate of profits has been applied by the department will not by itself warrant the High Court in directing the Commissioner to state a case. 1938 A.L.J. 507=1938 A. 367. When an Income-tax Officer is acting under the proviso to sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act, he must remember that his judgment must be properly exercised. It is misleading to describe this duty of the Income-tax Officer as a discretionary power. The application of a flat rate is not always proper when a truer state of income can be ascertained. 1938 N.L.J. 172=1938 N. 485. Where operating under the proviso to sec. 13, the Income-tax Officer in dealing with a money-lending firm, arrives at an income based upon an ascertainment of the average interest percentage on the whole capital, it cannot be said that it is an arbitrary way, or a mere guess work. Nor is there anything vindictive, capricious or unfair in what the officer has done. 1940 Nag. 88=1939 I.T. R. 613=1939 N.L.J. 553. An assessee has no option of declaring debts bad. Whether a debt is a bad debt and when it becomes bad are questions of fact to be determined in case of dispute not by the assessee but by the appropriate tribunal upon a consideration of all relevant and admissible evidence. The decision of the Income-tax Officer on the question whether a debt is bad or irrecoverable operates only for the particular year under assessment and it would be open to the assessee to repeat his claim in respect of any particular debt in any subsequent year, provided the debt had not been recovered in the interval. 16 L. 416=1935 L. 539. See also 163 I.C. 629=1936 L. 441. An assessee whose business was to sell gold and silver was served with notices under sec. 22 (4) and sec. 23 (2) of the Act and the assessee's munim was specifically questioned in respect to the profis from the gold and silver transactions. The Income-tax Officer applied proviso to sec. 13 in respect of transactions in respect of gold alone. Held, that the Income-tax Auhorities were justified without giving any other kind of notice to the assessee, in applying the proviso to sec. 13 in respect to transactions in gold while accepting the books of account in respect to transactions in silver. I.L.R. (1940) All. 805=1941 A.L.J. 79=1941 All. 24. The answer to the question whether interest not actually received in cash but debited to accounts of various debtors during the year can be included is the income of that year depends upon the method of accounting employed by the assessee is a question of fact. Where the assessee has not followed a system of accounting from which the correct income for the year can be accurately determined, the Income-tax Officer is justified in computing the income under the proviso to sec. 13. (1945) I.T.R. 198.

METHOD OF ACCOUNTING—ALTERATION—DUTY OF INCOME-TAX OFFICER.—The proviso to sec. 13 gives the Incom-tax Officer full liberty of action if he is satisfied that the method adopted by the assessee does not allow of a correct assessment of the profits. When he is of this opinion it is his bounden duty to adopt another method, a method which he considers will permit of a satisfactory assessment. (1946) 1 M.L.J. 161=1946 M. 314.

INCOME ON PROMISSORY NOTES—TAXATION—BASIS.—Whether the Assistant Commissioner is justified in taxing the income on promissory notes, bonds and mortgage deeds on the basis of interest accrued on the total amount invested in such promisory notes, bonds and mortgage deeds, and not on the basis of interest actually realised by the assessee during the accounting period is a question of law. 1934 L. 43=148 I.C. 228.

ASSESSMENT UNDER SEC. 13—QUESTION OF LAW, IF ARISES.—A finding by the Income-tax Officer and the Assistant Commissioner that no regular method of accounting had been employed by the assessee and that the method employed was defective is a decision on a question of fact. When the Income-tax Officer makes an assessment under the proviso to sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act, it may be shown that he has proceeded on a wrong basis of law; it cannot be said that in every case a question of law arises as to whether the assessment under the proviso to the section is legal or not. 36 Bom.L.R. 818=1934 B. 378. Where the method of accounting is one regularly employed by the petitioner assessee, the proviso to sec. 13 does not come into operation. 1930 L. 197. Proviso does no apply where genuineness of account is doubtful. Sec. 23 (2) applies in such a case. 7 L. 138=1926 L. 201. An Income-tax Officer does not appear to be empowered by sec. 13 to dispense with a notice under sec. 23 (2) of the Income-tax Act. 10 L. 833=1930 L. 277. Once it is established that no method of accounting has been regularly employed or that the method employed is such that in the opinion of the Income-tax Officer the income, profits and gains cannot properly be deduced therefrom, the proviso to sec. 13 comes into operation and the Income-tax Officer becomes the sole arbiter of the basis on which they shall be computed. Where a colliery proprietor had invested the money in mortgages and loans and had kept regular and proper accounts of his income from the colliery and had not kept any account of his income from his investment in mortgages and loans, held, that the Income-tax Officer was justified in making an assessment of his income under the proviso to sec. 13. 132 I.C. 523=1931 L. 432. See also 138 I.C. 214=1932 L. 178; 1935 L. 840; 162 I.C. 995. Where the method of accounting regularly employed by the assessee is the so-called mercantile system of accountancy or book profit system, it is upon that basis alone that he is to be assessed to income-tax under sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act. Under this system, entries are made in the account on the date not of the receipt of money or expenditure of money but on the date of the transactions irrespective of the date of cash payment. A profit and loss account prepared on this basis is accepted as evidence of the assessee's income and assessment is made accordingly. If any part of these "book profit" is later on found to have become irrecoverable, it is deducted from the assessment as a bad debt. 1935 L. 12=36 P. L.R. 199=1935 L. 12. Where the principle of asessment at a flat rate is not contested, its amount must be for the Income-tax Officer to determine. 60 I.A. 325=14 L. 682=65 M.L.J. 335=144 I.C. 686=1933 P.C. 198 (2) (P.C.). Procedure of Income-tax Officer must in all cases be governed by judicial considerations. Hearsay evidence is no basis for assessment. 94 I.C. 156=1926 L. 233. Interest due but not collected is not assessable. 24 N.L.R. 176=1928 N. 241 (1927 M. 841, Dist.). When the opening and closing stocks of a business are both under-valued, the real profits of the company (for the purposes of assessing income-tax and super-tax under the Income-tax Act) for a particular year cannot be ascertained by merely raising the valuation of the closing stock without taking into consideration the similar under-valuation of the opening stock. (52 B. 669, affirmed.) 57 I.A. 21=54 B. 213=58 M.L.J. 204=1930 P.C. 56. Where the computation of income, profits and gains for a particular year has been made under the provisions of sec. 13 upon such basis and in such manner as the Income-tax Officer may determine, the assessee is entitled to show that income, profits and gains included in the assessment for a subsequent year were included in that computation, and it is a question of fact to be decided on the evidence in each paticular case. 7 R. 644=1929 R. 248 (F.B.).

SECS. 13 AND 23 (3): RELATIVE SCOPE.—Sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act cannot be divorced entirely from sec. 23 (3) because it is only in an inquiry under sec. 23 (3) that sec. 13 can operate. There is no conflict or divorce between secs. 13 and 23 (3). In proper cases the two sections work together. But the proviso to sec. 13 does not have reference to the manner in which information is obtained either by private inquiries or otherwise. It relates to the manner in which material before an Income-tax Officer shall be used. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 309=1940 Sind 92. Sec. 23 is concerned with assessment and sec. 13 with computation. It is not quite correct to say that an assessment should be made under the proviso to sec. 13 when the assessee's books are found unreliable and rejected, though it must, in such circumstances, be in accordance with a computation made under the proviso to sec. 13, 1939 I.T.R. 515. All that sec. 13 really says is that if the method of accounting employed by the assessee is one which does not properly disclose the income, profits and gains of the assessee, the Income-tax Officer can adopt his own method. But in doing so he must have reference to the accounts before him as sec. 13 does not contemplate the rejection of the accounts. Sec. 13 adds nothing to, and takes nothing away from, sec. 23 (3), I. L.R. (1939) Mad. 404=1939 Mad. 371=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 451. Where no return has been made at all or if a return has been made and the notice given has not been complied with, then sec. 23 (4) applies and the Income-tax Officer has to make the assessment to the best of his judgment. But where there has been a return and the notice has been complied with and it is found that the books which are put forward to support the return are unreliable, then one goes to sec. 13. Sec. 13 is not an assessment but a computation section. The proviso to sec. 13 gives the Income-tax Officer as wide, if not wider, powers than he is given under sec. 23 (4) and it is not unreasonable, because sec. 23 (4) applies to a case where the assessee does nothing, whereas the proviso applies where the assessee does something positively false. 1939 I.T. R. 613=1939 N.L.J. 553=1940 Nag. 88.

SECS. 13 AND 66: OPINION OF INCOME-TAX OFFICER—QUESTION OF LAW, IF INVOLVED.—Where the Income-tax Officer is of opinion that the assessee's books are not sufficiently well kept and he could not correctly assess the income of the assessee on the method of accounting followed by him, he is justified under sec. 13 in making the assessment in such manner as he might determine. No question of law can be said to be involved in such a case. 201 I.C. 485=1941 I.T.R. 616=1942 Pesh. 47 (1). SEC. 14.—[See also notes under sec. 4, supra.]

CL. (1): APPLICABILITY—CONDITIONS.—The income of an impartible Raj in the hands of the holder is to be assessed on the footing that the income is the income of an individual and not of an undivided family for purposes of assessment to income tax. 19 Pat.L.T. 858=1938 P.W.N. 801=1938 Pat. 611. Sec. 14 (1) can apply only if two conditions are made out. The assessee should establish that he is a member of a Hindu undivided family and that the sum in question has been received by him as such. The relation of cause and effect must exist between the position of the assessee as a member of a Hindu undivided family and the receipt by him of the sum which is a question for the purpose of assessment. If a person who is a member of a Hindu undivided family receives an allowance not because he is such a member but wholly apart from that position, sec. 14 (1) does not apply. 56 A. 1009=149 I.C. 306 =1934 A. 18. See also 59 M. 377=1936 M. 67=70 M.L.J. 13 (F.B.). "Receives as a member of a Hindu undivided family"—Hindu joint family—Death of coparcener—Widow suing for partition on ground of alleged separation of husband—Compromise—Widow admitting joint status and receiving maintenance from family and living apart—Amount received at maintenance—Exemption from taxation. See 21 Pat. 615=1942 Pat. 458=1946 I.T.R. 134. The Income-tax Act clearly contemplates that, in the case of members of a joint Hindu family, the unit of taxation shall be the family itself and not each individual member, i.e., the entire joint income of the members of the family is taxable only in the hands of the family, and no part of it is taxable in the hands of the individual coparceners. This provides the clue to the meaning of the words "as a member of a Hindu undivided family" occurring in sec. 14 (1) of the Act. Sec. 14 (1) exempts from taxation in the hands of a member of a family income which is liable to taxation in the hands of the family, whether it has been so taxed or not. In this view of the matter, the burden is on the assessee to show that the sum in respect of which he claims exemption is assessable in the hands of the family. Quaere.—Whether an allowance paid to a member of an undivided family and not exempted from assessment under sec. 14 (1) may not be exempted on some other ground? 14 P. 785=16 Pat.L.T. 351=1935 P. 342 (S. B.). A sum of money received as maintenance by an assessee entitled, as the brother of the last Zamindar, to receive maintenance out of an ancestral impartible estate is a sum received by him as a member of a Hindu undivided family within the meaning of Cl. (1) of sec. 14 of the Income tax Act, and as such exempt from taxation. 57 M. 1023=1934 M. 608=67 M.L.J. 306 (F.B.). See also 14 P. 313=1935 P. 8=(1944) I.T.R. 153. Where the amount of maintenance that the widow of a predeceased coparcener has in the past been receiving as a member of a Hindu undivided family has been fixed by an agreement, the amount received by her under the agreement does not cease to be an amount received by her as a member of an undivided Hindu family. 1945 A.L.J. 227=A.I.R. 1945 All. 286. Income personally derived by an assessee as a member of a joint family is not taxable under sec. 14 of the Act. 3 P. 664=1924 P. 644. See also 2 Pat.L.R. 122 (Cr.). 6 P. 20=1926 P. 256. The property belonging to an estate subject to the rule of primogeniture is still the property of the family and not the sole property of the manager for the time being for the purposes of super-tax. In computing the income of the head of an impartible family governed by the law of primogeniture, the allowances paid to junior members thereof should be deducted. They cannot be deemed to be part of the income of the family. They are the separate property of the junior members on which they can be separately assessed. 14 L. 255= 141 I.C. 415=1933 L. 284. For the purposes of the Income-tax Act, an ancestral impartible estate is joint family property, and the mother of the holder of the estate is entitled under the Hindu Law to be maintained out of the revenue of the estate. The allowance for maintenance fixed for her is in satisfaction of the right to be so maintained, and she must therefore be deemed to receive it as a member of the joint family and she is a member of the joint family though she is only estitled to maintenance. Therefore maintenance allowance paid to the mother of the holder of an impartible estate is exempt from tax under sec. 14. 24 Pat. 159=(1945) P.W.N. 75=1945 Pat. 205. Impartible estate—Dispute between holder and widow of last-holder— Compromise—Allowance agreed to be paid to her in adjustment and release of her claim to maintenance—Exemption from tax—Right to. The allowances received by an adult son from his father, a taluqdar of Oudh, out of the latter's income from the taluqdari estate which is governed by the Oudh Estates Act, 1869, is not exempt under sec. 14 (1) of the Income-tax Act and is liable to assessment in as much as the property is in no sense joint and the assessee has no claim qua member of an undivided Hindu family to maintenance from it and does not receive the maintenance or allowance as a member of a Hindu undivided family. 1943 O.W.N. 433=1944 Oudh 17.

"Received as a member of a Hindu undivided family" — Test— Impartible estate —

Widow surrendering estate to another estate holder and receiving maintenance allowance charged on surrendered esate—Allowance—If exempt from tax. 1945 I.T.R. 134. See also 1942 Pat. 458. It was held that an assessee, a Hindu widow who was in receipt of an allowance from an owner of an impartible estate regulated by the Oudh Estates Act cannot be presumed to be a member of an undivided Hindu family within the meaning of sec. 14 (1) from the mere fact that the allowance was given by a talukdar to a Hindu widow who would be entitled to an allowance under ordinary law, or that she was in receipt of the allowance in that capacity. It was further held that the question whether a person is or is not a member of Hindu undivided family is primarily a question of fact. 1943 O.W.N. 94=1943 I.T.R. 235=1943 Oudh 37. The widow of a deceased coparcener is a member of the undivided family of her husband. Maintenance and arrears of maintenance received by the widow of a deceased member of an undivided family is exempt from taxation under sec. 14 (1). 63 M.L.J. 542=56 M. 1=1932 M. 733 (F.B.). When a member of a Hindu undivided family receives a grant by way of maintainance from the head of the family, it is not necessarily received "as a member of the family." 14 P. 313=1935 P. 8. A person to be a member of an 'undivided Hindu family' under sec. 14 (1), need not have a vested interest in the family property. Hence a mother may be a member of such an undivided Hindu family and when she, by virtue of her right to receive maintenance from her son, receives it from him or his estate, tax is not payable on it. The fact that provision had been made in a will for the payment of this maintenance would not affect the question. 1940 O.W.N. 853=1941 O. 22=16 Luck. 159. Hindu undivided family consisting of two brothers—Death of one—Widow of latter relinquishing life estate in favour of surviving coparcener in consideration of receiving monthly payment as maintenance—Amount received is not received as a member of Hindu undivided family. 1940 I.T.R.L. 404. The widow of a Hindu coparcenar though not herself a member of the coparcenary body, may nevertheless be a member of the undivided Hindu family. Where in settlement of disputes between such a widow and the other members, a sum is agreed to be paid to her monthly as maintenance for her life, and subsequently there is a disruption of the joint family, the widow thereafter continues to be a member of a Hindu undivided family with each of the entities into which the family is disrupted, irrespective of whether any such entity consisted of one male member or of several male members. Upon this view she will be exempted from payment of income-tax under sec. 14 (1). I.L.R. (1941) All. 43=1940 A.L.J. 848=1941 All. 83. The expression "Hindu undivided family" occurring in the Income-tax Act connotes a family restricted to the coparcenary, i.e., a family having coparcenary interest in income or property and not a joint family consisting of several members living together, irrespective of the existence or non existence of any co-parcenary property. A Hindu cannot be considered to be a member of a coparcenary when he has no sons, and when the other members of the family living with him are only females. Even when there are male members who can be coparceners with him, there must be ancestral or joint property or property thrown into the common stock, before there can be a coparcenary or Hindu undivided family as contemplated by the Income-tax Act. The income from property which is neither ancestral nor thrown into the common stock, but which has been treated as separate property by the members of the family concerned cannot be regarded family for purposes of income-tax. A statement by a member of a Hindu family in an affidavit filed by him in assessment proceedings that certain property is joint cannot be taken to be an irrevocable declaration ipso facto creating a coparcenary as between him and the other members, so as to entitle the members to claim assessment as a Hindu undivided family. 40 C.W.N. 517. An assessee claiming exemption under sec. 14 (1) of the Income-tax Act should establish that he is a member of a Hindu undivided family and further that the sum in question has been received by him as such. See also 1934 A. 818; 1935 Pat. 342 cited under sec. 4, supra. A junior member of a joint family possessed of impartible raj is a member of a Hindu undivided family within the meaning of sec. 14 (1), as the custom of impartibility does not supersede the general law so far as his status is concerned, though his rights to demand partition and to participate in the income of the estate is taken away. If such a member is assessed to income-tax on the amount of the maintenance received by him from the holder of the impartible raj, the question for consideration is whether the allowance received by him is a payment made to him as a member of the family. If the assessee is entitled to be maintained, and if the allowance is in satisfaction of his right to be so maintained he should be considered to have received it as a member of a Hindu undivided family. 56 A. 1009=149 I.C. 306=1934 A. 818; 14 P. 785=1935 P. 342 (S. B.). There is a distinction between a customary impartible estate and an estate granted by the Crown subject to descent by primogeniture. While blending may be possible in the former, it is not so in the case of the latter. What sec. 14 (1), Income-tax Act, contemplates is that the receipt should be from the joint income of the family and not otherwise. The unfailing test for the applicability of sec. 14 (1), is to determine whether the allowance would cease if the assessee ceased to be a member of the undivided family, if any, I.L.R. 1938 Lah. 47=40 P.L.R. 1007=1937 Lah. 905=1946 I.T.R. 134. Subsequent receipt by assessee of amount deducted—Liability to further assessment. 47 Bom.L.R. 281=1945 Bom. 431.

EXEMPTION UNDER SEC. 14 (1)—BURDEN OF PROOF.—Sec. 14 (-) merely relieves the assessee from showing that the sum in respect of which he claims exemption has already been taxed in the hands of the family. It does not relieve him from the necessity of showing that the sum received is a part of income, or property, in which he had a vested right as a member of a Hindu undivided family. 14 P. 313=1935 P. 8. See also 14 P. 785=16 Pat.L.T. 351=1935 P. 342 (S.B.).

SEC. 14 (2).—The phrase "where the profits and gains of the company have been assessed to income-tax," must be given its ordinary and natural meaning and cannot be read to include all the profits or gains of the company whether assessable or not or the total profits or gains; and consequently where a company whose profits are found to include specified sums to which, in accordance with sec. 4, the Act did not apply and the said company has been assessed in respect of profits to which the Act did apply, such proportion of dividends as the specified sum bears to the aggregate of all profits disribued among shareholders does not become chargeable to tax in the hands of a shareholder, but is exempted from taxation to ordinary income-tax in accordance with sec. 14 (2). 63 I.A. 359=1936 P.C. 219=71 M.L.J. 405 (P.C.). See also I.L.R. (1940) All. 795=1941 All. 15. According to the plain meaning of sec. 14 (2) (a) of the Income-tax Act, when there has been an assessment on the profits or gains of a company, even though the dividends received by the shareholder are in fact to some extent paid out of profits or gains in the hands of the company which are free from taxation, the whole of the sum received by the assessee as shareholder, by way of dividends, is exempt from taxation. The section cannot be construed as meaning that the whole income of the company must be assessed or made chargeable to income-tax in order ta make the protection under it available. 62 C. 133=39 C. SEC. 16: TOTAL INCOME—MEANING—UNREALISED DECREE.—See 57 A. 737=1935 A. L.J. 374=1935 A. 378. The scheme of the Income-tax Act is that there is to be a statement of the total income of the assessee from which is to be deducted, for the purpose of assessing income tax, but not of super-tax, nor for the purpose of any graduation of income-tax by reference to total income, the amounts of interest on tax free securities and of dividends and shares of profits already taxed. 61 I.A. 209=58 B. 317=1934 P.C. 116=66 M.L.J. 643 (P.C.). There is no warrant for holding that unless a minor is admitted to the benefits of a partnership without any contribution to the assets, sec. 16 (3) (a) (ii) (as amended by the Amending Act of 1937) has no application. There is nothing in the section which justifies the Court in drawing a distinction between a case where a minor's property is with a firm and the case where the minor is allocated a share without any contribution to the assets. The section can only be construed in accordance with the words used in it. 1941 Mad. 924=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 891 (S.B.). Where under a deed of wakf executed in 1929 by the assessee the trustees were to pay 21 per cent. of the income of the property transferred to the wife of the settlor, sec. 16 (3) (b) applied and the income of the wife could be included in the income of assessee. Provided that for the purposes of this clause a settlement, disposition or transfer shall be deemed to be revocable if it contains any provision for the retransfer directly or indirectly of the income or assets to the settlor, disponer or transferor, or in any way gives the settlor, disponer or transferor a right to reassume power directly or indirectly over the income or assets :

It is no doubt true that if there is proper material before the Income-tax Authorities to go behind certain transactions of sales, they may be justified in disregarding the apparent state of affairs and hold that properties acquired in the names of the sons of the assessee are benami for the assessee; but the onus in such cases lies on the Income-tax Authorities to show that the ostensible owner was not the real owner. The fact that benami transactions are common in the country should not be allowed to prejudice an ostensible owner without any evidence to establish that the real beneficiary was not he himself but some other person, especially in the case of Mahomedan families. 1945 I.T.R. 452. The income derived from the assets comprised in a revocable instrument of trust and settlement executed by the assessee before the commencement of the Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939, falls within the terms of sec. 16 (1) (c), as amended by the Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939. 72 I.A. 141=49 C.W.N. 435=58 L.W. 373 =1945 P.C. 89=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 11 (P.C.). On 18-4-1928, the assessee executed a settlement deed transferring certain properties to trustees who were to pay the income thereof to his son H, during his life and after the death of H, the trustees were to hold the trust funds in trust for his heirs; the settlor reserved to himself a general power of revocation. On 13-12-1938, i.e., during the accounting year, the assessee executed another deed revoking the life-interest to his son under the first deed under the power of revocation and declared fresh trusts during the lifetime of the son. He also reserved a power to revoke, wholly or partially, the trusts, powers and provisions declared by the second deed as the trust deed of 18-4-1928 and to declare such new or other trusts for the benefit of H, his children or lineal descendants or for the benefit of any other child or children of the settlor, e.c. Held, (1) that the two deeds together involved a revocable transfer of assets, that the case fell within sec. 16 (1) (c) and the first proviso, and therefore the income of the trust funds could be aggregated with the income of the settlor (assessee) and could be deemed to be the income of the assessee under sec. 16 (1) (c). 1944 I.T.R. 185=46 Bom.L.R. 134=1944 Bom. 164. See also 1945 Bom. 254.

Provided further that the expression 'settlement or disposition' shall for the purposes of this clause include any disposition, trust, covenant, agreement, or arrangement, and the expression 'settlor or disponer' in relation to a settlement or disposition shall include any person by whom the settlement or disposition was made :

Provided further that this clause shall not apply to any income arising to any person by virtue of the settlement or disposition which is not recoverable for a period exceeding six years or during the lifetime of the person and from which income the settlor or disponer derives no direct or indirect benefit but that the settlor shall be liable to be assessed on the said income as and when the power to revoke arises to him.

(2) For the purposes of inclusion in the total income of an assessee any dividend shall be deemed to be income of the previous year in which it is paid, credited or distributed or deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed to him, [1][and shall be increased to such amount as would, if income-tax (but not super-tax) at the rate applicable to the total income of a company for the financial year in which the dividend is paid, credited or distributed or deemed to have been paid, credited, or distributed, were deducted therefrom, be equal to the amount of the dividend :]

Provided that when any portion of the profits and gains of the company out of which such dividend has been paid, credited or distributed or deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed was not liable to income-tax in the hands of the company, [2][the increase to be made] under this section shall be calculated upon only such proportion of the dividend as the amount of the profits and gains of the company liable to income-tax bears to the total profits and gains of the company.]

SEC. 16 (1) (c), PROVISOS 1 AND 3: APPLICABILITY.—The assessee executed a trust deed in respect of an item of property belonging to him for the benefit of his wife. The property was transferred to trustees, who were to collect the rents and, after paying certain charges, pay the balance to his wife K for and during her lifetime and down to her death; if the assessee survived his wife K, the trustees were to pay the said income, after meeting the charges, to the assessee for and during his lifetime. In assessing the income of the assessee, the Income-tax Department sought to include the income of this property in his total income under sec. 16 (1) (c). The assessee sought the protection of proviso 3 to sec. 16 (1) (c). Held, (1) that proviso 3 to sec. 16 (1) (c) applied and the income payable to his wife K and settled for her benefit during her natural life was not income of the assessee under sec. 16 (1) (c); (2) that no direct or indirect benefit in the income, accruing during the lifetime of K, was retained by the settlor for himself; (3) that proviso 3 contains a limitation which applies as much to the substantive provisions of sub-cl. (c) as to proviso 1. Per Kania, J.—That a contingent claim to arise in the future, that if the assessee survived his wife K, the income payable to her was to be paid to him, did not amount to a re-transfer of the income or assets or a resumption of the power over the income or assets and was not covered by the first proviso to sec. 16 (1) (c). Per Chagla, J.—The words of the section were wide enough to cover even a provision for re-transfer which is contingent in its nature. in no way invalidates such transactions. The transactions are assumed to be valid, and the income arising from the transferred assets is the income not of the husband but of the wife who received the assets from the husband by transfer. The section in no way affects the validity of the transfer, but only provides a method by which the income of the property transferred is to be assessed, and it provides that such income will be included in the husband's income for purposes of taxation and will not be taxed separately. 20 Pat. 202=21 Pat.L.T. 1096 =1941 Pat. 59 (F.B.). There is no reason why sec. 16 (3) (iii) should not be held to apply to a wife's income arising from assets transferred to her by her husband before the Amending Act of 1937 came into force. The sub-section is to have effect in respect of any income chargeable to income-tax for any year subsequent to that date. The wording of the sub-section is wide enough to cover not only income from assets transferred by a husband to his wife after the passing of the Act but also income arising from such assets transferred before the passing of the Act. 20 Pat. 202 (F.B.). See also (1942) 1 M.L.J. 16. Where an assessee who is proceeded under sec. 16 (3) (a) (iii) in respect of the income of his wife, makes no effort to prove that moneys appearing in his wife's account in his books, have come from other sources than himself, it is open to the Income-tax Authorities to infer that the moneys were received by her from her husband otherwise than for adequate consideration and treat the interest thereon as part of the assessee's (husband's) income for purposes of sec. 16 (3) (a) (iii). There is no natural presumption in the case of the assets of a married Hindu lady that they are transferred to her by her husband out of love or affection. It is not an uncommon thing for a husband to put money in the name of his wife without ever intending to give it to her. 1942 I.T.R. 71=55 L.W. 75

DEDUCTIONS AND ASSESSMENT.

Payment by deduction at source.

18. [1]* * * * * *

(2) Any person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" shall, at the time of payment, deduct income-tax [2][and super-tax] on the amount payable [3][at a rate representing the average of the rates applicable to the estimated total income of the assessee under this head] :

Provided that such person may, at the time of making any deduction, increase or reduce the amount to be deducted under this sub-section for the purpose of adjusting any excess or deficiency arising out of any previous deduction or failure to deduct.

[4][(2*A*) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained for the purpose of making the deduction under sub-section (2), there shall be included in the amount payable any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" which is payable to the assessee out of India by or [5][on behalf of the Crown], and the value in rupees of such income shall be calculated at the prescribed rate of exchange.]

[6][2*B*)(Any person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" to a person not resident in British India shall at the time of payment deduct income-tax at the maximum rate and also super-tax at the rate or rates applicable to the estimated income of the assessee under this head.]

(3) The person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "Interest on securities" shall, [7][unless otherwise prescribed in the case of any security of the [8][Central Government]], at the time of payment, deduct income-tax [7][but not super-tax] on the amount of the interest payable at the maximum rate :

[9][Provided that where the Income-tax Officer gives a certificate in writing (which certificate he shall give in every proper case on the application of the assessee) that to the best of his belief the total income [6][or the total world income] of a recipient will be less than the minimum liable to income-tax or will be liable to a rate of income-tax less than the maximum rate, the person responsible for paying any income [10][referred to in this sub-section or in sub-section (2*B*), as the case may be,] to such recipient shall, until such certificate is cancelled by the Income-tax Officer, pay the income without deduction or deduct the tax at such less rate, as the case may be.

(9) Every person deducting income-tax [1][or super-tax] in accordance with the provisions of [2][sub-sections (3), (3A), (3B), (3C), [(3D) or]3], shall, [4][at the time of payment of the sum from which tax has been deducted], furnish to the person to whom [5][such payment is made] a certificate to the effect that income-tax [1][or super-tax] has been deducted, and specifying the amount so deducted, the rate at which the tax has been deducted, and such other particulars as may be prescribed

['18-A. (2) (a) In the case of income in respect of which provision is not made under section 18 for deduction of income-tax at the time of payment, the Income-tax Officea may, on or after the 1st day of April, in any financial year, by order in writing, require an assessee to pay qnarterly to the credit of the Central Government on the 15th day of Jnne, 15th day of September, 15th day of Decemder and 15th day of Maich in that year, respectively, an amount equal to one-quarter of the income-tax and super-tax payable on so much of such income as is included in his total income of the latest previous year in respect of which he has been assessed, if that total income exceeded six thousand rupees. Such income-tax and super-tax shall be calculated at the rates in force for the financial year in which he is required to pay the tax, and shall bear to the total amount of income-tax and super-tax so calculated on the said total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusions bears to his total income or, in cases where under the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 17 both income-tax and super-tax are chargeable with reference to the total world income, shall bear to the total amount of income-tax and super-tax which would have been payable on his total world income of the said previous year had it been his total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusions bears to his total world income.

Advance payment of tax.

Provided that, where the previous year of the assessee in respect of any sonre of income ends after the 31st day of Decmber and before the 30th day of April, the order in writing issued by the Income-tax Officer requiring the payment of income-tax and super-tax on that source of income shall substitute for the four quarterly payments herein-before specified, three payments of equal amount to be made on the 15th day of September, the 15 day of December and the 15th day of March, respectively ;

Provided further that, if the assessee is a partner of a registered firm and an assessment of the firm has been completed for a previous year later than that for which the assessee's last assessment has been completed, his share in the profits of the firm shall, for the purposes of this sub-section, be included in his total income on the basis of the latest assessment of the firm :

Provided further that, if after the making of an order by the Income-tax Officer and before the 15th day of February of the financial year an assessment of the assessee, or of the registered firm of which he is a partner is completed in respect of a previous year later than that referred to in the order of the Income-tax Officer, the Income-tax Officer may make an amended order requiring the assessee to pay in one instalment on the specified date, or in equal instalments on the specfied dates if more than one, falling after the date of the amended order, the tax computed on the revised basis as reduced by the amount, if any, paid in accordance with the oringinal order; but if the amount already paid exceeds the tax determined on the revised basis, the exceess shall be refunded.

(2) If any assessee who is required to pay tax by an order under sub-section (1) estimates at any time before the last instalment is due that the part of his income to which that sub-section applies for the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the year next following is less than the income on which he is required to pay tax and accordingly wishes to pay an amount less than the amount which he is so required to pay, he may send to the Income-tax officer an estimate of the tax payable by him calculated in the mannar laid down in sub-section (1) on that part of his income for such period, and, shall pay such amount as accords with his estimate in equal instalments on such of the dates specified in sub-section (1) (a) as have not expired or in one sum if cnly the last of such dates has not expried :

Provided that the assessee may send a revised estimate of the tax payable by him before any one of the dates specified in sub section (1) (a)and adjust any excess or defiiency in respect of any instalment already paid in a ubsesquent instalment or in subsequent instalments.

(3) Any person who has not hitherto been assessed shall, before the 15th day of March in each financial year, if his total income of the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the financial year next following is likely to exceed six thousand rupees, send to the Income-tax Officer an estimate of the tax payable by him on that part of his income to which the provisions of section 18 do not apply of the said previous year calculated in the mannar laid down in sub-section (1), and shall pay the amount, on such of the dates specified in that sub-section as have not expired, by instalments which may be revised according to the proviso to sub-section (2).

(4) Where part of the income to which sub-section (1), (2) or (3) applies consists of any income of the nature of commission which is receivable periodically and is not received or adjusted by the payer in the assessee's account before any of the quarterly instalments of tax become due, he may defer payment of tax on that part of his ineome to the date on which such income would be normally received or adjusted and if he does so he shall communicate to the Income-tax Officer the date to which such payment is deferred :

Provided that, if the tax of which the payment is deferred is not paid within fifteen days of the date on which such income or part thereof is received or adjusted by the payer in the assessee's account, the tax shall be payable with six per cent. simple insterest per annum from the date of such receipt or adjustment to the date of payment of the tax.

(5) The Central Government shall pay on any amount paid under this section simple interest at two per cent. per annum from the date of payment to the date of the assessment (hereinafter called the regular assessment') made under section 23 of the income, profits and gains of the previous year for an assessment for the year next following the year in whieh the amount was payable :

Provided that on any portion of such amount which is refunded under the foregoing provisions of this section interest shall be payable only up to the date on which the refund was made.

Where in any year an assessee has paid tax under sub-scction (2) or sub-sec. (3) on the basis of his own estimate, and the tax so paid is less than eighty per cent of the tax. determined on the basis of regular assessments so far as such tax relate to income to which the provisions of section 18 do not apply and so for as it is not due to variations in the rates of tax made by the Finance Aet enated for the year for which the regular asressment is made, simple interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum from the Ist day of January in the financial year in which the tax was paid up to the date of the said assessment shall be payable by the assessee upon rhe amount by which the tax so paid falls short of the said eighty per cent:

Provided that, where, as a result of an appeal under section 31 or section 33 or a revision under section 33-A or a reference to the High Court under section 66, the amount on which interest was payble under this sub-section has been reduced the interest shall be reduced accordingly and the excess interest paid if any, shall be refunded together with the amount of income-tax that is refundable:

Provided further that, where a business or vocation is newly set up and is assessable on the income, profits, and gains of its first previous year in the financial year following that in which it is set up, the interest payable shall be cemputed from the Ist day of April of the said financial year.

(7) Where, on making the regular assessment, the Income-tax Officer finds that any assessee has—

(a) under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) under-estimated the tax payable by him and thereby reduced the amount payable in any of the first three instalments, or

he may direct that the assessee shall pay simple interest at six per cent. per anuum in the case referred to in clause (a) for the period during which the payment was. deficient on the difference between the amount paid in each such instalment and the amount which should have been paid having regard to the aggregate tax actually paid under this section during the year, and in the case referred to in clause (b) for the period during which the payment of tax was wrongly deferred on the amount of which the payment was so deferred ;

Provided that for the purposes of this sub-section any instalment due before the expiry of six months from the commencement of the privious year in respect of which it is to be paid shall be deemed to have become due fifteen dayes after tne expiry of the said six months.

(8) Where, on making the regular assessment, the Income-tax Offiicer finds that no payment of tax has been made in accordance wi.h the foregoing provisions of this secton, interest calculated in the manner laid down in sub-section (6) shall be added to the tax as determined on the basis of the regular assessment.

(9) If the Incomme-tax Offiber, in the course of any proceedings in connection with the regular assement, is satisfied that any assessee—

(a) has furnished under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) estimates of the tax payable by him which he knew or had reason to believe to be untrue,or the assessee shall be deemed, in the case referred to in clause (a), to have deliberately furinshed inaccurate partiulars of his income, and in the case referred to in elause (b), to have failed to furnish the return of his total income; and the provisions of section 28, so far as may be, shall apply accordingly :

Provided that the amount of penalty leviable shall ,in the case referred to in clause (a),be a sum not exceeding one-and-ahalf times the amount by which the tax actually paid during the year under the provisions of this section falls short of the tax that shonld have been paid by the assessee under sub-seetion (1) or eighty per cent. of the tax determined on the basis of the regular assessment as modified in the manner provided in sub-section (6), whichever is the less, and in the cases referred to in clause (b), one-a-half times the said eighty per cent.

(10) (a) If any assessee does not pay on the specific dates any instalment of tax that he is repuired to pay under sub-section (1) and does not, before the date on which any such instalment as is not paid becomes due, send under sub-section (2) an estimate or a revised estimate of the tax payable by him, he shall be deemed to be an assessee in defaulat in respect of such instalment or instalments.

(b) If any assessee has sent under sub-section (2) or sub-sectian (3) an estimate or a revised estimate of the tax payable by him, but does not pay any instalment in accordance therewith on the date or dates specified in sub-section (1), he shall be deemed to be an assessee in default in respect of such instalment or instalments :

Provided that the assessee shall not, under clause (a) or (d), be deemed to be in default in respect of any amount of which the payment is deferred under sub-section (4) until after the date communicated by him to the Income-tax Officer under that sub-section.

(11) Any sum other than a penalty or interest paid by or recovered from an assessee in pursuance of the provisions of this stction shall be treated as a payment of tax in respect of the income of the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the financial year next following the year in which it was payable, and credit therefor shall be gixen to the assessee in the regular assessment.] (Inserted by Act XI of 1944)

SEC. 22 (1): FOREIGN INSURANCE COMPANY—FAILURE TO MAKE RETURN—PROCEDURE.—Where an Insurance Company (not incorporated in British India) has failed to make a return of the total income under sec. 22 (1), the Income-tax Officer is justified in applying R. 35 of the Income-tax Rules. He must find out what is the total income, profits or gains of the assessee company. Where, for that purpose, the officer had no other reliable data except a triennial valuation, he is entitled to assume that the profits for the year in question could be the average annual profits shown in the triennial valuation after deducting the premiums paid on participating policies. 55 B. 637=33 Bom.L.R. 807=1931 B. 448. Besides owning a firm at Benares, two partners had an interest in numerous firms bearing the same name and carrying on business in different parts of the country. In the year of account it was found that the firm made no profits but the firms in which the partners were interested made considerable profits. The question having been raised whether the firm could be assessed in respect of those profits: held, that the partners were members of the other firms only in their individual capacity, the firm itself being incapable of being a partner and that the assessment of the firm with reference to the profits of the other firm did not arise. 54 A. 846=1933 A. 77=1932 A.L.J. 999. See also 62 C. 133=39 C.W.N. 253. The assessee is entitled to have two 'previous years', one for the head office and one for the branches, but in his assessment he must add the results of the two, each year, and make his return on this basis. He cannot accumulate the results of two years of the branches and account for them in one year's results of the main office. 1937 L. 308.

SEC. 22 (2).—[See also notes under sec. 23.] The effect of the words "within such period, not being less than thirty days." in sec. 22 (2) is that there must be an interval of not less than thirty days, i.e., thirty clear days. In other words, thirty clear days must elapse after the receipt of the notice by the assessee before his obligation to send the return becomes effective. A notice calling on the assessee to send the return "within thirty days" is therefore not a valid notice. I.L.R. (1945) Bom. 432=1935 I.T.R. 154=47 Bom. L.R. 181=1945 Bom. 316. Where an assessee received a notice from the Income-tax Officer under sec. 22 (2) requiring him to make a return in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner, setting forth his total income during the previous year, and the assessee does neither fill the form, nor verify such form in the prescribed manner, but instead writes a letter intimating his non-liability to be taxed under the Act, it must be taken that he has failed to make a return under sec. 22 (2) within the meaning of sec. 23 (4). 12 P.L.T. 915=133 I.C. 758=1931 P. 306 (F.B.). Where an assessee failed to make a return of his income under sec. 22 (2) of the Act and some time later died, an assessment on his estate made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) "to the best of his judgment" is illegal. 55 B. 312=33 Bom. L.R. 388=1931 B. 333. The Income-tax Officer issued by means of registered post, acknowledgment due, a notice under sec. 22 (2). The notice was delivered by the postal peon to the assessee's son who was found to be a minor and possessed of ordinary intelligence. The son was living with his father and when on previous occasions notices had to be served on the assessee they were taken delivery by his son. Held, that in proper circumstances a minor son might be an agent of his father and that the service of the notice was good service. 54 A. 548=1932 A.L.J. 409=1932 A. 374. A form is prescribed by statute for the return of income-tax but there is no statutory form for the notice which is issued under sec. 22 (2) and there is nothing whatever in the Act to show that there is any obligation on the income-tax authorities to indicate in what capacity it is proposed to charge the potential assessee the tax. It is the duty of the person receiving the notice to score out the irrelevant capacities in the notice. 1942 I.T.R. 131=1942 O.W.N. 293 =1942 A.L.W. 209. A notice under sec. 22 (2) was issued to the assessee who was an undivided Hindu family and the assessee was required to submit a return and four capacities were indicated one above the other and the notice went to the assessee without any one of these capacities having been scored out. The assessee was in no doubt as to which capacity of his was under investigation. He had been assessed in previous years as an undivided Hindu family and he submitted his return as an undivided Hindu family, and without scoring out any of the four capacities. Held, that the notice issued by the department could not be said to be invalid or illegal. 1940 A.L.J. 843=I.L.R. (1940) A. 841=1940 A. 537. Where the Income tax Officer issues a notice in a case which is beyond his jurisdiction, the amount being over Rs. 40,000, and in which, as per Government notification, the notice is to be issued by the Assstant Commissioner, such notice is illegal and the return does not become due in consequence thereof. 139 I.C. 290=1932 N. 65. Where an assessee in a verified return declared he had no income from a particular source, if the authorities disbelieve it, the onus lies on them to prove that there was income from that source and what it was. 50 C. 907=1924 C. 337. The service of notice under the Act need not be personal. It can be made on the authorised or recognised agent of he assessee. In the case of a recognised agent carrying on business in the name of the principal, an authority to accept notices being incidental to the business can be implied. 10 P. 441=1931 P. 282. Where an assessee's return is made before assessment, it is a return made in due time under sec. 22 (3) and before such a return can be disregarded, the assessee is entitled to a reasonable opportunity to produce any evidence upon which he might rely in support of the return. 134 I.C. 1275=1931 C. 729 (S.B.). A return which by sec. 22 (3) is to be deemed to be a return made in due time cannot be treated as still-born because of a previous failure to comply with a notice under sec. 22 (4). 1931 C. 729 (S.B.). Where the question was whether the assessee was prevented by sufficient cause from making the return required by sec. 22: held, that the question was one of mixed law and fact and that the question of law should be answered only on the facts as determined by the Commissioner. 1930 A.L.J. 78=1930 A. 209.

FIRM—LIABILITY TO ASSESSMENT—OBJECT OF ENACTMENT.—The object of the Income-tax Act in treating the firm in addition to the individual partners as itself a subject liable to assessment is not to differentiate in respect of the ultimate liability to tax, between the partners in a firm and the sole owner of a business or assessee. The method of double assessment is employed in the case of firms as a device in the nature of taxation at the source which is employed to collect tax upon salaries and interest on securities. The object of the double assessment to tax in the case of partners and their firm is not to get it often but to get it early and to make sure of getting it. 58 C. 1204=35 C.W.N 534=1931 C. 686 (S.B.).

SECS. 22 (2) AND (3).—A return furnished after the assessment order is made but before the service of the demand notice is not a valid return. 38 P.L.R. 848=1936 L. 468.

SEC. 22 (2) AND (4).—See 7 P. 852=9 P.L.T. 653=1928 P. 529 (F.B.). The Income-tax Officer is bound to give the proposed assessee at least 30 days' time within which to file a return. Where the minimum is denied, the notice is illegal. The fact that subsequently a further extension of time is granted will not cure the defect that initially lay in the notice issued. 1930 A.L.J. 78=1930 A. 209. See also 1935 Lah. 201. Officer of an assessee's principal place of business has jurisdiction to compel such assessee to submit a return and produce accounts in respect of a branch business, even though he has submitted a return, produced accounts, and otherwise complied with all the requirements of the law before the Income tax Officer of the place where he has such a branch business. 1930 A.L.J. 1=1930 A. 49 (F.B.). Where a person is carrying on business at different places, it is not incumbent on the Income-tax Officer of the principal place of business where an assessee is assessed to income-tax, to issue separate notices under sec. 22 (2) requiring returns in respect of the income of each branch of the assessee. 1930 A. 49 (F.B.). tax Officer is entitled to require the assessee to produce the books of his foreign business. Where an Income-tax Officer calls upon an assessee to produce account books which ordinarily would be in his possession and control, the assessee has got to show that he is incapable of producing them. If they would not ordinarily be in his possession and control, the onus would then lie on the Officer to show the assessee could produce them but has failed to do so. 1930 M. 763=59 M. L.J. 220 (F.B.). The assessee was called upon by a notice under sec. 22 (2) to submit a return which he did but the return was not signed or verified. Subsequently the Income tax Officer issued another notice under sec. 22 (4) directing the assessee to produce his accounts. He did not produce the accounts and the Income tax Officer made an assessment to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4). Held, that no questions of law could possibly arise on the findings of fact of the Income-tax Officer: (1934 A. 929. Where the return under sec. 22 (2) did not bear verification or the signature of the assessee: Held, that there was no proper return and the Income-tax Officer could impose best judgment assessment under sec. 23 (4). 56 A. 418=1934 A.L.J. 47=1934 A. 930.

Where in compliance with a notice under sec. 34 read with sec. 22 (2) of the Act, the assessee files a return form blank with the observation that no income escaped assessment duly signed and verified by him, the return is a valid return. When further in answer to a notice under sec. 22 (4) the assessee produces his accounts and commits no default, and the assessee is assessed under sec. 23 (4) without a notice under sec. 23 (2), the assessment under sec. 23 (4) is illegal, though a notice under sec. 23 (2) may not be necessary. 1942 I.T.R. 379. See also 1942 I.T. R. 370.

SEC. 22 (3): SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 22 (3) is intended to enable a person who has made a return to correct a wrong statement or supply an omission discovered in the return subsequent to its submission. It does not apply to a person who has made a false return knowing it to be false. 1939 I. T.R 613=1939 N.L.J. 553=1940 N. 88.

SEC. 22 (3).—"Return"—What amounts to. 1930 A.L.J. 26=1929 Cr. C. 647=1929 A. 919. See also 1935 O. 305; 1928 L. 729. There is nothing in Cl. (3) which says that any offence committed with respect to a return made under Cl. (2) must be condoned if the revised return be true. All that Cl. (3) provides is that this return would be treated as a return made in due time, provided it is made before an assessment has been made. 1929 A. 010. Although an assessee is late in filing his return, nevertheless, if he does file it before the assessment is actually made, the return has to be considered and dealt with although out of time. 139 I.C. 593=1932 C. 410 (S.B.). Duty of Income-tax Officer—Right to make private visit to assessee's place of business and act upon the result—Right of assessee to be heard in answer. 158 I.C. 959=16 P.L.T. 429=1935 P. 425 (S.B.).

INCOME-TAX RULES, R. 35—PROCEDURE UNDER— WHEN PERMISSIBLE.—Where the assessee is unable to provide particulars on which assessment can be made, and the commissioner has no more reliable data, he can resort to sec. 35, even though the data are not procurable for no fault of the assessee. 57 B. 519=35 Bom.L.R. 896=1933 B. 427.

Where an assessee files a return on the usual form duly signed and verified and not being in a position to know how much he had spent and how much he had received enters a sum arrived at by rough calculation as his taxable income, the assessee must be taken to have filed a valid return under sec. 22 so as to justify an assessment under sec. 23 (3), although the return may not have supplied all the detailed information required. 1945 Pesh. 18.

SEC. 22 (4) is very wide and gives the Income-tax Officer very wide powers. 101 I.C. 321=1927 L. 5. An Income-tax Officer is entitled to call for documents which in his opinion would furnish him with relevant material for assessment of tax. The word "require" in sec. 22 (4) really means require as a piece of relevant evidence. It does not mean that he should ask for documents which he does not think to be relevant at all. Where the Income-tax Officer directed an assessee to produce his account books in order to make an assessment for the year 1929 to 1930 and the assessee produced some books but not those of the year 1925 to 1926. Held, that the books for the years 1925 to 1926, were not "required" within the meaning of sec. 22 (4). 53 A. 451=1931 A.L.J. 345=1931 A. 417. See also 64 I.A. 102—I.L.R. 1937 Nag. 191= 1937 2 M.L.J. 43=1937 P.C. 133 (P.C.). It is open to an Income-tax Officer to issue a notice under sec. 22 (4) at any time after he has called upon the assessee to furnish a return. 55 A. 804=1933 A.L.J. 1474=1933 A. 541. See also 1934 N. 183. There is no provision in the Act by which Income-tax Officer can enforce production of account books if the assessee firm declines to comply with the notice. 7 L. 104=1926 L. 326. It is clear that sec. 22 (4) relates only to accounts and documents which are in the possession or under the control of the person making the return. The legislature could not have intended to impose a penalty on a person for non-production of documents which he does not control. Kania, J.—There is no justification in law to call upon one friend to produce the books of another under sec. 22 (4) and then in default to make the party called upon liable under sec. 23 (4). 40 Bom.L.R. 1222=1939 B. 43. Sec. 22 (4). The Income-tax Act, no doubt, standing by itself, is uncontrolled by any time-limit. But a time-limit is imposed by the four words "having made a return", as used in sec. 23 (4). 1930 A.L.J. 1=1930 A. 49 (F.B.). Accounts or documents can be called for by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 22 (4) after issue of notice and before the filing of the return. After the filing of the return, secs. 23 (2), (3) and 37 give ample powers to the Income-tax Officer to call for whatever documtnts he requires. The failure to comply with any of the notices under these sections does not authorise the Income-tax Officer to make a summary assessment to the best of his judgment under Cl. (4) of sec. 23. 8 P.L.T. 686=1927 P. 390. See contra 7 . 26=1929 R. 38 (F.B.); 8 R. 587; 52 M. 194=1929 M. 60=56 M.L.J. 141 (F.B.). Where an assessment of super-tax has been completed as if the assessee were a Hindu undivided family and it is subsequently held that the assessee is an individual, if the original assessment was, in the absence of a return, made under sec. 23 (4) and the assessee in answer to a notice under secs. 22 (4) and 34 files a return disclosing a lesser income than that taken in the original assessment, the Income-tax Officer can reopen the assessment and determine the assessee's income de novo. 1931 A.L.J. 1109=1932 A. 83. A notice under sec. 22 (4) for producing the account books of the assessee by him, issued after he has submitted a return of his income, is invalid. 1932 C. 411=139 I.C. 599 (S.B.).

PROCEDURE.—It is not sufficient for an assessee to suggest to the Commissioner the questions of law. It is for the Commissioner to find the facts first and then to state the point of law which arises out of those facts and on which he desires an opinion. He may then if he likes give his own opinion on the case. 1927 P. 390. The combined notice under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2) is not illegal. 1934 N. 183. The issue of a notice under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2) presupposes the existence of a valid return having been made. 1934 N. 183.

SECS. 22 (4) AND 23 (4): CALLING OF EVIDENCE FOR INQUIRY—POWER OF INCOME-TAX OFFICER.—The final arbiter of what is required is the Income-tax Officer and not the assessee. It is for him to determine what evidence he considers relevant for the purposes of the enquiry. Similarly, if an income-tax Officer calls for all the previous accounts relating to the various businesses conducted by the assessee, but the assessee withholds some of them and the Income-tax Officer utilises the accounts produced by the assessee in making his estimate, it cannot be argued that those accounts which were not produced by the assessee were not required for the purpose of the assessment. The withholding of some of the account books which the assessee had been called upon to produce amounts therefore to a non-compliance with the terms of the notice issued under sub-sec. (4) of sec. 22 and entails all the penalties laid down in sub-sec. (4) of sec. 23. (53 A. 451, Dist.; 52 M. 194 (F.B.). Rel. on.) I.L.R. 1938 Lah. 551=1938 Lah. 551. See also 1938 Rang. 287.

SECS. 22 (4), 23 (4) AND 37: POWER TO CALL FOR ACCOUNTS FOR MORE THAN THREE YEARS PRIOR TO PREVIOUS YEAR.—The proviso to sec. 22 (4), when read with sec. 23 (4), of the Act only limits the power to call for accounts for more than three years prior to the previous year, when the income-tax officer has to make the assessment to the best of his judgment, where the conditions mentioned in sec. 23 (4) exist. Where, however, he proceeds to make an enquiry as regards the truth or otherwise of the allegations made by the assessee in his return, in order to determine whether the assessee has made out his allegations, there is nothing to prevent the Income-tax Officer from requiring the assessee to produce any evidence including accounts. No limit of time has been laid down in secs. 23 (3) and 37 of the Act in the matter of calling for accounts. (1945) I.T.R. 198.

Assessment.

23. (1) If the Income-tax Officer is satisfied [7][without requiring the presence of the assessee or the production by him of any evidence that a return made under section 22 is correct] and complete he shall assess the tota. income of the assessee, and shall determine the sum payable by him on the basis of such return.

(2) If the Income-tax Officer [1][is not satisfied without requiring the presence of the person who made the return or the production of evidence that a return made under section 22 is correct and complete, he shall serve on such person], a notice requiring him, on a date to be therein specified, either to attend at the Income-tax Officer's office or to produce, or to cause to be there produced, any evidence on which such person may rely in support of the return.

SECS. 22 AND 25-A: QUAERE.—Whether where notices have been issued to the individual members of the family as such, it is open to the Income-tax Officer without issuing a new notice to the Hindu joint family hough its manager or any adult member of the family to charge the income received by the individuals as income of the joint Hindu family. See 1937 Lah. 897=5 I.T.R. 548.

SECS. 22 AND 63 (2).—If the Income-tax Officer comes to the conclusion that a separate individual to whom he had issued notice was really a member of a Hindu joint family, a fresh notice may be issued to the Hindu joint family through the person whom he considers to be its manager or through any other adult member of the family as provided in sec. 63 (2). 1937 Lah. 897.

SEC. 23 (1).—[See also Notes under secs. 13 and 22 supra sec. 23 deals with matters of assessment and not with 'computation of the income, profits and gains for the purposes of secs. 10, 11 and 12'. It deals with 'return' and not primarily with accounts. If the return is 'correct and complete' then the income-tax officer has to 'assess the total income of the assessee' and determine the sum payable by him 'on the basis of such return'. 1938 N.L.J. 172=1938 Nag. 485. When once the Income-tax Officer has made the assessment under sec. 23 (1), that assessment is settled. On the general principles of law governing estoppels, neither the subject nor the Crown ought to be at liberty to go behind the amount of profits and gains when once determined by any competent authority. The assessment once made according to the provisions of the Income-tax Act can only be re-opened in accordance with the provisions of the Act. 177 I.C. 255=1938 Cal. 557 (S.B.). See also 1937 Lah. 721. Ordinarily and apart from the two cases coming within the purview of sec. 34 of the Income-tax Act, 1922, viz., (1) where income has escaped assessment in any year, and (2) where income has been assessed at too low a rate in any year, there is no time-limit, prescribed or necessarily implied in the Act, within which an assessment must be made or completed, and an assessment made after the expiry of the tax year is valid. Semble. Even in the two cases to which sec. 34 applies, if a notice is served within one year after the expiry of the tax year, the subsequent assessment or re-assessment may be made at any time and not necessarily within the year following the tax year. 61 I.A. 10=61 C. 285=38 C.W.N. 318=1934 P.C. 30=66 M.L.J. 121 (P.C.). The mere fact that a certain income has not suffered tax because of a device adopted by the assessee would not enable the department to assess the same in subsequent years when the device becomes apparent to the department. It is only when, according to a particular system adopted by the assessee, allocations are made not in the year when the amount is received but in later years, that the income so allocated can be said to be the income liable to be considered in the assessment year. 163 I.C. 324=1936 A.L.J. 549=1936 A. 279. In order to be valid, a demand for super-tax should be made within a reasonable time of the assessment for income-tax. Two years and four months is a wholly unreasonable time. 1934 S. 46=28 S.L.R. 174.

SEC. 23 (2): NOTICE.—Where a notice under sec. 23 (2) was issued to the assessee when the original return was filed, a fresh notice under sec. 23 (2) is not essential after the assessee had submitted an application to the Income-tax Officer mentioning certain omissions. I.L.R. (1940) All. 841=1940 A. L.J. 843=1940 All. 537. When an assessee has made a return which he knows is a bona fide return and in which he has put in his total income to the best of his then information, there might yet be some omission on his part due to some cause or other. To such and similar cases sec. 23 (2) would apply but not to a case of deliberate omission to furnish particulars available with the assessee. 1933 A.L.J. 49=1933 A. 197. When an Income-tax Officer is not satisfied with a return made under sec. 22, he has under sec. 23 (2) to serve on the assessee a notice to produce evidence on a specified date. 29 C.W.N. 591=1925 C. 890=88 I.C. 404. The issue of a notice under sec. 23 (2) is mandatory under certain circumstances. When the Income-tax Officer has reason to believe that the return filed by the assessee is incorrect or incomplete, and if he is not satisfied with the correctness of the assessee's return, the law requires that he shall serve a notice under sec. 23 (2) which then becomes imperative. The Income-tax Officer cannot proceed to make the best judgment assessment on the ground that there has been failure to comply with notice under sec. 23 (4), because if a valid notice under sec. 23 (4) is issued, the assessee might remove suspicions of the officer and satisfy him that his return is correct and complete. I.L.R. (1937) All. 834=1937 A.L.J. 957=1937 All. 770. Under sec. 23 (2), there are three alternatives provided for the assessee. It is not for the Income-tax Officer to decide which of the alternatives he will give to the assessee. If for example he requires only the attendance of the assessee, the latter would lose the valuable right of producing the evidence in support of the return and removing the doubts of the officer. Therefore if the Income-tax Officer in sending a notice under sec. 23 (2) scores out the words 'or to produce, or to cause to be there produced any evidence on which such person may rely in support of the return" from the printed notice containing all the three alternatives, the notice is irregular and illegal. I.L.R. (1937) All. 834=1937 A.L.J. 957=1937 All. 770. Reasonable notice should be given to the assessee before proceeding under Cl. (4). Whether a given time is reasonable time is a question of fact. 134 I.C. 1275=1931 C. 729 (S.B.). As to meaning of "return", see 1928 L. 729; 120 I.C. 435. Where an assessee applies for adjournment by post or by telegram of an enquiry in respect of which he has been required by a notice under sec. 23 (2) of the Indian Income-tax Act to produce evidence and the Income-tax Officer grants an adjournment, the letter or the telegram intimating the fact of the adjournment to the assessee is not a notice under sec. 23 (2) or a requisition within the meaning of sec. 63 of the Act. 1930 M. 113=58 M.L.J. 10 (F.B.).

SEC. 23 (2) (4): PROCEDURE.—Proceedings of income-tax Officer are of a judicial nature and he must proceed on judicial principles. 7 L. 201=1926 L. 161; 94 I.C. 156 =1926 L. 233. Where the assessees were never given an opportunity to contest and disprove the allegation that they were members of a joint Hindu family and were liable to be taxed jointly: Held, that the procedure was wrong and the assessment was invalid. 52 A. 991=1930 A.L.J. 1548=1931 A. 23. The plea that certain shares have been divided between the members of a joint Hindu family must be raised at the time of making an assessment under sec. 23 and it cannot be raised for the first time on appeal against the assessment. 56 A. 504=1934 A. 217. Value to be attached to account books produced by assessee. 7 L. 201. Prroceedings under Ch. IV of the Act (Assessment Proceedings) are judicial proceedings in the colloquial sense only and not in the strictly scientific sense, so as to raise questions in appeal to some higher tribunal as to whether the authority making the assessment has decided against the weight of evidence, or decided a fact of which there is no evidence or has disregarded evidence which ought to have been taken into account 3 I.T.R. 48. Where the Income-tax Officer found that some of the books of the assessees were not clear as regards the income derived by the owners thereof and assessed the income at a certain figure without stating what was the basis of his computation. Held, that the assessment was illegal. 52 A. 991=1933 A.L.J. 1548=1931 A. 23. See also 1930 L. 605; 7 R. 669; 8 R. 203. Although, in a previous year of assessment, a decision is arrived at after investigation and inquiry that certain deductions ought to be made, it is still open to the Income-tax authorities to reopen the question in a subsequent year of assessment, if fresh facts come to light. The Income-tax Officers are to be guided by principles of natural justice and cannot arbitrarily change the assessment. 1930 L. 605. See also 1930 M. 209=58 M.L.J. 270=53 M. 420 (F.B.); 1933 O. 396. The order of an Income-tax Officer in a particular year allowing the salaries of two of the partners as business deductions does not bind his successors in a subsequent year. 12 L. 663=134 I.C. 198=1931 L. 341. In an ordinary case, particulars in respect of which and the ground of which the Income-tax Officer thinks that the statement was either not genuine or complete ought to be given in a notice, especially in cases where the objection is that the accounts are incomplete. But where the finding is that the accounts of the assessee in previous years as well as in the current year were not genuine but merely cooked for income-tax purposes, the Income-tax Officer is under no obligation either in law or in common fairness to set out all the reasons which led him to come to such a conclusion. 7 . 281=1929 R. 102. 'Evidence'—If confined to direct evidence—Omission of transactions from account books—Rejection of such books by Income-tax Officer—If justified. 40 P.L.R. 585=1938 Lah. 209. (See also 60 I.A. 146=12 Pat. 318=1933 P.C. 108 =64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). Where the Income-tax Officer makes an assessment to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4) of the Act, he must do so according to rules of reason and justice and state in his order the materials or reasons on which his judgment is found. 7 R. 669. See also 8 R. 203. Per Sulaiman, C. J.—In a proceeding under sec. 23 (3) there can be no objection in the Income-tax Officer or the Assistant Commissioner acting upon the assessment for the previous year if no better evidence is forthcoming, even though that assessment might have been made to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4). The fact that during the previous year the income was assessed on a certain figure is certainly some evidence on which he can proceed, even independently of any presumption of continuity. If the assessee fails to produce satisfactory evidence, he fails to displace the previous year's estimate, which is certainly admissible against him. 58 A. 200=1936 A.

(3) On the day specified in the notice issued under sub-section (2), or as soon afterwards as may be, the Income-tax Officer, after hearing such evidence as such person may produce and such other evidence as the Income-tax Officer may require, on specified points, shall, by an order in writing, assess the total income of the assessee, and determine the sum payable by him on the basis of such assessment.

286=1935 A.L.J. 1312 (B.B.). In every case before an ex parte assessment is made under sec. 23 (4), the Income-tax Officer must invariably conduct such "local" inquiry to ascertain the income of the proposed assessee for the "previous year" as the circumstances of the case may warrant, and he must place on the record "a note of the details and results of his inquiry" in order that the Commissioner of Income-tax under sec. 33 or the High Court under sec. 66 (2) or (3) may be in a position to see that the assessment "was according to the rules of reason and justice and not arbitrary". [1931 R. 194, Diss.; 1931 L. 87 (F.B.), Foll.] 1934 N. 183 (2). Per Sulaiman, C.J.—Enquiries made by the Income-tax Officer from the people of the district, after proceedings under sec. 23 (3) had started, of which no notice had been given to the assessee, are illegal, and not authorised by sub-sec. (3). Similarly enquiries made by the Assistant Commissioner during the hearing of the appeal behind the back of the asseesee are not justified by the provisions of sub-sec. (3) and the result of such private enquiries should not be made the basis of any assessment. 58 A. 200=1936 A. 286=1935 A.L.J. 1342 (S.B.).

SECS. 22 (4) AND 23 (2) AND (4): SERVICE OF NOTICE.—See also 57 M.L.J. 854=1930 M. 127. Notice may be served under sec. 23 (2) on any member of the firm as provided for in sec. 63 (2) of the Act. It is not necessary that notice should be served only on the member of the firm who made the return. 48 M. 602=1925 M. 1048=49 M.L.J. 124. (See also notes under sec. 63, infra.) 8 P. 877=1930 P. 127. Where the Income-tax Officer issued a combined notice under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2), requiring the assessee to produce the accounts and the notice was served on the gumasta of the assessee: held, there was sufficient compliance with the law as to notice. The word "person" clearly includes a firm as provided by the General Clauses Act 1897, and when the return is made on behalf of the firm by a partner, it is the firm that is the person who makes the return and any proper service on the firm as authorised by sec. 63 (2) will be a proper service. 48 M. 602=1925 M. 1048=49 M.L.J. 124. A combined notice was served upon the assessee under sec. 22 (4) to produce accounts and under sec. 23 (2) either to attend or to produce or cause to be produced any evidence in support of his return. A certain date was fixed. The assessee obtained an adjournment until a certain date. On the adjourned date the assessee applied for further adjournment on ground of illness. The Income-tax Officer refused the application and proceeded ex parte under sec. 23 (4) to make the assessment to the best of his judgment. Held, that the officer was not bound to announce beforehand how he proposed to deal with an application for an adjournment. The assessee had already obtained one adjournment until a certain date. It was his duty, if he desired a further adjournment, to apply on a date earlier than the adjourned date. The assessee in fact delayed his application for further adjournment until the very day appointed for compliance with the orders. Even if this could be said to be a case of exercising a judicial discretion, there was no ground for suggesting that it was wrongly exercised. 64 I.A. 102=I.L.R. 1937 N. 191=41 C.W.N. 719=1937 P.C. 133=(1937) 2 M. SEC. 23 (3) AND (4).—See also Notes under sec. 13 supra). Under sec. 23 (3) of the Income-tax Act, if the account books of the assessee are found to be unrealiable and are rejected, and the assessee fails to produce evidence on which the Income-tax Officer can make a proper assessment of the assessee's income, the Income-tax Officer must himself take steps to procure material for the purpose if it is not already in his possession. He can call witnesses and make his own inquiries, and when he has material on which he can assess, he must consider it and make an assessment to the best of his judgment. The only difference between such an assessment under sec. 23 (3) and an assessment under sec. 23 (4) is that the Act contemplates a more summary method when the Income-tax Officer is acting under sec. 23 (4). I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 404=1939 Mad. 371=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 451. In making an assessment under sec. 23 (3), there is nothing in the Act which requiries the Income-tax Officer to disclose to the assessee the material on which he purposes to act or to refer to it in his order, but natural justice requires that he should draw the assessee's attention to any such material and give him a reasonable opportunity to meet the case arising therefrom before making his order. Further an order under sec. 23 (3) is appealable, and hence it should contain the materials on which the assessment is based so that the appellate authority may form its opinion on the fairness of that assessment. The assessee is, however, not entitled to demand copies of the confidential statements in the possession of the Income-tax Officer or to demand that his informants should be called by the Income-tax Officer, so that they may be cross-examined by the assessee, and the Income-tax Officer is not a Court in the usual meaning of the term, when he is holding an inquiry under sec. 23 (3). Under sec. 37, he has merely certain powers of a Civil Court for the purposes of Ch. IV. Sec. 23 (3) is not exhaustive, and there is implicit in the section in its context, the power to collect and act on other "evidence" in a wide sense of the term; it is not necessary to invoke the proviso to sec. 13 of the Act for that purpose, for that section and the proviso thereto relate to the method of accounting and that alone, though the word "method" has to be given a wide and reasonable construction. 1940 Sind 92; I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 404=1939 Mad. 371=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 451. Where the account books of the assessee were rejected by the Income-tax Officer and he proceeded to assess him at a flat rate, to which method of assessment the assessee objected throughout the proceedings: Held, the case was a proper one for reference under sec. 66 of the Act. 39 P.L.R. 563=1937 Lah. 397. Even after the issue of a notice, which is contemplated by sec. 23 (3), an assessment can be made under sec. 23 (4), if there has been a default in complying with a notice under sec. 22 (4) or sec. 23 (2), and it is not necessary that the assessment must be made under sec. 23 (3) of the Act. 1940 A.L.J. 843=I.L.R. (1940) A. 41=1940 A. 537. Pursuant to a notice under sec. 22 (4), the assessee produced his accounts to which no exception was taken. But the books included a suspense account in which entries were made purporting to relate to certain sums deposited and withdrawn by various persons not, however, described specifically. The assessee was unable to identify those persons and the Income-tax Officer, not being satisfied with the entries and the explanation, refused to accept the return and made an estimated assessment under sec. 23 (4). Held, that from the mere inability of the assessee to identify the depositors, it did not follow that the whole accounts were either false or incomplete. If the officer had been of opinion that the transactions in suspense accounts were not temporary deposits but loan transactions resulting in profits to the assessees, he might have included such profits under sec. 23 (3) in the assessment made by him. But there were no materials to justify the Income-tax Officer in disregarding the return in toto and making the assessment under sec. 23 (4). 10 R. 92=1932 R. 52 (S.B.). See also I.L.R. 1938 L. 10=39 P.L.R. 1028=1937 Lah. 721. The assessee, a contractor, who was served with a notice, first under sec. 22 (2), and then under sec. 22 (4) of the Act, appeared before the Income-tax officer and produced a return of his income in the usual form showing his income to be Rs. 10,000. It was duly verified and signed. At the same time he also made a statement which was recorded and which was to the effect that his books were spoiled by fire, that his Munshi was ill and could not write the books correcly and that enquiry should be made about his status and he should be assessed on the payment made to him by the Government. The Income-tax officer made some enquiries, found that the assessee had made a turn over of Rs. 6,69,929, during the year of assessment and assessed him at Rs. 20,047, under sec. 22 (3) of the Income-tax Act. The assessee appealed to the Assistant Commissioner who confirmed the assessments and being of opinion that the assessee had concealed information regarding his income, imposed a penalty of Rs. 14,000, on the assessee under sec. 28 of the Act. The assessee contended that for the purpose of the Act, he had not filed the return, that he had in consequence been assessed under sec. 23 (4), therefore he had no right of appeal and that the Assistant Commissioner had no jurisdiction to impose a penalty. Held, that the assessee had filed a valid return so as to justify an assessment under sec. 23 (3) of the Act, that his appeal was competent and the order imposing the penalty was legal. (1944) I.T.R. 498.

"TOTAL INCOME".—Income derived from the dividend paid by a company registered in England but doing business in India cannot be reckoned as part of his total income where the assessee is not resident in India and the item has already paid income-tax when in the hands of the company. 55 B. 734=33 Bom.L.R. 776=1931 B. 420.

SEC. 23 (4).—Even if the power to determine the tax payable by the tax-payer be not given expressly by the directions to "make the assessment", such power is implied, reading the section as a whole. 65 I.A. 236=I.L.R. 1983 Bom. 487=42 C.W.N. 873=1938 P. C. 175=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 115 (P.C.). The officer is to make an assessment to the best of his judgment against a person who is in default as regards supplying information. He must not act dishonestly, vindictivly or capriciously, because he must exercise judgment in the matter. He must make what he honestly believes to be a fair estimate of the proper figure of assessment, and for this purpose he must be able to take into consideration local knowledge and repute in regard to the assessee's circumstances, and his own knowledge of previous returns by, and assessments of, the assessee, and all other matters at a fair proper estimate; and though there must necessarily be guess work in the matter it must be honest guess work. In that sense too, the assessment must be to some extent arbitrary. Sec. 23 (4) places tht officer in the position of a person whose decision as to amount is final and subject to no appeal, but whose decision, if it can be shown to have been arrived at without an honest exercise of judgment, may be revised or reviewed by the Commissioner under the powers conferred upon that official by sec. 33. There is no justification in the language of the Act for holding that an assessment made by an officer under sec. 23 (4), without conducting a local inquiry and without recording the details and results of that inquiry, cannot have been made to the best of his judgment within the meaning of the section. 64 I.A. 102=I.L.R. 1937 N. 191=1937 P.C. 133=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 43 (P.C.). See also 1938 Lah. 867. There is no foundation for the suggestion that because an earlier Income-tax Officer was disposed to fasten on one particular default and said that he might possibly accept the explanation given in regard to others, it means that when a recommencement of the whole proceedings has been directed, the subsequent revenue officers are to blind themselves to the obvious facts when the case is taken up again. 177 I.C. 125=1938 Rang. 287. Where the assessee makes a return in the prescribed form but under head five shows the profits or income as, "about Rs. " and none of the details required under note five are given, the Income-tax Authorities can treat the return as no return at all and can ultimately make the assessment under sec. 23 (5), particularly when the assessee does not declare the period to which the income declared relates. 159 I.C. 646=1935 L. 858. The word "assessment" in sec. 23 (4) means determining the total taxable income and the sum payable on it. A notice can be validly issued under sec. 29 when the Income-tax Officer has made a best judgment assessment under sec. 23 (4). 56 A. 418=1934 A.L.J. 47=1934 A. 930. An assessment in default is a very serious thing; and unless it is open to the Court to insist that notices under secs. 23 (2) and 22 (4) are given so as to afford reasonable opportunity to an assessee to comply with their requirements, the honest and diligent tax-payer will have no security for fair treatment and no remedy in the absence of fair treatment. Where a notice is received at 3 P.M. on 18th of a month requiring the assessee to produce any evidence on which he might rely in support of his return on the 19th, the notice is not such a reasonable notice as the law requires, affording the assessee proper opportunity to comply with its return. 134 I.C. 1275=1931 C. 729 (S.B.). Before the Income-tax Officer can obtain jurisdiction to assess summarily under sec. 23 (4), it is not necessary that there must be a failure in each of the cases mentioned in sec. 23 (4). 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F. B.). Where an assessee received a notice from the Income-tax Officer under sec. 22 requiring him to make a return in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner setting forth his total income during the previous year, and the assessee does neither fill the form, nor verify such form in the prescribed manner, but instead writes a letter intimating his non-liability to be taxed under the Act, it must be taken that he has failed to make a return under sec. 22 (2) within the meaning of sec. 23 (4). 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.). A partial default in complying with notices issued under sec. 22 (4) or sec. 23 (2) involves the same consequences under sec. 23 (4) of the Act as a total default. 38 P.L.R. 812=1936 L. 489. Where the Income-tax Officer comes to the conclusion that the assessee has been withholding books of account which are not produced in accordance with a notice under sec. 22 (4), he is entitled to make an assessment to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4). More so when other documents have been withheld by the assessee and there has been deliberate misrepresentation on his part to the Income-tax Authorities. 1936 L. 750. See also I.L.R. 1938 L. 551=1938 Lah. 351 =40 P.L.R. 821. A return which deliberately failed to comply with the rule contained in sec. 22 (2) that the return was to be of the total income of the assessee is no return at all within the meaning of sec. 22 (2). So where an assessee who had four branches sent in a return which did not mention two of them and the omission was not corrected in spite of time granted for it, the Income-tax Officer is entitled to make an assessment to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4). 1933 A.L.J. 49=1933 A. 197. Assessee attending Income-tax Office with his evidence in obedience to notice issued under sec. 23 (2)—Income-tax Officer not accepting the evidence as conclusive does not bring that case under sub-sec. (4). The assessees were asked by the Income-tax Officer by notice under sec. 22 (4) to produce their books of account on the date fixed in the notice. They entered appearance but produced no account books. An adjournment was given to enable the parties to produce the evidence in their possession. On the date fixed for hearing, on the officer requesting them to produce the evidence, the parties turned round saying that they had no evidence. They did not make any affidavit in support of their statement, nor did they try to convince the officer in any other way of the truth of their statement. Held, that there was no compliance with all the terms of the notice and that the assessment under that provision of law was valid. 9 P. 172=1930 P. 14. Notice under sec. 22 (2) read with sec. 34 to partner of firm — Assessee stating that he was only the sleeping partner of the firm and that he knew nothing of its income or profits—Income-tax Officer can make assessment under sec. 23 (4). 1933 L. 290. The mere fact of the denial of the existence of the account books did not absolve

the assessee, if it is found upon the evidence that the books were really in existence, and assessment under sec. 23 (4) is consequently valid. 8 P. 877. Even when the assessee denies the existence of accounts or documents, the Income-tax Officer can presume the existence of such accounts or documents. 1930 A.L.J. 1=1930 A. 49 (F.B.). If an assessee has books and does not produce them he can be assessed in default under sec. 23 (4), whatever other evidence he might choose to put forward in support of his return. Other evidence, in the absence of the books, can hardly satisfy a reasonable man. But it was never intended by the Act that failure to produce books, prior to the filing of a return, should deprive the assessee of his right to have the return duly and properly inquired into. A return, which by sec. 22 (3), is to be deemed to be a return made in due time cannot be treated stillborn because of a previous failure to comply with a notice under sec. 22 (4). 134 I.C. 1275=1931 C. 729 (S.B.). Where the assessee does not produce any vouchers or any other material which may enable a detailed check of his account books, the value of the account books produced by the assessee is, therefore, no higher than his mere word. 1936 L. 856. Where the books of account of the assessee did not give a complete and correct version of the actual business, and though the Income-tax Officer accepted them to a certain extent, he added a certain sum to represent the amount of omissions: Held, that in making an assessment, the Income-tax Officer should proceed on judicial principles, but as in the case under consideration there was evidence before him to show that books could not be relied upon, his inclusion of a certain sum for omissions was justifiable. 1936 L. 836. In a case in which an assessee has duly filed a return of the "previous year" and has also on receipt of a notice under sec. 23 (2) produced evidence in support of the return including some, but not all, of his account books, and the Income-tax Officer is not satisfied with such evidence, he can at that stage issue a notice under sec. 22 (4) calling upon the assessee to produce his complete account books for the "previous year" and for three years prior thereto, and on the assessee's failure to do so, assess him under sec. 23 (4). 12 L. 129=1931 L. 87 (F.B.). Per Tek Chand and Dalip Singh, JJ.—"The legislature should take the earliest opportunity of reviewing the position and, if possible, of redrafting and re-arranging the same. This seems all the more necessary as the interpretation which the Court has felt bound to put on these sections is likely to work a great injustice in some cases". 12 L. 129. In making the "assessment to the best of his judgment" under sec. 23 (4), the Income-tax Officer does not possess absolutely arbitrary authority to assess at any figure he likes, and the Income-tax Officer, though not bound by strict judicial principles, should be guided by the rules of justice, equity and good conscience. 12 L. 129. See also 7 R. 669; 8 R. 203; 1933 O. 396. But see 9 R. 281 contra. The expression "to the best of his judgment" seems nothing more than "as best as he can". It is incorrect to say that the Income-tax Officer must exercise a "judicial "discretion" in making the assessment. A judicial discretion presupposes that power has been confided to the tribunal to act or refrain from acting in a particular way in certain proved or admitted circumstances, whereas under the section if the assessee has not chosen to state an account, the officer shall make an assessment and he has no discretion in the matter. 9 R. 281=1931 R. 194 (F.B.). See also 1932 I.C. 564 (2); 150 I.C. 646=1935 L. 858. Though a Taxing Officer is not entitled to make a guess without evidence, still when the assessee does not give correct returns, the Taxing Officer's estimate holds good, unless the assessee displaces it by adducing evidence. 60 I.A. 146 =12 P. 318=1933 P.C. 108=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). Where an assessee failed to make a return of his income under sec. 22 (2) of the Act and some time later died, an assessment on his estate made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) "to the best of his judgment" is illegal. Per Beamount, C.J.—"In construing a taxing Act the Court is not justified in straining the language in order to hold a subject liable to tax. If the legislature intends to assess the estate of a deceased person to tax charged on the deceased in his lifetime, the legislature must provide proper machinery and not leave it to the Court to endeavour to extract the appropriate machinery out of the very unsuitable language of the Statute". 55 B. 312=1931 B. 333=33 Bom.L.R. 388; 6 P.L.T. 555= 1925 P. 694. The assessees, who were a Hindu family of money-lenders, had lent money to a lady to the extent of Rs. 41,342 and in the year of account 1939-40, the loan with interest amounted to Rs. 60,382. By an arrangement with the debtor the assessees took over three properties of the debtor along with the outstanding rents from the tenants for the total sum of Rs. 60,000, remitting the balance of Rs. 382. In their books the assessees valued the three properties separately at Rs. 30,000, Rs. 16,000 and Rs. 4,000 respectively, making a total of Rs. 50,000 and assessed the arrears of rent at Rs. 10,000. In assessing the income of the assessees the Income-tax Officer accepted these figures as the true value and proceeded on that basis to assess the income under sec. 23 (4) of the Income-tax Act. The assessees contended that this did not represent the true value of the properties and that the Income-tax Officer should not have accepted these figures but should have made further inquiries. Held, that the Income-tax Officer was amply justified in taking the value placed by the assessees on the properties as the true value. (1944) I.T.R. 327=1945 Cal. 327. "The Income-tax Officer is empowered to call upon the assessee (whether or not he has made a return) to produce such documents and accounts as he may require within the period specified in the notice requiring their production. Sub-sec. (4) of sec. 22 prevents the Incometax Officer from calling upon an assessee to produce books of account going back for a period of more than three years prior to the accounting period. There is, however, no such limitation upon the power to call for documents". 50 A. 589=26 A.L.J. 340= 1928 A. 283. Once an assessment has been made to the best of the Income-tax Officer's judgment on a nett income under sec. 23 (4) of the Act, it follows that all expenses incidental to the business must be assumed to have been taken into consideration in arriving at the nett income assessed. Such an assessment is final, conclusive and not open to appeal. 1932 L. 396=136 I.C. 706. In respect of an assessee who has submitted a return of his income under sec. 22 (2), a notice issued under sec. 22 (4) is valid so as to justify an assessment under sec. 23 (4) in the event of non-compliance of the terms of the notice. 57 M.L.J. 854=1930 M. 127 (S. B.). Also 52 M. 194=1929 M. 60=56 M.L. J. 141 (F.B.). Where the Income-tax Officer issued a notice to a certain firm under sec. 22 (4) calling upon them to produce the books of the particular branch and the firm did not produce the books stating that they kept no books at that branch but the Income-tax Officer did not believe the statemment and decided for reasons stated by him that the assessee had such books at that branch, that they had failed to comply with the terms of the notice and further made an assessment under sec. 23 (4), held, that the Income-tax Officer acted quite properly in making the assessment under sec. 23 (4). 8 R. 587= 1931 R. 53. Where the assessee has deliberately withheld the pakki rokar and the ledger, the Income-tax Officer is justified in refusing to allow the assessee to produce kachchi rokar which would be of no value as evidence and to pass orders under sec. 23 (4). 10 L. 691=1929 L. 173. The failure to produce books of account required by the authorities by a notice under sec. 34 entails the same consequence as in the case of a failure to make a return under sec. 22 and the Income-tax Officer is entitled in such a case to make the assessment under sec. 23 (4). 34 C.W.N. 1093. The Income-tax Department should not as a rule take a stand on a technical ground under sec. 23 (4) where there is a substantial compliance with the requisition of notice under sec. 22 (4). 9 P. 172=1936 P. 14. Where the Income-tax Officer called on the assessee to produce his account books and the assessee produced some books but not those of an earlier year and thereupon the officer made an assessment under sec. 23 (4) even though the books produced gave the necessary data, held, that the books of the earlier year were not really required within the meaning of sec. 22 (4) and that the assessment should under the circumstances be made under cl. (3) and not under cl. (4) of sec. 23. 53 A. 451= 1931 A.L.J. 345=1931 A. 417. It is the duty of an assessee to keep and present his accounts to show the actual income made by him. If he fails to do this he must put up with the estimate by the officers made with the best of his ability, though it is true that the officer is not entitled to make a guess without evidence. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (F. B.). Where the accounts or documents or evidence produced by the assessee do not furnish sufficient material for an assessment and, in particular, if they, far from revealing the income, intentionally falsify the income, it is open to the Income-tax Officer to make an assessment under sec. 23 (4), for the assessee has failed to comply with all the terms of the notice. The question whether there has been a compliance with the terms of the notice is not a question of law but a question of fact. Further, whether the evidence before the Income-tax Officer is sufficient to justify him in rejecting the accounts of the assessee is also a question of fact. 137 I.C. 732=1932 O. 164. Where the books of account of the assessee are not produced and the Assistant Commissioner makes an assessment to the best of his judgment, if the enhancement is based on materials from which he could reasonably conclude, though only on a rough estimate, that the income is of a certain specified amount, such an enhancement is legal. But if on the other hand the enhancement is wholly arbitrary and based on no material, it would be illegal. 7 R. 635. Although a summary assessment was higher than that of the previous year which was based on the returns submitted by the assessee, if it is based on some evidence. it cannot be said it is arbirary and so illegal. 1932 P. 166=140 I.C. 712. But see also 9 R. 281. An Income-tax Officer of the principal place of business is not bound to accept the report of the Income-tax Officer of a place where the assessee is carrying on a branch business, nor is he bound to refer the matter back to the latter officer for further inquiry. The former can assess the assessee according to his judgment under sec. 23 (4). 1930 A.L.J. 1=1930 A. 49 (F.B.). Per Mokerji, J.—"It is the ordinary privilege of a subject that he shall not be taxed on his income without a proper investigation. It is open to the assessee to prove what his income is before he is assessed on the income. If it had been the intention of the legislature that the mere word of the Taxing Officer should be final, one should find a clear indication of that in the language of the Statute. 1930 A. 49 (F.B.). Where the Income-tax Officer does not get proper material on which to find out the true income of an assessee, it is in the interests of the State to guess the income of the assessee. The assessee cannot complain that he has been over-taxed if owing to his own failure the officer is not able to do justice towards him. But where the proper materials are before the Officer, he should utilise them and make an assessment under sec. 23 (3) which is liable to be re-examined in appeal. When an assessment is made more or less on matters which have been guessed out, there cannot be a proper appeal. There would be no sense in substituting the Income-tax Officer's "guess" by the superior officer's "guess". It is on this principle that an appeal is shut out in the case of "best judgment assessment". 53 A. 451=1931 A.L.J. 345=1931 A. 417. Assessee filing statement of income—Maintainability of appeal to income-tax authorities—Fine for gross under-statement of income. See 49 M. 831=1927 M. 49=24 L.W. 771. Where a notice issued under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2) of the Income-tat Act was not complied with and an assessment was made under sec. 23 (4). Held, that no appeal lay from the order of assessment. 9 P. 172=10 Pat. L.T. 769=1930 P. 14. An appeal is shut out under sec. 30 not by way of punishment to the assessee, but because there are no materials which can be properly placed before an appellatt Income-tax Officer. On reading, therefore, the two secs. 22 and 23, it is abundantly clear that a right to make an assessment to the best of the officer's judgment cannot be made after an enquiry has been started so as to shut out an appeal simply because at any time after the enquiry has been started, the assessee fails to produce an account as asked for. 1930 A.L.J. 1=1930 A. 49 (F.B.). But see 12 L. 129 (F.B.), cited supra. In the case of an assessment under sec. 23 (4), the only question of law that could arise is whether there were any materials upon which the Income-tax Officer concerned could find that there was no sufficient cause excusing the assessee from complying with the requirements of law as prescribed by sec. 27. In cases of this kind the giving of positive evidence by the department about facts which are within the special knowledge of the opposite party is almost out of question, and the materials which come within the description of circumstantial evidence, or general probabilities which would justify a presumption under sec. 114 of the Evidence Act, are materials upon which the Court can come to a finding just as properly as it could upon positive evidence. 16 Luck. 805=1941 O.W.N. 757=1941 Oudh 445. See also I.L.R. (1941) A. 1 =1941 A.L.J. 12=1940 A. 530. The jurisdiction exercised by the High Court under the Income-tax Act is a special jurisdiction and is consequently circumscribed within the limits specified in the Statute. The power of revising, reviewing or interfering in any other manner with an assessment made under sec. 23 (4) being nowhere conferred upon the High Court, expressly or impliedly by the Act, no such power can be exercised merely by virtue of the general inherent jurisdiction of the High Court, if any. I. L.R. (1938) Lah. 477=40 P.L.R. 308=1938 Lah. 545.

STATING CASE TO HIGH COURT.—A point of law would invariably be involved in an ex parte assessment which is not shown to have been made to the best of his judgment by the Income-tax Officer, so as to make it the subject of a reference to and decision by the High Court under sec. 66 (2) or (3). 1934 N. 183. See also 1941 A.L.J. 12=I.L. R. (1941) All. 1=1940 All. 530; 15 Luck. 723=1940 O. 362. When a person without being called upon under sec. 22 (2) to furnish a return of his income for the previous year, voluntarily files a return of such income in the prescribed form and duly verified in the prescribed manner, the question whether the return voluntarily filed is a valid return or not is an important question of law, and it is necessary to state the case to the High Court. 10 L. 773=31 Punj.L.R. 23 =1929 L. 246 (2). An assessee whose return is disbelieved and who is summarily taxed without being given notice under sec. 23 (2) can apply to the High Court to have a case stated under sec. 66 (2), as the question raised challenges the very foundation of the assessment. 29 C.W.N. 28=1925 C. 173. If an assessee disputes in his statement the authority of the Income-tax Department to adopt a flat rate, then a question of law may arise for consideration of the High Court as to whether, in the absence of other reliable data, as to income of an assessee from a certain source, an Income-tax Officer is justified in making an assessment based on a formula deduced by taking a certain percentage of the gross turnover as representing a fair margin of profit. But if the assessee admits that he has nothing to say if some percentage is adopted to find out income from a particular source, it is not open to him to urge merely the question of the reasonableness of the extent of the percentage adopted. 1929 N. 243. Assessee called upon to attend and produce evidence—Assessment under sec. 13 (proviso)—Appeal rejected—Application to Commissioner to state a case rejected—Application to High Court. 6 Pat.L.T. 555= 1925 P. 694. Although the Act does not specifically provide for granting adjournments to comply with the terms of the notice served on the assessees under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2), in practice, adjournments are generally allowed for sufficient cause on the principle of justice, equity and good conscience. If therefore for any reason, a prayer for adjournment has to be refused, a definite order, either oral or written, must be passed by the officer and communicated to the assessee or his agent, when he is present, before proceeding with the drastic action of summarily assessing him under sec. 23 (4). Failure on the part of the Income-tax Officer in observing the aforesaid elementary principle of judicial procedure does considerably detract from the technical legality of the summary assessment order recorded by him against the non-applicant. [1930 M. 113 (S.B.), Rel. on.] 1934 N. 183 (2). When there is ample evidence upon which the Income-tax Officer can find that there was no sufficient cause preventing the assessee from producing account books requisitioned under sec. 22 (2) and it appears upon that ground he had refused to cancel the assessment made under sec. 23 (4) and his order is upheld by the Assisstant Commissioner on appeal for the same reason, there is no question of law arising under the circumstances for the purposes of sec. 66 (2). 9 R. 21=1931 R. 97. See also 1932 O. 164. The question whether an assessment made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) is valid or not is not a question of law that arises or can arise out of an order of the Assistant Commissioner passed under sec. 31, and such a question cannot therefore be made the ground for an order by the High Court under sec. 66 (3) requiring the Commissioner to state a case. [6 R. 21; 8 R. 209; 8 R. 203; 7 R. 669, Overr.] 9 R. 281=1931 R. 194 (F.B.); 56 A. 933=1934 A.L.J. 274=1934 A. 559. But see 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.) holding that the Commissioner may be required to state a case raising the question of law whether or not the facts established are such as to bring the case within the ambit of proviso to sec. 30 (1). Where a notice was duly served on the assessee under sec. 22 (4) but he failed to produce some of the accounts and thereupon the Income-tax Officer made an assessment under sec. 23 (4) and subsequently he refused to cancel the assessment at the instance of the assessee holding that there was no sufficient cause for the non-production of the accounts and the same order was affirmed by the Assistant Commissioner on appeal: Held, that the questions regarding the validity of the notice and the propriety of the assessment did not arise in the appeal and that there was no room for a reference to be made to the High Court. 9 R. 25=1931 R. 98. FRESH NOTICE.—The issue of a fresh notice under sec. 34 does not do away with a previous assessment under sec. 23 (4). 1931 A. L.J. 1109=1932 A. 83.

APPEAL.— An Assistant Commissioner should hear the assessee or his counsel and decide whether the case really fell under sec. 27 (4). He should not merely scrutinize the memorandum of appeal and the assessment order of the Income-tax Officer behind the back of the assessee or his counsel and dismiss the appeal on the ground that it is not allowable. 54 A. 496=1932 A. 390. See also 101 I.C. 321=1927 L. 5; 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.). A person who has been assessed under sec. 23 (4) is not entitled to prefer an appeal to the Assistant Commissioner on the ground that he was not liable to be assessed under the Act. Proviso to sec. 30 (1) is a bar to such an appeal. [10 L. 596 (F.B.), Foll.] 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.).

SEC. 23 AND 13 (PROVISO).—An Income-tax Officer can have recourse to the proviso to sec. 13 even in cases where he rejects the accounts produced by the assessee on the ground that they are not genuine and thus fail to represent truly his income and profits. If he purposes to make an estimate in disregard of the evidence, oral or documentary, led by the assessee, he should in fairness disclose to the assessee the material on which he is going to found that estimate. He is not, however, debarred from relying on private sources of information, which sources he may not disclose to the assessee at all. In case he proposes to use against the assessee the result of any private enquiries made by him, he must communicate to the assessee the substance of the information so proposed to be utilised to such an extent as to put the asses see in possession of full particulars of the case he is expected to meet and should further give him ample opportunity to meet it, if possible. Per Harries, C.J. and Munir, J. Contra.—If the books of the assessee are false, the Income-tax Officer can ignore them, but he has to discover the possible income of the assessee otherwise than by resorting to the proviso to sec. 13, and he may base the assessment on any fact that tends to show such income provided the assessee's attention has been drawn to that fact and he has been given an opportunity to rebut it. 1944 Lah. 353 (2) (F.B.)=I.L.R. 1945 Lah. 173.

SECS. 23 (4) AND 27.—Under sec. 23 (4), the fact of failure to comply with the notice under sec. 22 (4) makes it compulsory on the officer to make an assessment; and under sec. 27 unless the officer is aatisfied that the assessee had not a reasonable opportunity to comply or was prevened by sufficient cause from complying with that notice, the assessment must stand. That he had sufficient cause for not complying with another notice is irrelevant. 64 I.A. 102=I.L.R. 1937 Nag. 191=41 C.W.N. 719=1937 P.C. 133=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 43 (P.C.).

SEC. 23 (5) (a).—Total income of each partner of firm—If includes his share of firm's income.

The plain meaning of sec. 23 (5) (a) of the Income-tax Act is that the Income-tax Officer in computing the total income of each partner of the firm should include there his share of its income, profits and gains. The word "assessed" used in that clause means computed, and there is no room for the construction that a partner's share of the firm's income should be calculated, as if it were the separate income of an individual; nor is there any particular unfairness in treating persons, who have formed a partnership for carrying on business in British India, as persons resident in British India so far as their profits in that partnership are concerned. 1944 I.T. SECS. 23 (4), 30—34 AND 35: FINAL ASSESSMENT UNDER SEC. 23 (4)—WHEN CAN BE REOPENED—POWERS OF COMMISSIONER.—The Act nowhere imposes any limit of time within which an assessment under provisions of secs. 23 and 29 is to be made, and the service of the notice of demand can therefore be made at any time. But it is not true that after a final assessment under those sections has been made, the Income-tax Officer can go on making fresh computations and issuing fresh

(a) in the case of a registered firm, the sum payable by the firm itself shall not be determined but the total income of each partner of the firm, including therein his share of its income, profits and gains of the previous year, shall be assessed and the sum payable by him on the basis of such assessment shall be determined :

Provided that if such share of any partner is a loss it shall be set off against his other income or carried forward and set off in accordance with the provisions of section 24 :

Provided further that when any of such partners is a person not resident in British India, his share of the income, profits and gains of the firm shall be assessed on the firm at the rates which will be applicable if it were assessed on him personally, and the sum so determined as payable shall be paid by the firm ; and

(b) in the case of an unregistered firm, the Income-tax Officer may instead of determining the sum payable by the firm itself proceed in the manner laid down in clause (a) as applicable to a registered firm, if, in his opinion, the aggregate amount of the tax including super-tax, if any, payable by the partners under such procedure would be greater than the aggregate amount which would be payable by the firm and the partners individually if the firm were assessed as an unregistered firm.]

[3][(6) Whenever the Income-tax Officer makes a determination in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5), he shall notify to the firm by an order in writing the amount of the total income on which the determination has been based and the apportionment thereof between the several partners.]

notices of demand to the end of all time. When once a final assessment is arrived at, it cannot be reopened except in the circumstances detailed in sec. 34 and sec. 35 of the Act and within the time limited by those sections. It is quite impossible to suppose that the Income-tax Officer may in every kind of circumstance and after any lapse of time make fresh assessments or issue fresh notices of demand; or that the Commissioner can direct him to do so. The Commissioner's powers under sec. 33 can only be exercised subject to the provisions of the Act, of which the provisions in secs. 34 and 35 are in this respect of the greatest importance Where therefore an assessment is made under sec. 23 (4) of a registered firm assessing it only to income tax, the assessment is final in respect of income-tax and super-tax. If on the discovery of a mistake the registration is cancelled by the Commissioner under sec. 33, the order assessing the firm to super-tax more than one year after final assessment under sec. 23 (4) is beyond the powers of the Income-tax Officer. 65 I.A. 237=I.L.R. (1938) Bom. 487 =42 C.W.N. 873=1938 P.C. 175=(1938) 2 M. L.J. 115 (P.C.). Where an asssessment has been made, not in form only but in fact, under sec. 23 (4) of the Act, and where the Assistant Commissioner, upon consideration of the facts, has found that the assessment was properly so made, the proviso to sec. 30 bars an appeal; and the order of the Assistant Commissioner rejecting the appeal is not an order under sec. 31 inasmuch as he has not "disposed of" the appeal. Hence there can be no question of law referable to the High Court under sub-sec. (2) or sub-sec. (3) of sec. 66=1941 A.L.J. 12=1940 All. 530. See also 1943 Bom. 122=45 Bom.L.R. 168.

substance of the information on which the Income-tax Officer proposes to act and of the case against him and he is given a reasonable opportunity to meet that case, it is open to the Income-tax officer to act on private and confidential information in a work which is of a strictly private and confidential nature without disclosing the names of his informants. Sec. 91 of the Evidence Act is concerned solely with the mode of proof of a document, while the limitations imposed by sec. 92 relate only to the parties to the document and would not be binding on the Income-tax authorities so as to debar them from interpreting the document in a way different from what is alleged or recited in the deed itself or from challenging and going behind the recitals in the deed as to the payment of consideration or the amount of consideration stated in the document. 1944 I.T.R. 458. See also 1944 I.T.R. 441.

SEC. 23-A (2): ASSESSMENT UNDER—EXPRESS FINDING AS TO INTENTION TO EVADE TAXATION—IF ESSENTIAL.—Before an income-tax Officer can assess the shareholders of a Company under sec. 23-A (2) of the Income-tax Act on accumulated or undistributed profits of the Company, he has to be satisfied (1) that the profits of the Company have been allowed to accumulate beyond the existing and contingent needs of the Company, or that a reasonable part of the profits, having regard to the said needs, have not been distributed to its members, and (2) that such accumulation or failure to distribute is for the purpose of preventing the imposition of tax upon any of the members in respect of their shares in the profits so accumulated or not distributed. Both these conditions, which are questions of fact, must be satisfied before the members of a company can be assessed to income-tax on their shares in the accumulated or undistributed profits. It is not, however, necessary that there should be an express finding that the accumulation was made for the purpose of evading taxation. Such a finding can be implied. 1935 M. 1005=69 M.L.J. 577 (F.B.).

and gains so that the total distribution made is not less than sixty per cent. of the assessable income of the company of the previous year concerned [1][as reduced by the amount or income-tax or super-tax payable by the company in respect thereof] ;

[2][Provided further that this sub-section shall not apply to any company in which the public are substantially interested or to a subsidiary company of such a company if the whole of the share capital of such subsidiary company is held by the parent company or by the nominees thereof.]

Explanation.—For the purpose of this sub-section,—

[4]* a company shall be deemed to be a company in which the public are substantially interested if shares of the company (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend, whether with or without a further right to participate in profits) carrying not less than twenty-five per cent. of the voting power have been allotted unconditionally to, or acquired unconditionally by, and are at the end of the previous year beneficially held by, the public (not including a company to which the provisions of this sub-section apply), and if any such shares have in the course of such previous year been the subject of dealings in any stock exchange in British India or are in fact freely transferable by the holders to other members of the public.

(ii) Where the proportionate share of any member of a company in the undistributed profits and gains of the company has been included in his total income under the provisions of [11][sub-section (1)], the tax payable in respect thereof shall be recoverable from the company, [12][if it cannot be recovered from such member.] [13]* * * * *]

SEC. 24.—Scope of section. 55 M. 818=1932 M. 375=62 M.L.J. 638 (F.B.). The word "assessee" has not been used in sec. 24 in the strict sense of a person by whom income-tax is payable but means and signifies the person against whom assessment proceedings have been started and who has been asked to give a return of his total income during the previous year under sec. 22 (2). 182 I.C. 270=1939 Cal. 196 (S.B.). Applicability of section—Condition of set-off—Company having several businesses—Losses in some which have ceased to exist—If can be set off against—Profits or gains of others. 58 M. 433=1935 M. 330=68 M.L.J. 379 (F.B.). Where the assessee paid certain commission to his Banker for realising interest on Government securities on his behalf, held, that such payment could not constitute "loss" of profits or gains in the sense the expression has been used in sec. 24. 9 Pat. 139=1929 P. 419. Although the Act nowhere in terms authorizes the deduction of bad debts of a business, such a deduction is necessarily allowable. But they must be bad debts incurred in that particular year. For the purpose of computing yearly profits and gains, each year is a separate self-contained period of time, in regard to which profits earned or losses sustained before its commencement are irrelevant. It thus follows that a debt, which had in fact become a bad debt before the commencement of a particular year, could not properly be deducted in ascertaining the profits of that year, because the loss had not been sustained in that year. 59 I.A. 290=1932 P.C. 178=63 M.L.J. 361 (P.C.). [1929 N. 50 (F.B.) Reversed.] See also notes under sec. 10, Cl. (2) (ix)]. So long as there is any ray of hope left to recover a debt, however dim it may be, and so long as a debt is in the process of realization, it cannot be said that it has become irrecoverable and hence bad. 18 L. 306=168 I.C. 549=1937 L. 338 (F.B.). Upon a dissolution of partnership, a partner's share of the losses for several preceding years cannot be accumulated and thrown into the scale against the income of another partner for a particular year. No principle of writing off bad debts could justify such a course, whether in the year following the dissolution or in some subsequent year in which the partner's insolvency has crystalized. The "bad debt" would not, if good, have come in to swell the taxable profits of the other partners. Hence where the assessee is made to bear an ex-partner's share of loss in another partnership business by reason of the ex-partner's inability to meet it and the assessee transfers such loss to his own business and treats it as a bad debt, he is not entitled to set-off such amount against the income, profits or gains as loss in his business within the meaning of sec. 24. It cannot be considered as a bad debt made by the assessee in the course of his business. 63 I.A. 234=59 M. 716=1936 P.C. 133=71 M.L.J. 772 (P.C.). A debt due from a limited company can be treated as irrecoverable and a bad debt for the purposes of income-tax, and as a business loss under sec. 24 of the Income-tax Act, even when the debtor company is not actually wound up or has not ceased to be a going concern. 61 I.A. 318=58 B. 579=1934 P.C. 180=67 M.L.J. 213 (P.C.). Debt due from a joint-stock company cannot be said, to be a bad debt, so long as the company is carrying on business. See 56 B. 457=34 Bom.L.R. 1235=1932 B. 609. Whether a debt is a bad debt, and, if so, at what point of time it became a bad debt, are questions of fact. The assessee has no option of declaring a debt as bad. The mere fact that a debt was incurred at a date beyond the period of limitation will not of itself make the debt a bad debt; still less will it fix the date at which it became a bad debt. A statute barred debt is not necessarily bad; neither is a debt which is not statute barred necessarily good. The age of the debt is no doubt a relevant matter to take into consideration. 59 I.A. 290=1932 P.C. 178=63 M.L.J.

361 (P.C.). See also 1941 I.T.R. 635; 1933 S. 148. Purchaser of shares—Price exceeding face value paid—Excess is no loss. 1930 A.L.J. 26=1929 A. 919. If a person carries on two or more distinct businesses, the profits or losses of all of them are to be added together and the aggregate so arrived at represents his "profits or gains" under the head "business". If the net result of this calculation shows a loss, such loss may under sec. 24 be set off aggainst the profits or gains derived by the assessee from other heads of income in that year. 11 L. 38=1929 L. 556. Where a person carries on two different trades, he is entitled to set-off for purposes of income-tax the losses incurred by him in respect of one against the profit made by him in the other. But for this principle to apply, the condition precedent is that both businesses should be alive during the current year. A dead business's losses cannot be set off against a living business's gains. 18 L. 306=168 I.C. 549=1937 L. 338 (F.B.). See also 1935 L. 869; 1934 M. 557=67 M.L.J. 236 (F. B.). In the case of a registered firm it is the firm and not the partner that is the assessee in respect of the profits and gains of the business of the firm. It is only under sec. 24 (2) that a partner is allowed to set off, against the profits on which the partner is liable to pay income-tax, a proportion of the loss incurred by the firm. He is not entitled to set off the loss in the business of the firm agaiost the profits in other business carried on by him. (47 M. 660, Disappr.) 26 N.L.R. 75=1930 N. 183. See also 1935 L. 896. Loss incurred in transaction which is not part of business is not deductible from profits. 1936 L. 872. See also 58 M. 433=1935 M. 330=68 M.L.J. 379 (F.B.). Firm of partners doing business—Stock of shares always valued at cost—Dissolution of firm at end of accounting year—Shares allotted to partners at market value prevailing on date of dissolution—Difference, if can be claimed as loss. 187 I.C. 722=1939 Cal. 559. See also 1937 Lah. 814. Actual losses incurred must be proved—Mere showing figures of purchase and sale is not sufficient. 117 I. C. 217=1929 N. 153. Burden of proving losses is on assesee who alleges them—Opening balance must be shown. 1929 N. 153. The expression "loss of profits or gains" in sec. 24 (2) must mean loss on the year's working. When the general principles on which profits or gains of a business are computed are utilized to ascertain the result of the year's working and the calculation shows that there has been a loss, that is a loss of profits or gains. 26 N.L.R. 75=1930 N. 183. Sec. 24 should be read in as liberal a manner as possible. Where there is a bona fide loss, a man can always set it off against his income profits or gains under the same head, and in exceptional cases where the loss is so heavy that it more than counterbalances the whole of the profits under that head of income in order that the assessee may obtain his full relief. Held, that the amount of rent of a certain property which was occupied by a tenant who in spite of the efforts of the assessee (landlord) persisted in making default and which amount the landlord in a subsequent litigation had to forego in order to secure the eviction of the tenant, is not liable to be taken into account as the income of the assessee in arriving at the total sum on which the assessment is to be made. 132 I.C. 1=32 P.L.R. 418=1931 L. 656. Salt trade—Deposit of securities for deferring payment—System of deferred payment abolished—Assessee selling securities and incurring loss—Right to set-off. 165 I.C. 671=1936 L. 452. Assessee having business in Bombay and Rangoon—Assessment in 1937-38—Loss in Rangoon business—Claim to set-off—Rangoon ceasing to be part of British India after 31st March, 1937 does not deprive assessee of right to set-off—Facts to be taken into account as in previous year. 1940 I.T.R. 1. SEC. 24 (2): 'SAME BUSINESS"—TEST TO DETERMINE.—In determining whether different trading operations constitute a single or the "same business" within the meaning of sec. 24 (2) the real question to be considered is whether there is any inter-connection, any interlacing, any interdependence, any unity as all embracing the different businesses. 1945 Mad. 318=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 406. The assessee who was a manufacturer of bidis, engaged in a particular year in addition to his bidi business in specculation which consisted in dealing in forward cotton contracts, and in that speculation lost a large amount. Under sec. 24 (1) he was allowed to set this off against the profits derived from the manufacture of bidis during that year. The loss, however, outweighed the gains and he sought to carry forward the balance of the loss to the following year and claimed to set it off against the profits of bidi manufacture for the following year. In the following year he did not engage in any speculation whether in the nature of forward cotton contracts or otherwise at all. Held, that under sec. 24 (2) the balance of loss could only be set off against any profits which would have arisen from the same business in which the loss was incurred, that is to say, the business of engaging in forward cotton contracts and that as in the year to which it was sought to carry foorward the loss no such business was undertaken, the claim for the set off could not be allowed. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 650=1943 N.L.J. 458=1943 Nag. 317=1944 I.T.R. 21. Sec. 26 (2) is not a section of computation; the computation is allowed to be made only in the manner provided by sec. 24 (1) of the Act. The words "at the time of making an assessment under sec. 23" in sec. 26 (1) merely mean "when the time comes to make an assessment", or, in other words, "in the course of the assessment". During the "previous year" ending 30—9—1937, the assessee was in possession of a colliery and in working it he suffered a loss of about Rs. 17,000. In June, 1938, he sold the colliery as a going concern to B. Held, that "assessee" meant the assessee or his predecessor, and the assessee was therefore entitled to deduct this loss against his income under other heads. 22 Pat. 727=25 P.L.T. 52=1944 Pat. 107.

LAND PURCHASED BY COPARCENARY—PARTITION—LAND ALLOTTED TO ASSESSEE—SUBSEQUENT SALE—LOSS CANNOT BE CLAIMED AS SET-OFF.—A land was purchased in 1920 by the coparcenary of which the assessee was a member, in partnership with a stranger to the coparcenary. In 1924, in a partition between the coparceners this property was allotted to assessee. He sold it in 1928. The assessee claimed that he was entitled to deduct from his income the loss which he had sustained, i.e., the difference between the price at which the land was purchased in 1920 and the price at which it was sold in 1928. Held, that the purchase was an investment of capital in land and not a purchase made for the purpose of business in buying and selling land and when it came to the assessee it formed part of his capital. The assessee was not therefore entitled to claim the loss as set-off. 1933 S. 145=145 I.C. 202.

LOSS SUSTAINED OWING TO PARTNER'S DEFAULT—DEDUCTION OF.—The mere absence in the Act of a provision for loss in respect of a time-barred debt is no ground for disallowing it; but whether such loss could be claimed in any particular year or not is a question of fact depending upon the circumstances of each case. Where, therefore, an assessee is being taxed personally, it is open to him to say that on a settlement of accounts of the old partnership he treated the amount due by a partner as a loan made by him personally to that partner and that the loss which he consequently sustained on account of the failure of such partner to pay back the loan is a loss which he is entitled to claim credit for in assessing the profit which he has made in respect of all kinds of business carried on by him in the year of assessment. 1933 S. 148=27 S.L.R. 243.

SECS. 24 AND 26.—See 1937 S. 201. Whether a firm is registered or unregistered, partnership does not obstruct or defeat the right of a partner to an adjustment on account of his share of loss in the firm, whether the set-off be against other profits under the same head of income within the meaning of sec. 6 of the Act or under a different head. So long as the set-off is of the share of the loss made by the firm in the year of account, the adjustment does not involve the taking of any general or other account between the partners, or indeed any examination of the accounts of the individual partners in the books of the firm. 63 I.A. 233=59 M. 716=1936 P.C. 133=71 M. L.J. 772 (P.C.). Sec. 24 of the Income-tax Act which enables an assessee to set-off the loss of profits under any head mentioned in sec. 6, against the profits received under any other head can only apply in a case falling under sec. 26 (2) to the successor who is the only assessee. Under sec. 26 (2), it is peremptory that where there has been succession to a business it is the successor, and not the predecessor who is to be assessed. Whether by doing so one or the other is deprived of an advantage which he would otherwise have enjoyed under sec. 24 is irrelevant. Sec. 24 does not apply by any means to every assessment; it only applies where there is a profit under one head and a loss under another. Kania, J.—Sec. 24 assumes that the assessee is liable to be assessed under the particular head in respect of which he has suffered loss. On transferring a business, the transferor ceases to be an assessee who is liable to be assessed under that head, and sec. 24 in terms will not apply to him as regards the business which is assessed. SEC. 24-B.—Sec. 24-B of the Income-tax Act is not retrospective. 37 Bom.L.R. 112 =1935 B. 167. Sec. 24-B does not override sec. 26 (2). It was inserted to supplement sec. 26 (2) and it leaves sec. 26 (2) untouched. Sec. 26 (2) must therefore be applied in a case of succession to a business by death and the tax levied on the successor as if he had carried on the business throughout the previous year. 1944 M. 155=(1943) 2 M.L. J. 582=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 639. It is wholly irregular to assess a deceased person. The assessment should be made on the legal representative in respect of the income of the deceased. The provisions of sec. 24-B must be strictly complied with in such a case, and the notice under sec. 22 (2) read with sec. 24-B must clearly state that it is served on the legal representative and that the return required is of the income of the deceased. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 224=45 Bom.L.R. 143= 1943 I.T.R. 202=1943 Bom. 102. Death of person during accounting year without drawing commission earned by him prior to that year—Such commission paid to his widow during accounting year—Liability of widow to assessment thereon. 46 C.W.N. 489. In a case to which sec. 25-B of the Income-tax Act applies the estate of a deceased person can be assessed either under sub-sec. (2) or sub-sec. (3) of sec. 24-B; if that is possible there is no occasion to introduce the provisions of sec. 34 of the Act. 37 Bom.L.R. 112=1935 B. 177.

SEC. 25.—Transfer of business from one

Assessment in case of discontinued business.

(3) is not applicable is discontinued in any year, an assessment may be made in that year on the basis of the income, profits ar gains of the period between the end of the previous year and the date of such distontinuance in addition to the assessment, if any, made on the basis of the income, profits or gains of the previous year.

(2) Any person discontinuing any such business, profession or vocation shall give to the Income-tax Officer notice of such distontinuance within fifteen days thereof, and, where any person fails to give the notice required by this sub-section, the Income-tax Officer may direct that a sum shall be recovered from him by way of penalty not exceeding the amount of tax subsequently assessed on him in respect of any income, profits or gains of the business, profession or vocation up to the date of its discontinuance..

(3) Where any business, profession or vocation [1] on which tax was at any time charged under the provisions of the Indian Income-tax, Act, 1918, is discontinued, [2][then, unless there has been a succession by virtue of which the provisions of sub-section (4) have been rendered applicable] no tax shall be payable in respect of the income, profits and gains of the period between the end of the previous year and the date of such distontinuance, and the assessee may further claim that the income, profits and gains of the previous year shall be deemed to have been the income, profits and gains of the said period. Where any such claim is made, an assessment shall be made on the basis of the income, profits and gains of the said period, and if an amount of tax has already been paid in respect of the income, profits and gains of the previous year exceeding the amount payable on the basis of such assessment, a refund shall be given of the difference.

person to another—Effect. 27 Bom.L.R. 1471=50 B. 87=1926 B. 129. Where the assessee, a money-lender, enters into a lease of a large building hoping that he would be able to sub-le· the major portion of the building and to recover from the sub-lessees most of the rent to be paid to the landlord, such lease is no part of the assessee's business as a money-lender. Such a transaction is entirely outside the business of money-lending, and the loss suffered by him in the lease transaction cannot be treated as a business loss in respect of his money-lending business. It can only be treated as a capital loss. The fact that the assessee chooses to write off the amount in the books kept by him in connection with his money-lending business would make no difference. 1943 Mad. 389=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 171.

CL. (3: APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE—ASSESSMENT ON SALARIES IN YEAR IN WHICH THEY ARE EARNED.—Sec. 25 (3) is intended to prevent a double assessment. It cannot be intended to apply to a case where income-tax is assessed on salaries in the year in which they are earned. If the section were to apply, it would lead to this very strange and unreasonable result: that an assessee who chooses to reliquish his appointment in the 11th month of the year would escape payment of income-tax on the salary earned by him in these 11 months; whereas, if he continued for one month longer, admittedly he would be assessable on his salary in the whole of the 12 months. 59 M. 216=1935 M. 953=69 M.L.J. 611 (S.B.). The profits from a profession or vocation mentioned in sec. 25 (3) mean the professional earnings which are taxable under sec. 11 (v). An assessee can only have the benefit of sec. 25 (3) if he has been assessed for tax on professional earnings. 69 M.L.J. 611 (S.B.).

SEC. 25 (3): SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 25 (3) is not retrospective and does not apply when the claim for relief had accrued and when an oral claim had been made therefore before the amendment came into force, although a formal written application has been made only subsequent to the coming into force of the amended Act. A bar of limitation cannot be read into the provisions of sec. 25 (3) as it stood before the amendment, and the claim for refund of tax wrongly assessed cannot be barred except by Statute. 1942 A.L.J. 454=A.I.R. 1942 All 227. The words "no tax shall be payable" in sec. 25 (3) impose a duty on the Income-tax Officer to give relief under sec. 25 (3). He cannot refuse relief on the ground that he is not bound to exclude the income unless he is made aware of the discontinuance of the business, profession or vocation, etc. If the Income-tax Officer has before him material which should have put him on inquiry as to whether the assessee was entitled to relief under sec. 25 (3), he is bound to give relief. I.L.R. (1942) All. 377=1942 A.L.J. 454=1942 All 227.

SEC. 25 (3): IF SUBJECT TO DEPARTMENTAL RULE IN INCOME-TAX MANUAL.—A department-tion on which tax was at any time charged under the provisions of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1918, is succeeded in such capacity by another person, the change not being merely a change in the constitution of a partnership, no tax shall be payable by the first mentioned person in respect of the income, profits and gains of the period between the end of the previous year and the date of such succession, and such person may further claim that the income, profits and gains of the previous year shall be deemed to have been the income, profits and gains of the said period. Where any such claim is made, an assessment shall be made on the basis of the income, profits and gains of the said period, and, if an amount of tax has already been paid in respect of the income, profits and gains of the previous year exceeding the amount payable on the basis of such assessment, a refund shall be given of the difference ; al rule can in no way affect a legal claim; a claim to relief under sec. 25 (3) cannot be rejected on the ground that it is belated and made after the time specified in r. 96 of the Income-tax Manual. 1942 A.L.J. 454=1942 All. 227.

SEC. 25 (3): ORAL CLAIM FOR RELIEF—SUFFICIENCY.—There is nothing in the Income-tax Act to justify the contention that a claim for relief under sec. 25 (3) should be in writing. An oral application for relief would be sufficient. 1942 All. 223.

SEC. 25 (3): "DISCONTINUED"—MEANING OF.—The word "discontinuance" in sec. 25 (3) covers discontinuance either by cessation or by disposal; it is wide enough to include the contingency of a transfer under the amended Act as it exists now. 52=43 Bom. L.R. 1034=1942 Bom. 50. When a unit of business devolves on an heir or is sold to a purchaser, there is a clear case of succession because there is nothing but a change of ownership. In such a case, neither the identity nor the integrity of the business is impaired. But difficulty arises when there is a division of a business which is run in several branches which are carried on independently but which attain apparent unity only because of common ownership. When there is a division of such a running business and the quondam partners become the exclusive owners of the branches of the original business, the fact that as a result of partition of that business, the branches lose their organic relation with each other does not necessarily imply the discontinuance of the business of the branch which passes into the hands of the quondam partner. To be able to say that with respect to the branch the business has ceased, the parent business must terminate so that the branch which becomes independent should cease to be a going concern when it passes into the hands of the quondam partner. The business in his hands would, if it was running independently, even though as a factor of a larger unit, change its identity or integrity. The argument that if the assessee's case is not a case of succession, it must be a case of discontinuity of business, rests on an imperfect application of the meaning of the words "then unless" in sec. 25 (3) of the Income-tax Act. On their true construction, they mean "except when". 221 I. C. 649. The word "discontinued" in sec. 25 (3) means only a complete cessation of the business and does not include the case of discontinuance of the business by the person formerly carrying it on as the result of the transfer or assignment of that business to another person who thereafter carries it on. Under the Act before its amendment sec. 25 (3) gave relief in the event of discontinuance; the amendment introduced a qualification, not enlarging or altering the meaning of discontinuance but providing that, if there was a succession in respect of which relief was given, there should not be relief upon discontinuance. To construe the word "discontinuance" as including succession would be doing violence to plain language. 72 I.A. 196 =47 Bom.L.R. 737=49 C.W.N. 784=58 L.W. 454=1945 P.C. 137=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 231 (P.C.). The word "discontinued" in sec. 25 (3) means "cessation" and does not cover a case of succession. Sec. 25 (3) has been inserted merely for the purpose of preventing double taxation. A.I.R. 1943 Mad. 504= (1943) 2 M.L.J. 8=I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 166. Where a Railway Company invested its unpended capital pending construction of the Railway and the interest was assessed under the Income-tax Act, 1918, the income cannot be treated as business income of the company in respect of which the benefits under sec. 25 (3) and (4) of the Income-tax Act, (1922) can be claimed. 1946 I.T.R. 395.

SECS. 25 AND 25-A: RELATIVE SCOPE OF.—Sec. 25 is intended to meet only those cases where business has been carried on after the end of the previous year and before the expiry of the year of assessment, and looks at the situation from the point of view whether or not any tax on such business was paid under the Act of 1918. Sec. 25-A, on the other hand, deals with an entirely different position. It envisages a position where at the time of making an assessment on the income of the previous year the Income-tax Officer finds or it is alleged before him that the family which was in the past assessed as an undivided Hindu family exists no longer, having partitioned its property or that the business profession or vocation hitherto carried on by a Hindu undivided family has passed on to some one else and the family has also disrupted and partitioned its property after the assignment of the business. The section provides that in such a case the income of the family during the period that it carried on the business as an undivided family shall be assessed, and the tax payable on it levied on the members or groups of the family according to the portion of the joint family allotted to them. Each of the two sections deals with an entirely different set of circumstances. There is no inconsistency, repugnancy or contrariety between them, nor do they overlap each other. Each deals with a different position and enacts a different rule. (1946) I.T.R. 152.

SECS. 25 (3) IND 26 (2).—A firm which was running four businesses till 1937 and which had been assessed under the Income-tax Act of 1918, consisted of six partners. In October, 1937, the sixth partner, as the result of a dispute with the other five partners, locked up two of the shops. On 3-11-1937, the other five partners started two new firms one of which was the assessee firm, in separate premises with new sets of accounts. On 25-11-1937, the dispute between the partners of the old business was referred to arbitration and on 26-11-1937, an award was given, which inter alia provided that the sixth partner was to be bought out and that partners 1 to 5 were to realise all outstandings and to discharge all liabilities. No partner was entitled to use the trading name of the old business. The sixth partner was in fact bought out. Held, (1) that on the facts of the case the new firm (assessee) was not a successor of the old firm for the purposes of sec. 26 of the Income-tax Act, that the old business had been discontinued and the partners of the old firm were therefore entitled to relief under sec. 25 (3); (2) that the proper effect of a proved fact is a question of law; and whenever the facts found by the Commissioner of Income-tax give rise to a consequential question whether there is or there is not a succession within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Income-tax Act, a question of law is involved under sec. 66 (3). (1944) I.T.R. 367.

SECS. 25 (4) AND 25-A (2): APPLICABILITY. —A Hindu undivided family carried on a business of grocery and yarn which was axed under the Income-tax Act of 1918. The family divided and partitioned its properties, as a result of which the business fell to the share of one of the members, who carried on the same. The family claimed relief under sec. 25 (4). Held, that there was a succession under sec. 25-A (2) of the Act, and the family, which must be regarded as joint for purposes of assessment, was entitled to relief under sec. 25 (4). (1946) I.T.R. 152. See also 1944 Mad. 245=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 112 (F.B.).

SEC. 25-A: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.— Sec. 25-A of the Income-tax Act contemplates an actual partition by metes and bounds of the joint family property. 1934 L. 942. Sec. 25-A does not demand a partition by metes and bounds. 31 N.L.R. (Supp.) 233= 162 I.C. 554=1936 N. 121. The fact that assets are divided and the members began to live separately would not constitute partition under sec. 25-A, when other properties are left for division at a future date. 57 L.W. 139=I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 21; 1944 Mad. 368=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 197. In the case of a partial division of a joint family property sec. 25-A has no application. The partition contemplated by the section is not necessarily a partition by metes and bounds. 56 A. 504 =1934 A. 217.

SEC. 25-A: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.—Sec. 25-A contains no warrant for any prohibition against members of an undivided Hindu family entering into a partnership in respect of the joint property which they have partitioned among themselves. It has no reference at all to any case in which the Hindu undivided family remains in existence at the time of assessment. No difficulty whatever in the assessment of a Hindu undivided family is caused—or was ever thought to be cuased —by the fact that in one year it has certain assets and certain income therefrom and that in the next year it is found to have parted with one asset and to be no longer in receipt of the same income. The same assessee has a different income in each year—that is all. It matters nothing whether the particular asset no longer possessed by the undivided family has become the separate property of a member or belongs to a stranger. Sec. 25-A is directed to the difficulty which arose when an undivided family had received income in the year of account but was no longer in existence as such at the time of assessment. The difficulty was the more acute by reason of the provision contained in sec. 14 (4). Sec. 25-A deals with the difficulty in two ways which are explained by the rule applicable to families governed by the Mitakshara, that by a mere claim of partition a division of interest may be effected among coparceners so as to disrupt the family and put an end to all rights of succession by survivorship. Sec. 25-A provides that if it be found that the family property has been partitioned in definite portions, assessment may be made, notwithstanding sec. 14 (1), on each individual or group in respect of his or its share of the profits made by the undivided family, while holding all the members jointly and severally liable for the total tax. If, however, though the joint Hindu family has come to an end, it be found that its property has not been partitioned in definite portions, then the family is to be deemed to continue—that is, to be an existent Hindu family upon which assessment can be made on its gains of the previous year. 45 Bom.L.R. 9=47 C.W.N. 60=1942 A.L.J. 623=1942 O.W.N. 626=1942 P. C. 57=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 761 (P.C.).

Sec. 25-A is only a machinery section and not a charging section and it does not alter the Hindu Law. The section does contemplate a division amongst the members of assets of a joint family which can from that moment be their individual property and cease to be the joint family property. The essence of the section is that the income must in the first instance be received by the joint family as such. Once it is so received, it makes no difference whether the joint family exists or not on the date of the assessment. It is only when not the status is severed, but also all the properties have been partitioned, that the the order contemplated by sec. 25-A, can be applied for and made, and till such an order is made, for the purpose of income-tax the joint family continues as a unit although its status may have come to an end. 48 Bom.L. R. 56. The language of the section makes it clear that an order declaring separation shall only be passed if (1) the members of the family have separated in status from each other and (2) there has been a partition of all the joint family property. For the purposes of the Income-tax Act members of an undivided Hindu family cannot enter into a partnership in respect of a portion of joint property which they have partitioned among themselves while retaining the status of an undivided family and keeping the rest of the property joint. I.L.R. (1938) All. 638=1938 A.L.J. 610=1938 All. 452. Sec. 25-A requires a physical division and is not satisfied with a mere division in interest. Before applying sec. 25-A, the Income-tax Officer must be satisfied that the property has been physically divided. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 245=45 Bom. L.R. 159=1943 Bom. 116. Sec. 25-A does not of necessity demand a partition by metes and bounds. But it contemplates that there should be firstly a finding by the Income-tax Commissioner that the Hindu joint family as such has disrupted and secondly a finding that the joint family property has been divided among the various members or groups of members in definite portions. And it is not sufficient that a mere disruption of the Hindu family should be provedt. There must also be, whether by consent or otherwise, a definite ascertainment of the shares of the different members composing the Hindu family 154 I.C. 191=1935 L. 81 (S.B.). Where a Hindu joint family separates and its members carry on the family business in partnership, there is a change in the ownership. When such a change takes place, there is succession within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Income-tax Act. That being so, the manager

Provided that no such order shall be recorded until notices of the inquiry have been served on all the members of the family.

(2) Where such an order has been passed, [1][or where any person has ceeded to a business, profession or vocation formerly carried on by a Hindu undivided family whose joint family property has been partitioned on or after the last day on which it carried on such business, profession or vocation,] the Income-tax Officer shall make an assessment of the total income received by or on behalf of the joint family as such, as if no [2]* * partition had taken place, and each member or group of members shall, in addition to any income-tax for which he or it may be separately liable and notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) of section 14, be liable for a share of the tax on the income so assessed according to the portion of the joint family property allotted to him or it; and the Income-tax Officer shall make assessments accordingly on the various members and groups of members in accordance with the provisions of section 23:

who is assessed is entitled to the benefit of sec. 25 (4), which will apply. Under sec. 25-A, the family, notwithstanding the partition, has to be regarded as joint for the purpose of the assessment, which must include the grant of relief unser sec. 25 (4). I.L.R. (1944 Mai. 504=57 L.W. 90=1944 Mad. 245 =(1944) 1 M.L.J. 112 (F.B.). Under sec. 25-A of the Income-tax Act, the Income-tax Officer has a discretion to conduct an inquiry and to hear such evidence, as he may consider it necessary to enable him to come to a decision on the question whether a separation of the members of the family has taken place or not. His decision is a decision on a question of pure fact, and so long as his discretion is not exercised arbitrarily or fancifully, and there are before him some materials on which he can arrive at the conclusion at which he has arrived, his decision cannot be canvassed before the High Court on an application under sec. 66, because no question of law can arise thereout. 177 I.C. 582=1938 Rang.L.R. 130=1938 Rang. 154. Where in a suit instituted by a Hindu father against his sons for partition, the matter is referred to arbitration, and an award is made which is made a rule of Court, the decree basen on the award is conclusive evidence of disruption of the unvided family, and the Income-tax authorities are bound to take notiice of the same as evidence of disruption of the family as from the date of that decree. (1946) I.T.R. 239. Before persons who have been previously assessed as a Hindu undivided family can claim to be separately assessed as members of a contractual partnership, they must establish that the joint family has been dissolved. 1938 Rang.L.R. 130=1938 Rang. 154. Where a business has permitted itself to be assessed once as a joint family business, under Cl. (3) of sec. 52-A, it must be demed to continue as a joint family business until an order under Cl. (1) of sec. 25-A has been made. 17 Luck. 426=1941 O. W.N. 1302=1942 Oudh 108. A mere recital of a prior division of property in a will, even though it be a registered one, is no evidence of division and cannot confer title. And such a document cannot be deemed by itself to be evidence of a disruption of a Hindu undivided family within the meaning of sec. 25-A. 1933 L. 815. The dissolution or existence of a joint Hindu family depends on the intention of the members thereof and is a question of fact. It is therefore open to the Income-tax Officer to decide whether the intention to dissolve is present or absent. 1933 L. 827. See also 17 Luck. 426. When persons claim to constitute a partnership firm for the registration of which they make an application, the Income-tax Officer may call upon them to prove by evidence that they are what they claim to be before he proceeds further with the application and he may find against declarations contained in a partnership deed and reiterated by the parties before him that a Hindu joint family still exists. 14 Lah. 134 =33 P.L.R. 947=1932 L. 575. Although the income earned in a certain year forms the material out of which the assessment is made, it is the making of the assessment and the date thereof that determines the applicability of the law and procedure governing such assessment. sec. 25-A therefore applies to a case where the section is passed before the commencement of the year in which the assessment takes place, even though it may not have been passed when the income under assessment was earned. 14 Lah. 134=138 I. C. 187=1932 L. 575. The Income-tax Officer is not ordinarily bound by the correctness of any previous orders passed by him; but when the Income-tax Officer has passed an order under sec. 25-A (1) clearly finding a separation among the mmbers of a Hindu joint family, he is preluded by sub-sec. (3) of sec. 25-A from making any fresh enquiry into the question of separation or jointness. The power to go behind the prior order is expressly withdrawn by sub-sec. (3) of sec. 25-A. 31 N.L.R. Merely because the Income-tax Officer accepts the allegation of the assessee that there has been a partition in a certain year, he is not debarred from considering the truth about the fact of partition in the next year. The fact that assessee's allegation has been accepted in the previous year may possibly alter the burden of proof. 1933 L. 815. Hindu joint family—Assessment of head of family —Plea of partition not raised before Income tax Officer cannot be allowed to be raised for the first time in appeal before the Assistant Commissioner. 12 Lah. 714=131 I.C. 639= 1931 L. 601. Hindu joint family —Manager of family being Governing Director of company—Remuneration obtained—If individual income or family income. 22 Pat. 55=1943 Pat. 169. Hindu joint family constituting itself into company with specific shares to members including mother—Effect —Members of such company owning foreign business and having personal khatas—Loan to company standing in name of mother—Equalization of credit amounts in personal khata— accumulation of interest by mother and remittance of cash and goods by foreign business to company and vice versa—Inference of joint status not justified. 1937 Lah. 897.

SEC. 25-A (3).—A contention that a joint Hindu family has become disrupted and that a partition has taken place must be put forward at the time of making an assessment under sec. 23. When the assessee has not so put forward a claim and the Income-tax Officer has not passed such an order, it is clear that under sec. 25-A (1) of the Act, the family shall be deemed for the purposes of the Act to continue to be an undivided family and be treated as such for the purposes of the assessment to income tax, though such a family is not actually or in law a Hindu undivided family. 22 Pat. 55=(1943) I.T.R. 16 =1943 Pat. 169. If the Income-tax Officer is satisfied that the property, which has been treated in previous assessments by the Income-tax authorities as joint family property, has been partitioned (even though it may be the self-acquired property of the father or head of the family and not joint family property), sec. 25-A would be applicable and a petition for partition would be maintainable. (1944) I.T.R. 289. Where the property is that of a trust, and the beneficiaries are not only members of a family which may or may not be undivided but also a school, a hostel and such other charities to which the trustee may feel disposed to make payments, and the members of the Hindu family are entitled to participate under the trust, not as members of such family but as beneficiaries of the trust, an assessment cannot be made in respect of income in which such institutions are entiled to participate as upon a Hindu undivided family. (1944) I.T.R. 68=A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 308=220 I.C. 442.

SECS. 25-A AND 26: APPLICABILITY.— Sec. 25-A covers the case of a joint Hindu family in which there has been a disruption and consequent partition, but no continuance of the business, either by the members of the joint Hindu family on contractual basis, or by some of them alone, or jointly with others or even by strangers. Where the business has been discontinued, sec. 25-A will apply, but where it is continued, sec. 26 will apply. In cases under sec. 26 the shares of partners are not to be included in the assessment on the family. 18 Lah. 189=167 I.C. 936=1937 L. 172 (S.B.). Where on the breaking of a joint family, the separated members immediately form themselves into a firm, sec. 26 will come into operation, and the assessment on the firm should be made under that section and not under sec. 25-A of the Act. 1935 L. 681.

SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY—HINDU UNDIVIDED FAMILY—IF CAN BE SUCCEEDED BY LIMITED COMPANY.—So far as the scheme of the Income tax Act goes, each section de ls only with the matters specified herein and goes no further, and each section completely covers the matter with which it deals. Sec. 25-A applies only to those cases where the question involved is one of pure and simple disruption of a Hindu undivided family, unattended by conversion, or transformation into a new entity. In the same manner, sec. 26 is intended to meet completely those cases which are specified in sub-secs. (1) and (2) thereof, respectively, in whatever way the situation envisaged there may arise. If, therefore, in the place of a Hindu undivided family, which is a person, a new firm is constituted or a new company brought into existence, which again is a person, it cannot be urged that the provisions of sub-sec. (1) or sub-sec. (2), as the case may be, are not attracted, simply because there exists a section which expressly deals with the disruption of a Hindu undivided family. A Hindu undivided family and a firm or a limited company are mutually exclusive and cannot co-exist. Accordingly, without disruption, the conversion of a Hindu undivided family into a firm or a company is impossible and so long as it remains undivided, the question of succession to it as a whole by another entity does not arise. But as it is possible under the income-tax law that a person conducting several businesses may be succeeded in a particular business which is divisible from the other businesses of his, a Hindu undivided family, as a person, can, in the matter of such business, be succeeded by a company to that extent. The assessment on the successor is to be made under sec. 26 (2) of the Act as if he had been carrying on the business, profession or vocation throughout the previous year and as if he had received the whole of the profits for that year. 18 Lah. 325=39 P.L.R. 934=1937 Lah. 830.

SECS. 25-A AND 26-A: JOINT HINDU FAMILY —NOT "FIRM".—The very definition of a "firm" involves the idea of contractual relationship betwetn several persons, and when the finding of the Income-tax Officer is that there is no contractual relationship between these persons, but the relationship between them is that of a joint Hindu family relationship based on status and not on contract there is no firm in existence which he could possibly register under the provisions of sec. 26-A. 1933 L. 827. Under sec. 25-A, the Income-tax Officer does not inquire into a question of whether the joint family property has in fact been divided. Where an application under sec. 26-A for registration of a joint Hindu family as a firm was filed, and the assessees nowhere suggested that joint family existed alongside the new partnership, and there was no evidence that the family was divided: Held, the Income-tax Officer was right in coming to the conclusion that the partnership transaction was not a genuine one. 164 I.C. 799= 1936 P. 476. For purposes of sec. 25-A of the Income-tax Act mere disruption of the family would not be enough, but the joint family property must have been partitioned among the various members or groups of members in definite portions. It was found as a fact that there was a partition of the business in definite portions between the members of the family, that they were being assessed separately since 1936 – 1937, and that there was no complete partition because the house property and lands were not partitioned, Held, (1) that though the assessees were no longer a joint undivided Hindu family, there was no such division or partition as was contemplated by sec. 25-A of the Act; (2) that such a partial partition came within the operation of sec. 25-A, and the assessees under the circumstances must be deemed to continue to form a joint Hindu family for the purposes of assessing them on that portion of the income which was derivable from these properties which had not been partitioned in definite portions other than the business; (3) that the business could not be considered to be a business of a Hindu undivided family but must be considered to be a business of the persons named in the partnership. 23 Pat. 68 =1444 Pat. 137.

SECS. 25-A AND 66 (3).—The questions whether sec 25-A requires actual partition of the family property by metes and bounds as a condition precedent to the recognition of a partition under sec. 25-A. and whether a finding of the Income-tax Officer is supported by any evidence, are questions of law. 1933 L. 952.

SECS. 25-A, 26 AND 26-A: RIGHT OF ASSESSEE TO ADJUDICATION OF QUESTION AS TO WHETHER NEW FIRM HAS BEEN CONSTITUTED.—The assessee is entitled to an adjudication of the question whether a new firm has been constituted so as to attract the operation of sec. 26 and he could not be deprived of this legal right, merely on the ground that an adjudication on this question would tend to affect the decision of the Income-tax Officer under sec. 26-A, against which no appeal is competent. Sec. 25-A no doubt deals with an assessment after partition of an undivided family, but it does not exclude the posibility of the members so separated to constitute themselves into a firm so as to bring their case within the ambit of sec. 26. 1935 L. 275=156 I.C. 833; 18 L. 325. The assessees who were a joint Hindu family consisting of a father and his seven sons and who were hitherto assessed as an undivided family, separated during the year of account, and shortly thereafter the father and his seven sons formed themselves into a firm and applied to the Income-tax Officer to register the firm under sec. 26-A of the Income-tax Act, and to make the assessment under sec. 26 (2). Held, (1) that there had been no succession within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Act, and the Income-tax Officer was therefore not bound to register the firm under sec. 26-A and to assess under sec. 26 (2); (2) that the Income-tax Officer was bound to make the assessment under sec. 25-A (2) of the total income received by the joint family as such and to hold each member liable for his proportionate share of the tax so assessed. 40 Bom.L.R. 452=1938 Bom. 350.

SECS. 25-A AND 34.—The assessee, a Natukottai Chetti, was joint with his son until the latter's death on 9—7—1934 After that the joint family consisted of the assessee, his widowed step-mother and his widowed daughter-in-law. Until 1936—1937, he was assessed to income-tax as the head of an undivided Hindu family, but subsequently he was served with a notice of assessment as an individual under sec. 34. Held, (1) that there was no defect in the notice, which was addressed to him by name and informing him that he had been assessed at too low a rate; since a mistake had been made, the step taken to correct it was properly taken under sec. 34; (2) that it could not be said that sec. 34 could not operate until an order had been made under sec. 25-A (1) of the Act. Sec. 25-A stood entirely apart from sec. 34, and since there had been no partition, sec. 25-A did not operate in the case. (1944) I.T.R. 39=1945 Mad. 122.

SEC. 26 (1) AND (2).—Sec. 26 (1) contemplates a business which continues in existence

[1][Provided that the income, profits and gains of the previous year shall, for the purpose of inclusion in the total incomes of the partners, be apportioned between the partners who in such previous year were entitled to receive the same :

Provided further that when the tax assessed upon a partner cannot be recovered from him it shall be recovered from the firm as constituted at the time of making the assessment.]

both during the period of the predecessor and during the period of the successor. When there is no such business in existence continuously during the life of the predecessor and of the successor, sec. 26 (1) can have no application. The provision in sec. 26 (2) as regards succession in business in designed merely with a view to preserve, in a proper case, where there is a succession, a measure upon which the successor may be assessed in the first year of his proprietorship of the business, and that is at the root of the necessity for there being a real continuity of the business. The object being to measure the income of the successor by the past history of the business, it is essential that there should be a very close identity between the business in the former proprietorship and the business in the present proprietorship. There can be no succession under sec. 26 (2) to a part only of the business. 41 C.W.N. 132= I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 7. The words "change in the constitution of a firm" mean a change in its partners or personnel but not a change in the proportion in which the partners divided the profits. 177 I.C. 192=1938 Cal. 562. It is open to any person to reduce the incidence of his income-tax in any legitimate way, and the mere fact that a reconstitution of the firm has reduced the incidence of the tax is by itself no evidence that the reconstitution is not real. At the time of the reconstitution of a firm, the new capital was not introduced. Nor was there the valuation of assets. After registration had been refused the firm reverted to its old constitution. Held, that there were not sufficient grounds for supposing that the reconstitution was a bogus arrangement. 178 I.C. 404=40 P.L.R. 639=1938 Lah. 194. See also 1944 Pat. 107 =22 P. 727.

Costello, J.—There cannot, generally speaking, be a succession to a part of a business; but that does not imply that if what is succeeded to is not the same extent of trade or even does not include a particular line or set of customers, it necessarily follows that there cannot be a succession to the trade or business. The word "succession" does cover any case of transfer by one trader to another of the right to that benefit which arises from connection and reputation. If the business is one business throughout, even though in one year it operates at more places than one, whereas in the succeeding yaer it operates only in one of those places, the matter certainly falls within the purview of sec. 26 (1), even if it cannot be said that there is a succession. A mere change in the composition or constitution of the firm is within the contemplation of sec. 26 (1). 41 C.W.N. 132.

Panckridge, J.—Under sec. 26 (2), it is not necessary to determine to whom the good will, the marks and the firm name legally belong. The important thing is that the new firm does in fact use them in their business, and each one is a factor, to be taken into account in deciding whether that business was one, in respect of which the new firm should be regarded as the successor of the old. The successor to a business, profession, or vocation is under a statutory liability, imposed by sec. 26 (2), in respect of the profits earned in the previous year by the person he succeeds. The fact that the business was carried on in two places in the previous year and in one of those places only in the succeeding year does not of itself make the business carried on during the second season a different business from that carried on in the first season. The question depends ultimately on the identity of the business carried on by the assessee with the business to which he is said to have succeeded; and the admissions and conduct of the assessee with regard to the business are of the greatest asaistance in arriving at a decision on the point. The fact that no tangible assets have passed from the old firm to the new appears to be a matter of very little importance. sec. 26 (1) has only application when a change occurs in the constitution of a firm or a firm is newly constituted during the currency of a partnership; the subsection has no application where the new or succeeding firm comes into existence after the term of the former partnership has come to an end owing to efflux of time. 41 C.W.N. 132= 132=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 7.

Per Mukherjea, J.—The process of assessment begins with the service of notice under sec. 22 (2) and continues until some order of assessment is made. If, after notice has been received by the assessee and before filing a return, he dies, and is succeed by a person, it would be competent to the Income-tax Officer to find, if the evidence justified the finding, that the person on whom notice was served had carried on a business and was succeeded in that capacity by another person. 182 I. C. 270=1939 Cal. 196 (S.B.). The object of sec. 26 (2) is to assess the successor on the profits of the buiness, which he is deemed constructively to carry on during the previous year. The language of the section itself shows that the assessment is based on the assumption that the successor received the entire profits of previous year. Sec. 26 (2) has therefore no application when there is loss in the year of accounting in the business in respect to which succession has taken place, and there are no profits for which the successor could be taxed. 182 I.C. 270=1939 Cal. 196 (F.B.); see also 45 C.W.N. 681. SEC. 26 (2): MEANING OF TERMS—'BUSINESS."—"Business" in sec. 26 (2) is not business in the abstract, but business in concrete. 138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189. The words "any business" in sec. 26 do not mean each and every business carried on by the former owner of a business. Where a company owning several businesses transfers one business to another company, the latter company is a successor to the former and is assssable in respect of that business. 55 M. 832=1932 M. 434=63 M.L.J. 15 (S.B.). Sec. 26 (2) is not confined to cases of succession inter vivos, but applies equally to the business of a deceased carried on by the heir-successors. But before a person can be assessed as a successor of a deceased money-lender, there must be evidence to show that the business of money-lending was actually carried on by the successor of the deceased money-lender. 1942 I.T.R. 405. Business transferred— Depreciation— Calculation—Unabsorbed balance if passes to successor. See 70 I.A. 100=46 Bom.L.R. 235= I.L.R. (1943) Kar. (P.C.) 141=I.L.R. (1943) Kar. (P.C.) 141=I.L.R. The expression "where at the time of making an assessment under sec. 23" merely means "when the time comes to make an assessment." 12 P. 5=1933 P. 123. See also 22 Pat. 727; 46 Bom.L.R. (material time.) The plain meaning of the words "succeeded in such capacity by another person" is that if there is a business, profession or occupation which was formerly carried on by a person and that property has now been taken directly by another person who continues the business, the transference of ownership, whether it be by operation of law or inter vivos, is a succession. The real test of whether there has been a succession or not is to be decided by an examination of the business. Where a business was continued after a change of ownership, held, that there was a succession to a business. 12 P. 5=14 P. 5=14 Pat.L.T. 171=1933 P. 123. See also 27 S.L.R. 47= 1932 S. 189; 168 I.C. 209=1937 Rang. 102= 1937 Rang.L.R. 26 (S.B.). Money-lending business by joint family—Partition— Business recommenced by some of the members— No "succession". 11 R. 501=148 I.C. 594= 1934 R. 13 (S.B.). Sec. 26 (2), if overridden by sec. 24-B—Succession to business by death —Levy of tax=Procedure. See I.L.R. 1944 M. 639=1944 M. 155=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 582. The requisities of "succession" under sec. 26 (2) of the Income-tax Act are: (1) there must be a business in existence prior to the date of an assessment being made; and (2) on the date of the making of the assessment it must be carried on by a person different to the person who carried it on prior to the date of the assessment, that is to say, the business must be the same but the person carrying it on must be different. What the section requires is that it should be the same business and not business of the same nature. Where some persons have for several years possessed the monopoly of supplying labour to the Port Trust, not jointly, but under different contracts, and finding that their monopoly is about to come to an end owing to the adoption by the Port Trust of the policy of inviting tender, and in order to secure continuity for their business they enter into a partnership and put in their tender for the contract, and being successful, find themselves in a position to continue the business without a break, it is not correct to say that they continue to supply labour to the Port Trust as before, or that what they do after that date is the same business. The prior business of the partners must be deemed to come to an end on the constitution of the partnership, and thereafter a new and separate partnership is started to carry on a business of the same nature. There is consequently no "succession" within the meaning of sec. 26 (2). I.L.R. 1937 Mad. 814= 1937 M. 316=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 619 (F.B.). See also 32 S.L.R. 203=1938 Sind 33. Transfer of agency by one agent to another. See also I.L.R 1940 Kar. 8=1939 Sind 318; 1941 Rang.L.R. 45=1940 Rang. 281. The word "assessment" is not confined to the definite act of making an order of assessment. Where a notice has been given under sec. 22 (2) to furnish a return, the process of assessment has begun and continues until some order of assessment is made. The words at the time of making the "assessment" in sec. 26 (2) therefore mean in the course of the process of assessment. Where, at the date of his death, a person carrying on business has been served with a notice under sec. 22 (2) and the time for furnishing the return had not expired and no return had been made, a person who succeeds to that business is taxable under sec. 26 (2). 61 I. A. 312=13 P. 607=1934 P.C. 200=67 M.L. J. 422 (P.C.). Sec 26 (2) operates not merely to fix the liability to pay tax but governs also the process of computation of the tax. "Assessment" in the Act is used in two senses: the process of determining the amount of profit or loss and the process of levying tax, but if there is nothing repugnant in the context, the word refers to the former. Quere—Whether sec. 26 (2) applies to a foreign

The Income-tax Act has to be construed as a whole and the definition in the assessment under sec. 26 (2), based on the profits of a predecessor in business, refers to such predecessor. I.L.R. Sec. 26 of the Act is applicable in the case of foreign firms whose profits are brought into British India and are taxable under sec. 4 (2) of the Act. 1929 M. 769=57 M.L.J. 300 (F.B.). Successor is not bound to pay in respect of the predecessor any tax which the predecessor would not have been liable to pay. 47 A. 715=1925 A. 535=88 I.C. 239. There can be "succession" to a person without there being succession to that person's business. Succession to a person is not the same thing as succession to that person's business. A person may be succeeded by another in a business in the sense that it is the same sort of business, although not the same business. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189. The real test to determine whether there is "succession to business", within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Act, is the identity of the two businesses and the time intervening between the closing down of the old business and the opening of the new one in its place. The delay is a question of degree and in some cases the delay may mean a cessor of profit-making operations and never any real cessation of the business at all. But where the time intervening between the two businesses is so great that "succession to old business" cannot be inferred, there is no 'succession to business' within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Act. 1937 Rang. The business of a family can continue in spite of its disruption. The question really is whether the business was discontinued or not in consequence of the breaking up of the family. 117 I.C. 2-8=1929 L. 161 (2). An assessee firm had a branch or agency operating at Ipoh in Federated Malay States. There had been an older firm there but this was wound up and the assets in the shape of outstandings divided between the partners. Part of these assets fell to the share of the partners in the assessed firm and were shown as credit in its general balance. During the year for which the firm was assessed, Ipoh branch remitted Rs. 1,20,000 in all to British India. Income-tax Department acting upon the presumption that this remittance was composed of profits made at Ipoh declined to accept the contention that the remittance was derived from realization of the old firm's outstandings and so was mainly capital. The assessed firm did not prove that the remittances were not composed of profits liable to tax. Held, that the assessment was good in law. 1930 M. 104=129 I.C. 654 (S.B.). EFFECT OF.—Sec. 26 (2) is intended to secure to Government tax based on the earnings of a business for a full year notwithstanding the transfer of the business from one person to another before the expiry of the year, provided, of course, that the business is continued by the transferee. If the transferor and the transferee are separately taxed for profits earned by them during the period each of them carries on business, the incidence of taxation would be seriously affected; and if the income for the whole year though enjoyed by two different persons, is liable to be taxed at the end of the year, it is but proper that the person who is in possession of the business at the end of the year should be made responsible for it, leaving it to him to settle the equities between him and the transferor with regard to the apportionment of such taxation. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189.

OBJECT OF SECTION.—Sec. 26 is designed for the purpose of making somebody assessable to income-tax, and the whole scheme of the Act is not to assess two people at the same time, but to find somebody who is either properly assessable or more conveniently assessable; and what sec. 26 (2) says is that where a person who was not the former owner of a company is found to be owning that company in the year of assessment, that person is to be assessed. That is not only a convenient course, but seems to be a just one. Upon whom the burden is ultimately to fall is a matter of arrangement between the vendor company and the purchaser company. 55 M. 802=1932 M. 434=63 M.L.J. 15 (S.B.).

Procedure in registration of firms.

[1][26A. (1) Application may be made to the Income-tax Officer on behalf any firm, constituted under an instrument of partnership specifying the individual shares of the partners, for registration for the purposes of this Act and of any other enactment for the time being in force relating to income-tax or super-tax.

cessor of the company in respect of such railway. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189.

"CAPACITY" EXPLAINED.—By capacity is meant a position enabling one to do something. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189.

ESCAPING ASSESSMENT.—Though it may appear somewhat unreasonable to the Court that a company should escape assessment of tax on a profit which it has admittedly made, yet, if the law, as it stands, enables the company to avoid payment of the tax, the Court is bound to give effect to it. Therefore where the Government acquires a private concern whom it pays profit for the previous nine months and keeps to itself profit for the last three months of the year, sec. 26 (2) applies to such a case and the company cannot be assessed for the profits given to it by the Government. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673 =1932 S. 189.

TRADING LOSS.—Where, at a time when a money-lending firm was reconstituted, the assessees entered in their books of account that certain lands possessed by the old firm had fallen in value and entered the difference as a loss to the business: Held, that there was no trading loss but only a depreciation of the value of the assets; until property taken in repayment of loans is sold, there can be no realised trading loss in respect of such property. 11 R. 462=1934 R. 1 (F.B.). The proper legal effect of a proved fact is essentially a question of law. Whenever the facts give rise to a consequential question whether there is or is not a "succession" within the meaning of sec. 26 (2), a question of law is involved. 1940 I.T.R. 531=1941 Rang.L.R. 45=1940 Rang. 281 (S.B.).

SECS. 26 (2) AND 34 (1).—Seccession—Firm taking over business as going concern except one item of profits—Succeeds to business—Profits made before 1939 escaping assessment —Assessment after 1939—Assessment to be according to the law as it stood when the escaped profits ought to have been assessed and not under the amended section in force at time of actual assessment. (1943) I.T.R. 504=1944 Cal. 116.

SECS. 26 (2) AND 44.—Partnership—Dissolution—One partner continuing business—If "succeeds" to business—Ex-partner assessed on share of profits—Fresh assessment on 'successor'—Justified. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 220=53 L.W. 210=1941 Mad. 255=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 120 (S.B.).

SEC. 26 (2), PROVISO: APPLICABILITY—REQUISITES—"CANNOT BE FOUND"—MEANING OF.—It cannot be held that a firm which has been dissolved "cannot be found" within the meaning of the proviso to sec. 26 (2) of the Income-tax Act, notwithstanding that all the members of the firm are alive and can be found. Before the proviso can be brought into operation, it must be established that the person succeeded "cannot be found", that is, he must be dead or has disappeared. The proviso cannot be applied when the person succeeded is alive and his whereabouts are known or can be ascertained. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 868=54 L.W. 90=1941 Mad. 673= (1941) 2 M.L.J. 152 (F.B.).

SEC. 26-A.—Sec. 26-A only contemplates the registration of a firm which is constituted under an instrument of a partnership which with clearness states what the individual shares of the partners are. Where, on the death of a partner, his widow is taken in as a partner and his minor children, three sons and three daughters, are admitted to the benefits of the partnership as a body and not as individuals, and an application is made under sec. 26-A of the Act for registration of the new firm, stating that the widow is entitled to a six annas share, though under the deed her share is really only two annas, the remaining four annas being intended for the benefit of the minor children who are admitted to the benefits of the partnership in a body, it cannot be said that the shares of the minors are specified with certainty so as to comply with sec. 26-A of the Act. I.L.R. 1942 Mad. 281=1942 M. 177=(1942) 1 M.L. J. 18 (S.B.). A Hindu undivided family as such cannot enter into a partnership with a coparcener of the same family. The contribution made by such coparcener may be treated as a debt advanced to the family and he may be allowed interest thereon but he cannot claim to be a partner. (1944) I.T.R. 335 =1945 L. 61. The Income-tax Officer is the proper person to decide whether registration should be allowed. The remedy against any decision of his is by way of appeal as provided in the Act and not by a suit. I.L.R. 1945 Nag. 527=1944 N.L.J. 463=1944 Nag. 382. Where an application is made for renewal of registration of a firm under sec. 26-A, the Income-tax Officer is bound under r. 6 of the Rules to renew the certificate from year to year, when such application is made to him accompanied by a certificate signed by one of the partners of the firm that the constitution of the firm as specified in the instrument of partnership remained unaltered. He has no power to decline to renew the certificate of registration unless the firm has in fact altered its constitution since the grant of the prior certificate. Rule is imperative. 31 N. L.R. (Supp.) 233=162 I.C. 554=1936 N. 121. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 200=1940 Nag. 119. It is open to the Income-tax Officer to suspend orders on an application already presented under sec. 26-A by members of a Hindu family until the assessment proceedings are held. If at the time of making the assessment a claim is made under sec. 25-A it is the duty of the Income-tax Officer to decide whether there has been a separation of members and a partition of the property within the meaning of sub-sec. (1) of that section. If it is found that there has been such separation and partition an order will be passed to that effect, and if it appears that a firm has been constituted by the separated units which have come into existence the Income-tax Officer will proceed under sec. 26 and will then register the firm upon an application under sec. 26-A. I.L.R. (1938) A. 638=1938 A.L.J. 610=1938 All. 452. Where it is found that there has been no genuine separation in status and estate between the various members of a Hindu family firm, though the family has disrupted, the Income-tax Authorities would be justified in rejecting an application by the members thereof for registration under sec. 26-A of the Act on the ground that there could be no contractual relationship between coparceners. (1946) I. T.R. 246. Where certain persons apply under sec. 26-A for registration, the Income-tax Authorities are entitled to go behind the deed of partnership and find from evidence direct and circumstantial that the deed is bogus and to refuse to register them as a firm. 1939 I. T.R. 625. The onus rests on the person who applies for the registration of the firm to prove that a genuine instrument of partnership has been executed and that all the persons named therein are actual persons and not 'dummies'. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 113=1938 Lah. It is true that no partnership can be registered if any partner under the deed is liable to have a variation of his share. But 'share' does not mean net receipts. It is the basis of computation from which, after other necessary factors are considered, one is going to arrive at them. The law looks to the shares in the partnership business and not to the receipts from it, which may happen in certain contingencies to find their way into the pockets of individual partners. It is a fallacy to say that the individual shares of partners are not "adequately" specified by reason of the fact that their drawings or receipts may be conditioned by effect being given to other stipulations in the partnership deed. Hence where the partnership deed is genuine and the shares of each partner (as a basis for computation and not as a means by themselves of calculating his net receipts) are definite and determinable and the deed specifies these shares, and the profits of each current year are shown and credited in accordance with the shares shown in the partnership deed, the deed is registrable under sec. 26-A even though the deed provides that what the partners actually get will depend upon the time which they have devoted to the business or their absence therefrom. 1939 Rang.L.R. 532=1939 Rang. 178. Per Beaumont, C.J.—R. 4 (new) of the Rules under sec. 26-A of the Income-tax Act as amended in 1939 does not alter the law as it previously existed; it only makes the true effect of r. 4 clearer than it was under the previous wording. Both under the old and the new rule, it is open to the Income-tax Officer to say that the shares which appear in the deed of partnership, produced with an application for registration are not the true shares of the partners and therefore there is no proper application by the requisite firm. If it were shown that one of the partners was only a nominee of a share allotted to him or another for another partner, the deed would not then specify correctly the individual shares. It must specify correctly the individual and beneficial shares. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 384=43 Bom.L.R. 258=1941 Bom. 205. Where in a partnership constituted by a deed of partnership for a fixed period the legal representatives of a deceased partner who, by reason of a provision in the deed are entitled, but not bound, to come in as partners in place of the deceased partner for a period which may be the same as, or different from, the period fixed by the deed, elect to continue the partnership for the unexpired portion of the period, the constitution of the firm is altered; and therefore the new firm cannot apply for renewal of the registration. Nor can the new firm in such a case apply for registration of the original partnership as, ex hypothesi, the applicants for registration are not parties to the deed of partnership. The only course open to the new partners, if they seek registration, is to execute a new deed of partnership and to apply for the registration of that deed. 1942 I.T.R. 422. See also 1942 I.T.R. 219 =(1942) A.L.W. 301.

SEC. 26-A AND RR. 2 AND 6: SCOPE.—Application for registration signed by clerk and unaccompanied by certificate of partner to show that constitution of firm was unaltered not valid. 1940 I.T.R. 121. Alleged unregistered gift by Mahomedan assessee and reinvestment in business—Unregistered partnership deed produced—cannot be registered as firm. 1938 Rang. 435. Under sec. 26-A the Income-tax Officer is empowered to register only the partners ip which is specified in the instrument of partnership which has been put forward and nothing else. If some of the persons constituting the partnership are not competent in law to be partners, the partnership, constituted by the other partners is not the partnership which the assessee seeks to register but another partnership altogether, if indeed there is in existence any partnership at all. It is quite open to the Income-tax Officer to look into the reality of the document relating to the partnership and refuse registration in such circumstances. 41 C.W.N. 629=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 160. A firm constituted under a registered deed of partnership of which one member is a firm, is not entitled to be registered as a firm for the purpose of income-tax if the instrument, while specifying the individual shares of profits and losses, does not specify the shares inter se of the partner firm. Unless the individual shares of the partners are specified in the instrument of partnership, the Income-tax Officer is justified in refusing registration although he has knowledge of it otherwise. The words of sec. 26-A do not permit of any elasticity of construction. I.L.R. (1937 Mad. 814=1937 M. 316=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 619 (F.B.). The question as to whether the partnership transaction is real or not is purely a question of fact. A mere application under sec. 26-A and a decision by the Income-tax Officer even in favour of the assessee will not conclude the matter. 164 I.C. 799=1936 P. 476. R. 2 of the Income-tax Rules framed under sec. 26-A of the Income-tax Act is not ultra vires. An Income-tax Officer does not act illegally in rejecting an application for renewal of registration of a firm on the ground that it is not signed by all the partners of the firm as required by r. 2. An Income-tax Officer is also entitled to refuse renewal of registration on the ground that the partnership deed does not disclose the correct state of affairs. No question of law is involved so as to justify the High Court in interfering under sec. 66 (3) of the Act and directing a reference. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 582=(1942) I.T.R. 501=1943 Sind 85. An application by a partner of a firm of two brothers for the renewal of its registration signed by himself and on behalf of the other partner under a general power of attorney from him has to be rejected as not complying with r. 6 of the Income-tax Rules. The word "personally" used in that rule necessarily excludes the acting by an authorised agent of a partner and hence from signing an application on behalf of the other partner under sec. 26-A. Sec. 2 of the Powers of Attorney Act merely states the general principles of agency and cannot override a specific provision of a rule made under a different statute which requires a particular act to be done by a particular person "personally" (i.e.) by himself. 1946 I.T.R. 232=1946 Mad. 411=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 332.

SECS. 26-A AND 25-A.—Before a deed of partnership in respect of a business previously carried on as a joint Hindu family business can be registered under sec. 26-A, there must be proof of a partition among the members of the family prior to the execution of the partnership deed. The Income-tax Officer must record an order to that effect after enquiry upon notice to all the members of the family under sec. 25-A of the Act. He is not bound to accept the recitals in the partnership deed as correct and can call upon the executants thereof to prove the facts recited therein. 50 C.W.N. 283.

SEC. 27.—Sec. 27 is applicable to the cases noted therein. It does not apply to a case where the Assistant Commissioner refuses to admit an appeal ex parte without hearing the assessee or his counsel. But even where sec. 27 is applicable it is open to the aseessee if he has a good case to file an appeal and show that the order under sec. 23 (4) was not justified. 1932 A.L.J. 389=1932 A. 390=54 All. 496. It would be for the Income-tax Officer to decide whether, on the particular facts of the case sufficient cause has been shown by the assessee for not appearing in time. 1924 M.W.N. 785=1924 M. 880; 27 A.L.J. 536=119 I.C. 569 (2); 1930 A.

L.J. 78=1930 A. 209; 8 R. 209=1930 R. 78; 140 I.C. 712=1932 P. 166. The words "satisfies" and "was prevented by sufficient cause" being practically identical with similar words occurring in O. 9, r. 9 and O. 41, r. 19, C. P. Code and sec. 5, Limitation Act, they must receive similar interpretation as has been put upon those words in the latter enactments. 1934 S. 183 (2). Where the Income-tax Officer makes an assessment under sec. 23 (4), the proviso to sec. 30 (1) applies and an appeal to the Assistant Commissioner is barred. The proper remedy for the assessee is to apply to the Income-tax Officer under sec. 27 and in the event of the decision going against the assessee to file an appeal. 8 R. 587=1931 R. 53. When there is ample evidence upon which the Income-tax Officer can find that there was no sufficient cause and he had refused to cancel the assessment made under sec. 23 (4) and his order is upheld by the Assistant Commissioner on appeal there is no question of law arising for the purpose of sec. 66 (2). 9 R. 21; 9 R. 25 Even if the High Court thinks that the action of the Income-tax Officer is arbitrary and harsh and that the assessment has been made ex parte without sufficient materials or justification, it cannot interfere under sec. 66 of the Act. 84 I.C. 131=1924 M. 880. In an appeal against the order of the Income tax Officer refusing to reopen the question of summary assessment, the only question before the Assistant Commissioner is whether the assessment should be reopened, i.e., the order of the Income-tax Officer set aside and where he decides that question in the negative and holds that there is no sufficient cause for reopening the question, he is not obliged to enter into the merits of the assessee's return. The assessment order stands and there is nothing to enquire about. 139 I.C. 593=1932 C. 410 (S.B.). The question of the sufficiency of cause is different from the question of the sufficiency of evidence, since the determination of this sufficiency of cause involves the question whether judicial discretion has been exercised in a sound and reasonable manner and, therefore, does involve a question of law. 8 R. 2 3=1930 R. 33. It is possible as a matter of law for the Income-tax Officer to find as a fact that a particular assessee had failed to establish "sufficient cause" or "not reasonable opportunity" within the meaning of sec. 27. 38 P.L.R 812 (2)=1936 L. 489. The illegality of a notice, non-compliance with which has brought about a best judgment assessment under sec. 23 (4), can be agitated within the expression "prevented by sufficient cause" under sec. 27 of the Act. The assessee has to satisfy the conditions laid down in the section in connection with the particular notice, non-compliance with which has brought about the best judgment assessment. I.L.R. (1937) All. 834=1937 A.L.J. 957=1937 All. 770. The question whether the assessee was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing or from complying with the terms of a notice issued under the Act would be a question of fact; in some cases it is possible to say that if the notice issued is an illegal notice or an invalid notice, the assessee can very well refuse to comply with that notice and can subsequently say that he was prevented by sufficient cause from complying with the notice. The assessee was served with a notice under sec. 22 (2) and filed a return. The case was subsequently transferred to another Income tax Officer who issued a second notice under sec. 22 (2), and a return was filed before him. The case was against re transferred to he Income-tax Officer who originally dealt with the case, and he started proceedings on the return which was filed before him and which had been subsequently filed before the officer to whom it was transferred. The assessee did not raise any objection to the effect that a fresh notice should have been issued to him under sec. 22 (2) after the re-transfer, and he was assessed under sec. 23 (a). Held, that the assessee had not "sufficient cause" within the meaning of sec. 27 of the Act, that he was not prejudiced in any way, and he could not call in question the validity of the proceedings on the ground of the absence of a fresh notice after the re-transfer. No question of law arose in the case under sec. 66 (2). 1942 I.T.R. 148=1942 A.L.W. 305=1942 O.A. 300. Sec. 27—"Sufficient cause"—Meaning of—Objection to jurisdiction of Income-tax Officer—Notice under sec. 22 (4)—Jurisdiction—Question decided by High Court in favour of assessee—Subsequent validation of proceedings by ordinance—Assessment under sec. 23 (4) without opportunity to produce books after ordinance—Application under sec. 27—Competency—Assessee, if can be said to have sufficient cause for not complying with notice under sec. 22 (4). See (1943) I.T.R. 104=45 Bom.L.R. 168.

APPEAL.—Where the Income-tax Officer makes an assessment under sec. 23 (4), the proviso to sec. 30 (1) applies and an appeal to the Assistant Commissioner is barred. The proper remedy is to apply under sec. 27 and in the event of the decision going against the assessee to file an appeal. 8 R. 587=1931 R. 53.

REFERENCE TO HIGH COURT.—When a notice was duly served on the assessee not under sec. 22 (4), but he failed to produce some of the accounts and thereupon the Income-tax Officer made an assessment under sec. 23 (4) and subsequently he refused to cancel the assessment at the instance of the assessee holding that there was no sufficient cause for the non-production of the accounts and the same order was affirmed by the Assistant Commissioner, on appeal, held, that the questions regarding the validity of the notice and the propriety of the assessment did not arise in the appeal and that there was no room for a reference to be made to the High Court. 9 R. 25=1931 R. 98.

SECS. 27 AND 66 (2).—Sufficiency of cause for having ex parte assessment reopened under sec. 27 of the Income-tax Act is a question of fact. But since its ddetermination essentially depends upon the exercise Penalty for concealment of income or improper distribution of profits.

[1]28. [2 If the Income-tax Officer, the Appellate Assistant Commissioner [3][or the Appellate Tribunal] in the course of any proceedings under this Act, is satisfied that any person—of judicial discretion, the question whether discretion has or has not been exercised in a sound and reasonable manner in reaching the conclusion invariably involves a question of law. 31 N.L.R. 32=1934 N. 183. See 1942 A.L.W. 305. The question whether an assessee had or had not sufficient cause within the meaning of sec. 27 of the Act is ordinarily a question of fact, and no reference with regard to it is competent under sec. 66 (2) or (3). 1940 All. 530=I.L.R. (1941) All. 1=1941 A.L.J. 12.

SEC. 28.—Valid reassessment proceedings a condition precedent to imposing penalty. See 54 M.L.J. 298=1928 M. 257 (F.B.). In proceedings under sec. 28, the Income-tax Authorities ought to act fairly and reasonably in the circumstances of each case. 12 R. 268=151 I C. 673=1934 R. 95. The quantum of the penalty within the statutory limit that ought to be imposed is matter of fact and not of law, and is to be determined by the Income-tax Authorities, and not by the Court. 12 R. 268=1934 Rang. 95. Where an assessee submits deliberately an incorrect statement of his accounts to the Income-tax Officer, he cannot be said to have discovered his mistake on the day on which he files a corrected statement because at the time when he made his previous return, he knew it was incorrect and he could not at any subsequent time have discovered something which he knew at an earlier time, and so the order of the Income-tax Authorities imposing a penalty on him under sec. 28 is quite correct. Although the later return may for the purposes of assessability to income-tax be treated as a revised return under sec. 22 (3), the Incomh-tax Authorities are entitled to look at the previous incorrect return and are under sec. 28 entitled to inflict a penalty upon the person who has made it. 55 M. 827=1932 M. 433=63 M.L.J. 236 (F.B.). The word 'income' as has been used in the Income-tax Act has a wider sense and it connotes the assessable figure arrived at after accounting for all the legitimate deductions and exemptions and if any assessee furnishes any false particulars about any item which is to be accounted for before the assessable figure is arrived at, he brings himself within the clutches of the law. Hence, an assessee who dtliberately claims a false deduction can be penalized under sec 28. I.L.R. 1938 L. 651 =40 P.L.R. 913=1938 Lah. 620. The maximum penalty that can be imposed under sec. 28 (1) is a sum representing the difference between the tax on the income declared by the assessees and the tax on the income ascertained under the Income-tax Act in respect of which the assessment has been made. (11 R. 75 Foll.) 12 R. 268=1934 Rang. 95. The maximum penalty which can be imposed under sec. 28 (1), Income-tax Act, is determined by ascertaining the difference between the amount of the tax on the income set out in the false return and that on the income on which the assessment has been made. But the questions whether a penalty ought to be imposed and, if so the amount thereof, are matters which are (subject to secs. 30 to 32) within the discretion of the Income-tax Officer; and upon these matters the assessee is entitled to be heard under sec. 28 (3). 12 R. 470=1934 R. 354 (S.B.). The Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax has no authority in law to enhance the penalty while hearing an appeal against imposition of penalty or imposition of assessment under sec. 28 of the Act. 53 A. 679= 1931 A.L.J. 414=1931 A. 401. Sec. 28 of the Act must be strictly construed. There is no word in the section regarding supertax. Therefore the Income-tax Officer has no jurisdiction to impose a penalty in the matter of super-tax. 53 A. 445=1931 A.L. J. 336=1931 A. 421. There is no reason why any distinction should be drawn between the quantum of evidence required to support an assessment and the quantum required to justify the imposition of a penalty under sec. 28 for concealment and deliberate furnishing of inaccurate particulars. Circumstantial evidence would be sufficient. 1942 I. T R. 435. In an inquiry under sec. 28 as to whether penalty should be imposed, evidence adduced by the assessee purporting to disclose the real income of the assessee is relevant and admissible, not for the purpose of varying or affecting the assessment made for the purpose of imposing the tax under the Act, but in order to show either that no penalty ought to be imposed, or the the maximum prescribed under sec. 28, and the Income-tax Officer is not justified in refusing to admit evidence of the income that in truth accrued in the course of the assessment year. 11 R. 75=1933 R. 30 (F.B.). The Commissioner, in deciding whether the imposition of the penalty by the Assistant Commissioner is illegal, cannot reimpose the penalty himself, and thereby validate the very order which was challenged in appeal before him. For the same reason the Commissioner is precluded from imposing the penalty when an application is preferred to him under sec. 66 (2) of the Act praying that he may refer to the High Court the question of the validity of the imposition of the penalty by the Assistant Commissioner. No penalty can be imposed under sec. 28 of the Act unless a notice is served on the assessee to show cause against the imposition of such a penalty. 1936 L. 585. Notice under sec. 28 (3) to show cause why a penalty should not be imposed need not be given before the conclusion of the assessment. SEC. 29.—As to period within which notice demanding income-tax should be issued, see 5 P. 13=7 P.L.T. 269=1925 P. 581. Where there is a perfectly good assessment order the fact that a mistaken notice was sent to the assessee in no way prevents a proper notice being sent when the mistake is discovered. 139 I C. 593=1932 C. 410 (S.B.). Service of notice—Service on person authorised to receive postal articles under letter of authorization is sufficient—Person discharged from service but letter of authority not cancelled—Effect—Service on such person is good in law. 1941 I.T.R. 193. The word "assessment" in sec. 23 (4) means determining the total taxable income and the sum payable on it. A notice can be validiy issued under sec. 29 when the Income-tax Officer has made a best judgment assessment under sec. 23 (4). 56 A. 418=1934 A. 930.

SEC. 30.—Where the Income-tax Officer makes an assessment under sec. 23 (4), the proviso to sec. 30 (1) applies and an appeal to the Assistant Commissioner is barred. The proper remedy for the assessee is to apply to the Income-tax Officer under sec. 27 and in the event of the decision going against the assessee to file an appeal. 8 R. 587=1931 R. 53. See 27 Bom.L R. 400=1925 B. 257. Sec. 30 deals with appeals against assessments, and as soon as the Assistant Commissioner finds that the assessment is validly made under sec. 23 (4), the proviso to sec. 30 (1) comes into operation, and it is in pursuance of that proviso that the Assistant Commissioner refuses to admit the appeal; and he cannot thereafter take any action under sec. 28 (3) by issuing a notice to the assessee regarding penalty. 1936 L. 585. There is nothing in the Act to warrant the suggestion that a wrong order passed by an Income-tax Officer as a preliminary to his passing an order under sec. 23 of the Act may not be made a ground of appeal when appealing against the final order of assessment, unless a separate appeal or application for review, where no appeal is allowed, has been successfully filed against such order. As a matter of fact, the tendency of the legislature has always been to prevent appeals against interim orders, leaving it open to the party aggrieved to challenge such orders when appealing against the final order. 1930 S. 301. The clause "denying his liability to be assessed" in sec. 30, Cl. (1), is wide enough to cover a case of an assessee who denies his liability to be declared an agent under sec. 43. 28 N.L.R. 194=140 I.C. 490=1932 N. 152. The Assistant Commissioner is right in examining the case to satisfy himself whether the appeal before him is competent. Without examining the record to some extent he cannot be in a position to find whether the assessment is under sec. 23 (4) and whether an appeal lay. And the order of the Assistant Commissioner to the effect that no appeal lay does not amount to an order dismissing an appeal under sec. 31=55 A. 804=1933 A. 541=1933 A.L.J. 1474.

[7][Provided that no appeal shall lie against an order under sub-section (1) of section 46 unless the tax has been paid :

Provided further that where the partners of a firm are individually assessable on their shares in the total income of the firm, any such partner may appeal to the Appellate Assistant Commissioner against any order of an Income-tax Officer determining the amount of the total income or the loss of the firm or the apportionment thereof between the several partners, but in respect of matters which are determined by such order may not appeal against the assessment of his own total income :

RIGHT OF APPEAL—EXTENT OF.—No appeal would lie against an order refusing to register a firm made prior to the amendment of the Income-tax Act by Act XVIII of 1933 which afforded a right of appeal subsequent only to 11—9—1933. 1940 I.T.R. 421=1940 Sind 214. An order under sec. 26-A refusing to register a firm was not appealable before the 11th September, 1933, on which date sec. 30 (1), as amended by the Amending Act XVIII of 1933, came into force. A proceeding under sec. 26-A is a proceeding different from proceedings under sec. 23 of the Act; hence an order under sec. 26-A not being made in a proceeding which is an essential part of another proceeding in respect of which an appeal was specially provided by sec. 30 (1) was not appealable on that ground also. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 299. Sec. 30 provides for appeals against certain specific orders and orders passed under sections which are not mentioned in sec. 30, are not appealable and are therefore final in the sense that they cannot be re-opened at any subsequent stage. The Income-tax Act is a special enactment which gives the authorities specific powers for purposes of assessment and these powers can only be attacked in the manner prescribed by the Act. 164 I.C. 1018=1936 L. 621. An individual partner may appeal from the assessment of the firm of which he is a partner; but he cannot, in an appeal from an order assessing him personally ask for a re-determination of the question of the assessment of the firm and the income which has come to his share according to that assessment. 1941 I.T.R. 190. An assessee is not competent to withdraw an appeal presented by him under sec. 30. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 359=1938 Lah. 741.

SEC. 30 (1), PROVISO—EFFECT.—The proviso to sec. 30 (1) has not the effect of taking away a right of appeal in cases where the assessee does not challenge the assessment levied on him under sec. 23, Cl. (4), but only challenges his liability to be taxed

Provided further that a shareholder in a company in respect of which an order under section 23A has been passed by an Income-tax Officer, may not in respect of matters determined by such order appeal against the assessment of his own total income.]

(2) The appeal shall ordinarily be presented within thirty days [of the payment of the tax deducted under sub-section (3A-), (3-B) or (3-C) of section 18 or]. of receipt of the notice of demand relating to the assessment or penalty objected to [2][or of the order in writing notifying the amount of total income on which the determination under sub-section (5) of section 23 was based and the apportionment thereof between the several partners or of the loss computed under section 24.] [3][or of the intimation of the refusal [4][to pass an order under sub-section (1) section 25A, or] to register a firm under section 26A] or of the date of the refusal to make a fresh assessment under section 27, [5][or of the intimation of an order under sub-section (1) of section 23A or under section 48, 49 or 49F], as the case may be; but the [6][Appellate Assistant Commissioner] may admit an appeal after the expiration of the period if he is satisfied that the appellant had sufficient cause for not presenting it within that period.

in a different capacity from that possessed by him and more so when such a capacity has been duly recognised by the Income-tax Officer. Even if the proviso be open to a double construction, the proviso should be so interpreted as to exclude an appeal only in respect of an assessment levied under sec. 23, Cl. The mere fact that an assessment purports to have been made under sec. 23 (4) does not shut out appeal but it must be shown that circumstances or the case bring it within sec. 23 (4) Income-tax Act. 10 L. 596=1929 L. 393 (F.B.). See also 65 I.A. 236=1938 L. 593 (F.B.). See also 65 I.A. 236=1938 P.C. 175=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 115 (P. LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted for the words "Assistant Commissioner" by sec. 37 of Act VII of 1939.

153 I.C. 124=1935 A. 572. Under sec. 30 (2), an Assistant Commissioner has no authority to admit a new matter raised in the form of an additional ground of appeal, after an appeal has once been admitted, whether within the period prescribed therefor, or after its expiry. All that he can do under this enabling provision is to admit an appeal for the first time, even if it is presented after the period prescribed therefor. 18 Lah. 325=39 P.L.R. 934=1937 Lah. 830. There is no rule of limitation prescribed for filing additional grounds of appeal. Such grounds date back to the date of the original appeal, of which, when admitted, they become a part. If, therefore, the original appeal is filed in time the additional grounds can be filed at any time before the appeal is decided, and the Assistant Commissioner can admit them in the exercise of his discretion. His discretion in refusing to admit them is open to correction. If the objection raised in the additional grounds goes to the root of the assessment and questions the principle on which it is based by the Income-tax Officer, the Assistant Commissioner would be exercising his discretion erroneously in declining to admit them on the ground that they are filed after the period prescribed for the filing of the appeal. 1937 O.W.N. 634=1937 Oudh 416.

SECS. 30 AND 23 (4).—A firm carried on business in Patiala territory. Some of the members of the firm resided in British India at Kaithal. The Income-tax Officer issued a notice to one of them under sec. 22 (2) read with sec. 34. The assessee stated that he was only the sleeping partner of the firm and that he knew nothing of its income or profits. He was directed to obtain accounts and information from his partner in Patiala territory and though the time for making the return was extended by the Income-tax Officer on two separate occasions, the partner finally intimated that neither the accounts nor the information sought was available. The Income tax Officer thereupon made an assessment under sec. 23 (4). The partner preferred an appeal under sec. 30. Held, that the case was properly treated as one of "no return" and no appeal was competent against the order under sec. 30. (1928 L. 729. Foll.) 1933 L. 290 (See Amendment Act XVIII of 1933).

PRACTICE.—Plea not raised before the Income-tax Officer cannot be raised before the Assistant Commissioner in appeal 12 L.T. 14=131 I.C. 639=1931 L. 601.

SEC. 30 AND 33 (1): APPEAL FROM APPELLATE ORDER AGAINST ASSESSMENT UNDER SEC. 23 (4)—VALIDITY OF ASSESSMENT—IF CAN BE CHALLENGED.—In an appeal under sec. 33 (1) from a decision in appeal under sec. 30 (1), the validity of an assessment under sec. 23 (4) cannot be challenged when no proceeding under sec. 27 of the Act was taken to cancel that order. The assessee's right of appeal under sec. 30 is limited as regards secs. 23 and 27 to the quantum of the assessment or tax. (1944) I.T.R. 327=220 I.C. 122=1945 Cal. 104.

SEC. 30, 26-A AND 66.—Under sec. 30 before it was amended in November, 1933, it was not open to the Commissioer to refer to the High Court under sec. 66 a question arising out of a refusal to register a firm under sec. 26-A, because the order was at that time not appealable under sec. 30, and therefore final. 164 I.C. 1018=1936 L. 621; 63 C. 395.

SECS. 30 64 (3) AND 66: DECISION AS TO PLACE OF ASSESSMENT—APPEAL—HIGH COURT CAN DEAL WITH QUESTION UNDER SEC. 66.—Where an assessee questions the jurisdiction of the Income-tax Officer of a particular place to deal with his assessment and the place of assessment is decided under the provisions of sec. 64 (3), of the Act on affidavits, the plea of jurisdiction cannot be raised before the Assistant Commissioner on appeal under sec. 30, and the High Court cannot deal with the question under sec. 66 of the Act. In such a case it cannot be said that the proviso to sec. 64 (3) has been ignored, for the proviso only requires that the assessee should have had an opportunity of representing his views and not that he should have been formally heard on his objection. I.L.R. (1940) All. 735=1940 A.L.J. 855=1941 All. 129. Where an assessment has been made, not in form only but in fact, not ostensibly but actually and in good faith, under sec. 23 (4), and where the Assistant Commissioner, upon consideration of the facts, has found that the assessment was properly so made, the proviso to sec. 30 of the Act bars an appeal and the order of the Assistant Commissioner rejecting the appeal is not an order under sec. 31 inasmuch as he has not "disposed of" the appeal, and therefore there can be no question of law referable to the High Court under sec. 66 (2) or under sec. 66 (3) of the Act. 1942 I.T.R. 148=1942 A.L.W. 305=1942 O.A. 300.

SEC. 31.—The Assistant Commissioner must state facts and give reasons for his findings. Where he omits to do so he fails to perform his duty properly. 10 L. 833=1930 L. 277. Where no appeal lies under sec. 31 no reference lies under sec. 66 (2). 1932 A.L.J. 576 =1932 A. 642. The order of an Assistant Commissioner rejecting as inadmissible an appeal against a summary assessment on the ground that the notice of demand was not attached to the appeal, is a capricious order,

(2) The [1][Appellate Assistant Commissioner] may, before disposing of any appeal, make such further inquiry as he thinks fit, or cause further inquiry to be made by the Income-tax Officer.

[2][(2A) The Appellate Assistant Comimssioner may, at the hearing of an appeal, allow an appellant to go into any ground of appeal not specified in the grounds of appeal, if the Appellate Assistant Commissioner is satisfied that the omission of that ground from the form of appeal was not wilful or unreasonable.]

especially where the assessee alleges that no notice was received by him. The order is one under sec. 31. 22 Pat. 735=1944 I.T.R. 59 =1944 Pat. 112. The Assistant Commissioner has jurisdiction in an appeal from an assessment under sec. 23, proviso, to substitute a different method of computation. The proviso to sec. 13 does not bar the Appellate Assistant Commissioner from doing so. He can ask for a report from the Income-tax Officer under sec. 31 (2) and when the matter finally comes before him after the report, he is entitled under sec. 31 (3) to confirm, or to reduce or to enhance the assessment. (1943) I.T.R. 525. An appellant in income-tax cases has no higher right in adducing fresh evidence in appeal than he would have in a civil case under O. 41, R. 27, C. P. Code. Where the accounts were not produced before the Assistant Commissioner and they were sought to be filed before the Commissioner in appeal but were rejected, held, that the Commissioner did not err in law in refusing to admit those accounts at the hearing of the appeal. Under sec. 31 proviso it is not necessary to give notice that the Assistant Commissioner proposes to enhance the assessment to any particular figure or to disclose the materials on which the enhancement is about to be made. Consequently, the Assistant Commissioner cannot be said to have acted illegally in enhancing the assessment without previously disclosing the materials on which he based the enhanced assessment. 7 R. 635=129 I.C. 898=1930 R. 4. See also 1937 O.W.N. 634=1937 O. 416; I.L.R. 1941 A. 1=1940 All. 530. The question whether an assessment made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) is valid or not is a question of law that arises or can arise out of an order of the Assistant Commissioner passed under sec. 31 and such a question cannot therefore be made the ground for an order by the High Court under sec. 66 (3) requiring the Commissioner to state a case. (6 R. 21; 8 R. 281=1931 R. 194 (F.B.). An application by an assessee under sec. 27 was rejected by the Income-tax Officer and the assessee filed an appeal under sec. 30 (1) to the Assistant Commissioner, rightly or wrongly, who decided it on merits. Held, that the decision of the Assistant Commissioner was an order under sec. 31 for purposes of applying to the Commissioner to make a reference to the High Court. (1929 R. 8, Ref. 1933 O. 396. Where the Assistant Commissioner hears the appeal of the assessee and passes an appellate order under sec. 31 dismissing the appeal, the requirments of sec. 66 (2) are satisfied whether the Assistant Commissioner has jurisdiction or not. 28 S.L.R. 174=1934 S. 46.

SECS. 31 AND 32.—Where an appeal has been preferred to the appellate authority and has been disposed of by such authority, the order passed in such a proceeding may be regarded as an order under sec. 31 or sec. 32 as the case may be even though no appeal might have been in fact competent. (9 C. 100, Foll.) 133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F. B.).

SECS. 31 AND 34.—Per Panckridge, J.—Where an assessee highly objects to an assessment or re-assessment under sec. 34 on the ground that the proceedings are bad the powers of the Assistant Commissioner on appeal cannot extend to enhancing an assessment, which the Income-tax Officer had no jurisdiction to make and must be limited to annulling it as made without jurisdiction. I. L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 540=41 C.W.N. 905. The power of an Assistant Commissioner to enhance an assessment cannot be exercised irresptive of the limitations imposed by sec. 34. The Assistant Commissioner is not, therefore, legally competent to add a new item of income, after the expiry of he limitation prescribed in sec. 34, when an appeal against an assessment in pending before him. Nor is he competent to set aside the assessment made under sec. 34 and direct the Income-tax Officer to make a fresh assessment including a fresh item of income after the period of limitation prescribed in sec. 34 has expired. I. L.R. (1938) Lah. 359=41 P.L.R. 64=1938 Lah. 741.

SECS. 31 AND 66.—Where the assessee does not raise a point before the original taxing officer, but raises it before the Assistant Commissioner in appeal, the latter may refuse to allow it to be raised when it involves the production and hearing of fresh evidence. The High Court will not interfere with the discretion of the Income-tax authorities in refusing permission to the assessee to adduce fresh evidence. 59 M. 263=1936 M. 776= 71 M.L.J. 35 (F.B.). See also 62 C. 1011. An order confirming an assessment within the meaning of sec. 31 of the Act means an order having reference to the assessment and affirming it. Where an appeal is dismissed by the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax on the ground that it is barred by limitation, without even considering the question of assessment, the order of dismissal is not an order confirming the assessment under sec. 31, for the purposes of sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act. Sec. 66 (2) does not apply to such a case and the High Court cannot direct the accompanied by a proper authority to apply for copy—Not proper—Time taken by such application cannot be deducted from period of limitation. 11 P. 40=1932 P. 103. An application for copy of an order passed by the Assistant Commissioner of Income tax falls within paragraph 5 of Art. 1 (a) of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act and requires a Court-fee of two annas. 11 P. 40=1932 P. 103. When the Assistant Commissioner in an appeal to him from the order of assessment of the Income-tax Officer reduces the amount of income under one head but increases the amount under another, the net result, however, being a reduction both of the total income assessed and the tax, it is not an order "enhancing the assessment", though it may involve an enhancement of a particular item of income, and no appeal lies to the Commssioner under sec. 32 against that order. 56 M. 329=1933 M. 1=63 M. L.J. 805 (F.B).

SECS. 32 AND 33.—Where the assessee files an appeal from the order of assessment by the Income-tax Officer the Commissioner can take action under sec. 33 and proceed to enhance the assessment after having disposed of the assessee's appeal under sec. 32, but the exercise of the powers of review under sec. 33 would, however, be subject to the limitation provided in sec. 34. The Commissioner when dealing with the appeal under sec. 32 can pass orders only with respect to the subject-matter of the appeal, and cannot suo motu proceed to enhance an assessment which he has the power to do under sec. 33 of the Act. If the Commissioner calls for the record of a case after disposing of the appeal preferred to him against the order of an Assistant Commissioner he would be exercising powers of review in respect of proceedings which have been taken by an authority subordinate to him and not in respect of proceedings taken by himself as a Court of Appeal. 38 P.L.R. 1107=1936 L. 897.

SEC. 33: REVIEW.—Although a Commissioner of Income tax has no option but to obey departmental orders of the Central Board of Revenue, it cannot be said that his discretion under sec. 33 can be "legally" controlled by the Central Board of Revenue, because the discretion is vested in him by statute and there is no statutory control of such discretion. A Court or an official functioning as a Court must exercise its discretion judicially; that is the only form of control known to the law. I.L.R. (1942) All. 377= 1942 A.L.J. 454=1942 All. 227. Income-tax Commissioner's powers under sec. 33 are subject to limitations imposed by sec. 35. 8 L. 354=1927 L. 248. For purposes of re-assessment proceedings, sec. 33 is subject to the provisions of sec. 34. 54 M.L.J. 298= 1928 M. 257 (F.B.). During the pendency of an application under sec. 66 (2) the Commissioner can exercise his power of review under sec 33. 7 R. 644=1929 R. 245; 248 (F.B.). See also 1944 Lah. 445=(1944) I. T.R. 370; 1944 I.T.R. 430. Where a Commissioner reviews his decision under sec. 33 of the Income-tax Act and issues supplemental demand he must give a sufficient and reasonable opportunity to the assessee to be heard. 5 Pat.L.T. 608=3 P. 664=1924 P. 644. See also 30 C.W.N. 831=1926 C. 998. It is incorrect to say that if the Commissioner sees fit to hold the proceedings before the Assistant Commissioner ultra vires and a nullity, the High Court has no power to inquire into the validity of the Commissioner's orders, since the quashing of the proceedings before the Assistant Commissioner results in the absence of any order which the High Court can inquire into. The ultimate authority on the question whether the proceedings before the Assistant Commissioner were ultra vires or not is the High Court and not the Commissioner. 1933 S. 158=145 I.C. 145. It is competent for a Civil Court to make a declaration that the registration of the partnership instrument was null and void, and this course may be taken by the Court notwithstanding any concurrent remedy in that behalf, under the Income-tax Act, that may be open to the plaintiff and therefore notwithstanding the fact that the plaintiff applied as assessee to the Commissioner of Income-tax for cancellation of the registration under sec. 33 and that the application was rejected, the Court is entitled to make the declaration. 1933 R. 229=11 R. 380. Quaere.—When the Commissioner of Income-tax has exercised his powers of revision under sec. 33 of the Income-tax Act with reference to one point, whether it is open to him to exercise his powers of revision again in respect of the same order in respect of other points which do not affect the previous one? 1040 I.T.R. 437. Sec. 33 (4) does not permit the appellate tribunal to raise of its motion any question or ground as it pleases and decide the same. The word "thereon" in sec. 33 (4) only means on the appeal, i.e., on the grounds raised in the appeal. S. 33 (4) only gives power to the appellate tribunal to give its decision and pass orders in respect of all grounds urged on behalf of the appellant in respect of the decision appealed against. But it is not open to the tribunal itself to raise a ground or permit the party who has not appealed to raise a ground, which will work adversely to the appellant. 47 Bom.L.R. 222=1945 I.T.R. 272=1945 Bom. 285. A point of law may be taken in appeal before the appeallate tribunal and the tribunal may grant leave to raise a point of law not raised in the memorandum of appeal, though it may not have been added by means of an amendment and though the application for leave to take the additional ground is not stamped and and fied. There is nothing in the Income-tax Act or in the rules which requires an application for urging an additional ground of appeal to be stamped or veriified or which requires that the new ground should be added by a proper amendment. Where the additional ground raised is a pure question of law not involving any further investigation into facts, and is such as would go to the root of the matter, and the tribunal refuses to grant leave to urge the addtional ground on the ground that the new point is not added by a proper amendment and that the application for leave is not stamped or verfied, it must be held that the tribunal has not properly used its discretion in refusing leave. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 617=1943 N.L.J. 354=1943 Nag. 229.

(2) The Commissioner may, if he objects to any order passed by an Appellate Assistant Commissioner under Section 31, direct the Income-tax Officer to appeal to the Appellate Tribunal against such order, and such appeal may be made [1][within sixty days of the date on which the order is communicated to the Commissioner by the Appellate Assistant Commissioner].

LIMITATION.—Even though no limitation of time is prescribed for interference by way of revision under sec. 33, the Court would almost always incline in favour of taking the view that such exercise of power should be within a reasonable time of the proceedings sought to be revised, reasonable time being computed by the Court having regard to all the other provisions of the Act, to the facts of the particular case and the special features, if any, of it. 54 M.L.J. 298=1928 M. 257 (F.B.). An assessee desired to appeal to the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal against an order of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner, dated the 24th November, 1940. The Income-tax Appellate Tribunal was constituted as from the 25th January, 1941, by notification published in the Gazette of India of that date. Sec. 33 of the Income-tax Act as now amended requires that an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal shall be presented within sixty days from the date on which the appellant was served with the notice of the order. Rules regulating procedure had not been framed and were not in fact notified until the 1st February, 1941. Rule 14 of the Rules provides that an appeal to the Tribunal shall be presented in person or by a representative to the Registrar at New Delhi or some other officer authorised in this behalf by the Registrar and a proviso follows to the effect that an appeal which is received in the office of the Registrar by post within the prescribed period of limitation shall be deemed to have been validly presented. Forms indicating the location of the office of the Tribunal were published on the 25th January, 1941, in New Delhi and therefore were not available to the appellant who was in a village in the Ramnad District. Having no information with regard to the procedure the assessee drafted a petition of appeal and posted it to the office of the Commissioner of Income-tax, Madras, with the request that it should be forwarded to the Tribunal. The petition was received by the Commissioner of Income-tax, Madras, on the 31st January, 1941 and posted by him to the Tribunal three days later, which was still in time. The period of sixty days expired on the 2nd February. That day being a Sunday the period was extended to 3rd February. The petition was received in the office of the Tribunal only on the 10th February. The Tribunal held that the petition was barred by limitation. On reference, held, (i) The appeal was filed within the period of limitation in the only office which was then open to the assessee and in the circumstances the appeal should have been heard on its merits. (ii) There is nothing in the Income-tax Act which would entitle the assessee to a refund of the deposit of Rs. 100 if the plea of limitation raised by the Incometime authorities were sound. 1942 I.T.R. 467=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 653=1943 Mad. 212. An assessment which is illegal or a nullity from the start is not final and can be quashed at any time under sec. 33. The Commissioner is not justified in rejecting an application as belated. SECS. 33 AND 34.—If the orders of the Income-tax Officer under sec. 22 and sec. 34 are without jurisdiction, the Act provides the Commissioner with powers of revision under sec. 33. If the Commissioner passes an order sec. 33 which the assessee considers prejudicial to him, he can avail himself of the provisions of sec. 66 (2) of the Act as amended by Act XVIII of 1933. The contention that an application under sec. 66 would entail delay, even if correct, does not justify the assessee in neglecting the remedy provided by the Act and in seeking instead to call in aid the extraordinary powers of the High Court to issue a writ of prohibition against the Income-tax Commissioner. 62 C. 1011. The scheme under sec. 34 of the Income-tax Act is that if the Income-tax Officer considers that income has escaped assessment, he serves a notice corresponding to the notice which he would serve for making the original assessment, and the assessee would have the same right of appeal against that fresh assessment as he had against the original assessment. It is clear that the Commissioner cannot by a revision order under sec. 33 enhance the tax on the ground that income has escaped assessment unless he proceeds under sec. 34. He can, no doubt, under sec. 33 direct the Income-tax Officer to take action under sec. 34. But if a re-assessment is to be made on the ground that income has escaped assessassessment that income has escepad assessment, that can only be done under the procedure laid down in sec. 34. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 614=45 Bom.L.R. 589=1943 Bom. 290=I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 614. The Income-tax officer included in an assessment under sec. 23 (3) certain items of cash credits holding that they represented hidden sales or secret profits. In appeal by the assessee, the Appellate Assistant Commissioner held that the amount of such credits were not rightly included and that they should be excluded from the assessment. Thereupon the Commissioner of Income-tax issued a notict under sec. 33 to the assessee and set aside the order of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner and the assessment proceedings of the Income tax officer up to the stage where notices under sec. 23 (2) and 22 (4) were issued and directed the Income-tax officer to make a further and fuller inquiry.

Held, that the order of the Commissioner was intended to result in an enhancement of the assessment without regard and contrary to the provisions of sec. 34, and that it was beyond his powers to make. I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 172=214 I C. 102=(1944) I.T.R. 89= 46 Bom.L R. 138=1944 Bom. 153.

SECS. 33, 34 AND 35: COMMISSIONER'S POWERS.—The Commissioner's powers under sec. 33 of the Act are subject to the time limit of one year mentioned in Ss. 34 and 35. Hence where the order of the Income-tax Officer is revised and cancelled by the Commissioner more than a year it was passed, the cancellation is illegal. 28 S.L.R. 174=149 I. C. 1204=1934 Sind 46.

SECS. 33 AND 66.—There is no express obligation upon the Commissioner to state a case on an order arising under sec. 33; nor has the High Court power to order him to do so under sec. 45, Specific Relief Act. The Commissioner has a discretionary power vested in him. [7 R. 511, Foll.; 49 M. 725 (S B.), Diss.] 58 B. 361=36 Bom.L.R. 23=1934 B. 62. See also 1939 I T R. 506; 1940 I.T.R. 437. The word "prejudicial" in sec. 33 need not have the same meaning as in sec. 66 (2) of the Act. The word "prejudicial" in sec. 33 is obviously used in the narrower sense of a prejudice occasioned to the assessee by the order of the Commissioner himself. In sec. 66 (2) this reasoning does not apply, because sec. 66 (2) deals with the right of the assessee to make an application from such an order while in sec. 33 there is no application necessarily before the Commissioner at all. 1940 I.T.R 437 Assessment—Appeal to Privy Council—Assessment and payment of tax under protest for subsequent years—Privy Council holding in favour of assessee—Appliwould also apply to a case in which no notice under sec. 22 (2) has been given, and a person who receives no notice under sec. 22 (2) does escape assessment, although, through no fault of his own, the process of assessment, has never been set in motion. Where the assessment starts with a notice under sec. 34, all the relevant portions of the Act apply as effectively as where the assessment starts with a notice under sec. 22 (2). A person who receives no notice under sec. 22 (2) and who is not at all assessed to income-tax in one year may be proceeded against under sec. 34 and assessed to income-tax in the following year on the income of the previous year. I. L.R. 1937 Bom. 310=1937 Bom. 214=39 Bom.L.R. 123. An assessment made under sec. 34 which is based not on facts but upon surmises and hypotheses for which there is no sound foundation, cannot be sustained. 14 R. 228=165 I.C. 3=1936 R. 219 (S.B.). Under sec. 34, an assessment cannot be re-opened merely at the discretion of the Income-tax Officer. He cannot reopen an assessment merely to enquire further into the assessee's books in case something assessable may be found. It is an essential pre-requisite to reopening an assessment that an item of income, profits or gains has escaped assessment and the Income-tax Officer cannot give himself jurisdiction by an erroneous finding of fact. 62 C. 1011. Where the assessee company has succeeded to the business in issue after notice duly served under sec. 34 upon the predecessor, the former is liable to be assessed without fresh notice being served upon it under the section. Proceedings started against the predecessor continue against the successor, even if the predecessor has ceased to exist. 18 L. 325=1937 L. 830. When part of the profits of a registered firm have escaped assessment, assessment can be made under sec. 34 and tax levied upon a partner of the firm in respect of his share of such part, when proceedings under the said section against the firm itself in respect of the said part have failed for lack of jurisdiction and fresh proceedings are time barred. 58 C. 1204=35 C.W.N. 534=1931 C. 686 (S.B.). Partners same in both firms—Remittance of profits by one business to another—Firm escaping assessment—No allocation of profits to individual partners—Assessment of individual partner is valid. 46 L.W. 901=1938 M. 59=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 928. Sec. 34 is not limited to cases of non-disclosure by the assessee or discovery of new matter by the Income-tax authorities or inadvertence as distinguished from erroneous deliberations on the part of the authorities. It can be applied to put right an assessment by which a deduction has been improperly allowed on the ground that the balance has "escaped assessment". 37 C.W.N. 430=1933 C. 777=60 C. 843. Service within one year of a proper notice on the assessee giving notice of the intention on the part of the Income tax Officer to re-assess is a condition precedent to any valid re-assessment under sec. 34. 54 M.L.J. 298 (F.B.). Re-assessment proceedings should be validly started under sec. 34 before a penalty is imposed by the Commissioner under sec. 28 and it is only in that sense that sec. 34 controls sec. 28. 54 M.L.J. 298 (F.B.). Where no machinery existed to make it possible for the income-tax authorities to assess the income during that year, the assessment made subsequently under the section is illegal. 12 L. 757=1931 L. 441. Reference on the question whether Hindu joint family had become divided—Jurisdiction of Income-tax Officer to decide. See 1927 M.W.N. 591 (F.B.). The failure to produce books of account required by the authorities by a notice under sec. 34 entails the same consequence as in the case of a failure to make a return, and the Income-tax Officer is entitled, in such a case to make the assessment under sec. 23 (4). 34 C.W.N. 1093. Where the assessee is already assessed under sec. 23 (4), it is competent to re-assess him under sec. 34 within one year of the original assessment on the ground that his income, profits, or gains chargeable to income-tax had escaped assessment. 10 L. 691=1929 L. 173. The Income-tax Officer has no jurisdiction to revise tht assessment for the previous year which has been completed and has become final. 1933 Rang. 350. A subsequent Income-tax Officer cannot go behind and revise the assessment made by his predecessor in the previous year merely because he disagreed with the predecessor's finding as to the amount of the assessable income. 12 R. 118 =146 I.C. 300=1933 R. 350 (S.B.). See also 145 I.C. 145=1933 S. 158; (1938) 2 M.L.J. 115=65 I.A. 236=I.L.R. 1938 B. 487 (P.C.). Under sec. 34, the Income-tax Officer has no power to reopen an assessment unless he acts in consequence of definite information which has come into his possession. The fact that the previous assessing officer has acted under a mistaken view of the law is not a sufficient ground for re-opening an assessment. This is not definite information at all. It amounts to nothing more than a change of opinion on the part of the authority making the assessment. The second opinion might be right or it might be wrong, and the fact that the second opinion has in the event, been held to be right is irrelevant. 1946 N.L.J. 25. Where an assessment of super-tax has been completed as if the assessee were a Hindu undivided family and it is subsequently held that the assessee is an individual, if the original assessment was in the absence of a return made under sec. 23 (4) and the assessee in answer to a notice under secs. 22 (4) and 34 files a return disclosing a lesser income than that taken in the original assessment, the Income-tax Officer can reopen the assessment and determine the assessee's income de novo. 1931 A.L.J. 1109=1932 A. 83. In such a case the Income-tax Officer cannot proceed on the footing that any portion of the income has escaped assessment, but he can proceed on the ground that the sum had been assessed at "too low a rate". 1932 A. 83. The Income-tax Officer has jurisdiction to impose a penalty in the matter of income-tax in proceedings for assessment taken under sec. 34 of the Act. 53 A. 445=1931 A.L.J. 336=1931 A. 421. So far as the word "discovers" in the amended sec. 34 of the Income tax Act is concerned, it requires that the Income-tax Officer should have formed an honest and reasonable belief upon material which could reasonably support such belief. In the nature of things it cannot amount to a conclusion of certainty. It is not necessary that, if the matter came to be subsequently decided in a Court of law, the Court should necessarily form the same conclusion as that formed by the Income-tax Officer. The Income-tax Officer's belief is a "discovery" within the meaning of the Act. What is a "discovery" and what is "definite information" must necessarily vary with the circumstances of the case. The words "definite information" are placed in sec. 34 of the Act to protect the subject against an assault by the Income-tax Officer based upon mere suspicion. The "definite information" which is something more than mere gossip or rumour, must lead to the discovery, or "belief". It need not necessarily be information of fact. Still less need it be information of actual escape from assessment or under-assessment. It may well be information of circumstances not themselves amounting to under-assessment or escape from assessment, but leading to the belief of under-assessment or escape from assessment. In short it may be circumstantial evidence. 1946 I.T.R. 431.

"DEFINITE INFORMATION" must be of fact—Discovery of error of law—Does not justify action under sec. 34. I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 230=(1944) I.T.R. 8=46 Bom.L.R. 108= 1944 Bom. 160.

"DEFINITE INFORMATION"—ALTERATION IN LAW.—The share of profits of a minor partner of a firm was, under a wrong conception of the law, not included by the Income-tax Officer in the assessment of the income of the minor's father for the year 1938-39, but in the following year it was included and its inclusion was held to be proper by the High Court in September, 1941. In March, 1940, prior to this decision of the High Court, a notice was served on the assessee under sec. 34 of the Income-tax Act in respect of his minor son's share which had "escaped" assessment in 1938-39. Held, though the expression "definite information" in sec. 34 would include definite information with regard to the state of the law, yet in the circumstances of the case, as the question of law had not been decided by the High Court when the notice under sec. 34 was issued, there was no "definite information" in the possession of the Income tax Officer at the time he served the notices and the assessment could not therefore be reopened. 1945 I.T.R. 242=1945 M.W.N. 377 =1945 Mad. 329=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 383.

POWER TO RE-OPEN ASSESSMENT—DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ON POINT OF LAW.—Under sec. 34 the Income-tax Officer is not entitled to reopen an assessment merely because he changes his mind on a question of law. Before he can act under the section, he must receive definite information from which it is apparent that income in the previous year has escaped assessment. 58 L.W. 167 (2)= 1945 M.W.N. 227=1945 I.T.R. 194=1945 Mad. 311=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 296.

LIMITATION.—"In any year"—Meaning of —Starting point of limtation for notice under sec. 34. 61 C. 132=38 C.W.N. 204= 1934 C. 515. Notice under sec. 22 served in proper time and assessment made—Assessment subsequently set aside by High Court —Fresh assessment in accordance with High Court order, but more than one year after the expiry of the tax year, not barred by limitation. 61 I.A. 10 noted infra. Whatever may be the reason for which the Income tax Officer should fail to assess any income within the period prescribed by law, he is not competent to assess it after the expiration of tha period of limitation. 8 L. 354 =1927 L. 248. The limitation of one year applies only to the notice. If a notice calling upon the asstssees to file a return of the additional income is given within the time therein limited, the rest of the assessment proceedings need not be completed within that time. 34 C.W.N. 1093. See also I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 393=1939 Mad. 302=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 371 (F.B.). There is no provision in law for the recovery of taxes on "escaped income" for more than one year. 1929 A. 919=1930 A.L.J. 26. See also 1933 S. 158 as to charging of super-tax against a firm, whose registration was cancelled by the Commissiontr. Mortgage—Interest assessed annually on accrual basis—Realization of interest by execution sale by assessee subsequently discovered—Assessment of interest representing escaped income on cash basis— Legality—Change of system to get over limitation not justified. 185 I.C. 83=1939 I.T.R. 522=1940 P. 239.

"ESCAPED ASSESSMENT".—The expression "has escaped assessment" in sec. 34 cannot be read as equivalent to "has not been assessed"; nor can income which has already been duly returned (under sec. 22) for assessment be said to have "escaped" assessment within the statutory meaning merely because the assessment on income so returned was not made (under sec. 23) within the tax year. Income has not "escaped" assessment within the meaning of sec. 34 if there are pending at the time proceedings for the assessment of the assessee's income which have not yet terminated in a final assessment thereof. 58 C. 909, Appr.) 61 I.A. 10=61 C. 285=1934 P. C. 33=66 M.L.J. 121 (P.C.). See also 61 C. 132=38 C.W.N. 204=1934 C. 515. See also 59 B. 626=37 Bom.L.R. 697=1935 B. 410. The word "assessment" in sec. 34 is not confined to the definite act of assessment, but includes also the process of assessment. It cannot be construed in the narrow sense of being equivalent to "has not been assessed". 1940 I.T.R. 236=1940 Cal. 520. Where an assessee makes a false return and evades liability to pay the tax he certainly escapes assessment, and if the falsehood and fraud perpetrated by him be detected within the time limit prescribed by the section, he can be assessed under sec. 34, on the correct income. 31 S.L.R. 452=1938 S. 54. Sec. 34 is applicable to cases in which either no assessment at all has been made upon the person who received the income, profits or gains liable to assessment, or where an assessmen has been made in the course of the year, but some portion of the income, profits or gains of such assessee, for some reason or other, have not been included in the order of assessment; such income is income which has "escaped assessment" in the year, and falls within the ambit of sec. 34 of the Act. 14 R. 228=1936 R. 219 (S.B.). The Income-tax Officer relying upon the accounts submitted by the assessee firm passed an order of assessment but the Commissioner of Income-tax estimateing the income for himself enhanced it without issuing notice within the period of one year: Held, that the difference in the estimates of income of the Income-tax Officer and Commissioner was income that had escaped assessment within the meaning of sec. 34 and the Commissioner was not entitled to enhance the income without notice to the assessee within the time mentioned in sec. 34. 38 P.L.R. 1107=1936 L. 897. The words "for any reason" before the expression "escaped assessmen" indicate that the Legislature intended to include all those cases which either resulted from mere inadvertence or from conscious misapprehension of the proper situation. There is no justification for confining the meaning of the word "escape" to those cases only which have not come to the notice of the Income-tax Officer at all and excluding those cases where he has applied his mind, but on account of an error of judgment has set any part of the income free from assessment. The idea conveyed by the words "for any reason" is so wide as to make it impossible not to include any case of non-assessment to whichever cause it may be due. 158 I.C. 349=1935 L. 361. See also 1940 Cal. 520= 191 I.C. 118. It covers not only a case where the Income-tax Officer omitted to consider the question at all, but also a case where on consideration he came to the conclusion, ex hypothesi an erroneous conclusion, that the property in question was not assessable. 49 M. 22=50 M.L.J. 63. The words "if for any reason the assessment is too low" in sec. 34, are wide enough to cover a mistake of law, e.g., where the sole surviving coparcener has been originally assessed as a member of a Hindu joint family according to a decision of the High Court, but subsequently the Privy Council held differently, that in such a case he can be assessed as an individual, such a mistake is covered by sec. 34, and a fresh assessment can be made under sec. 34. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 445

=41 Bom L.R. 652=1939 Bom. 362. See also 1938 Cal. 557 (S.B.); 1940 Cal. 520. Where proceedings started with the issue of a notice under sec. 22 (2) on a non-resident principal and on his objection it was declared that the whole proceeding ending with assessment on that notice was wholly void and illegal, the income of the non-resident principal has 'escaped assessment' and a notice issued on his agent, as required by sec. 42, under sec. 34 of the Act is quite valid in law. I.L.R. (1942) All. 398=1942 A.L.J. 543=(1942) F.L.J. (H.C.) 167=1942 I.T.R. 322=1942 All. 295. The word "escape" has a wide meaning and the words "for any reason" in the beginning of sec. 34 appear to widen the interpretation and not to narrow the meaning of the word "escape". Hence if an item of income is included in the return submitted by an assessee during a tax year but is left unassessed by the Income-tax Officer or if assessed in the first instance, the assessment is cancelled by any appellate or revisional authority, it escapes assessment within the meaning of sec. 34 and the assessee can be legally served with a notice within one year of the end of that year. (14 L. 255. Overr.) 16 L. 937=158 I. C. 718=1935 L. 742 (F.B.). The wrong allowance of inadmissible personal expenses of the assessee in computing the taxable income in the original assessment constitutes escapement of income, profits or gains liable to assessment within the meaning of sec. 34. 1942 I.T.R. 379. Sec. 34 gives power to Income-tax Authorities to take action where inter alia, the assessee has been assessed at too low a rate or has been the subject of an excessive relief under the Act. "Where the sole question involved is the assessment of income for super-tax and the assessee was held wrongly to be a joint Hindu family and not as an individual with the result that a high exemption is granted to him for purposes of assessmen to super-tax, the Income-tax Officer would be justified in issuing a notice under sec. 34 on the ground that the assessee has been assessed at too low a rate or has been the subject of an excessive relief". It is unnecessary to consider any question of "escape". (1943) I.T.R. 491. The income, profits or gains which the Income-tax Officer is authoristd and bound to assess under sec. 34 is the income, profits or gains chargeable to income-tax that had escaped assessment in the particular year. It is not open to him to ascertain the whole assessable income of the assessee and then further to ascertain whether some portion of such income had or had not escaped assessment. 9 R. 28=132 I.C. 559=1931 R. 333. In a proceeding under that section, the Income-tax Officer and after him the Assistant Commissioner are only dealing with the extra income which has not been assessed to income-tax. No jurisdiction is give to either of these officers to make a new assessment for the purpose of taxing the whole of that assessment. It is therefore not open to the Assistant Commissioner on appeal to grant any relief other than setting aside the extra assessment by the Income-tax Officer. 1931 A.L.J. 878=1932 A. 1. When an assessment has already been made in respect of the previous accounting year under sec. 34, the question whether all income which had accrued and had escaped assessment had been assessed to tax or not depends upon the investigation of the facts of the case. 1931 C. 761 (S.B.). Where income has been assessed in the hands of an assessee to whom it was subsequently found not to belong, the income must be said to have escaped assessment within the meaning of sec. 34. 8 L. 354=1927 L. 248. When the Income-tax Officer takes action under sec. 34 of the Indian Income-tax Act for the purpose of raising the rate of tax on the ground that the rate originally fixed was too low, he is not bound to reopen the whole assessment and re-assess the income, that is to determine afresh the correct taxable income of the assessee, and the enquiry need not go beyond the facts on which the raising of the rate depends. 1930 M. 126=58 M.L.J. 23 (F.B.). Where a creditor had, prior to the year of assessment, received a sum of money from a debtor and he transferred the sum to interest account in the assessment year, and such sum was not taxed before nor was it treated as non-taxable, held, that it must be treated as interest received in the assessment year and its assessment is not time-barred. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (S.B.).

ESCAPED ASSESSMENT—BURDEN OF PROOF. —Under sec. 34, the onus does not lie on the Income-tax Authorities to satisfy the Court upon facts, that income, profits and gains had escaped assessment. The effect of so holding would be that in every case in which proceedings are taken under sec. 34, the assessee would have an appeal on facts. Under sec. 34 if the Income-tax Authorities have not misdirected themselves in law, and there were materials before the Income-tax Authorities upon which they could find that income, profits and gains had in fact escaped assessment, the High Court will not interfere or disturb the findings of fact at which the Income-tax Authorities have arrived. (1935 B. 410. Diss.) 14 R. 228=1936 R. 219 (S.B.). See also 59 59 B. 626=37 Bom. L.R. 697=1935 B. 410. It is always open to an assessee under sec. 34 to show that the income, profits or gains alleged to have escaped assessment have not in truth and in fact escaped and for this purpose it is not true that income, profits or gains have necessarily escaped assessment, because they have not been assessed under the right head. But if it is once shown that income has escaped assessment, the assessee cannot under sec. 34 resist proceedings to assess it merely by showing that other income, profits or gains have been assessed at too high a figure. 34 C.W.N. 816=1930 C. 627 (F.B.).

NOTICE.—The Income-tax Officer can issue a notice under sec. 34 even after an assessment has become final in appeal before the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax. A notice under the section can be issued without proving by admissible evidence before the issue of such notice that such and such income and such sources have escaped assessment. All that is necessary is that the Income-tax Officer must have reason to believe that income has escaped assessment. 1942 I. T. R. 79; See also (1942) I.T.R. 370. There is no standard form of notice prescribed in sec. 34 and all that the section requires is that a notice containing all or any of the requirements which may be included in a notice under sec. 22 (2) shall be served. So where the so-called notice was in the form of a letter by the Office but it contained all the details provided for in a notice, the notice must be treated as sufficient and regular in form. 61 C. 132=38 C.W.†. 204=1934 C. 513. All that is necessary under sec. 34 is that a notice should be given to the assessee, which sufficiently draws his attention to the case which he has to meet. It is not necessary to specify the particular source of income which is alleged to have escaped assessment. Where the assessee has only one source of income, namely, business, it is plain that a notice saying that income from all sources had escaped assessment is quite sufficient to how him what is the case that he has to meet. It is a valid notice under sec. 34. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 206=(1943) I.T.R. 44=45 Bom.L.R. 125=1943 Bom. 132. See also 1942 I.T.R. 435. It is not necessary that a notice under sec. 34 should assume any particular form, but it must give notice to the assessee that in the opinion of the Income-tax Officer some income has escaped assessment, and in order to justify a notice under sec. 34, the Income-tax Officer must be bona fide of opinion that some income has escaped assessment. It cannot be held as a matter of law that when a notice is given in terms under sec. 22 (2), which subsequently turns out to be a bad notice under sec. 22 (2) because it is out of time it can automatically be held to be a good notice under sec. 34, although there is no reason to suppose that the Income-tax Officer ever considered the question under sec. 34. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 224 =45 Bom.L.R. 143=1943 I.T.R. 202=1943 Bom. 102. It is the Income-tax Officer who is to decide whether income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment; he is the person charged with the duty of taking action under sec. 34 where such action ought to be taken. Apart from the assessee no person other than the Income tax Officer can by reason of sec. 34 of the Act, have any knowledge of the first assessment and upon what data it was based, and none else is in a position to decide whether income has escaped assessment or not. In deciding whether income has escaped assessment the Income-tax Officer must not act on suspicion or conjecture; he must decide the questions upon a fair and reasonable consideration of such information and materials as were available to him. He need not hold a formal enquiry, but he should indicate to the assessee the nature of the alleged escapement so as to enable him to identify it and explain it if he can. In other words he should give the assessee an opportunity of being heard before he decides against him that income has escaped assessment and proceeds to upset the settled assessment. If the Income tax Officer is satisfied with the assessee's explanation there is an end of the matter. On the other hand, if after a fair consideration of all the information and materials before him, including the explanation the assessee has given, or the failure of assessee to give any explanation of the alleged escapement, the Income-tax Officer thinks that income has escaped assessment he may say so, and proceed under sec. 34. Coming to a decision after giving an opportunity to the assessee of his being heard is a condition precedent to taking action under sec. 34. The Income tax Officer cannot proceed to act under sec. 34 b merely stating that he has 'reason to believe' that income has escaped assessment. 177 I. C. 255=1938 Cal. 557 (S.B.). Where the assessee company succeeded to the business in issue after notice duly served under sec. 34 upon the predecessor, the former is liable to be assessed without fresh notice being served upon it under the section. The Income tax Act does not contemplate any fresh notice to be served upon the sucessor, inasmuch as the proceedings once started agains the predecessor continue against the successor, even if the predecessor has ceased to exist. 18 Lah. 325=1937 Lah. 830. When a notice under sec. 34 has been served on a person and he has made a return in response thereto and then died, the proceedings can be continued by the issue of notices under secs. 22 (4) and 23 (2) to the successor of such person. It is not necessary that the proceedings against the successor should be started de novo. 57 M. 357=1934 M. 63=66 M.L.J. 17 (F.B.) Where an assessee is served with two two notices under sec. 34 of the Income-tax Act in different capacities, one to him personally and the other to him as guardian of his minor son, and the assessee makes a return on the first notice without taking any action on the second, it is open to the Income-tax Authorities to decide to take no further action on the second notice, and to proceed against the assessee on the first only. The assessment of the assessee on the first notice alone in his personal capacity is not under the circumstances ultra vires. 1942 I.T.R. 435. When income has escaped assessment, an assessment can be made under sec. 34 on the successor of the person who, if no succession had taken place, would have been liable. Such an assessment is not invalidated by the fact that the succession took place after the close of the year in which he escaped assessment. See 57 Mad. 357=466 M.L.J. 17 (F.B.); 1936 Lah. 750. The issue of a fresh notice under sec. 34 does not do away with the previous assessment under sec. 23 (4). 1931 A.L.J. 1109=1932 A. 83. Sec. 34 itself mentions that notice under sec. 34 may contain all or any of the requirements which may be included in a notice under sec. 22 (2). So when a notice under sec. 34 is issued another notice under sec. 22 (2) is not necessary. 1936 L. 750.

10 Inserted by sec. 3 of Act XII of 1940.

An Income-tax Officer or his successor is entitled under sec. 34 to re-assess the income if he thinks that owing to some mistake in the first assessment income has escaped assessment. Sec. 34 is applicable to put right an assessment by which a deduction has been improperly allowed. But it cannot be held that it can only be re-opened on a particular ground such as change of facts or alteration in the law. But income cannot be held to have escaped assessment merely on the ipse dixit of the Income-tax Officer. It is for him to establish to his own satisfaction on the assessment and subsequently before any appellate triunal that income has escaped assessment; it is not for the assessee to prove that the original assessment was right and that no income has escaped assessment. 45 Bom.L.R. 125=1943 Bom. 132. Kania, J.—Where the Income-tax Officer who made the original assessment allowed certain deductions after examining four pieces of evidence and the successor of that officer who dealt with the matter after notice under sec. 34, had only three out of those four pieces of evidence and had no other evidence, and he finds that certain deductions should not have been made and that some income has escaped assessment, it must be held that there was no evidence before the Income-tax Officer to hold that any income had escaped assessment. The question of law about the applicability of sec. 34 could only arise if on the same materials at least the second officer had come to a different conclusion. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 206=(1943) I.T.R. 44=45 Bom.L.R. 125=1943 Bom. 132. Income in respect of which a final and conclusive assessment has been made cannot be subjected to re assesment except when the asessment has been fixed at too low a rate either under sec. 34, or under any other section of the Income-taxAct. 14 R. 228=1936 R. 219 (S.B.). But see also 12 R. 1128=1933 Rang. 350; 1933 Sind 158. SECS. 34 AND 23 (4).—When once a final assessment is arrival at, it cannot be re-opened except in the circumstances detailed in sec. 34 and sec. 35 of the Act and within the time limited by those sections. This evidently implies that even the "best judgment" assessment can be re-opened under sec. 34. I. L.R. 1939 L. 47=1938 Lah. 867. See also 65 I.A. 236=1938 2 M.L.J. 115.

SECS. 34 AND 35.—An assessment cannot be said to become final and conclusive until the time limited for altering the assessment under sec. 34 or 35 of the Act has expired; and until such time an assessment may be corrected in a proper case. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 445 =41 Bom.L.R. 655=1939 B. 362. Secs. 34 and 35 are not mutually exclusive; and the fact that a mistake might be remedied under sec. 35 is no reason why the assessment should not be altered under sec. 34, if the case falls within that section. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 445=41 Bom.L.R. 652=1939 Bom. 362.

SEC. 35.—Rectification of a mistake which has the effect of enhancing the assessment cannot be made after the expiry of one year from the date of the demand made by the assessee. 8 L. 357. The fact that the assessee had moved the Commissioner under sec. 33 during that period would not make any difference. 8 L. 347=1927 L. 421. Although an Income tax Officer making an assessment is not strictly acting as a Court of law, it is clear from sec. 37 that he is acting in a quasi judicial capacity and he ought to conform to the more elementary rules of judicial procedure and in partcular to conduct the case himself, and not allow somebody else, even his superior officer, to take the conduct out of his hands. Where at the assessment proceedings, the superior officer of the Income-tax Officer making the assessment is present and puts questions to the assessee either directly or through the Income-tax Officer the procedure is grossly irregular. It is grossly improper for a superior revenue officer to appear in the proceedings and in effect to dictate to the Income-tax Officer holding the inquiry what questions are to be asked and to direct him how to conduct the inquiry. LIABILITY IN SPECIAL CASES.

Guardians, trustees andd agents.

(2) Where the trustee or agent of any person not resident in British India and not being a minor, lunatic or idiot (such person being hereinafter in this sub-section referred to as a beneficiary) is entitled to receive on behalf of such beneficiary, or is in receipt on behalf of such beneficiary of, any income, profits or gains

LEG. REF.

[2] Sec. 40 substituted by Act XXIII of 1941.

SEC. 40.—Sec. 40 is not a charging section. It is only a machinery section enabling the Income-tax Officer to assess the trustees or guardians as representing their beneficiaries or wards. But it is not obligatory for the officer so to do and the section cannot be invoked to prevent him from assessing on other basis. 55 M. 891=1932 M. 378=62 M.L.J. 600 (F.B.). It makes the trustees liable for beneficiaries in certain cases, where the beneficiaries are difficult or impossible to get at and where the trustee acts as a conduit-pipe for the conveyance of the income to the beneficiaries. It does not affect the charging secs. 3 and 10 of the Act under which the trustees as an association of individuals, carrying on a business, are liable to be assessed in respect of the gains of the business carried on by them. In fact this is the only way that the profits and gains of the business carried on by the trustees can be taxed. Sec. 40 is not therefore applicable to trustees who are liable under the general provisions of the Act to be assessed. 1930 L. 929. Even apart from sec. 40, there may be other cases in which the trustees in receipt of trust income may be chargeable with tax on such income. By Act IV of 1913, for settling certain properties belonging to Sir Currimbhoy Ebrahim, Baronet, appellants were incorporated as trustees for executing the trusts. By sec. 6 the corporation was to pay out of the income from the properties all rates and taxes and sundry other outgoings. By sec. 7 the corporation was required to form two funds, called the Sinking Fund and the Repair Fund, and to carry annually thereto respectively, out of the income of the properties, certain sums calculated on percentages of capital sums there specified. By sec. 8, the residue of the income was to be paid to the Baronet for the time being, if of full age, for his own absolute use and benefit. Held, that, so far as concerned the money which the appellants employed in maintaining the Sinking Fund and the Repair Fund and in defraying outgoings they were not exempt from liability to pay tax. (1921) 1 A.C. 65, Ref.] Held, also, that even with reference to the balance of the trust income paid over to the Baronet, it was 'receivable' or 'owned' by the trustees and so rightly assessed. 61 I.A. 209=58 B. 317=66 M.L.J. 643 (P.C.).

SECS. 40 AND 41.—Sections do not exhaust the category or description of trustees or other persons who may be in receipt of income as such or on behalf of others and do not limit the operation of sec. 3 with regard to others. 16 L. 829=1935 L. 570 (F.B.) on this section see also 1945 I.T.R. 500.

chargeable under this Act, the tax, if not levied on the beneficiary direct, may be levied upon and recovered from such trustee or agent, as the case may be, in like manner and to the same amount as it would be leviable upon and recovered from the beneficiary if in direct receipt of such income, profits or gains, and all the provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly.]

SEC. 41 (1): APPLICABILITY—TRUST PROPERTY—INCOME TO BE DEVOTED TO TEMPLE, DHARMASHALA AND SADAVART—BENEFICIARIES, IF JURISTIC PERSONS.—Sec. 41 (1) of the Income-tax Act applies to the income from a trust property which has to be utilised for a temple, Dharmashala (rest house) and Sadavart (house for feeding or distributing charity to the poor). The beneficiaries connoted by the temple, the Dharmashala and the Sadavart are all persons in the juristic sense. The argument that the income is devoted to specified "objects" and not for the benefit of "persons" is fallacious since here the objects cannot be divorced from the persons the worship of the idol or the maintenance of the temple and the idol; the Dharmashala and the travellers seeking shelter there; and the Sadavart and the poor people who receive food. These are so inextricably bound up together as to make it impossible to separate the objects from the persons. These persons become in the eye of law the cestui que trusts. What can reasonably be said is that the beneficiaries are not a specific, fixed or limited body of persons but wholly indeterminate. I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 594=224 I.C. 589. Applicability —Testamentary trust — Assessment before amending Act of 1941 came into force—Validity. Sec. 41 (1) did not apply to a testamentary trust. This defect was removed by the Amending Act XXIII of 1941. But this Act does not purport to be retrospective and an assessment already made before it came into force cannot, therefore, be sustained. SEC. 41: APPLICABILITY—"MANAGER APPOINTED BY COURT".—K instituted a suit against E for a declaration that he was entitled jointly with E to certain properties and also for partition. A consent decree was passed, the terms of settlement providing that both K and E were each entitled to equal shares in the properties. A partition of the properties was ordered to be effected and Commissioners who were appointed for that purpose were directed to take accounts of the joint estate and divide the properties equally between both of the. The Official Receiver was appointed receiver of the properties and was invested with the power of dividing the income of the properties equally between K and E. The Official Receiver was however subsequently discharged by a consent order which jointly gave liberty to both K and E to realize the rent of properties on joint receipts and to meet the necessary expenses. The documents of title were kept in joint custody and both were given liberty to invest money which would come to their hands and divide the same equally. Both K and E while in possession under the above arrangement divided the receipts between themselves in equal shares. The Income-tax Officer assessed K in respect of his share in the property presumably including half the annual value of the property in the assessable income of K under the head 'property'. Held, that sec. 41 did not apply because in the circumstances K and R were never appointed managers or receivers of the property by or under any order of the Court within the meaning of sec. 41 and the Income-tax Officer did not therefore act illegally in assessing K in respect of his share in the property. The partners of a firm conveyed their properties to trustees for the benefit of their creditors. The trustees sold in the firm's financial year a cinema business and a general business of the debtors but carried on a Saw Mill business which proved to be a profitable concern. The profits made from the Saw Mill were sufficient to pay in full all the creditors. Held, (i) the income received by the trustees was received on behalf of the general body of creditors and not of the partners and income tax should accordingly be levied on the trustees as trustees for the general body of creditors only; (ii) the assessees have no right to deduct an allowance for depreciation in the general and cinema business discontinued prior to the year of account as a set off against the income of the Saw Mill business. 1942 I.T.R. 477=55 L.W. 788=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 651=1943 Mad. 243. SEC. 41 (1), PROVISO.—Applicability—Levy of tax at maximum rate—When justified. Where the individual shares of the beneficiaries under a trust, on whose behalf the income of the trust is received by the trustee are indeterminate and might well vary in respect of many of the cestui que trusts from year to year according to the wish or even the whim of the trustee himself, the proviso to sec. 41 (1) comes into operation, and the tax that is leviable is the maximum rate prevailing during the year of assessment. (1944) I.T.R. 68=1944 Cal. 308. The assessee who was the owner of a distillery business executed a wakf deed by which he dedicated the income from that business with the ultimate benefit to the poor for the maintenance and support of his family, children and descendants among other purposes. He constituted himself the sole mutawalli of the wakf. It was provided in the deed that in the event of profit the beneficiaries should benefit concurrently and in the same proportion. It was found that the persons entitled to be treated as beneficiaries were the assessee (settlor) his wife, his fives sons, seven daughters, and his ten grandchildren and they took the profits simultaneously and in equal shares. Held, that the first proviso to sec. 41 did not apply, and that the assessee should be taxed on the basis of the profits falling to the share of each beneficiary and not on the footing that all the beneficiaries constituted an association of persons. (1945) I.T.R. 189=1945 Pat.

SEC. 42.—The definition of the word 'business' in sec. 2 (4) is not exhaustive and does not restrict the meaning of 'business connection' in sec. 42 to such definition. All that is necessary is that there should be a business in British India and a connection

Provided further that the amount recoverable from such agent or person at the time of final settlement shall not exceed the amount specified in such certificate except to the extent to which such agent or person may at such time have in his hands additional assets of such non-resident person.]

If its investments can be separated it is open to the company to urge that portions of this business operation are carried out in British India and portions outside British India and such income as can be reasonably attributed to that part of the operations carried out outside British India should be exempted. Where the investment of the premia earned in British India resulting in interest is capable of being divided into separate portions, some of which took place in India and some outside, relief under sec. 42 (3) should be given to the Company on that basis. 47 Bom.L.R. 222=1945 I.T.R. 272=1945 Bom. 285.

SECS. 42 AND 43.—When two companies are closely associated, that is, there is a business connexion and the two are working in concert as though under one control, and where one company lends money to another on interest, the lender company can be said to be receiving profits or gains taxable under sec. 42 (1) and sec. 43. 63 I.A. 408=60 B. 900=41 C.W.N. 33=1936 P.C. 269=1937 1 M.L.J. 200 (P.C.). Business connection, what is. See 1939 A.L.J. 631=1939 All. 593=I.L.R. (1939) All. 832; 67 I.A. 394=I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 89=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 851=1940 P.C. 183 (P.C.). "Business connection", in secs. 42 and 43 denotes some element of continuity in the relationship between the person in India who makes the profits and the non-resident who receives them. A single transaction would not fall within the expression. Sec. 43 is really only machinery for giving effect to sec. 42, and the mere appointment of an agent under sec. 43 would be of no consequence unless tax can be levied under sec. 42. 41 Bom.L.R 379=1939 Bom. 257. It is not necessary for the purpose of forming a business connection in British India that contracts between the statutory agent and the non-resident should be entered into in British India or that the profits should accrue to the non-resident in British India. 1939 I.T.R. 1. Sec. 42 provides the method of charging a non-resident and lays down that his profits and gains shall be chargeable to income-tax in the name of the agent and that such 'agent' shall be deemed to be, for all the purposes of this Act, the the assessee in respect of such income-tax. According to sec. 42 (1) it is the agent alone and not his non-resident principal, that shall for the purposes of the Act, be treated as the assessee (i.e.) as the person to whom a notice under sec. 22 (2) shall issue and by whom the tax is payable. The provisions of that section are mandatory and the department is precluded from issuing notices to the principal and from treating the principal as the assessee except to the limited extent of recovering any arrears of tax. The proviso to sec. 42 does not militate against the above view, but it only contemplates the possibilty of the assessee, (i.e.) the agent not being able to pay the tax and provides the necessary method of recovery. The word 'agent' for the purposes of sec. 42 has a wider scope than it has in ordinary use. I.L.R. (1938) All. 432=1938 A.L.J. 341=1938 All. 310. Profits accruing in British India, but earned abroad are assessable. See 59 C. 1226=36 C.W.N. 563=1932 C. 626, cited under sec. 4, supra. The mere fact that a person residing outside British India with acumulated wealth chooses to invest part of it in a loan to a person in British India does not constitute a business. And the fact that the borrower chooses to use the money which he has borrowed for the purposes of his own business does not constitute any business connection so far as relates to the lender. The relationship between the parties is that of debtor and creditor and nothing else and that is not such a business connection as is referred to in sec. 42. Hence, the latter cannot be appointed as the agent of the former under sec. 43 for assessment. 57 B. 651=35 Bom. L.R. 914=1933 B. 422. A principal can be assessed under sec. 42 without the necessity of appointment an agent under the latter part of sec. 43. 57 B. 519=35 Bom.L. R. 896=1933 B. 427. An assessee assessed under sec. 42 in respect of a business in which the manufacture of a commodity takes place in a foreign country and the sale thereof takes place in British India, is not entitled, in computing the profits and gains of such business, to make a deduction representing a proportion of profits earned by manufacture in the country of origin. 59

43. Any person employed by or on behalf of a person residing out of British India, or having any business connection with such person, or through whom such person is in the receipt of any income, profits or gains upon whom the Income-tax Officer has caused a notice to be served of his intention of treating him as the agent of the non-resident person shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be such agent:

Agent to include persons treated as such.

C. 1226=1932 C. 626=36 C.W.N. 563. The assessee company was formed for acquiring from an American company and carrying on in a particular area, the American company's business of selling their manufactures. The American company owned all the shares of the assessee company and had complete control over it. The question was if the local company can be deemed to be the agent of the American company so as to be assessed in respect of the profits made by the American company on the sales of its manufactures to the local company. Held, that the necessary business connection having been established, the profits and gains in question accrued, or arose to the foreign company directly or indirectly through or from a business connection in British India and the assessee company was chargeable for the same. 55 B. 243=35 C. W.N. 349=1931 P.C. 42=58 I.A. 42=60 M.L.J. 609 (P.C.). The question as to what is the residence of a joint family cannot depend upon the nature of income it gets. It cannot be that the test of residence should be one thing if it is a trading family, and some other thing if it gets income from securities, property or other sources. In the case of a Hindu joint family, the family should be said to reside in all those places where members of the family live and may like a company or firm have more than one place of residence. Therefore, the test in 1927 M. 732=50 M. 847=53 M.L.J. 249= 1927 M. 732=50 M. 847=53 M.L.J. 249 cannot apply to what are generally described in decisions as Hindu Law partnerships, i.e., partnerships which are the creatures of Hindu Law and not of the law of contracts. 55 M. 885=63 M.L.J. 22 (S.B.).

SEC. 43.—The word "agent" in sec. 43 is not to be used in the same sense as the same word in sec. 42 (1). Any person who comes within the terms of sec. 43 is put by that section artificially into the position of an agent and assessed under sec. 42 (1). It is not restricted to agents in actual receipt of the profits and gains. 55 B. 243=35 C.W.N. 349=1931 P.C. 42=58 I.A. 42=60 M.L.J. 609 (P.C.). See also 57 I.A. 42; 1938 All. 310=1938 A.L.J. 341; 57 I.A. 49=58 M. L.J. 197=1930 P.C. 54 (P.C.). The section merely defines who may be included as an agent and the agent under the section must be in receipt of income. 49 C. 721= 1922 C. 454=26 C.W.N. 745. The notice is by sec. 43 made part of the series of facts which results in the resident being deemed agent by force of the section. The extent of his responsibility if to be agent is another matter. If by notice given in due course under sec. 22 (2) the year or years be specified, he has no grievance in point of procedure, and he can make his case upon the merits. Thus the assessment made on an assessee as agent under sec. 43 is not rendered illegal by the fact that the notice which the Income-tax Officer served on the assessee under the proviso to sec. 43 did not mention any particular year for which the Income-tax Officer proposed to treat assessee as an agent. 65 I.A. 12=I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 129=42 C.W.N. 417=1938 P.C. 8= (1938) 1 M.L.J. 123 (P.C.). Where an Indian company distributes its Indian profits to shareholders outside British India, the company cannot be deemed to be the agent of the foreign shareholders and assessed as such to super-tax in British India. 49 C. 721. The words "denying his liability to be assessed" under sec. 30 (1) are wide enough to cover a case of an assessee who denies his liability to be declared as an agent under sec. 43. Therefore an appeal against the order of an Income-tax Officer declaring any person to be an agent of a foreigner is not barred under sec. 30 (1). 28 N.L.R. 194=1932 N. 152. The word 'through' in sec. 43 (c) cannot be construed as meaning 'from'. 57 Bom. 651=35 Bom. L.R. 914=1933 Bom. 422. Where a person is appointed as agent and assessed as agent in respect of a particular year, and he does not dispute his liability to be assessed in respect of that year and pays the tax, it amounts to an admission on his part that in respect of that year he is an agent of the principal for purposes of sec. 43. It is not open too the assessee to plead later on in re-assessment under sec. 34 that he was not the agent of the principal in respect of that year of assessment. The re-assessment under sec. 34 is only a part of the original assessment though the actual re-assessment might be made several years later. But an appointment of an agent for one year cannot necessarily be held to hold good for subsequent years. 1943 I.T.R. 104=45 Bom. L.R. 168=1943 Bom. 122=213 I.C. 265.

SECS. 43 AND 22: NOTICE SERVED ON ASSESSEE AS AGENT OF NON-RESIDENT—QUESTION OF AGENCY—WHEN MUST BE DETERMINED.—It is open to the Income-tax Officer to postpone any final determination of the question of agency until the time comes to make an assessment under sec. 23, as the Act imposes no technical requirement in this connexion. It may be reasonable that an assessee who is served with a notice under sec. 22 (2) as an agent of a non-resident under sec. 43, should not be required to render a return of the non-resident's income until it has first been decided that he is his agent; on the other hand, having regard to the circumstances which for this purpose constitute agency, it may well be

[1][Provided that where transactions are carried on in the ordinary course of business through a broker in British India in such circumstances that the broker does not in respect of such transactions deal directly with or on behalf of a non-resident principal but deals with or through a non-resident broker who is carrying on such transactions in the ordinary course of his business and not as a principal such first mentioned broker shall not be deemed to be an agent under this section in respect of such transactions :]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN CLASSES OF SHIPPING.

Liability to tax of occasional shipping.

44A. The provisions of this Chapter shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the other provisions of this Act, apply for the purpose of the levy and recovery of tax in the case of any person who resides out of British India and carries on business in British India in any year as the owner or charterer of a ship (such person hereinafter in this Chapter being referred to as the principal), unless the Income-tax Officer is satisfied that there is an agent of such principal from whom the tax will be recoverable in the following year under the other provisions of this Act.

Return of profits and gains.

44B. (1) Before the departure from any port in British India of any ship in respect of which the provisions of this Chapter apply, the master of the ship shall prepare and furnish to the Income-tax Officer a return of the full amount paid or payable to the principal, or to any person on his behalf, on account of the carriage of all passengers, live-stock or goods shipped at that port since the last arrival of the ship thereat.

thought advisable that the information afforded by a return and by books of account produced in support thereof would be available for the purpose of deciding as to agency. The avoidance of delay may also be a consideration. Thus, if the notice under sec. 22 is served before the expiry of one year from the financial year, it is a valid initiation of proceedings of the assessee as an agent under sec. 43. Proceedings if begun in time are not by the Income-tax Act required to be completed within any time limit. 65 I.A. 12=I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 129=42 C.W.N. 417=1938 P.C. 8=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 123 (P.C.).

SEC. 44.—The object of sec. 44 is to enable the tax on the profits of a firm which has been discontinued to be got by the Income-tax authorities and to prevent the avoidance of taxation by the discontinuance of the firm. The words "tax payable" in the section mean "tax that is due to be paid," "tax which the firm or partnership would be liable to pay if it had not been discontinued," or "tax either found to be due already or that will be found to be due in the future." They do not mean "tax payable as the result of an assessment already made upon the firm." The object of the section being clearly to get at the tax on the profits of a firm made before its discontinuance, the Income-tax authorities are perfectly entitled to assess the partners of a discontinued firm jointly and severally in respect of the profits earned by the firm before it was discontinued. 1937 M. 300=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 182 =I.L.R. (2) On receipt of the return, the Income-tax Officer shall assess the amount referred to in sub-section (1), and for this purpose may call for such accounts or documents as he may require, and one-twentieth of the amount so assessed shall be deemed to be the amount of the profits and gains accruing to the principal on account of the carriage of the passengers, livestock and goods shipped at the port.

(3) When the profits and gains have been assessed as aforesaid, the Income-tax Officer shall determine the sum payable as tax thereon at the rate for the time being applicable to the total income of a company, and such sum shall be payable by the master of the ship, and a port-clearance shall not be granted to the ship until the Customs-collector, or other officer duly authorised to grant the same, is satisfied that the tax has been duly paid.

Adjustment.

44C. Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to prevent a principal from claiming [1][in the year] following that in which any payment has been made on his behalf under this Chapter that an assessment be made of his total income in the previous year, and that the tax payable on the basis thereof be determined in accordance with the other provisions of this Act, and, if he so claims, any such payment as aforesaid shall be treated as a payment in advance of the tax and the difference between the sum so paid, and the amount of tax found payable by him shall be paid by him or refunded to him, as the case may be.]

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO AVOIDANCE OF LIABILITY TO INCOME-TAX AND SUPER-TAX.

Avoidance of income-tax by transactions resulting in the transfer of income to persons resident or ordinarily resident abroad.

44D. (1) Where any person has, by means of a transfer of assets, by virtue or in consequence whereof, either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, any income which if it were the income of such person would be chargeable to income-tax becomes payable to a person not resident or to a person resident but not ordinarily resident in British India, acquired any rights by virtue or in consequence of which he has within the meaning of this section power to enjoy such income, whether forthwith or in the future, that income shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to income-tax apart from the provisions of this section, be deemed to be income of such first mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act.

(2) Where any person receives or is entitled to receive, whether before or after any transfer of assets by virtue or in consequence whereof either alone or in conjunction with associated operations any income becomes payable to a person not resident or resident but not ordinarily resident in British India, any sum paid or payable by way of a loan or repayment of a loan or any other sum, being a sum which is not paid or payable for full consideration in money or money's worth, paid or payable otherwise than as income, such income shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to income-tax apart from the provisions of this section, be deemed to be the income of the first-mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act.

(3) Sub-sections (1)and (2) shall not apply if such first-mentioned person shows to the satisfaction of the Income-tax Officer either—

(a) that neither the transfer nor any associated operation had for its purpose or for one of its purposes the avoidance of liability to taxation; or

(b) that the transfer and all associated operations were bona fide commercial transactions and were not designed for the purpose of avoiding liability to taxation.

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted for "in any year" by sec. 50 of Act VII of 1939.

[2] Chapter VB inserted by sec. 51, Ibid.

(4) For the purposes of this section, an "associated operation" means, in relation to any transfer, an operation of any kind effected by any person in relation to any of the assets transferred or any assets representing whether directly or indirectly any of the assets transferred, or to the income arising from any such assets, or to any assets representing whether directly or indirectly the accumulations of income arising from any such assets.

(5) A person shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have power to enjoy income of a person not resident or resident but not ordinarly resident, in Britsh India, if—

(a) the income is in fact so dealt with by any person as to be calculated at some point of time,and, whether in the from of income or not, to enure for the benefit of the first-mentioned person, or

(b) the receipt or accrual of the income operates to increase the value to such first-mentioned person of any assets held by him or for his benefit, or

(c) such first -mentioned person reccives or is entitled to recevie at any time any benefit provided or to be provided out of that income or out of moneys which are or will be available for the purposes by reason of the effect or successive effects of the associated operations on that income and on any assets which respresent that income, or

(d) such first-mentioned person has power by means of the exercise of any power of appointment or power of revocation or otherwise to obtain for himself whether with or without the consent of any other person, the beneficial enjoyment of the income, or

(e) such first-mentioned person is able, in any manner whatsoever and whether directly or indirectly, te control the application of the income.

(6) In determining whether a person has power to enjoy income within the meaning of this section, regard shall be had to the substantial result and effect of the transfer and any associated operations, and all benefits which may at any time accrue to such person as a result of the transfer and any associated operations shall be taken into account irrespective of the nature or form the benefits.

(7) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the expression ' assets' includes property or rights of any kind, and the expression ' transfer ' in relation to rights includes the creation of those rights;

(b) the expression ' benefit ' includes a payment of any kind;

(c) references to income of a person not resident or of a person not ordinarily resident in British India shall, where the amount of the income of a company for any year or period has been deemed to have been distributed under sub-section (1) of seetion 23A, include references to so much of the income of the company for that year or period as is equal to the amount deemed to have been distributed to that person;

(d) references to assets representing any assets, income or accumulations of income include references to shares in or obligations of any company to which, or obligation of any other person to whom those assets, that income or those accumulations are or have been transferred;

(e) any body corporate incorporated outside British India shall be treated as if it were resident out of British India whether it is so resident or not.

(8) The provisions of this section shall apply for the purposes of assessment to income-tax and super-tax for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1940, and subsequent years, and shall apply, in relation to transfers of assets and associated operations whether carried out before or after the commencement of the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939.

(9) Where any person has been charged to tax on any income deemed to be his under the provisions of this section, and that income is subsequently received by him, whether as income or in any other form, it shall not again be deemed to form part of his income for the purposes of this Act.

Avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities.

44E. (1) Where the owner of any securities (in this sub-section and in sub-section (2) referred to as 'the owner') agrees to sell or transfer those securities, and by the same or any collateral agreement—

(a) agrees to buy back or re-acquire the securities, or

(b) acquires an option, which he subsequently exercises, to buy back or acquire the securities,

then, if the result of the transaction is that any interest becoming payable in respect of the securities is receivable otherwise than by the owner, the interest payable as aforesaid shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to tax apart from the provisions of this section, be deemed for all the purposes of this Act to be the income of the owner and not to be the income of any other person.

(2) The references in sub-section (1) to buying back or re-acquiring the securities shall be deemed to include references to buying or acquiring similar securities, so, however, that where similar securities are bought or acquired, the owner shall be under no greater liability to tax than he would have been under if the original secuirities had been bought back or re-acquired.

(3) Where any person carrying on a business which consists wholly or partly in dealing with securities agrees to buy or acquire any sequrities, and by the same or any collateral agreement—

(a) agrees to sell back or re-transfer the securities, or

(b) acquires an option, which he subsequently exercises, to sell back or re-transfer the securities,

then, if the result of the transaction is that any interest becoming payable in respect of the securities is receivable by him, no account shall be taken of the transaction in computing for any of the purposes of this Act the profits arising from or loss sustained in the business.

(4) Sub-section (3) shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references to selling back or re-transferring the securities included references to selling or transferring similar securities.

(5) For the purpose of this section—

(a) the expression 'interest' includes a dividend ;

(b) the expression 'securities' includes stocks and shares ;

(c) securities shall be deemed to be similar if they entitle their holders te the same rights against the same persons as to capital and interest and the same remedies for the enforcement of those rights, notwithstanding any difference in the total nominal amounts of the respective securities or in the form in which they are held or the manner in which they can be transferred.

(6) The income-tax Officer may by notice in writing require any person to furnish him within such time as he may direct (not being less than twenty-eight days), in respect of all securities of which such person was the owner at any time during the period specified in the notice. such particulars as he considers necessary for the purposes of this section and for the purpose of discovering whether tax has been borne in respect of the interest on all those securities; and if that person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with the notice, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees and to a further penalty of the like amount for every day after the infliction of such penalty during which the failure continues.

Avoidance of tax by sales cum dividend.

44F. (1) Any person upon whom notice is served by the Income-tax Officer requiring him to furnish a statement of particulars relating to any securities in which, at any time during the period specified in the notice he has had any beneficial interest, and in respect of which, within such period, either no income was received by him, or the income received by him was less than the sum to which the income would have amounted if the income from such securities had accrued from day to day and been apportioned accordingly, shall, whether an assessment to income-tax or super-tax in respect of his total income has or has not been made for the relevant year or years of assessment, furnish such a statement and such particulars in the form and within the time (not being less than twenty-eights days) required by the notice.

(2) If it appears to the Income-tax Officer by reference to all the circumstances in relation to the securities of any such person (including circumstances with respect to sales, purchases, dealings, contracts, arrangements, transfers or any other transactions relating to such securities) that such person has thereby avoided or would avoid more than ten per cent. of the amount of the income-tax or super-tax for any year which would have been payable in his case in respect of the income from those securities if the income had been deemed to accrue from day to day and had been apportioned accordingly, and the income so deemed to have been apportioned to him had been treated as part of his total income from all sources for the purposes of income-tax or super-tax, then those securities shall be deemed to be securities to which sub section (3) applies.

(3) For the purposes of assessment to income-tax or super-tax in the case of any such person, the income from any securities to which this sub-section applies shall be deemed to accrue from day to day, and in the case of the sale or transfer of any such securities by or to him shall be deemed to have been received as and when it is deemed to have accrued :

Provided that this section shall not apply if such person proves to the satisfaction of the Income-tax Officer that the avoidance of income-tax or super-tax was exceptional and not systematic and that there was not in his case in any of the three preceding years any such avoidance of income-tax or super-tax, or that the provisions of section 44E have been applied in his case in respect of such income.

(4) If any person fails to furnish any statement or particulars required under this section, or if the Income-tax Officer is not satisfied with any statement or particulars furnished under this section, the Income-tax Officer may make an estimate of the amount of the income which, under the foregoing provisions of this section, is to be deemed to form part of the person's total income for the purposes of income-tax and super-tax.

(5) If any person without reasonable excuse fails to furnish any statement or particulars required under this section, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to a further penalty of the like amount for every day after the infliction of such penalty during which the failure continues.

(6) For the purpose of this section the expression 'securities' includes stocks and shares.]

shall be paid within the time, at the place and to the person mentioned in the notice or order, or if a time is not so mentioned, then on or before the first day of the second month following the date of the service of the notice or order, and any assessee failing so to pay shall be deemed to be in default, provided that, when an assessee has presented an appeal under section 30 [1][* * * *], the Income-tax Officer may in his discretion treat the assessee as not being in default as long as such appeal is undisposed of:

[2][Provided further that where an assessee has been assessed in respect of income arising outside British India in a country the laws of which prohibit or restrict the remittance of money to British India, the Income-tax Officer shall not treat the assessee as in default in respect of that part of the tax which is due in respect of that amount of his income which by reason of such prohibition or restriction cannot be brought into British India, and shall continue to treat the assessee as not in default in respect of such part of the tax until the prohibition or restriction is removed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section income shall be deemed to have been brought into British India if it has been utilized or could have been utilized for the purposes of any expenditure actually incurred by the assessee without British India or if the income whether capitalised or not has been brought into British India in any form.]

Mode and time of recovery.

46. (1) When an assessee is in default in making a payment of income-tax, the Income-tax Officer may in his discretion direct that, in addition to the amount of the arrears, a sum not exceeding that amount shall be recovered from the assessee by way of penalty.

[3][(1*A*) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the Income-tax Officer may direct the recovery of any sum less than the amount of the arrears and may enhance the sum so directed to be recovered from time to time in the case of a continuing default, so however that the total sum so directed to be recovered shall not exceed the amount of the arrears payable.]

SEC. 46.—Sec. 46 prescribes only a summary remedy and there is nothing in that section or elsewhere in the Act to indicate that that is the only remedy by which income-tax is recoverable. The time-limit prescribed in sec. 46 (7) of the Act obviously applies to proceedings under that section. When income-tax is assessed, it becomes a debt due by the assessee to the Crown. The Crown as a creditor has the ordinary right of suit against the assessee. This is a right under the common law and there is nothing in the Act to take away this right. A suit for recovery of arrears of income tax would undoubtedly be a suit of a civil nature and such a suit would clearly be maintainable under the provisions of sec. 9, C. P. Code, and would be governed by Art. 120, if not by Art. 149 of the Limitation Act. 1941 I. T. R. 673=196 I C. 228=1942 Pat. 87. There is no doubt that an arrear of unpaid income-tax due by an assessee is a debt due to the crown and the Court can order payment of a crown debt due by a debtor on the application of the crown without a formal attachment being issued, when there are funds in Court belonging to the debtor. Sec. 46 of the Income-tax Act is not exhaustive and the Court can order payment on mere application. 1939 I.T.R. 411. Money realised by sale in execution of assessee's property—Application by Crown for payment out towards income-tax due by assessee—Competency—Power of Court to order payment. See I.L.R. 1938 M. 744=1938 M. 360=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 351 (F.B.). Arrears of income-tax can be realised like an arrear of land revenue under sec. 46 of the Act, and if orders are passed by the Commissioner, like an arrear of Municipal tax or local rate. 4 Pat.L.T. 171=24 Cr.L.J. 490=1923 P. 338. The Collector has power to make a fresh assessment for income-tax if he finds the first assessment made by him is low. 44 B. 234=55 I C. 334=22 Bom.L.R. 88. In order to succeed in a suit against the Collector for a declaration that he had acted without jurisdiction in realising sums from the plaintiff, it must be shown that he paid the sum under coercion. Income accruing to an executor under a will is liable to be taxed and the Collector acts within the limits of his jurisdiction in determining such person to be chargeable 42 C. 151=26 I C. 893=19 C.W.N. 138. Competency of Income-tax Department to proceed under sec. 46 for recovery of assessment made after winding up order without leave under sec. 171 of the Companies Act. See (1946) F.L.J. 29 =(1946) 1 M.L.J. 415 (F.C.); I.L.R. (2) The Income-tax Officer may forward to the Collector a certificate under his signature specifying the amount of arrears due from an assessee, and the Collector, on receipt of such certificate, shall proceed to recover from such assessee the amount specified therein as if it were an arrear of land revenue :

[1][Provided that without prejudice to any other powers of the Collector in this behalf, he shall for the purpose of recovering the said amount have [2][* * * the powers which under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, a Civil Court has [2][* * * *] for the purpose of the recovery of an amount due under a decree.]

(3) In any area with respect to which the Commissioner has directed that any arrears may be recovered by any process enforceable for the recovery of an arrear of any municipal tax or local rate imposed under any enactment for the time being in force in any part of the province, the Income-tax Officer may proceed to recover the amount due by such process.

(4) The Commissioner may direct by what authority any power or duties incident under any such enactment as aforesaid to the enforcement of any process for the recovery of a municipal tax or local rate shall be exercised or performed when that process is employed under sub-section (3).

(5) If any assessee is in receipt of any income chargeable under the head "salaries" the Income-tax Officer may require any person paying the same to deduct from any payment subsequent to the date of such requisition any arrears due from such assessee, and such person shall comply with any such requisition, and shall pay the sum so deducted to the credit of the Central Government, or as the [3][Central Board of Revenue] directs.

[4][(6) If the recovery of income-tax in any area has been entrusted to a Provincial Government under section 124 (1) of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Provincial Government may direct with respect to that area or any part thereof, that income-tax shall be recovered therein with, and as an addition to, any municipal tax or local rate, by the same person and in the same manner as the municipal tax or local rate is recovered.]

(7) Save in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 42, [5][or of the proviso to section 45], no proceedings for the recovery of any sum payable under this Act shall be commenced after the expiration of one year from the last day of [6][the financial year] in which any demand is made under this Act ;

[7][Provided that where the sum payable is allowed to be paid by instalments the period of one year herein referred to shall be reckoned from the date on which the last of such instalments was due.]

Recovery of penalties.

47. Any sum imposed by way of penalty under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 25, section 28, [8][sub-section (6) of section 44E, sub-section (5) of section 44F] or sub-section (1) of section 47, [9][and any interest payable under the provisions of sub-section (4), (6), (7) or (8) of section 18-A] shall be recoverable in the manner provided in this Chapter for the recovery of arrear of tax.

It is only if the sale was for the land-revenue that the purchaser would get a preferential title free from all encumbrances. 158 I.C. 776=42 L.W. 663=1935 M. 882.

CHAPTER VII.

REFUNDS.

Refunds.

[1][48. (1) If any individual, Hindu undivided family, company, local authority, firm or other association of persons, or any partner of a firm or member of an association individually satisfies the Income-tax Officer or other authority appointed by the Central Government in this behalf that the amount of tax paid by him or on his behalf or treated as paid on his behalf for any year exceeds the amount with which he is properly chargeable under this Act for that year, he shall be entitled to a refund of any such excess.

(2) [2][The Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Appellate Tribunal in the exercise of their appellate powers] if satisfied to the like effect shall cause a refund to be made by the Income-tax Officer of any amount found to have been wrongly paid or paid in excess.

(3) Where income of one person is included under any provision of this Act in the total income of any other person such other person only shall be entitled to a refund under this section in respect of such income.

(4) Nothing in this section shall operate to validate any objection or appeal which is otherwise invalid or to authorise the revision of any assessment or other matter which has become final and conclusive, or the review by any officer of a decision of his own own which is subject to appeal or revision, or where any relief is specifically provided elsewhere in this Act, to entitle any person to any relief other or greater than that relief or to entitle any person to claim a refund of tax payable before the commencement of the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939, which he would not be entitled to claim but for the passing of that Act.]

LEG. REF.

[1] Substituted sec. 55 Act VII of 1939.

[2] Substitute for the original words by sec. 91 ibid.

SEC. 48: SCOPE.—An application for refund of income-tax already paid by mistake is not in the course of assessment under the Act. 27 Bom.L.R. 400=89 I.C. 595=1925 B. 257. If the assessee is a person liable to Indian income-tax in respect of part of his income, a refund of Indian income-tax is admissible in respect of the sums or dividends received by him from sterling companies registered and with their share register in the United Kingdom but satisfying the definition of a company in sec. 2 (6) of the Act. 55 B. 734=33 Bom.L.R. 776=1931 B. 420. Certificate under sec. 20 of the Act signed by the Principal Officer in the United Kingdom of such companies can be regarded as valid certificates for the purposes of sec. 48 (1) of the Act and refund granted on their production. 55 B. 734. Assessment reduced after the passing of the Act—Party if entitled to refund. 1924 N. 24.

APPEAL.—There is no provision for appeals against a refusal to grant a refund under sec. 48. So where the suit for refund of income-tax does not raise any question of assessment, it is not barred by sec. 67. 25 S.L.R. 426=136 I.C. 819=1932 S. 48.

SEC. 48 (2).—The legatee of the profits from the business of a firm due to one of the partners who died prior to the year of assessment is not entitled to maintain a claim for the refund of income-tax under sec. 48 (2) because the deceased was not a person who paid the assessment on the firm for the year in question nor was he liable as he could not himself have been an assessee for that year. 25 S.L.R. 426=136 I.C. 819 =1932 S. 48. An association incorporated under sec. 26 of the Indian Companies Act as an association limited by guarantee not existing for earning profits, and prohibited under the law from declaring any dividends to its members, is liable to assessment, and there is no exemption in the Income-tax Act in favour of such a company as such. The fact that no relief under sec. 48 of the Act is available to such an association as in the case of other associations not incorporated under sec. 26 of the Companies Act is an irrelevant consideration. 1936 A.L.J. 1085=1936 A. 764. A member of a firm means and can only mean a person who has entered into a partnership with another person or persons. If a minor is incapable of entering into partnership with another person or persons he cannot be a member of a firm in which he is not a partner. That being so under sec. 48, cl. (2) before amendment by Act XVIII of 1933, a minor was not entitled to claim a refund. 165 I.C. 565 =1936 S. 203. Sec. 48 (2) applies to a person who has been assessed and does not apply to a person who was dead before the assessment on his income was made. A dead person cannot be assessed to income-tax. 165 I.C. 328= 1936 S. 137.

Relief in respect of United Kingdom income-tax.

49. (1) If any person who has paid [1][by deduction under section 18 or otherwise] Indian income-tax for any year on any part of his income proves to the satisfaction of the Income-tax Officer that he has paid [2][by deduction or otherwise] United Kingdom income-tax [3][for the corresponding year] in respect of the same part of his income and that the rate at which he was entitled to, and has obtained, relief under the provisions of section 27 of the Finance Act, 1920, is less than the Indian rate of tax charged in respect of that part of his income, he shall be entitled to a refund of a sum calculated on that part of his income at a rate equal to the difference between the Indian rate of tax [4][or the appropriate rate of United Kingdom income-tax, whichever is less,] and the rate at which he was entitled to, and obtained relief under that section :

[5][Provided that in no case shall the rate at which such refund is calculated exceed half the Indian rate of tax appropriate to the income of the person entitled to relief.]

(2) In sub-section (1)—

(a) the expression "Indian Income-tax" means income-tax and super-tax charged in accordance with the provisions of this Act ;

[6][(b) the expression "Indian rate of tax" means the amount of Indian income-tax exclusive of super-tax after deduction of any relief due to a claimant under the other provisions of this Act but before deduction of any relief due to him under this section, divided by his total income after deducting therefrom any income (including income from a share in an unregistered firm) exempted from tax by or under the provisions of this Act, added to the amount of Indian super-tax before deduction of any relief due to the claimant under this section divided by his total income ;

(c) the expression "United Kingdom income-tax" means income-tax and super-tax chargeable in accordance with the provisions of the Income-tax Acts.

[7][(d) the expression "appropriate rate of United Kingdom income-tax" has the meaning assigned to that expression in section 27 of the Finance Act, 1920, as amended by the Finance Act, 1927.]

Relief in respect of Indian State and Dominion income-tax.

[8][49A. (1) The Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make provision for the granting of relief in respect of income on which has been paid both income-tax (including super-tax) under this Act and Dominion income-tax.

(2) For the purposes of this section, "Dominion income-tax" means any income-tax or super-tax charged under any law in force in any Indian State or in any part of His Majesty's Dominions (other than the United Kingdom) where the laws of that State or part provide for relief in respect of tax charged on income both in that State or part and in British India which appears to the Central Board of Revenue to correspond to the relief which may be granted by this section.

SEC. 49-A: RIGHT OF SET OFF—IF LIMITED TO AMOUNT OF TAX LEGALLY RECOVERABLE. —The expression "remaining payable by the person" in sec. 49-A should not be read as meaning "legally recoverable from the person". If the Legislature had really intended that under sec. 49-A the right of set off was to be limited to an amount of tax legally recoverable, they could have expressly said so. 196 I.C. 228=1941 I.T.R. 673=1942 Pat. 87.

Payment of income-tax by company to be deemed payment by share-holder.

[1][49B. Where any dividend has been paid, credited or distributed or is deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed to any of the persons specified in section 3 who is a shareholder of a company which is assessed to income-tax in British India or elsewhere, such person shall be deemed in respect of such dividend himself to have paid income-tax (exclusive of super-tax) at the rate applicable to the total income of a company for the financial year in which the dividend has been paid, credited or distributed or is deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed on so much of the dividend as bears to the whole the same proportion as the amount of income on which the company is liable to pay income-tax bears to the whole income of the company.]

Relief granted to a company to be deemed relief granted to shareholder.

[2][49C. (1) Where any dividend has been paid, credited or distributed or is deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed to a shareholder of a company which has obtained the relief referred to in section 49 or granted under section 49-A or under the India and Burma (Income-tax Relief) Order, 1937, the shareholder shall be deemed in respect of such dividend himself to have obtained such relief at the rate at which such relief has been granted in respect of income-tax only to the company for the financial year preceding the year in which the dividend was paid, credited or distributed or is deemed to have been paid, credited or distributed.]

(2) If the rate at which a shareholder is deemed under sub-section (1) to have obtained relief exceeds the rate at which he would have been entitled to relief had such relief been given direct to him by or under the said sections or Order, any excess shall be recovered from him either as an addition to the tax payable by him on any assessment made on him under section 23 or section 34 or by setting it off against any relief due to him under section 48.

Relief in respect of tax charged in country not providing for relief in respect of British Indian income-tax.

49D. If any person who has paid by deduction or otherwise Indian Income-tax for any year in respect of any income arising without British India in a country the laws of which do not provide for any relief in respect of income-tax charged in British India proves that he has paid income-tax by deduction or otherwise under the laws of the said country in respect of the same income, he shall be entitled to the deduction from the Indian income-tax payable of a sum equal to one-half of such Indian income-tax or to one-half of such tax payable in the said country, whichever is the less.]

[3][Explanation.—The expression "Indian income-tax" in this section means income-tax and super-tax charged in accordance with the provisions of this Act.]

Power to set off amount of refunds against tax remaining payable.

[4][49E]. Where under any of the provisions of this Act, a refund is found to be due to any person, the Income-tax Officer, [5][Appellate Assistant Commissioner] or Commissioner, as the case may be, may, in lieu of payment of the refund, set off the amount to be refunded, or any part of that amount against the tax, if any, remaining payable by the person to whom the refund is due.

cause, a person who would but for such cause have been entitled to a refund under any of the provisions of this Act, or to make a claim under section 48 [1]* * or 49, is unable to receive such refund or to make such claim, his executor, administrator or other legal representative, or the trustee or receiver, as the case may be, shall be entitled to receive such refund or to make such claim for the benefit of such person or his estate.

Limitation of claims for refund.

50. SEC. 50.—Where an application for refund under sec. 48 of the Income-tax Act is made beyond the time prescribed by sec. 50 of the Act, the Commissioner acts rightly in rejecting it under sec. 50; he has no power to extend the time prescribed by the section. 13 R. 729. An application for refund under sec. 48 of the Income-tax Act must be made within the time limited by sec. 50 and on no consideration can an application made beyond that time be entertained. Though the assessment has been made only after the expiry of that period, that is no justification for presenting the application beyond time. It is quite true that it is impossible for the assessee to ascertain whether he is or is not entitled to a refund under sec. 48 (1) until after an assessment is made, and that it works a hardship in making it incumbent on him to present his application for refund within the time limited by sec. 50, when the assessment itself is not made until after the expiry of that period. But the remedy lies not with the Courts administering the law, but with the legislature. 13 R. 729=1936 R. 85. The words "tax was recovered" mean "tax was recovered by the Government" and not "tax was refunded to the assessee" under the provisions of sec. 27 of the Act. 50 M. 920 =1927 M. 1039=53 M.L.J. 672 (F.B.). Where an assessment for the year, 1926-27 was made on the income of the "assessee's previous year" the financial year ending with the 31st March, 1926, the period of "one year" prescribed in sec. 50 of the Act ought to be computed from the 1st April, 1926, and consequently a refund application made on the 22nd March, 1927, in respect of dividend in a limited company payable to the assessee on the 21st October, 1925, was within time. 3 I.T.C. 76.

SEC. 50-A: SCOPE—REMEDY UNDER—IF EXHAUSTIVE.—Where an assessee does not avail himself of the remedy of an appeal under sec. 50-A which is open to him, he cannot invoke sec. 45 of the Specific Relief Act for getting relief. 41 L.W. 329=1935 M. 379=68 M.L.J. 227 (F.B.); 13 R. 729=1936 R. 85.

OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

Failure to make payments or deliver returns or statements or allow inspection.

51. If a person fails without reasonable cause or excuse—

(a) to deduct and pay any tax as required by section 18 or under sub-section (5) of section 46 ;

(b) to furnish a certificate required by sub-section (9) of section 18 or by section 20 to be furnished ;

(c) to furnish in due time any of the returns mentioned in [1][section 19A], [2][section 20A], section 21, [3][sub-section (2) of] section 22, or section 38 ;

(d) to produce or cause to be produced, on or before the date mentioned in any notice under sub-section (4) of section 22, such accounts and documents as are referred to in the notice ;

(e) to grant inspection or allow copies to be taken in accordance with the provisions of section 39 ;

he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punishable with fine which may extend to ten rupees for every day during which the default continues.

SECS. 51 AND 52: An offence under sec. 52 is of a nature different from an offence under sec. 51 and therefore an accused cannot be convicted of an offence under sec. 51 without calling upon him to meet that charge on his being found not guilty of offence under sec. 52. 30 N.L.R. 50=146 I.C. 848=1933 N. 358. Where there is a question of sanction and the sanctioning authority has sanctioned the prosecution under one section only, and the accused has been found not guilty of that offence, he cannot be found guilty of the other offence. 30 N.L.R. 50=146 I.C. 848=1933 N. 358.

SECS. 51 TO 53.—No one can be prosecuted under the Act except at the instance of the Collector under sec. 36. 23 I.C. 504=15 Cr.L.J. 296=12 A.L.J. 258. The Collector and not the District Magistrate can direct proceedings to be taken for an offence under the Income-tax Act. 38 I.C. 993=18 Cr.L.J. 433=15 A.L.J. 163. Where a person was charged with making false statements in his petition of objection for the assessment of income-txa and the petition was not signed or verified and the order to prosecute him did not disclose what particular statement was false and fell within sec. 193, Penal Code: held, that the conviction was bad. 38 I.C. 993=15 A.L.J. 163. A conviction could not be maintained if there was no formal service of notice as required by the Act the letter having been sent by ordinary post unregistered: 17 A.L.J. 146=49 I.C. 781. The prosecution of an assessee for failure to produce his account books in obedience to a notice is not barred by reason of a prior order for penal assessment against him. 43 M. 498=38 M.L.J. 333. The only ground on which the Collector can direct a penal assessment is that the assessee has made a false return. The Collector cannot do so on the ground of non-production of account books by the assessee. 43 M. 498.

SEC. 52.—An offence under sec. 52 is committed on the day a return made under sec. 22, is verified by a party. 1930 A.L.J. 26=1929 A. 919. The essence of the offence under sec. 52, and Penal Code, sec. 177, lies in the verification of an untrue statement, and provided the statement was deliberately false or not believed to be true, subsequent rectification cannot make it any the less an offence, though it may be considered as an extenuating circumstance in awarding sentence. 1930 A.L.J. 26=1929 A. 919. There is nothing in the Income-tax Act which suggests that it is essential that the act of sending an income-tax return under sec. 22 should be done only by an assessee. It can be done equally by an agent or other person in charge of the assessee's business. The word "person" in sec. 52 and in sec. 22 (2) includes a person duly authorised. An agent who sends a false statement is therefore liable to be prosecuted Prosecution to be at instance of Inspecting Assistant Commissioner.

53. (1) A person shall not be proceeded against for an offence under section 51 or section 52 except at the instance of the [1][Inspecting Assistant Commissioner].

[2][(2) The Inspecting Assistant Commissioner may either before or after the institution of proceedings compound any such offence.]

Disclosure of information by a public servant.

54. (1) All particulars contained in any statement made, return furnished or accounts or documents produced under the provisions of this Act, or in any evidence given, or affidavit or deposition made, in the course of any proceedings under this Act other than proceedings under this Chapter, or in any record of any assessment proceeding, or any proceeding relating to the recovery of a demand, prepared for the purposes of this Act, shall be treated as confidential, and notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, no Court shall, save as provided in this Act, be entitled to require any public servant to produce before it any such return, accounts, documents or record or any part of any such record, or to give evidence before it in respect thereof.

(2) If a public servant discloses any particulars contained in any such statement, return, accounts, documents, evidence, affidavit, deposition or record, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months, and shall also be liable to fine.

under sec. 52. 54 L.W. 291=1941 Mad. 941 =(1941) 2 M.L.J. 475; I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 328. Where the assessee submits a return, but ostensibly and openly that return is not a complete one but is stated to be incomplete, there is no verification of the return as would make the return a valid one or constitute commission of an offence under sec. 52. (1929 A. 919, Dist.) 30 N.L.R. 50=146 I.C. 848=1933 N. 358. Sec. 52 is without prejudice to the provision in sec. 476, Cr. P. Code. An Income-tax Officer, being a Revenue Court, can act under sec. 476, Cr. P. Code, and make a complaint of an offence committed before him. If an assessee produces and relies on false account books to show that his return of income is true while in fact it is false, he uses or attempts to use as genuine evidence which he knows to be false or fabricated, and can be convicted under secs. 193 and 196, I. P. Code. 20 N.L.J. 214. Sec. 52 deals only with a false statement in the verification clause and does not cover the case of a false statement in the return of income to which the verification clause is attached. The proceedings before the Income-tax Officer cannot be said to start until there is some inquiry into the income of the assessee, and a statement made in the return of income-tax is not evidence given in a proceeding before the Income-tax Officer. Sec. 52 provides for the punishment of such an offence under sec. 177, I. P. Code; it cannot become punishable under sec. 193, I. P. Code, as well. 20 N.L. J. 214. Complaint for offence under—Income-tax Officer not recording finding that further enquiry was expedient—Right of appeal not affected—Proceeding, if vitiated. 8 R. 25.

SEC. 54: SCOPE AND MEANING.—All that sec. 54 provides for is, that the documents specified shall be treated as confidential and that no Court shall require a public servant to produce them. It cannot, by any stretch of language, be taken to mean that an assessee cannot himself disclose the contents of the documents referred to therein. I.L.R. (1944) All. 221=1944 O.W.N. (H.C.) 58 (2)=1944 A.L.J. 118=1944 All. 114. Public servant—Meaning of. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 767. The wording of sec. 54 (1) is perfectly clear. It is emphatic in its language and mandatory in its provisions. Though, as a matter of practice, the Income-tax Authorities may allow a partner to inspect the books of his firm which have been deposited with him that is in no way any departure or exception to the provisions of sec. 54. No person, even if he is a partner in the firm whose books are in the possession of the Income-tax Officer is entitled to production or even to an examination as of right of the books which that officer has, when the same has been produced before him in the course of proceedings under the Income-tax Act. If an application is taken out in a suit in Court by a partner of the firm to call upon the Income-tax Officer to produce the book, the Income-tax Officer is entitled to refuse to produce it. I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 767=1942 B. 289; 1941 I.T.R. 693; 1942 M. 276 (1)=1942 1 M.L.J. 36. Sec. 54 only lays a prohibition on the Court; it does not confer any exemption on the Income-tax Officer who is subject to every process of the Court. 1939 I.T.R. 331=1939 Mad. 546= (1939) 1 M.L.J. 791. Sec. 54 does not merely exclude evidence with regard to contents of any documents which may be produced before the Income-tax Authorities for purposes of assessment, but it forbids any evidence with regard to such documents. It is wide enough to exclude evidence to the effect that account-books have been produced before the Income-tax Officer. 1935 L. 272. The intention of 54 is to encourage an assessee to make a full and true disclosure of all relevant facts within his knowledge knowing that any statement made by him will not subsequently be used against him. It is certainly open to an assessee to object to answering interrogatories on statements made by him in such proceedings on the ground that they are privileged. 151 I.C. 104=1934 N. 181. The object of sec. 54 clearly is to make the income tax returns and statements confidential as between the assessee and the Income-tax Department, and against the whole world, except for certain limited purposes provided by the section itself. A Court cannot, on the application of a defendant, order the plaintiff to obtain certified copies of his returns and statements of his agent made before the Income-tax Officer, as that would clearly be an evasion of the prohibition contained in the section. Such copies are inadmissible in evidence unless the plaintiff desires their retention. 1938 Rang.L.R. 243=1938 Rang. 276. A statement on oath made by a partner of a business before the Income-tax Officer is not inadmissible in evidence, and the Court is not precluded by sec. 54 from admitting in evidence a certified copy of the statement given to one of the partners by the Income-tax Authorities. 50 L.W. 681=1939 I.T. ASSESSMENT IF TO BE AS INCOME OF INDIVIDUAL OR OF HINDU UNDIVIDED FAMILY—TEST. —In order to determine whether the income of an assessee should be taxed as an income of an individual or of a Hindu undivided family under sec. 55, the test is whether the income received by the assessee is exclusively his own or the income of a joint family. If the income is his individual income and not of a Hindu undivided family he would be rightly assessed as an individual. Where a Hindu family consists of the assessee (the widow of the last surviving coparcener) and her mother-in-law (the widow of the last surviving coparcener's father), the assessee is the sole owner of the property which has devolved on her on the death of her husband. That property may be joint property and she and her mother-in-law may constitute in a broad sense a Hindu undivided family but the income she receives from the property can in no way be regarded as an income of the family. Such income is therefore liable to be assessed as an income of an individual and not as an income of the joint family notwithstanding that it is subject to the right of maintenance in favour of her mother-in-law. The daughter-in-law and mother-in-law do not form a Hindu undivided family within the meaning of that term as used in sec. 55 (i.e.) in relation to the income. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 458=1943 N.L. J. 179=1943 Nag. 160. The expression "Hindu undivided family" in sec. 55 of the Income-tax Act includes females and is much wider than the expression "coparcenary" which includes only the males in whom the joint family property vested. In the case of a joint Hindu family consistng of the assessee, his mother and his wife, the income received by the assessee as sole surviving coparcener by right of survivorship has to be taxed as the income of a Hindu undivided family for the purposes of super-tax under sec. 55 of the Act, and not as his own individual income. 59 B. 618=37 Bom.L.R. 692=1935 B. 412. The phrase "Hindu undivided family" is used in the statute with reference not to one school only of Hindu Law, but to all schools; and it is a mistake in method to begin by passing over the wider phrase of the Act the words "Hindu coparcenary". All the more it is not possible to say on the face of the Act that no female can be a member. Where therefore the income belongs not to the assessee himself but to the assessee, his wife and daughter jointly, the association of such individuals can be described as a "Hindu undivided family". 64 I. A. 28=I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 653=41 C.W.N. 385=1937 P.C. 36=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 312 (P. C.). In an extra-legal sense and even for some purposes of legal theory, ancestral property may perhaps be described as family property, but it does not follow that in the eye of the Hindu law it belongs, save in certain circumstances, to the family as distinct from the individual. By reason of its origin, a man's property may be liable to be divested wholly or in part on the happening of a particular event, or may be answerable for particular obligations, or may pass at his death in a particular way; but if, in spite of all such facts, his personal law regards him as the owner, the property as his property and the income therefrom as his income, it is chargeable to income-tax as his, i.e., as the income of an individual. It would not be in consonance with ordinary notions or with a correct interpretation of the law of the Mitakshara to hold that property which a man has obtained from his father belongs to a Hindu undivided family by reason of his having a wife and daughters. 64 I.A. 28=41 C.W.N. 385=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 312=I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 653 (P.C.). The income received by right of survivorship by the sole surviving male member of a Hindu undividtd family can be taxed in the hands of such male member as his own individual income for the purposes of assessment to super-tax under sec. 55. 31 S.L. R. 583=39 Bom.L.R. 1010=46 L.W. 223=169 I.C. 7=1937 P.C. 239 (P.C.). A Hindu widow on whom devolves the property of her husband on his death is the owner of the property, and so long as she is alive, one has any vested interest in the succession. The entire income belongs to her and is liable to be assessed as the income of an individual and not as that of an undivided Hindu family within the meaning of sec. 55, notwithstanding that it is subject to the right of maintenance in favour of her widowed mother-in-law. The daughter-in-law and the mother-in-law do not form a Hindu undivided family within the meaning of that term as used in sec. 55, in relation to the income. 1943 I.T.Rep. 154.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN CLASSES OF PROVIDEND FUNDS.

Definitions.

58A. In this Chapter, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) a "recognised provident fund" means a provident fund which has been and continues to be recognised by the Commissioner, in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter;

(b) an "employer" means—

(i) a Hindu undivided family, company, firm, or other association of [2]* * persons, or

(ii) an individual engaged in a business, profession or vocation whereof the profits and gains are assessable to income-tax under section 10, [3]* * * maintaining a provident fund for the benefit of his or its employers.

(c) an "employee" means an employee participating in a provident fund, but does not include a personal or domestic servant;

(d) a "contribution" means any sum credited by or on behalf of any employee out of his salary, or by an employer out of his own monies, to the individual account of an employee, but does not include any sum credited as interest;

(e) the "balance to the credit" of an employee means the total amount to the credit of his individual account in a provident fund at any time;

(f) the "annual accretion" to the balance to the credit of an employee means the increase to such balance in any year, arising from contributions and interest;

(g) the "accumulated balance due" to an employee means the balance to his credit, or such portion thereof as may be claimable by him under the regulations of the fund, on the day he ceases to be an employee of the employer maintaining the fund; and

(h) the "regulations of a fund" means the special body of regulations governing the constitution and administration of a particular providend fund.

The according and withdrawal of recognition.

58B. (1) The Commissioner of Income-tax may accord recognition to any Provident fund which, in his opinion, satisfies the conditions prescribed in section 5EC and the rules made thereunder, and may, at any time, withdraw such recognition, if, in his opinion, the provident fund contravenes any of those conditions.

[4][(2)] An order according recognition shall take effect on such date as the Commissioner may fix in accordance with any rules the Central Board of Revenue may make in this behalf, such date not being later than the last day of the financial year in which the order is made.

[4][(3)] An order withdrawing recognition shall take effect from the day on which it is made.

[5][(3*A*) An order according recognition to a provident fund shall not, unless the Commissioner otherwise directs, be affected by the fact that the fund is subsequently amalgamated with another provident fund on the occurrence of an amalgamation of the undertakings in connection with which the two funds are maintained, or that it subsequently absorbs the whole or a part of another provident fund belonging to an undertaking which is wholly or in part transferred to or merged in the undertaking of the employer maintaining the first mentioned fund.]

[4][(4)] An employer objecting to an order of the Commissioner refusing to recognise [6][or an order withdrawing recognition from] a provident fund may appeal, within sixty days of such order, to the Central Board of Revenue.

58C. (1) In order that a provident fund may receive and retain recognition, it shall satisfy the conditions set out below and any other conditions which the Central Government may, by rule, prescribe—

(a) All employees shall be employed in India, or shall be employed by an employer whose principal place of business is in British India.

[1][Provided that the Commissioner may, if he thinks fit and subject to such conditions, if any, as he thinks proper to attach to the recognition, accord recognition to a fund maintained by an employer whose principal place of business is not in British India notwithstanding that a proportion not exceeding ten per cent. of the employees is employed outside India.]

(b) The contributions of an employee in any year shall be a definite proportion of his salary for that year, and shall be deducted by the employer from the employee's salary in that proportion, at each periodical payment of such salary in that year, and credited to the employee's individual account in the fund.

[2][Provided that an employee who retains his employment while serving in His Majesty's Forces or when taken into or employed in the national service under the National Service (European British Subjects) Act, 1940, or the National Service (Technical Personnel) Ordinance, 1940, may, notwithstanding that he receives from the employer no salary or a salary less than he would have received had he not entered His Majesty's Forces, or been so taken into or employed in the national service, contribute to the fund during his service in His Majesty's Forces or while so taken into or employed in the national service a sum not exceeding the amount he would have contributed had he continued to receive from the employer the same salary (including increments, if any) as he would have received had he not entered His Majesty's Forces, or been taken into or employed in the national service.]

(c) Subject to the provisions of section 58D, the contributions of an employer to the individual account of an employee in any year shall not exceed the amount of the contributions of the employee in that year, and shall be credited to the employee's individual account at intervals not exceeding one year.

(d) The fund shall consist of contributions as above specified [3][and of donations, if any, received [4][by the trustees]], of accumulations thereof, and of interest (simple and compound), credited in respect of such [5][contributions, donations and accumulations], and of securities purchased therewith, and of no other sums.

(e) The fund shall be vested in two or more trustees [6][or in the Official Trustee] under a trust which shall not be revocable save with the consent of all the beneficiaries.

(f) The employer shall not be entitled to recover any sum whatsoever from the fund, save in cases where the employee is dismissed for misconduct or voluntarily leaves his employment otherwise than on account of ill-health or other unavoidable cause before the expiration of the term of service specified in this behalf in the regulations of the fund.

In such cases the recoveries made by the employer shall be limited to the contributions made by him to the individual account of the employee, and to interest (simple and compound) credited in respect of such contributions and accumulations thereof, in accordance with the regulations of the fund.

(g) The accumulated balance due to an employee shall be payable on the day he ceases to be an employee of the employer maintaining the fund.

LEG. REF.

5 Substituted for "contributions and accumulations" by sec. 10 of Act XL of 1940.

6 Inserted by sec. 2 of Act IV of 1931.

(h) Save as provided in clause (g) or in accordance with such conditions and restrictions as the Central Government may, by rules, prescribe, no portion of the balance to the credit of an employee shall be payable to him.

(2) Where there is a repugnance between any regulation of a recognised provident fund and any provision of this Chapter or of the rules made thereunder, the regulation shall, to the extent of the repugnance, be of no effect.

The Commissioner may, at any time, require that such repugnance shall be removed from the regulations of the fund.

Power to relax restrictions of employers' contributions in certain cases.

58D. Subject to any rules which the Central Government may make in this behalf, the Commissioner may in respect of any particular fund, relax the provisions of condition (c) of sub-section (1) of section 58C—

(a) so as to permit the payment of larger contributions by an employer to the individual accounts of employees whose salary does not exceed five hundred rupees per mensem ; and

(b) so as to permit the crediting by employers to the individual accounts of employees of periodical bonuses or other contributions of a contingent nature, where the calculation and payment of such bonuses or other contributions is provided for on definite principles by the regulations of the fund.

Annual accretion deemed to be income received.

58E. The annual accretion in any year to the balance at the credit of an employee participating in a recognised provident fund shall be deemed to have been received by him in that year and shall be included in his total income for that year, and, subject to the exemptions specified in section 58F, shall be liable to income-tax and super-tax :

Provided that, for the purpose of sub-section (3) of section 15, out of such annual accretion only the employee's own contributions shall be included in his total income.

Exemption of annual accretion from income-tax.

58F. (1) An employee shall not be liable to pay income-tax on contributions to his individual account in a recognised provident fund, in so far as the aggregate of such contributions in any year does not exceed one-sixth of his salary in that year [1][or six thousandru pees, whichever is less.]

(2) [2][Interest credited on the accumulated balance of any employee in a recognised provident fund shall be exempt from payment of income-tax, if and in so far as it does not exceed one-third of the salary of the employee for the year concerned and] in so far as it is allowed at a rate not exceeding such rate as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, fix in this behalf.

Exemption of accumulated balance from income-tax and super-tax.

58G. [3][(1) Where the accumulated balance due to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund becomes payable, such accumulated balance shall be exempt from payment of super-tax except to the extent of an amount equal to the aggregate of the amounts of super-tax on annual accretions that would have been payable under section 58E up to the first day of April, 1933, if the Indian Income-tax (Second Amendment) Act, 1933, had come into force on the 15th March, 1933.]

[3][(2)] Where an employee participating in a recognised provident fund has rendered continuous service with his employer for a period of not less than five years, and the accumulated balance due to him becomes payable, such accumulated balance shall be exempt from payment of income-tax [4]* * * * and shall be excluded from the computation of his total income :

Provided that the Commissioner of Income-tax may allow such exemption and exclusion where the employee has rendered continuous service with the employer for a period of less than five years, if, in his opinion, the service has been terminated by reason of the employee's ill-health, or by the contraction or discontinuance of the employee's business, or other cause beyond the control of the employee.

[1][(3)] Where exemption from payment of income-tax is not allowed under the provisions of [2][sub-section (2)], the Income-tax Officer shall calculate the total of the various sums of income-tax [4][3]and super-tax which would have been payable by the employee in respect of his total income for each of the years concerned if the fund had not been a recognised provident fund, and the amount by which such total exceeds the total of all sums paid by or on behalf of such employee by way of tax for such years shall be payable by the employee in addition to any other income-tax and super-tax] for which he may be liable for the year in which the accumulated balance due to him becomes payable.

Deduction at source of income-tax payable on accumulated balances due.

58H. The trustees of a recognised provident fund, or other person authorised by the regulations of the fund to make payment of accumulated balances due to employees, shall, at the time an accumulated balance due to an employee is paid, deduct therefrom any income-tax payable under [5][sub-section (3)] of section 58G and any income-tax and super-tax payable on an employee's total income as determined under sub-section (3) of section 58J, and sub-sections (4) to (9) of section 18 shall apply as if the sum to be deducted were income-tax payable under the head "Salaries."

Accounts of recognised provident funds.

58I. (1) The accounts of a recognised provident fund shall be maintained by the trustees of the fund and shall be in such form and for such periods, and shall contain such particulars as the Central Board of Revenue may prescribe.

(2) The accounts shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by Income-tax authorities, and the trustees shall furnish to the Income-tax Officer such abstracts thereof as the Central Board of Revenue may prescribe.

Treatment of balances in newly recognised provident funds.

58J. (1) Where recognition is accorded to a provident fund with existing balances, an account shall be made of the fund up to the day before the day on which the recognition takes effect, showing the balance to the credit of each employee on such day, and containing such further particulars as the Central Board of Revenue may prescribe.

(2) The account shall also show in respect of the balance to the credit of each employee the amount thereof which is to be transferred to that employee's account in the recognised provident fund, and such amount (hereinafter called his transferred balance) shall be shown as the balance to his credit in the recognised provident fund on the date on which the recognition of the fund takes effect, and sub-sections (3) and (4) shall apply thereto.

Any portion of the balance to the credit of an employee in the existing fund which is not transferred to the recognised fund shall be excluded from the accounts of the recognised fund and shall be liable to income-tax and super-tax in accordance with the provisions of this Act other than this Chapter.

(3) Subject to such rules as the Central Board of Revenue may make in this behalf, the Income-tax Officer shall make a calculation of the aggregate of all sums comprised in a transferred balance which would have been liable to income-tax if this Chapter had been in force from the date of the institution of the fund, without regard to any tax which may have been paid on any such sum, and such aggregate (if any) shall be deemed to be income received by the employee in the year in which the recognition of the fund takes effect, and shall be included in the employee's

Provided that, in cases of serious accounting difficulty, the Commissioner shall have power, subject to the said rules, to make a summary calculation of such aggregate.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in condition (h) of sub-section (1) of section 58C, an employee, in order to enable him to pay the amount of tax assessed on his total income as determined under sub-section (3) shall be entitled to withdraw from the balance to his credit in the recognised provident fund a sum not exceeding the difference between such amount and the amount to which he would have been assessed if the transferred balance had not been included in his total income.

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of the persons administering an unrecognised provident fund or dealing with it, or with the balance to the credit of any individual employee, before recognition in accorded, in any manner which may be lawful.

Treatment of fund transferred by employer to trustee.

58K. (1) Where an employer who maintains a provident fund (whether recognised or not) for the benefit of his employees and has not transferred the fund or any portion of it, transfers such fund, or portions to trustees in trust for the employees participating in the fund, the amount so transferred shall be deemed to be of the nature of capital expenditure.

(2) When an employee participating in such fund is paid the accumulated balance due to him therefrom, any portion of such balance as represents his share in the amount so transferred to the trustee (without addition of interest and exclusive of the employee's contributions and interest thereon) shall, [1][if the employer has made effective arrangements to secure that tax shall be deducted at source from the amount of such share when paid to the employee,] be deemed to be an expenditure by the employer within the meaning of [2][clause (xii)] of sub-section (2) of section 10, incurred in the year in which the accumulated balance due to the employee is paid.

Provisions relating to rules.

58L. (1) All rules made under this Chapter shall be subject to the provisions of sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 59.

(2) In addition to any power conferred by this Chapter, the Central Government may make rules—

(a) prescribing the statements and other information to be submitted with an application for recognition ;

(b) limiting the contributions to a recognised provident fund by employees of a company who are shareholders in the company ;

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN CLASSES OF SUPERANNUATION FUNDS.

Definitions.

58N. In this Chapter, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) 'approved superannuation fund' means a superannuation fund or any part of a superannuation fund which has been and continues to be approved by the Central Board of Revenue in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter ;

(b) 'employer,' 'employee' and 'contribution' have, in relation to superannuation funds, the meanings assigned to those expressions in section 58A in relation to provident funds ;

(c) 'ordinary annual contribution' means an annual contribution of a fixed amount or an annual contribution computed on some definite basis by reference to the earnings, the contributions or the number of members of the fund.

Approval and withdrawal of approval.

58O. (1) The Central Board of Revenue may accord approval to any superannuation fund or any part of a superannuation fund which in its opinion complies with the requirements of section 58P, and may at any time withdraw auch approval, if in its opinion the circumstances of the fund or part cease to warrant the continuance of the approval.

(2) The Central Board of Revenue shall communicate in writing to the trustees of the fund the grant of approval with the date on which the approval is to take effect, and, where the approval is granted subject to conditions, those conditions.

(3) The Central Board of Revenue shall communicate in writing to the trustees of the fund any withdrawal of approval with the reasons for such withdrawal and the date on which the withdrawal is to take effect.

(4) The Central Board of Revenue shall neither refuse nor withdraw approval to any superannuation fund or any part of a superannuation fund unless it has given the trustees of that fund a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter.

Conditions of approval.

58P. In order that a superannuation fund may receive and retain approval the following conditions shall be satisfied namely :

(a) the fund shall be a fund established under an irrevocable trust in connection with a trade or undertaking carried on in British India :

(b) the fund shall have for its sole purpose the provision of annuities for employees in the trade or undertaking on their retirement at or after a specified age or on their becoming incapacitated prior to such retirement, or for the widows, children or dependants of persons who are or have been such employees on the death of those persons ; and

2 Chapter IXB inserted by sec. 76 of Act VII of 1939.

(c) the employer in the trade or undertaking shall be a contributor to the fund :

Provided that the Central Board of Revenue may, if it thinks fit and subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks proper to attach to the approval, approve a fund or any part of a fund—

(i) notwithstanding that the rules of the fund provide for the return in certain contingencies of contributions paid to the fund, or

(ii) if the main purpose of the fund is the provision of such annuities as aforesaid, notwithstanding that such provision is not its sole purpose, or

(iii) notwithstanding that the trade or undertaking in connection with which the fund is established is carried on only partly in British India.

Application for approval.

58Q. (1) An application for approval of a superannuation fund or part of a superannuation fund for any year of assessment shall be made in writing before the end of that year by the trustees of the fund to the Income-tax-yax Officer and shall be accompanied by a copy of the instrument under which the fund is established and by two copies of the rules and of the accounts of the fund for the last year for which such accounts have been made up. The Central Board of Revenue may require such further information to be supplied as it thinks proper.

(2) If any alteration in the rules, constitution, objects or conditions of the fund is made at any time after the date of the application for approval, the trustees of the fund shall forthwith communicate such alteration to the Income-tax Officer, and in default of such communication any approval given shall, unless the Central Board of Revenue otherwise orders, be deemed to have been withdrawn from the date on which the alteration took effect.

Exemption of superannuation fund from cinome-tax.

58R. Income derived from investments or deposits of an approved superannuation fund shall be exempt from payment of income-tax, and any sum paid by an employer or an employee by way of contribtuion towards an approved superannuation fund shall, in the case of an employer, be deducted in computing his income, profits or gains for the purpose of assessment, and, in the case of an employee, be treated for all the purposes of this Act as it if were a sum to which the provisions of section 15 apply :

Provided that no such exemption shall be allowable to an employee in respect of any sum which is not an ordinary annual contribution :

Provided further that where a contribution by an employer is not an ordinary annual contribution it shall, for the purposes of this section, be treated, as the Central Board of Revenue may direct, either as an expense incurred in the year in which the sum is paid, or as an expense to be spread over such period of years as the Central Board of Revenue thinks proper.

Treatment of repaid contribtuions.

58S. (1) Where any contributions (including interest on contributions, if any) are repaid to an employee, the amount so repaid shall be deemed for the purposes of income-tax [1]* * to be income of the employee for that year.

(2) Where any contributions (including interest on contributions, if any) are repaid to an employee during his lifetime but not at or in connection with the termination of his employment, income-tax on the amount so repaid or paid shall except in the case of an employee whose employment was carried on abroad, be deducted by the trustees of the fund at the average rate of tax at which the employee was liable to income-tax, [1]* * during the preceding taree years or during such period, if less than three years, as he was a member of the fund, and shall be paid by the trustees to the credit of the Central Government within the prescribed time and in such manner as the Central Board of Revenue may direct.

58T. Where an employer deducts from the emoluments paid to an employee or pays on his behalf any contributions of that employee to an approved superannuation fund, he shall include all such deductions or payments in the return which he is required to furnish under section 21.

Deduction from pay of, and contributions on behalf of, employee to be included in return under section 21.

58U. If a fund or a part of a fund for any reason ceases to be an approved superannuation fund, the trustees of the fund shall nevertheless remain liable to account for tax on any sum paid—

Liabilities of trustees on cessation of approval of fund.

(a) on account of returned contributions (including interest or contributions, if any,), and

(b) in commutation or in lieu of annuities, in so far as the sum so paid is in respect of contributions made before the fund or part of the fund ceased to be an approved fund under the provisions of this Chapter.

58V. The trustees of an approved superannuation fund and any employer who contributes to an approved superannuation fund shall, when required by notice from the Income-tax Officer, within twenty-one days of the date of such notice :—

Particulars to be furnished in respect of superannuation funds.

(a) furnish to the Income-tax Officer a return containing such particulars of contributions made to the fund as the notice may require ;

(b) prepare and deliver to the Income-tax Officer a return containing—

(i) the name and place of residence of every person in receipt of an annuity from the fund,

(ii) the amount of the annuity payable to each annuitant,

(iii) particulars of every contribution (including interest on contributions, if any) returned to the employer or to employees ; and

(iv) particulars of sums paid in commutation or in lieu of annuities ;

(c) furnish to the Income-tax Officer a copy of the accounts of the fund to the last date prior to such notice to which such accounts have been made up, together with such other information and particulara as the Central Board of Revenue may reasonably require.]

CHAPTER X.

MISCELLANEOUS.

59. (1) The [1][Central Board of Revenue] may, subject to the control of the Central Government, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act and for the ascertainment and determination of any class of income. Such rules may be made for the whole of British India or for such part thereof as may be specified.

Power to make rules.

SEC. 59: RULES: RULE 2.—Under R. 2 of the rules framed by the Board of Inland Revenue under sec. 59, the Assistant Commissioner is not himself competent to order the registration of a firm. The only power that he can exercise under the rule is to permit the presentation of the application to the Income-tax Officer and thus condone the delay. Further the matter is entirely discretionary with him and he cannot be compelled under any provisions of the Act or the rules made thereunder, to grant the prayer made to him by the assessee. Still on general principles the High Court is competent to determine whether the jurisdiction vested in the Assistant Commissioner has been perversely refused. Where in an application by a firm for registration a recital is not in accordance with facts, the Assistant Commissioner is justified in refusing to register the firm. AND EFFECT OF.—R. 21 of the Rules framed by the Appellate Tribunal limits the appellant to the grounds urged in his memorandum of appeal, and prescribes that if a party wishes to raise any further ground, he has to do so after obtaining the leave of the Tribunal. The proviso does not enlarge the powers of the Tribunal in raised grounds of appeal against the appellant. It only says that the Tribunal is not obliged to rest its decision on the grounds urged by the appellant, it merely recognises the principle that the judgment of the lower Court may be supported on any ground even though it is not raised in the memorandum of appeal. That, however, does not allow the Tribunal to suggest another mode of assessment altogether. 1945 I.T.R 272=47 Bom.L.R 222=A.I.R. 1945 Bom. 285.

RULE 24: APPLICABILITY.— R 24 of the Income tax Rules in applicable only in respect of a seller who manufactures tea which he has himself grown and which he himself sells. 50 C.W.N. 398.

RULES 25-35.—Rr. 25 to 35 of the rules made by the Central Board of Revenue under sec. 59 should not be taken as having any further effect than that they provide a somewhat arbitrary, though convenient, method of ascertaining the total profits or gains in respect of Life Assurance business and so do not prevent the assessees from claiming the benefits of the provisions of secs. 8 and 18 (5) of the Act. The assessees may, therefore, claim exemption from income-tax in respect of interest derived from Government of India tax-free securities which come within the proviso to sec. 8 and also claim credit under sec. 18 (5) for any deductions of tax made at the sources. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 540 =41 C.W.N. 905.

RULE 25.—The actuarial valuation referred to in R. 25 is the actuarial investigation into the company's financal condition required by sec 8 (1) of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912 and not merely the actuarial valuation of its liabilities which by itself can never ascertain the profits. 50 L.W. 119=43 C.W.N. 926=1939 P.C. 190 (P.C.). Under R. 25 "the income, profits and gains of a life assurance business shall be the average annual net profits disclosed by the last preceding valuation"; that is to say, shall be arrived at by taking one fifth of the surplus disclosed in the valuation balance sheet and treating it "as the average annual income of the business for the next quinquennium". The "net profits" in this rule clearly mean the "surplus, if any" in the statutory form of valuation balance-sheet of "life assurance and annuity funds (as per balance-sheet under Third Schedule)" over the "net liability under life assurance and annuity transactions (as per summary statement provided in Fourth Schedule)." If the assessee's actuarial valuation balance-sheet on the last date of the last preceding valuation shows a deficiency, the Income-tax Department cannot go behind the said valuation balance sheet to find out if there were any profits in respect of the period of the last preceding valuation. (61 I.A. 41, Foll.) 43 C.W.N. 926=50 L.W. 119=1939 P.C. 190 (P.C.). Where in the case of a Life Insurance Company, the actuarial valuation balance sheet on the last date of the last preceding valuation shows a deficiency, R. 25 of the Rules framed under sec. 59 of the Income-tax Act does not permit the department to go behind the said valuation balance-sheet to find out if there were any profits in respect of the period of the last preceding valuation. 42 C.W.N. 440 The expression 'last preceding valution' in R 25 does not mean the valuation covering the last valuation period terminating before the 1st of April of the year of assessment, but the last preceding valuation at the time of the return. R. 25 is of a mandatory character and provides the only manner in which the income, profits and gains of Life Assurance Companies can be ascertained. I.L.R. 1938 Mad. 270=1938 Mad. 145=(1938) 1 M.L.J 11 (F. B.).

RULE 30.—The words "may be treated as expenditure" in r. 30 cannot be interpreted as conferring upon the Income-tax Officer and upon him alone the option to treat sums written off to meet dtpreciation of, or loss on securities or other assets, or carried to a reserve fund formed for that sole purpose and not used for any other purpose, as expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning the profits of the business. Such a construction would do violence to the plain words of the rule. The rule really confers an option on the assessee to write off in his accounts to meet depreciation or to carry to a reserve fund to meet depreciation any amount which is justified by an actual loss in any particular year. 40 Bom L.R. 447=1938 Bom. 345. It may be that the very purpose and nature of a reserve fund is to meet future contingencies, liabilities to be incurred as well as those incurred, Rs. 30 of the Income-tax Act makes special provision whereby certain amounts otherwise liable to taxation may be exempt from this liability, but only on the basis of expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning the profits of the business. What is properly to be carried to the reserve fund for the purpose of Rs. 30 is not any amount that the directors in their discretion think necessary to safeguard the future position of the company or to meet contingencies, but only such amounts as are necessary to meet depreciation or loss that has actually occurred or has actually been suffered. I. L.R. (1945) Kar. 362=1946 Sind 25.

RULE 31.—The words "which in the opinion of the Central Board of Revenue, is unreasonable", is sec. 59 (3) of the Income-tax Act, gives the Central Board of Revenue absolute discretion to decide in cases coming under cl. (a) of sub-sec. (2) of sec. 59, whether amount of trouble to the assessee is unreasonable, and in that case to estimate the income in accordance with rules prescribed. Hence r. 31 of the Income-tax Rules is perfectly intra vires and not ultra vires. (1939) I.T.R. 352=1939 Sind 363. R. 31 is clearly made under sec. 59 (3) of the Income-tax Act, and sec. 59 (2) must be read with sec. 59 (3). Insurance Companies come under sec. 59 (2) (a) (ii) and it is clear that the words "Dividing Society" in r. 31 means and must be read as Dividing Insurance Society. It is also obvious from a reading of r. 32 that "companies" referred to in r. 31 mean Life Assurance Companies. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 779=1939 I.T.R. 293=1939 Sind 293. See also 1939 I.T.R. 352=1939 Sind 363; 1939 I.T.R. 333=1939 Sind 296.

RULE 35.—The Income-tax Officer is authorised to have recourse to the method of computation provided by r. 35 of the Income-tax Rules only "in the absence of more reliable data". When he has before him the quinquennial valuations and the actuarial reports of the assessee company in respect of their Indian Life Insurance business, he cannot reject them in toto and assess the company under the proportionate scheme of r. 35, even if he questions the correctness of certain particulars in them. On the other hand, he must apply himself to the data before him and assess the profits and gains of the company in accordance with the methods customarily employed in estimating the profits of Life Assurance Companies. I.L.R. (1941) 1 Cal. 550=45 C.W.N. 694 =1942 Cal. 170. A Life Insurance Company carrying on business throughout the world as well as in India submitted a statement under r. 35 of the Rules showing the profits of the Indian business as the proportion of the company's whole world-wide income that Indian premiums bear to the world-wide premium. The company claimed exemption from income-tax under the proviso to sec. 8 of the Act in respect of interest derived from tax-free securities of the Government of India: Held, that the company was entitled to have the same proportion of that tax-free interest that the Indian premiums bear to the world-wide premiums, deducted from the income, profits and gains assessed under rr. 25 and 35 and exempted from tax. I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 581=41 C.W.N. 922. The Income-tax Officer is authorised to have recourse to the method of computation provided by r. 35, "only in the absence of more reliable data", which requires (a) a scrutiny of the data which in fact had been made available to the Income tax Officer, irrespective of any question as to the validity or correctness of the return made under sec. 22 (1), and (b) a consideration of the reliability of those data for the purpose of a computation of the income profits or gains of the company in accordance with sec. 13 of the Act. The total income, profits or gains, of the company referred to in r. 35 is the income, profits or gains as they would be ascertained for the purposes of the Act. 63 I.A. 99=60 B. 248=1936 P.C. 55=70 M. L.J. 412 (P.C.).

Power to make exemptions, etc.

60. [1][(1)] The Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make an exemption, reduction in rate or other modification, in respect of income-tax in favour of any class of income, or in regard to the whole or any part of the income of any class of persons.

[2][(2) Where, by reason of any portion of an assessee's salary being paid in arrears or in advance, [3][or by reason of his having received in any one financial year salary for more than twelve months], [4][or a payment which is under the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 7 a profit in lieu of salary] his income is assessed at a rate higher than that at which it would otherwise have been assessed, the Central Government may grant [5][the appropriate relief].

SEC 60.—The law and statutory rules applicable for determining the assessment of income-tax must be the statutory law and rules in force for the year of the assessment and not those in force during the year the income of which is assessed. The Government Notification No. 11 of 4th April, 1936, would therefore be applicable to an assessment levied on 28—10—1937 for the year ended 31st March, 1937, even though the income assessed be for the year ended 31—3—1936. 196 I C. 143=1941 Sind 110 =1940 I.T.R 467. Under sec. 60 the Government of India can, by notification, deal with income-tax and super-tax, but it does not follow that it cannot exempt, reduce the rate or otherwise modify income-tax alone or super tax alone. The Government of India Notification, Finance Department (Central Revenue) No. 21, dated 12th October, 1929, exempts the assessee from the payment of income-tax in respect of such part of the profits of a firm which has discontinued its business, if tax had at any time been charged on such business under the Income-tax Act (VII of 1918) or if an assessment has been made on the firm in respect of such profits under sec. 25 (1) of the Income tax Act (XI of 1922). This notification does not, however, extend to super tax and the profits so exempted from income-tax can be included for ascertaining whether the income is sufficient to make it chargeable to super tax. 65 M.L.J. 327= 56 M. 679=1933 M. 701 (F.B.). The intention of the Government underlying its notification, dated 12th August, 1925, was to exempt from income-tax the profits accruing from Co operative Societies from carrying on the business of a mutual Co-operative Society upon the ground that a man cannot make a loss or profit out of himself and in that way to encourage and foster Co-operative Societies which were designed to improve the conditions of Indian cultivators But neither interest from securities nor income derived from property is "profits" within the meaning of the term as used in the notification, unless the investment of capital in property or securities is part of the business of the Co operative Society. In considering that question, the fact that such income appears as part of the profits in the profit and loss account of the assessee is not conclusive. 11 R. 521=1934 R 27 (S.B.). A society was incorporated in England in 1923 under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act of 1893 and the shares were owned exclusively by two other Co-operative Societies. The Apex Society carried on business in India for growing tea, etc., and except a very small quantity of useless tea disposed of locally, the goods were consigned to the society in England and the branch societies delivered the goods to their members on a system, the object of which was to eliminate the profits of the middle man, and the question arose whether that company was assessable to income-tax in India in respect of the amount charged on the branch societies, but it appeared that such profits were distributed among the shareholders: Held, that the society was a mutual Co-operative Society earning no profit and was therefore not liable to assessment under sec. 60 of the Income-tax Act. 1929 M.W.N. 534.

Appearance by authorised representative.

[1][61. (1) Any assessee, who is entitled or required to attend before [2][the Appellate Tribunal or] any Income-tax authority in connection with any proceeding under this Act otherwise than when required under section 37 to attend personally for examination on oath or affirmation, may attend by a person authorised by him in writing in this behalf, being a relative of or a person regularly employed by the assessee, or a lawyer or accountant or Income-tax practitioner, and not being disqualified by or under sub-section (3).

(2) In this section,—

(i) a person regularly employed by the assessee shall include any officer of a Scheduled Bank with which the assessee maintains a current account or has other regular dealings ;

(ii) "lawyer" means a Barrister-at-Law or Solicitor or any other person entitled to plead in any Court of law in British India ;

(iii) "accountant" means a registered accountant enrolled in the Register of Accountants maintained by the Central Government under the Auditors Certificate Rules, 1932, or a holder of a registered certificate under the Restricted Certificate Rules, 1932, or a member of an association of accountants recognised in this behalf by the Central Board of Revenue ;

(iv) "Income-tax practitioner" means—

(a) any person who, before the 1st day of April, 1938, attended before an Income-tax authority on behalf of any assessee otherwise than in the capacity of an employee or relative of that assessee ;

(b) any person who has passed any accountancy examination recognised in this behalf by the Central Board of Revenue ; or

(c) any person who has acquired such educational qualifications as the Central Board of Revenue may prescribe for this purpose.

(3) No person who has been dismissed from Government service after the 1st day of April, 1938, shall be qualified to represent an assessee under sub-section (1): and if any lawyer or registered accountant is found guilty of misconduct in connection with any income-tax proceedings by the authority empowered to take disciplinary action against members of the profession to which he belongs, or if any other person is found guilty of such conduct by the Commissioner of Income-tax, the Commissioner of Income-tax may direct that he shall be thenceforward disqualified to represent an assessee under sub-section (1) :

Provided that—

(a) no such direction shall be made in respect of any person unless he is given a reasonable opportunity of being heard,

(b) any person against whom such direction is made may, within one month of the making of the direction, appeal to the Central Board of Revenue to have the direction cancelled, and

(c) no such direction shall take effect until one month from the making thereof, or, when an appeal is preferred, until the disposal of the appeal.]

STATUS OF MAHARAJA OF BENARES—EXEMPTION FROM INCOME-TAX.—His Highness the late Maharaja of Benares was a Ruler as defined in sub-sec. (1) of sec. 311 of the Government of India Act, 1935. SEL. 61.—An application for a copy of the order passed by the Assistant Commissioner is within the words "attendance before an Income-tax Officer". Any person asking for a copy of the order should be expressly authorised in writing in that behalf and the fact that a pleader had been authorised by the party to conduct his case before the Assistant Commissioner is not sufficient to authorise him to apply for a copy of the order. 11 P. 40=1932 P. 103.

Service of notices.

63. (1) A notice or requisition under this Act may be served on the person therein named, either by post or, as if it were a summons issued by a Court, under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(2) Any such notice or requisition may, in the case of a firm or a Hindu undivided family be addressed to any member of the firm or [1][to the] manager, or any adult male member of the family [2][and, in the case of any other [3][association of persons] be addressed to the principal officer thereof].

Place of assessment.

64. (1) Where an assessee carries on [4][a business, profession or vocation] at any place, he shall be assessed by the Income-tax Officer of the area in which that place is situate or, where the [4][business, profession or vocation] is carried on in more places than one, by the Income-tax Officer of the area in which [5][the principal place of his business, profession or vocation] is situate.

(2) In all other cases, an assessee shall be assessed by the Income-tax Officer of the area in which he resides.

(3) Where any question arises under this section as to the place of assessment, such question shall be determined by the Commissioner, or, where the question is between places in more provinces than one, by the Commissioners concerned, or, if they are not in agreement by the [6]Central Board of Revenue].

Provided that, before any such question is determined, the assessee shall have had an opportunity of representing his views :

[2][Provided further that the place of assessment shall not be called in question by an assessee if he has made a return in response to the notice under sub-section (1) of section 22 and has stated therein the principal place wherein he carries on his business, profession or vocation, or if he has not made such a return shall not be called in question after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice under sub-section (2) of section 22 or under section 34 for the making of a return ;

SEC. 63: SERVICE OF NOTICE.—Sec. 63 is to be read along with sec. 27, General Clauses Act. The words "unless the contrary is proved" in sec. 27 refer both to the service and the time. Consequently, when a notice has been posted properly addressed and prepaid and in a register cover, the presumption raised even as regards the service is not conclusive but is rebuttable. 54 A. 548= 138 I.C. 70=1932 A. 374. Section does not require that service of a notice must be by its being placed in the hands of the person named therein by the officer of the Court himself and does not exclude other forms of service permitted by O. 5 of the C. P. Code. 23 Cr.L.J. 591=1922 N. 187. A notice addressed to a Hindu undivided family in its trading name is sufficient compliance with the requirements of sec. 63. 17 Pat. 187= 1938 Pat. 91. Where a notice under the Income-tax Act is delivered otherwise than by post to any clerk or servant on the premises where the assessee carries on business, and according to the practice obtaining in business, the employee is expected to hand on any communication which he has received to the manager, that is not evidence upon which the Income-tax Authorities can find as a fact that the manager was served with the summons. 13 R. 251=156 I.C. 385= 1935 R. 144 (S.B.). Income-tax Officers, in doing the very important work of assessing income-tax, must take the elementary precaution of seeing that the person with whom they are dealing is in fact authorised to represent the assessee, and they are not entitled to assume this merely because such person has on occasions signed a notice, possibly under pressure, or produced account books for inspection. A notice served on such person who is not authorised to accept service is not a valid service on the assessee. 30 N.L.R. 340. Delivery by unregistered post does not amount to the service required by the section. Therefore a conviction under sec. 34 (b) based on such a notice is liable to be set aside. 17 A.L.J. 146=49 I.C. 781. In the case of an unregistered firm a notice need not be served only on the member of the firm who made the return but under sec. 63 (2) it can be served on any member of the firm and such service is good service. 48 M. 602=49 M. SEC. 64 (1).—The effect of sub-secs. (1) and (4) of sec. 64 is that, where two or more Income-tax Officers have territorial jurisdiction in respect of the same income, they exercise concurrent jurisdiction in the matter of issuing notices to the assessee and where notices have been issued by one officer it is unnecessary for the other officer to issue the same notices again. The latter can act upon them and make an assessment without giving a fresh notice. 50 C.W.N. 355. Sec. 64 (3) applies only when a question arises as to the place of assessment, and when there is no dispute between the assessee and the Income-tax Officer as to the proper place of assessment the point need not be referred to the Commissioner under that sub-section. A request by the assessee for transfer of the income-tax file from one district to another is not a question arising as to the place of assessment. Sub-sec. [1] Sub-sections substituted by sec. 92 of Act VII of 1939.

44 Bom.L.R. 618. The scheme of the Income tax Act does not contemplate an objection as to the place of assessment being raised on an appeal against the assessment after the assessment has been made. The provisions of sec. 64 (3) and the third proviso thereto clearly indicate that the question as to the proper place of assessment is more a matter of administrative convenience than of jurisdiction and that in any event it is not one for adjudication by the Court. 1945 F.C.R. 65=I.L.R. (1945) Kar. (F.C.) 88=79 C.L.J. 265=1945 F.L.J. 34=49 C.W.N. (F.R.) 50=47 Bom.L.R. 153=1945 F.C. 9=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 359 (F.C.). The combined effect of sec. 64 (1) and (4) is that where two or more Income-tax Officers have territorial jurisdiction in respect of the same income, they exercise concurrent jurisdiction in the matter of issuing notices to the assessee, and where notices have been issued by one officer it is unnecessary for the other officer to issue the same notices again after the case has been transferred to him by the former. 1942 I.T.R. 103. Sec. 64 (3) comes into play only when any "question" of dispute arises as to the place of assessment: where neither the assessee nor the Income-tax Officer concerned raises any question as to the proper place of assessment, no question as to the place of assessment arises within the meaning of sec. 64 (3), and there is therefore no occasion for such a question being submitted to the commissioner for determination. 1942 I.T.R. 103.

SEC. 66: SCOPE.—The High Court should require before they seek to entertain any question under sec. 66 that the preliminary requirements of the section are strictly complied with. 1930 P.C. 151=57 I.A. 152=54 B. 437=59 M.L.J. 242 (P.C.). It is open to the tribunal to express on the facts finding one way or the other on the question whether certain persons are partners. If there is evidence, it is not for the High Court to correct any error which there may be in the conclusion to which the tribunal arrived. 50 C.W.N. 398. Where the question is one of fact, viz., whether a certain sum advanced by a company to the managing agents was advanced in the ordinary course of business giving rise to a claim to write it off as a bad debt, the only question of law arising is whether there was evidence to justify the finding on the question; the High Court will not interfere on a reference under sec. 66. (1946) I.T.R. 272. Whatever conclusions are arrived at by the Income-tax Authorities, they must have some material to support them, and in case it is contended that there is no material for those conclusions, the question does not resolve itself into one of law. 1937 L. 305. Whether a debt is a bad debt, and if so, at what point of time it becomes a bad debt, are questions of fact to be decided in the event of dispute by the appropriate tribunal. If the finding of such tribunals is based on relevant and admissible evidence, even though it is erroneous, interference by the High Court is barred. 18 L. 325=168 I. C. 549=1937 L. 338 (F.B.).

AMENDMENT ACT OF 1933—RETROSPECTIVE OPERATION.—Amendment to sec. 66, by the Amending Act of 1933, giving a right to the assessee to reopen an order of the Income-tax Commissioner under sec. 33 on a reference to the High Court is not a mere matter of procedure and cannot be construed to give a retrospective right to an assessee to claim a reference from an order passed before the amenment came into force. 1934 L. 1013. All cases pending at the time the Act was amended in 1933, will be governed by the Act as amended. 172 I.C. 511=1938 Nag. 16.

In cases of references under sec. 66 the High Court would not be justified in considering any question but the question or questions actually referred to it. 1945 A.W.R. Statement of case—Duty of Appellate Tribunal to make full and clear statement of facts admitted or proved. 23 Pat. 398=1944 I.T.R. 344=1944 Pat. 291. Where the assessee asks the Commissioner of Income-tax to refer certain points of law to the High Court, it is correct and proper that the Commissioner should write a judgment, so to say, giving the reasons for his conclusion. But if part of the conclusion to which he comes is that it is right to refer a certain question to the High Court, then he ought in strictness to make out another document, namely, a statement of the case upon that point for the opinion of the High Court. 58 C. 906. It is the duty of the Commssioner to state the facts and then to formulate the questions of law which arise upon them. 34 Bom.L.R. 100=1932 B. 116. He may then if he choose give his own opinion and discuss the case. 104 I.C. 841. It is desirable that the questions of law which the Commissioner refers to the High Court should, for convenience of reference, be assembled and numbered consecutively at the end of the stated case. 30 I. A. 146=12 P. 318=1933 P.C. 108=64 M.L. J. 612 (P.C.). In formulating questions for the opinion of the High Court, the Commissioner of Income-tax should ask only one question at a time. An attempt should not be made to combine two or more questions in the form of one question. Further, the questions should not be divorced from the facts of the particular case and should not be in the abstract. I.L.R. (1937) 1 C. 697=173 I.C. 898=1938 Cal. 20. Where the Chief Court when requiring the Commissioner to make a reference has not made any modification in the form of the question as stated in the application of the assessee, the Commissioner is bound under R. 10 of Appendix VII of the Rules of the Chief Court to state the point of law in the form stated in the application of the assessee. 169 I.C. 404=1937 O.W.N. 634=1937 O.W. REFERENCE BY COMMISSIONER SUO MOTU—RIGHT TO BEGIN.—In a reference under sec. 66 (1) by the Commissioner suo motu, the Advocate-General or Counsel on behalf of the Commissioner has the right to begin. 37 Bom.L.R. 112=1935 B. 167. See also 145 I.C. 254=1933 S. 148=27 S.L.R. 243. The Income-tax Commissioner is an official charged with certain duties as to the collection of income-tax and if in the course of these duties he deems it necessary to ascertain the views of the Court upon the meaning of a section of the Act (other than one under Ch. 8), he is entitled to state a case for the opinion of a Bench of at least two Judges of the High Court. He cannot be estopped from exercising that statutory right. 177 I.C. 255=1938 Cal. 557 (S.B.).

It is open to the High Court when hearing the case on the statement of the Commissioner to decide what are the questions of law which arise. 56 A. 504=1934 A. 217. See also 1931 C. 683=39 P.L.R. 1028 =1937 Lah. 721. It is open to the High Court in a proper case to reframe the real question of law on which its decision is required to be given. 50 C.W.N. 227. Where in a reference under sec. 66 there is a misstatement of important facts in the statement of case by the Appellate Tribunal, the High Court has no option but to send the case back to the Appellate Tribunal for the facts to be correctly stated and for a question or questions upon those facts to be framed for the opinion of the High Court. 50 C. W.N. 227. Although there may be some questions of law, if such questions are based on incorrect assumption and do not really raise out of the orders passed by the Income-tax authorities, the High Court will not direct the Commissioner to state a case under sec. 66 (3) at the request of the assessee. 1942 I.T.R. 435. The jurisdiction of the High Court in income-tax matters is very limited. Sub-sec. (3) covers only the case of a refusal on the ground of any question of law arising. It does not cover the case of a refusal to refer on the ground that the application was filed beyond time. 33 Bom.L.R. 1114. Commissioner's finding of fact based on misconception of law—Interference. See 55 M. L.J. 416 (F.B.). The High Court can call upon the Commissioner under sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act to state a case upon a particular question if the latter has refused to do. But where the Commissioner has never been asked to state a case upon any question and has not refused to do so, the High Court cannot call upon him to state such a case. Where there is no question before the High Court relating to a particular point, the High Court has no power to deal with that point; it can only deal with the question which was framed upon which the case has been stated. The High Court is bound by the findings of the Income-tax authorities on questions of fact, viz., whether there was any loss in business during a particular period. 1942 I.T.R. 288 =1943 Pat. 39. In a reference under sec. 66 (3), the High Court cannot go into the correctness or otherwise of the finding of fact arrived at by the Commissioner of Income-tax, but can only see if there is any evidence to support such finding. If there are materials to support the finding the conclusion of the Commissioner on the fact will not be disturbed. (1945) I.T.R. 311=1945 Mad. 513. As a matter of principle there is no jurisdiction entrusted to the High Court by sec. 66, either to go behind or to question statements of fact made by the appellate tribunal in the statement of a case. The only jurisdiction is that, if in any case the Court is not satisfied that the statements contained in the statement of the case are sufficient to enable it to determine the question raised by it the Court has power to send it back to the appellate tribunal for a second helping of facts. Where on the facts stated the appellate tribunal had sufficient material to come to a finding that a trust was a public one entitled to exemption from tax in respect of its income derived the High Court will not interfere. 1946 I.J.R. 440. On a reference under sec. 66 (2), it is always desirable that the Commissioner should state correctly the questions of law raised by the stated case, but the High Court is not precluded from deciding questions of law arising from the case as stated by the Commissioner though not set out specifically for the High Court's decision. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 779=1939 I.T.R. 253=1939 Sind 293. Though it is for the Income-tax authorities to state the questions of law for decision by the High Court, if from the case as stated by them another question of law arises, the High Court is not precluded from deciding the same because it has not been specifically sent out in the reference. 1939 I.T.R. 341=1939 Sind 301. But see 52 L.W. 406=1940 P.C. 158=I.L.R. 1940 K. 335 (P.C.).

JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT—NATURE OF.—The jurisdiction conferred upon the High Court by sec. 66 of the Income-tax Act is a special jurisdiction and forms no part of the Court's original or appellate jurisdiction. The High Court is not a Court of appeal in income-tax cases. Its functions are confined strictly to the disposal of references on points of law. 39 C.W.N. 1140=62 C. 671. Where a High Court in answering a question referred to it under sec. 66, gives its opinion the opinion is only 'advisory'. 63 I.A. 408=60 Bom. 900=164 I.C. 18=41 C.W.N. 33=1936 P.C. 269=1937 1 M.L.J. 200 (P.C.). When the Assistant Commissioner applies the correct principle of law to facts and comes to a certain conclusion, there is no misdirection and it is immaterial to consider whether the High Court applying the same principle to the question of fact to be decided would have arrived at the same conclusion. 177 I.C. 630=1938 Rang. 315 (S.B.). Manohar Lal, J.—Where a case stated by the Commissioner of Income-tax comes before the High Court for hearing, and the High Court directs the case to be sent back in order that it may be re-stated with such finding of fact as may be considered necessary, there being an error in the statement of the case, the Commissioner is bound in duty to carry out the order of the Court, and re-hear the parties, admit such further evidence as he considers relevant on the point at issue and restate the case with his opinion thereon. He cannot refuse to do so on the ground that he has no power under sec. 66 (4) to vary an opinion given under sec. 66 (2). If the Commissioner is dissatisfied with the order of the High Court, which has jurisdiction to require him to re-state a case which is not found satisfactory, he should appeal to the Privy Council. But as long as the High Court's order stands, it must be carried out to the very letter and in the spirit. 18 Pat. 805=1939 I.T.R. 536=1940 Pat. 24. See also 53 All. 451; 1930 All. 209; 54 All. 496. Per Dalip Singh, J.—There is no section which empowers the Commissioner to ask the advice of the High Court as to the legality of any proceedings that he intends to take, and it would not be proper for the High Court to express any opinion on the point, because the point may never arise, as the assessee may not ask for a reference on the point, and secondly, because any decision or advice given by the Court on a question not directly arising before it cannot bind the Bench that subsequently hears the reference, if any, upon this question when it really does arise. 16 L. 937=1935 L. 742 (F.B.). Where, in an applicaton under sec. 66 (2), the Commissioner refuses to state a case, the assessee has the option of either withdrawing the application and getting back the deposit made by him or applying to the High Court within the time prescribed by sec. 66 (3). If the assessee exercises the option of withdrawing the application and gets a refund of the fee deposited by him, it necessarily follows that he cannot afterwards apply to the High Court or continue his application before it. He has no right to prosecute an application under sec. 66 (3) by making a fresh deposit. I.L.R. (1943) Nag. 290=(1943) I.T.R. 179=1943 N.L.J. 226=1943 Nag. 184 (case before amendment of 1939).

QUESTION OF LAW.—It is not possible to turn a mere question of fact into a question of law by asking whether as a matter of law an officer came to a correct conclusion upon a matter of fact. (1937) 2 M.L.J. 43=41 C.W.N. 719=1937 P.C. 133=64 I.A. 102= I.L.R. 1937 N. 191 (P.C.). I.C. 379=1930 N. 200. The proper effect of a proved fact is a question of law, and the High Court, in a reference under sec. 66 (1), is entitled to correct wrong conclusions drawn from admitted or proved facts. 1945 I.T.R. 329=1945 M.W. N. 454=1945 Mad. 366=56 L.W. 322= (1945) 2 M.L.J. 93. The right to carry forward and set off loss against the profits of the following year or years allowed under sec. 24 (2) is subject to the condition that the profits against which the set off is claimed should have arisen out of the same business as the one which resulted in the loss. Whether different trading operations constitute a single or same business or constitute different businesses is largely a question of fact but the proper legal inference from proved facts is essentially a matter of law. 58 L.W. 195=1945 I.T.R. 177=1945 M.W.N. 378= 1945 Mad. 318=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 406. Where the assessee accepts the finding of the appellate tribunal on a point of law and does not pray in his application under sec. 66 (1) for the inclusion of that point in the reference to the High Court, the High Court has no power to consider that point of law which has not been included in the reference. The function of the High Court in cases referred to it under this section is advisory only and is confined to considering and answering the actual question referred to it. I.L.R. (1946) Nag. 594=224 I.C. 589=1946 N.L.J. 506. The true intent of the first proviso to the second sub-section of sec. 66 is that a question of law that is common to both the Assistant Commissioner's and the Commissioner order is not a proper subject-matter of a reference unless the question of law is raised on a reference from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner. I.L.R. 1938 N. 133=171 I.C. 797=1937 Nag. 154. The question whether the Income-tax Officer legally proceeded to assess the assessee under sec. 23 (4) is one of law. 100 I.C. 774 (2)= 1927 L. 288. See also 104 I.C. 127=1027 L. 691. Before declining to adjudicate on the merits of an appeal on the ground that it is barred by the proviso to sec. 30 (1) it is incumbent on the Assistant Commissioner to satisfy himself that the assessment was not merely ostensibly but genuinely under sec. 23 (3). It is the duty of the Commissioner if required by the assessee to state the question of law whether or not the facts established before the Assistant Commissioner are such as to bring the case within the ambit of the proviso to sec. 30 (1). 11 P. 187=133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F B). When there is ample evidence upon which the Income-tax Officer can find that there was no sufficient cause preventing the assessee from producing account books requisitioned under sec. 22 (2) and it appears upon the ground he had refused to cancel the assessment made under sec. 23 (4) and his order is upheld by the Assistant Commissioner on appeal for the same reason there is no question of law arising under the circumstances for the purposes of sec. 66 (2). 9 R. 21=1931 R. 97. The question whether an assessment made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) is valid or not is not a question of law and cannot therefore be made the ground for an order by the High Court under sec. 66 (3) requiring the Commissioner to state a case. 9 R. 281=1931 1931 R. 194 (F.B.). 1942 I. T.R. 148. See also 1930 L. 1014. But see 1931 P. 306 (F.B.). Whether a debt is wholly or partly and to what extent bad or irrecoverable is in every case a question of fact, to be decided by the appropriate tribunal upon a consideration of the relevant facts of that case. 61 I.A. 318=58 B. 579 =1934 P.C. 180=67 M.L.J. 213 (P.C.); 18 Lah. 306=1937 Lah. 338; 1941 Rang.L.R. 529=1941 Rang. 185 (S.B.); 1941 Rang. 273 (S.B.); 1941 I.T.R. 332; 1939 I.T.R. 149; 1941 I.T.R. 224. But the conclusions of the appropriate tribunal must be based on relevant and admissible evidence, and the question whether there is such evidence to support the conclusions arrived at by the Income-tax Authorities is a question of law open to consideration by the High Court. 37 P.L.R. 497=1935 L. 637. The Income-tax Officer is the sole arbitrator on the question of the possibility of deducing the income, profits and gains of the assessee from the method of accounting employed by him. The correctness of the opinion of the Officer under these circumstances is a question of fact which cannot be challenged by means of an application under sec. 66 of the Act. (1926 L. 446, Foll.) 164 I.C. 1018=1936 L. 621. The question whether a person is or is not a member of a joint undivided family is one of fact, but when the tribunal of facts states the circumstances on which it relies for its finding, and those circumstances do not in law lead to the conclusion arrived at by the tribunal of fact, it is open to a Court of law to draw the proper inference from the circumstances stated. 14 P. 785=16 Pat. L.T. 351=1935 P. 342 (S.B.). The question whether a person is rightly declared an agent under sec. 43 and the further question whether when an assessment is made under sec. 23 (4) to proviso to sec. 30 (1) bars an appeal though the appeal is not against the assessment but agianst the order of the Income-tax Officer declaring the assessee to be liable are questions of law and the reference under sec. 66 (2) to the High Court on such questions is competent. 28 N.L.R. 194=140 I.C. 490=1932 N. 152. The question whether the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax could or could not set aside in appeal the order of Income-tax Officer refusing to register an instrument of partnership, is a question of law. The question whether a deed of partnership and the application for its registration fulfilled the requirements of R. 2 of the rules made under the Income-tax Act, and also the question whether for the purposes of R. 2 sec. 2 (14) of the Act it is obligatory that the instrument of partnership should be signed by all the partners, and if so under what provision of law, are similarly questions of law arising out of the order of the Assistant Commissioner when his assessment was on the assumption that the assessee firm was an unregistered firm. 1930 S. 301. In a particular year an assessment was made on actual receipts. It was objected by the assessee that a certain sum already assessed in previous years was included in the receipts. Assistant Commissioner in appeal found that, as the estimate of income in those years was not an assessment strictly on accrued basis but merely on best available data, there was no conclusive proof that such sum had already been included in the assessment of the previous years. Held, that a question of law arose from the order whether or not the assessee was entitled to show that the actual receipts had in fact been included in the estimates of the previous years and the Commissioner must state and refer the case on the question. 7 R. 644=1929 R. 245. The adoption of a particular basis and a certain method in preference to another, both being entirely within the discretion of the Income-tax Officer cannot give rise to any question of law. 32 P.L.R. 344=1931 L. 432. Question whether person is member of partnership firm. See 201 I.C. 485=1942 Pesh. 17 (1). Whether the evidence tendered before the Income-tax authorities established that the method of accounting was such that the profits and gains of the business could not be properly deduced therefrom is a question of fact. 1934 L. 977. The employment of a correct procedure of assessment does not raise a question of law. 1931 L. 759. The queston whether the goods still in transit can be valued at market value prevalent at the place of destination does not involve any point of law. 1931 L. 759. The decision of the Income-tax Officer under sec. 20 of the Income-tax Act that no sufficient cause for non-submission of a return was shown by the assessee, is essentially a question of fact and not of law that can be referred to the High Court. 36 P.L.R. 198=1934 L. 983. The validity or otherwise of an assessment made by the Income-tax Officer under sec. 23 (4) except where he made the assessment mala fide and arbitrarily in the sense that he acted recklessly or fraudulently, is not a not a question of law that can be referred to the High Court. 36 P.L.R. 198=1934 L. 983. Whatever conclusions are arrived at by the Income-tax authorities, they must have some material to support them, and in case it is contended that there is no material for those conclusions, the question does resolve itself into one of law. 1937 Lah. 305. The question whether there was any evidence upon which an Assistantt Commissioner or Commissoner could come to a finding of fact is a question of law. If there was any evidence on which it was reasonably possible for the Commissioner to come to the conclusion at which he arrived, the High Court will not consider whether on that evidence that finding was correct, because the High Court is not a Court of appeal in such matters. Even where the finding of fact is an inference from other facts the question whether such an inference was properly drawn is not a question of law. Where the Assistant Commissioner from the fact of non-production of certain books which the assessee him was ordered to produce coupled wth other facts came to the conclusion that the books of account on which the assessment was based were not the full and complete accounts of the business, held, that it was a finding of fact which could not be tht subject-matter of a reference to the High Court. 7 R. 635 1930 R. 4 (F.B.). See also 1930 L. 197; 1933 A. 231; 11 R. 156=177 I.C. 630=1938 Rang. 315; 1941 I.T.R. 190. Whether a statement given by the accused is incomplete and fradulent or not, is a question of fact for the determination of the income-tax authorities and not a question on which High Court can interfere. 7 R. 281=115 I.C. 897 =1929 R. 102. Where the only question is whether the accounts of the assessee are maintained in such a way that they indicate the true income of the assessee, reference cannot be made to the High Court since it is a question not of law but of fact. 1935 L. 841. Where the Income-tax Officer made an assessment under sec. 23 (4) on the ground that the assessee failed to comply with the terms of the notice, the question whether there has been a compliance with the terms of the notice is not a question of law but a question of fact. Further, whether the evidence before the Income-tax Officer is sufficient to justify him in rejecting the accounts of the assessee is also a question of fact. 137 I.C. 732 (1)=1932 O. 164.. When an assessment has already been made in respect of the previous accounting year under sec. 34, the question whether all income which had accrued and had escaped assessment had been assessed to tax or not depends upon the investigation of the facts of the case. 1931 C. 761 (S.B.). The question where a partner as partner lends moneny beyond the initial capital to the partnership at no agreed rate of interest and the money is used for capital expenditure, whether the interest paid by the partnership to him in the year of assessment should be deducted in computing the profits or gains of the partnership within the meaning of sec. 10 (2) (iii), is a question of law. 116 I.C. 454=1929 L. 404 (1). I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 22=1942 Sind 74=1942 I.T.R. 384. The question whether the Income-tax Offiicer is justified in increasing the estimate of the annual value of the property from Rs. 1,200 to Rs. 3,000 merely on a finding as to the cost of erection of the buildings is one of law. 131 I.C. 212=1932 L. 187. The Income-tax Officer is not competent to rectify a supposed mistake which has the effect of enhancing assessment without issuing notice to the assessee under sec. 35, and where the Assistant Commissioner refuses to cancel such enhanced assessment, there arises a question of law. 117 I.C. 383=1929 L. 326.

REFERENCE, WHEN NOT PROPER.—An application under sec. 66 (2) for a reference to the High Court is incompetent where the assessment has been accepted without appeal. 4 P. 224=86 I.C. 170=1925 P. 352. Where the questions as to the validity of notice or the propriety of assessment do not arise out of an appellate order, there cannot be a reference. 9 R. 25=1931 R. 98. See also 3 Luck. 237 =1927 O. 465; 18 Lah. 306=1937 Lah. 338. (Question whether a certain item to be allowed as bad debt); 18 Lah. 325=1937 Lah. 830. (Question whether burden of proof has been discharged by the assessee). When a document purporting to be an instrument of partnership is tendered under sec. 26-A on behalf of a firm and application is made for registration of the firm as constituted under such instrument, to decide that such an instrument is not genuine in the sence that it has been executed by way of pretence in order to escape liability for tax and without intention that its provisions should in truth have effect as defining the right of the parties inter se, is to come to finding of fact: Whether there was evidence upon which it was open to the Income-tax Authority to come to such a decision is a question of law. 1942 P.C. 57=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 761 (P.C.. Sec. 66 (2) does not say expressly that the remedy provided by that section will not be available where the assessment is not appealable: all that it requires is that there should be an order or decision under sec. 31 or sec. 32. Under sec. 31, the Assistant Commissioner has the power to allow the appeal as well as to reject and the mere fact that he rejects it on the ground that in his opinion no appeal lies is no ground for treating the order as one not under sec. 31. In such cases, the assessee can take to the High Court at least the limited question as to whether an appeal did or did not lie in the circumstances of the case. 11 P. 187=133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.). But see contra 1932 A.L.L.J .576= 1932 A. 642. Where the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax has no occasion to deal with or apply his mind to a point of law, the point not having been raised before him, such point of law cannot be said to arise out of his order and the assessee can claim no reference in respect of that point. 27 S.L.R. 47=138 I.C. 673=1932 S. 189. No application lies to state a case when Commissioner acts under sec. 33. 89 I.C. 785 (1)=1925 R. 252. If the Commissioner of his own motion under sec. 33 imposes tax and penalty, is there any authority to which reference can be made if the tax and penalty are arbitrary and contrary to the provisions of the Act? 1930 P. 538 (F.B.). The failure of the Commissioner in his duty under sec. 33 will not give the High Court jurisdiction to require the case to be referred under sec. 66 (3), since that sub-section relates back to sub-sec. (2) and sub-sec. (2) deals only with order under sec. 31 or sec. 32 and not with order under sec. 33. 8 R. 203=1930 R. 33. Appeal—Subsequent applications under secs. 33 and 66 (3) in the alternative —Draft statement sent to assessee—Subsequent exercise of power of review and case remitted to Assistant Commissioner—Reference to High Court—Not competent. See (1945) I.T.R. 359. No reference can be made to the High Court of any question arising out of an order under sec. 52 whether it is contained in a separate proceeding. 1933 A. 231=144 I.C. 144. When the account books of the previous years do not support the verified return and the assessee's statement on oath, and the assessee fails to substantiate his allegation, held, that the Income-tax Authorities are entitled to draw a presumption from the state of matters which had admittedly existed in previous years and that no error of law has been committed by the Income-tax Authorities which would justify the High Court calling on the Commissioner of Income-tax for a reference. (50 C. 907, Dist.) 103 I.C. 38=1927 N. 283. The question whether the purchase and sale of landed property is one of the objects with which a company was formed or whether the development of the property in order to earn a continuing profit year by year was its real object, is one of fact with which the High Court in a reference under this section, is incompetent to deal. 11 L.B.R. 309= 1922 L.B. 35 (F.B). Where the Income-tax Officer finds as a fact on the evidence that complete accounts have not been produced before him and proceeds to estimate the income under the proviso to sec. 13 of the Income-tax Act, no question of law arises. 16 L. 416=1935 L. 539. See also 145 I.C. 944 =1933 L. 832.

APPELLATE TRIBUNAL, WHEN MAY BE REQUIRED TO STATE CASE.—It is only when the High Court is not satisfied of the correctness of the decision of the Appellate Tribunal that it should be required to state a case. If the decision of that Tribunal is correct, even if any point of law arises upon which the Tribunal refuses to state the case, no direction should be given for stating a case. 50 C.W.N. 355.

JURISDICTION.—Commission Agency business—Advances to Munims and Gumastas written off as irrecoverable— Diwali presents to servants—Claim to deduct the two items as business expenditure—Rejection of claims by the Officer—Question, if one of law for reference to Court. 3 I.T.C. 54. The question whether or not the accounts disclosed by the assessee do or do not disclose his true income is itself a question of fact, behind which the High Court cannot go. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (S.B.). Where a question is raised as to the assessee's principal place of business under sec. 64 and the same is decided by the Commissioner or Board of Inland Revenue, such decision is final and cannot be interfered with. But where there is a total failure on the part of the Income-tax Authorities to apply the plain provisions of sec. 64 and an Income tax Officer illegally assumes authority to assess as though the assessee's place of business has been finally determined, the High Court can direct the Commissioner to have a case stated and the existence of an alternative remedy under sec. 64 (3) does not affect the case. 49 A. 616=1927 A. 299. The Act gives no directions as to whether the officer deciding an appeal must set out fully the considerations which have led him to a certain decision. It is a matter of propriety rather than of law and is a matter in which the High Court has no business to interfere. The High Court has no jurisdiction to consider the findings of fact arrived at by an Income-tax Authority and it is immaterial whether the grounds stated for these findings are sound or not sound or whether no reasons at all have been stated. 1930 R. 224. See also 18 L. 325. The ultimate authority on the question whether proseedings before the Assistant Commissioner were ultra vires or not is the High Court and not the Commissioner. 1933 S 15=1 5 I.C. 145. Cl. (1) of sec. 66 does not contemplate a reference at the instance of an assessee. 9 L. 317=1927 L. 513. Nor has the High Court any power to issue mandamus directing him to refer questions of law to it for opinion. 9 L. 317. Where a case, if stated by the Commissioner of Income-tax, would have to be referred to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner in Sind for decision, it would not be right for the Bombay High Court in the exercise of its discretion to make an order under this section requiring the Commissioner to state a case to it, even if the Bombay Court has jurisdiction to do so by reason of the fact that the Commissioner resides in Bombay. 33 Bom.L.R. 36 =1931 B. 150. An assessee in Sind unlike an assessee within the jurisdiction of High Courts, has no remedy under sec. 45, Specific Relief Act, when he cannot obtain relief under sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act. It is, however, for the Legislature to remedy this anomaly by extending the provisions of sec. 45, Specific Relief Act, or by amending sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act, so as to give him a right of reference where the Commissioner refuses to state a case on fanciful grounds. 26 S.L.R. 235=136 I.C. 762 =1932 S. 1. The question whether a particular section of the Income-tax Act is to be applied when making an assessment is a question of law. When there is no decision on that question by the Sind Chief Court the assessee cannot be debarred from seeking a decision of the Sind Chief Court by reason of the fact that there exists a decision of the Bombay High Court. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 22=1942 Sind 74.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—It is for the Commissioner in stating a case to find facts which must be accepted by the High Court. 134 I.C. 1275=1931 C. 729 (S.B.); 1932 A. 471. The Income-tax Act does not lay down any rules of procedure for references under sec. 66 of the Act, and the Calcutta High Court has made the rules contained in Chapter XXX-A of its original side Rules. This it had jurisdiction to do in the absence of any specific provision in the Act. 39 C. W.N. 1140=62 C. 671. The function of the High Court in cases referred to it under sec. 66 is advisory only and is confined to considering and answering the actual question referred to it. 190 I.C. 1=42 Bom. L.R. 1182=52 L.W. 406=I.L.R. 1940 Kar. 3'5=1940 P.C. 158 (P.C.). See also 41 C. W.N. 33=1936 P.C. 269 (P.C.). When an assessee is aggrieved the Commissioner is bound to refer the question in dispute to the High Court for determination. The assessee should normally be heard first and good reasons must be shown before any departure is made from this practice. 1937 Rangoon L.R. 174=1937 R. 258 (S.B.). The grounds mentioned in the opinion of the Commissioner are not necessarily binding on the High Court and the Court is entitled to go through the whole record for a proper determination of the questions raised. 57 B. 519=35 Bom.L.R. 896=1933 B. 427. Where a matter is one of fact, the High Court, though it might differ from the view of the Commissioner if the matter were before it as an appellate Court, cannot interfere with the order of the Commissioner merely on the ground that the finding of fact arrived at by him was wrong. 1941 I.T.R. 190. See also 1938 Rang. 315; 1933 All. 231; 1941 I.T.R. 190. Whether the time granted by the Income-tax Officer under a notice as required by sec. 23 (2) is reasonable or not is a question of fact. 134 I.C. 1275= 1931 C. 729 (S.B.). High Court has to accept the facts as found by the Commissioner of Income tax and if necessary may call for further facts by asking him to make a fresh statement of them under sec. 66 (4). But though ordinarily the Income-tax Commissioner would be the officer who would frame the points of law that arise in the case stated by him and though he would be expected to give his own opinion on those points of law, for the benefit of the High Court, sec. 66 requires the High Court to decide the questions of law that arise in the case, i.e., the High Court is entitled to "resettle the issues" as it were and to decide those issues. 1929 A. 819; 54 A. 496=1932 A. 390; 53 A. 451=1931 A. 417; see also 18 Pat. 805=1940 Pat. 24. 1930 A.L.J. 78=1930 A. 209. It is for the Commissioner and not for the High Court to state formally the questions which arise; and the duty of the High Court is only to decide the questions so raised. 60 I.A. 146=12 P. 318= 37 C.W.N. 508=1933 P.C. 108=64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). The High Court will not on a reference under sec. 66, hear new points for the first time, which have not been raised earlier at any stage of the case. 59 M. 263 =1936 M. 776=71 M.L.J. 35 (F.B.). The Court has poower under sec. 66 (5) to amend the questions asked by the Commissioner by raising the real question and then answering that question. 55 B. 637=33 Bom.L.R. 807=1931 B. 448. The case stated by the order of the Court under sub-sec. (3) is not quite out in form from that stated under sub-sec. (2) and consequently the expression "the question of law raised thereby" in subsec. (5) does not mean such question as in the opinion of the High Court arose when the application is made by the assessee to order the Commissioner to state a case. 11 P. 187 =133 I.C. 753=1931 P. 306 (F.B.). In a reference to the High Court under sec. 66 the finding of fact arrived at by the Commissioner is binding on the High Court unless it is shown that it was come to by some improper process or by failure to give effect. to some rule of law. 6 P. 29=1927 P. 133. See also 1933 S. 145=145 I.C. 202. It is not open to an assessee to ask the High Court upon a reference under sec. 66 to examine his books of account and to come to findings of fact contrary to those arrived at by the Commissioner in the case stated. Still less, is it intended that the High Court should be a last resort for the production of books which were not produced before the Income-tax Officers. 35 C.W.N. 589=58 C. 1446= 1931 C. 683. When a reference is made to the High Court under sec. 66, the High Court is not entitled to scrutinize evidence, as the Commissioner's decision upon the evidence is final. 1930 M. 104 (S.B.). Where four persons originally formed an undivided family but subsequently became divided and were separately assessed to income tax, four separate applications and deposits are necessary to require the Commissioner of Income-tax to take action under sec. 66 (2). 50 M. 335=1927 M. 545=52 M.L.J. 273. Competency of High Court to issue mandamus, when to be questioned. 94 I.C. 128=1926 L. 446; 1937 Lah. 814=39 P.L.R. 616. When a Judge directs the Commissioner of Income tax to state a case for the opinion of the High Court under sec. 66, the question should be so framed as to leave it to the Court which afterwards hears the reference to decide the matter on the facts stated by the Commissioner of Income-tax who makes the reference. 48 M. 836=1925 M. 1242 48 M.L.J. 425. Where before issuing notice the High Court decided whether a certain point had already been decided and eventually ordered a reference to be made, held, that it was not competent for the Bench finally disposing of the matter to consider whether the point should be allowed to be raised. 139 I.C. 900=1932 N. 65. Where a Bench of two judges hearing a reference under sec 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act are Provided that, if in the exercise of its powers under sub-section (2), the Appellate Tribunal refuses to state a case which it has been required by the assessee to state, the assessee may, within thirty days from the date on which he receives notice of the refusal to state the case, withdraw his application and, if he does so, the fee paid shall be refunded.

(2) If on any application being made under sub-section (1) the Appellate Tribunal refuses to state the case on the ground that no question of law arises, the assessee or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may, within six months from the date on which he is served with notice of the refusal, apply to the High Court, and the High Court may, if it is not satisfied of the correctness of the decision of the Appellate Tribunal, require the Appellate Tribunal to state the case and to refer it, and on receipt of any such requisition the Appellate Tribunal shall state the case and refer it accordingly.

equally divided, it is open to them to move the Chief Justice to have the matter disposed of by a fuller Bench. 12 L. 725=132 I.C. 689=1931 L. 578 (F.B.). Appeal from Commissioner's decision—Opinion of the High Court to be obtained by stating a case—Point of law not urged before the Income-tax Officer and Commissioner—Effect. 23 A.L.J. 40=1925 A. 298 (1). The High Court will not consider any point of law that was not raised before the appellate officer or Commissioner himself by the assessees. 52 A. 991=1930 A.L.J. 1548=1931 A. 23. It is not competent to the High Court in a reference under sec. 66 (2) to decide a question which has not been referred to the High Court by the Commissioner, though it may be open to the assessee to apply under sec. 66 (3). 1941 I.T.R. 618. Opinion of Commissioner on questions raised in the statement of the case is not a part of the draft case and need not be supplied to the assessee. 1936 A.L.J. 549=1936 A. 279.

RIGHT TO APPEAR BY COUNSEL.—Where, on the motion of an assessee, the Board of Revenue made a reference to the High Court under sec. 51 of the Act, the assessee's pleader is entitled to be heard first. 43 M. 75 =37 M.L.J. 663 (F.B.). The practice to be followed in references under sec. 66 should be that counsel for the assessee should begin and should also have a right of reply. (1921 C. 40, Foll.) 27 S.L.R. 243=1933 S. 148. Quaere.—Whether counsel for the Crown as such should be afforded a general right of reply. 27 S.L.R. 243=1933 S. 148. In a reference under sec. 66 (1) by the Commissioner suo motu, the Advocate-General or counsel on behalf of the Commissioner has the right to begin. 37 Bom.L.R. 112= 1935 B. 167. In applications under sec. 66 (3) to the High Court, it would be wrong to require the appearance of the Advocate-General in the first instance, because most of those applications plainly do not raise any questions of law, and they can be dismissed in limine without hearing the Advocate-General on behalf of the Commissioner of Income-tax. If, after hearing the applicant, the Court considers that the case for the Commissioner of Income-tax should be placed before them at that stage, then it is simple to adjourn the case in order to obtain the appearance of the Advocate-General for the Commissioner of Income-tax. That is the practice which should be adopted in such applications. 176 I.C. 601=1938 Rang. 260 (F.B.).

Application under sec. 66 (2)—Pleader filing Vakalat for all purposes and all sections—Withdrawal of application by pleader on getting taxable amount reduced in revision—Repudiation by client and application for statement of case not maintainable. The pleader was, under the vakalatnama, acting within his powers and was authorised to withdraw the application and the assessee was bound by the withdrawal and could not claim to have a case stated. 1941 Cal. 183=1940 I.T.R. 482=199 I.C. 649. The mere death of an assessee at whose instance a reference was made does not preclude the High Court from answering the question or questions formulated by the Commissioner of Income-tax. 1941 I.T.R. 193.

LIMITATION.—The refusal of the Income-tax Commissioner to make a reference of a supplementary question of law submitted to him one month after the Assistant Commissioner passed his orders, as being barred by time, is justified. 139 I.C. 599=1932 C. 411 (S.B.). See also 155 I.C. 124=1935 A.L.J. 845=1935 A. 572. The Commissioner of Income-tax has no power to extend limitation in reference to an application under sec. 66. Sec. 30 (2) of the Act does confer powers on the Assistant Commissioner to admit an appeal after the expiration of he usual period if he is satisfied that the appellant had sufficient cause, i.e., for such appeals there is a provision analogous to that of sec. 5, Limitation Act; but there is no such provision for applications to the Commissioner. Sec. 5, Limitation Act, is also not applicable. I.L.R. 1938 Lah. 229=1937 Lah. 876. An application for reference made under sec. 66 (2) more than one month after the order giving rise to the application should not be entertained and a reference made on such an application is without jurisdiction. 6 L. 373=1925 L. 615. High Court has no power to extend the limited period of one month. 28 Bom. L.R. 1096=98 I.C. 299=1926 B. 566. Sec. 66 (2) is express and there is no provision in it for any official or even for the Court to extend the time. 50 M. 335=1927 M. 545=52 M.L.J. 273. [The period is extended to 60 days by the Amending Act of 1930. It commences now from the date of service of notice of the order. The decision in 9 P. 172 under the old section is not now good law.] The period required for obtaining the copies of the order under sec. 31 or 32 of the Income-tax Act should be excluded in computing the period of limitatilon for an application for reference by an assessee under sec. 66 (2) and (3). 9 P. 172=1930 P. 14. An application for copy of the order of the Assisstant Commissioner was struck off the file for non-prosecution. The assessee applied under sec. 66 (2) after 30 days of the passing of the order and the application was rejected as time-barred. A further application was made under sec. 66 (3) and the assessee contended that he ought to have been allowed time for obtaining copy: Held, that the application was not maintainable. 140 I.C. 714 (2)=1932 P. 167 (2). Where for an application under sec. 66 (3) the rules provide that there should be copies of the orders of the Income-tax Officer, the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax and the commissioner of Income-tax disposing of the case, the mere fact that these orders are required does not connote that the applicant has a right to extend the period of limitation by the period required for obtaining orders other than those of the Commissioner of Income-tax under reference. 53 A. 684=1931 A.L.J. 593=1931 A. 673. Sec. 12 of the Limitation Act does not apply to a proceeding under sec. 66 (3). 1931 A. 673. The High Court can only act under sec. 66 (3) if it is not satisfied of the correctness of the appellate Tribunal's decision. If it is satisfied that the decision is correct, no order can be passed. An application for a reference to the High Court under sec. 66 (1) was presented at the office of the appellate Tribunal on the last day of the ptriod of limitation. Since there was no provision in the Appellate Tribunal Rules for the presentation of an appeal or an application for reference to the Tribunal itself, the Madras office of the Appellate Tribunal refused to receive the application presented to it and it was then posted to the Regisarar at Bombay, where it was received out of time. The Tribunal refused to make a reference because the period of limitation had expired and it had no power to extend the period. The petitioner then applied to the High Court under sec. 66 (3) of the Act. Held, that R. 14 of the Appellate Tribunal Rules was mandatory and an application for reference could only be filed in accordance with that rule, i.e., it must be presented to the Registrar within time and as the decision of the Tribunal was correct the High Court could not interfere under sec. 66 (3). I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 772=1945 I.T.R. 112=1945 Mad. 169=1945 M.W.N. 100=(1945) 1 M.L.J. 173. An application under sec. 66 (2) is not complete till it is accompanied by the fee of Rs. 100. Where though the application was presented in time the fee of Rs. 100 was not received by the Commissioner till two days after the expiry of the period of limitation, the Commissioner could not have recourse to sec. 5 of the Limitation Act to condone the delay as there was no saving clause in sec. 66 (2) which could enable the High Court or the Commissioner to condone the delay. I.L.R. (1942) All. 470=1942 A.L.J. 327=1942 All. 251 (2).

COURT-FEE.—Fee in respect of an application as a whole and not for each point raised. 2 R. 579=84 I.C. 521=1925 R. 94. As no mention of the Court-fee payable on a reference under sec. 66, Income-tax Act, is to be found in Schs. I and II, Court-Fees Act, sec. 4 of that Act does not apply to documents produced in a reference to the High Court under sec. 66, and therefore no Court-fee is chargeable on such documents. 1933 S. 148=27 S.L.R. 243. The fee of Hs. 100 paid by an assessee for a reference under sec. 66 (2) is part of the assessee's costs of reference; and the High Court when allowing costs to the assessee under sec. 66 (6) of the Act has power to direct a refund of that fee to the assessee. 60 B. 999=165 I. C. 518=38 Bom.L.R. 929=1936 B. 385.

COSTS.—All fiscal enactments must be construed in favour of the subject, and it cannot be said that if an assessee has not been properly taxed and if he succeeds on a reference in the High Court, yet he must lose a sum of Rs. 100 simply because the Income-tax Officer has chosen to make an assessment. 52 A. 991=1930 A.L.J. 1548 =1931 A. 23. In dealing with the costs of a reference made by the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal under sec. 66, the High Court must have regard to the number of questions raised, their complexity, the evidence involved and the conduct of the parties. I.L.R. (1943) Bom. 224=45 Bom.L.R. 143=1943 I.T.R. 202=1943 Bom. 102. Th ultimate decision on the point of law, whether for or against the Commissioner, can have no bearing on the question whether there was a point of law upon which a case should have been stated, and, therefore, the costs of an application to direct the Commissioner to state a case, ought, in the absence of special circumstances, to follow the event. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 22=1942 I.T.R. 384=1942 Sind 74. The right rule as to costs of an application under sec. 66 (3), asking the Court to direct the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a case, is that costs should follow the event. The ultimate decision upon the point of law, whether for or against the Commissioner, can have no bearing on the question whether there was a point of law upon which a case should have been stated. In the absence of special circumstances, the costs of such an application ought to follow the event. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 574=41 Bom.L.R. 919=1939 Bom. 448. In proceedings under sec. 66 (2), costs are in the discretion of the Court. There is no provision in the Act that cos's payable by an assessee should be paid from or limited to the sum of Rs. 100 deposited by the assessee as required by sec. 66 (2). R. 305=1939 Sind 318. When an application under sec. 66 (3) is dismissed as having no subs ance in it, the applicant is not entitled to ask that the costs of the reference which he is ordered to bear must come out of the deposit of Rs. 100 made by him under sec. 66 (2). 1942 I.T.R. 507. See also 1942 All. 251. Costs—Application dismissed with costs—Right of applicant to claim that costs should come out of deposit of Rs. 100 under sec. 66 (2). See 207 I.C. 517=1943 Sind 79. Preliminary deposit by the assessee under sec. 66 (2) forms part of the costs incurred in relation to the reference. 1940 I.T.R. 247=1940 Lah. 50. The amount of Rs. 100 which is payable under sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act canno be described as a deposit or security for costs incurred in Court; nor could it be said that it does not fall within the discretion of the High Court under sec. 66 (6). The amount is a "fee" within the meaning of sec. 66 (2), i.e., a part of the costs of the reference. It falls within the term "costs" as used in sec. 66 (6), and it is in the discretion of Court to pass such orders in relation to it as may, in its judicial discretion seem proper. The word "fee" in sec. 66 (2) is used in its ordinary meaning, being the price paid by the assessee for the reference. If the assessee is successful, ordinarily he should be entitled to his costs which would include this fee of Rs. 100. If the assessee is unsuccessful, in the absence of special circumstances, there is no reason why the fee of Rs. 100 should be returned to him, by way of cash or credit, in part or in whole. The taxed costs payable by the asesssee to the Income-tax Commissioner cannot be set-off against the fee of Rs. 100 paid under sec. 66 (2) which would be retained by the Commissioner as a fee. 1939 I.T.R. 556=1939 Sind 364. See also 39 Bom.L.R. 1209. Under the second proviso in sec. 66 (2) it is clear that a refund of the fee of Rs. 100 will only be made if the application is withdrawn, and when the assessee applies for refund of the money, the only logical inference is that he intends to withdraw his application. When an applicant has withdrawn his deposit of Rs. 100, it must be held that an application under sec. 66 (3) is incompetent. 1942 I.T.R. 93. In an application to the High Court to reduce the amount of costs in an Income-tax reference, held, by sec. 66 (6) of the Act costs are in the discretion of Court. The Court having exercised its discretion is functus officio and cannot re-open the matter. 87 I.C. 797=1925 A. 403. All questions relating to costs and all submissions in which costs are involved must be argued and decided at the time of hearing and before a final order is drawn up. 1925 A. 403. Where the Court has awarded costs to an assessee as against the Commissioner on a reference to the High Court, the amount of Rs. 100 deposited by the assessee as fee for reference is part of such costs and must be deemed to be included in the order. (52 A. 991, Foll.) 1933 A.L.J. 942=1933 A. 853. See also 11 R. 454; I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 8.

REFUND OF TAX.—Application to the High Court to direct Commissioner of Income-tax to make a reference—Rectification of mistake—Refund of tax collected. 86 I.C. 170 =4 P. 224=1925 Pat. 352. See also 1942 I.T.R. 93.

REVISION.—An order which dismisses an application asking for the revision of a prejudicial order must be deemed to be prejudicial within the meaning of sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act. (57 M. 367, Overruled.) I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 358=1939 Mad. 709=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 68 (S.B.). See also (1939) II.T.R. 506.

REVIEW.—No review lies in the case of a judgment of the High Court delivered in an income-tax case on a statement made by the Commissioner under sec. 66 of the Income-tax Act. 1930 A.L.J. 78=1930 A. 209. Where the Commissioner operating under sec. 33 refuses to review the order of the Assistant Commissioner, the position of the assessee not being altered as a consequence, the assessee is not prejudiced within the meaning of the sec. 66 (2), and hence an application under sec. 66 (2) is incompetent. 1937 N. 154. The assessee's claim for deduction of a bad debt was disallowed by the Income-tax department on the ground that it was not proved that the debt had become bad or irrecoverable. In an application under sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act for a reference, the assessee produced two letters which, if genuine, would show that the debt could no longer be recovered from the debtor. Held, that it was not open to the High Court, not being an appellate Court, to hold that the order of the Income-tax Commissioner was incorrect on the ground that this evidence which was not produced before him should now be taken into consideration by him. The Commissioner could still review his order if he considered the letters genuine and could give the assessee the relief claimed, if he was of opinion that it was justly due. 1941 I.T.R. 224.

SEC. 66 (2).—Sec. 66 (2) is, as is well-known, indifferently framed. The function of the High Court is to decide, not the question set out in the application under sec. 66 (2), but questions of law raised by the case stated. The question whether, under proviso to sec. 13, the computation of profit can legally be on the basis of the accrued interest with or without modification is not one of law. 162 I.C. 995=1936 P. 295. See also 202 I.C. 279=1942 Pesh. 48; 1938 A.L.J. 507=1938 A. 367. The High Court is not competent to investigate matters of fact in a reference under sec. 66 (2). Whether or not in any particular case there is any evidence to support the findings of fact arrived at below is, of course, a question of law; but such question of law is entirely limited to whether there was any evidence and if there was any evidence, then the finding of fact must stand, although the appellate tribunal might itself have found the facts in a contrary way. 177 I.C. 630=1938 Rang.

315 (S.B.). The jurisdiction of the High Court under sec. 66 (3) is confined to those matte s which are contained in the application made to the Commissioner of Income-tax under sec. 66 (2) and it is only in relation to such matters that the refusal of the Commissioner to state a case can subsequently be investigated. But where no objection is raised by the Commissioner at the time of the hearing of the mandamus application to a point raised by the assessee, the latter is entitled at the hearing after reference to argue that poin' as propoun'ed by t'e man'amus Bench. 1943 I.T.R. 491. New plea—Point not set forth in petition for reference cannot be urged at hearing. 1944 I.T.R. 432. Objection not raised in appeal an' not permi'ed before Appellate Tribun'l—Not open in application for reference before High Cour . (1944) I.T.R. 432. The question whether a person is to be deemed to be a "suc'essor" within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Act is primarily a question of fact. The facts may be such that the case presents no difficulty. But whenever the facts found to be proved give rise to a consequential question whether there is or is not a "succession" within the meaning of sec. 26 (2), a question of law is involved, because the proper legal effect of proved fact is essentially a question of law. 1937 Rang.L.R. 26=1937 R. 102 (S. B.). See also 164 I.C. 57=1936 L. 961. Where a reference arises out of the rejection of an application for registration of a firm under sec 26-A on the ground that r. 3 of the Income-tax Rules has not been complied with, the real question which arises and which has to be referred is whether the assessee is entitled to have the partnership registered under sec. 26-A, and not whether r. 3 of the Rules is ultra vires. 1945 I.T.R. 421. Quaere.—Whether r. 3 is ultra vires. (1945) I.T.R 421. Question of law—Existence of evidence to support finding as to genuineness of document presented under sec. 26-A for registration of firm. See I.L. R. (1942) Kar. (P.C.) 132=I.L.R. (1943) All. 69=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 761 (P.C.). See also 1944 I.T.R. 432 (Question whether penalty under sec. 28 (b) is justified). Under the rules regarding applications under sec. 66 (2), it is the duty of the Commissioner to settle the case in its final form only if no suggestion, addition or amendment is received by him wihtin the prescribed period; but if a question does arise on the statement of the case, it is clearly his duty to decide whether he and the assessee are able or unable to agree. 146 I.C. 599 =1933 L. 859. Question of law not raised before Commissioner—High Court—Power of, to direct reference. 1929 N. 243; 53 M. 510=1930 M. 449=58 M.L.J. 581 (F.B.). The High Court has no jurisdiction, on an application by an assessee, under sec. 66 (3), to order the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a case and refer any question of law for consideration by the High Court which the assessee had not duly required the Commissioner to refer under sec. 66 (2). 12 R. 322=1934 R. 132 (S.B.). Whether the reference is under sub-sec. (2) or sub-sec. (3) of sec. 66 it is not open to the assessee to raise before the Court any question other than that referred. 8 R. 209=1930 R. 78 (S.B.). The language of sec. 66 of the Income-tax Act does not empower the High Court to require the Commissioner to state a case in respect of an original order passed by him and not in respect of an order passed in a matter which came before him on an appellate order by the Assistant Commissioner. Quaere.—Whether an original order as to penalty imposed by the Commissioner in appeal can be the subject-matter of a reference to High Court. 8 P. 877=1930 P. 127. It nearly always must be a question of fact whether or not a deduction which the assessee seeks to make can properly be described in the words of sec. 10 (2) (iv) as an expenditure incurred solely for the purpose of earning such profits or gains. There is no obligation on the Income-tax Commissioner to refer such a question to the High Court. Where the Commissioner finds that payments made to the directors of a company as allowance which they are entitled to draw under the Articles of Association are not bona fide payments for services rendered, but merely a device for enabling the company to escape super-tax and after making an enquiry, allows a deduction not of what has been actually paid but what he considers to be the market-value of the services rendered by the directors, the matter is really one of fact, and no question of law arises. It is a decision on a matter of fact with which the High Court will not interfere. 40 C.W.N. 933. See also I.T.R. (1941) 190. Assessee dying pending reference—Proceedings do not abate—Heirs were allowed to be heard. 9 P. 240=1930 P. 81 (S.B.). Sufficiency of cause for having ex parte assessment re-opened under sec. 27 is question of fact. But since its determination essentially depends upon the exercise of judicial discretion, the question whether the discretion has or has not been exercised in a sound and reasonable manner in reaching the conclusion invariably involves a question of law. 1934 N. 183. It is the practice of the Nagpur High Court, and was the practice of the Judicial Commissioner's Court, when ex parte applications were made to a Court asking the Court to call upon the Commissioner of Income-tax to show cause why a case should not be stated, either to dismiss the application, or if it is to be entertained to give notice to the other side to show cause. 1937 N. 154. Where the Commissioner of Income-tax, acting under sec. 33 refuses to interfere with the Income-tax Officer's order refusing a refund under sec. 48 the Commissioner's order is not prejudicial to the party, because it does no more than leave him in the position created by the order of the Income-tax Officer. His position has already been prejudiced by the Income-tax Officer's order of refusal. An application to the Commissioner under sec. 66 (2) is not therefore competent, because that section only applies when the order under sec. 33 itself alters the position of the assessee or applicant to his prejudice. 58 M. 367=1935 M. 379=68 M.L.J. 227 (F.B.). Where the question is one of fact to be decided on the findings of the Commissioner under sec. 66 (2) the assessee must establish either that the Commissioner had misdirected himself on some question of law or that there was no sufficient evidence to justify his findings. 67 I.T. 464 =I.L.R. 1940 Lah. 685=1940 I.T.R. 635= 1940 P.C. 230=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 130 (P.C.). The question whether two businesses of an assessee are independent and separate business or separate branches of the same business is obviously a question of fact and not one of law which can be dealt with by the High Court under sec. 66 (2). The difficulty of determining a question of fact would not make it a question of law. The High Court has jurisdiction only to inquire whether there was evidence before the Commissioner of Income-tax for his conclusion. 206 I.C. 228=1943 I.T.R. 128=45 Bom.L. R. 115=1943 Bom. 98.

SEC. 66 (2), FIRST PROVISO.—The assessee will have a right to ask for the opinion of the High Court only upon a question of law which arises out of that order itself but not on a question of law which arises out of a previous order under sec. 31. A question of law which is common to both the Assistant Commissioner's and Commissioner's order is not a proper subject-matter of a reference unless the question of law is raised on a reference from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner. 1943 Pat. 41. Quaere.—Whether an order passed by the Commissioner under sec. 33 which merely affirms the order passed by the subordinate Income-tax Authorities is an order otherwise prejudicial to the assessee. 21 Pat. 658 =1942 I.T.T.R. 296=1943 P.W.N. 13= 1943 Pat. 41. If the Commissioner of Income-tax in a case arising under sec. 33 in which he has reviewed an order made under sec. 31 or sec. 32 agrees with the view taken by the Assistant Commissioner and declines to interfere, no reference can be made to the High Court under sec. 66 (2) of the Act, as the order cannot be said to be prejudicial to the assessee. But, if on reviewing an order under sec. 33, the Commissioner differs from the order on a point of law or upholds it on a different point of law to that which influenced the lower tribunal, then a reference can be made under the proviso to sec. 66 (2) against the order under sec. 33, because it raises a point of law arising only out of that order. I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 159 =(1944) I.T.R. 36=46 Bom.L.R. 123=1944 Bom. 150.

APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.—See sec. 66-A. The decision of a High Court on a reference is a judgment within cl. (9) of the Letters Patent, and an appeal lies to Privy Council from the same. 1942 B. 128=64 I.C. 931 =23 Bom.L.R. 1102. Proceedings connected with the assessment of income-tax normally and mainly are concerned with issues of fact and where neither the Commissioner nor the High Court is of opinion that any question of law has arisen in the course of the assessment, it may be that the legislature did not think it convenient or desirable that the Judicial Commiteee should be called upon to review an order which in the opinion of the High Court turned solely upon questions of fact. Therefore, the High Court has no jurisdiction to grant leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council from an order of the High Court under sec. 66 (3) refusing to require the Commissioner to state a case. 1930 R. 274. Subject to the provisions of secs. 109 and 110, C. P. Code, there is a right of appeal to His Majesty in Council against the decision of the High Court, on a reference to it under the Indian Income-tax Act. 18 L.W. 392=1924 M. 63. (See now sec. 66-A, infra.) Order summarily rejecting application for reference—Application for leave to appeal—Not competent under—C. P. Code, sec. 110 or Letters Patent (Patna), cl. 31. 1941 Pat. 225. A right of appeal must be given by express enactment and cannot be implied. The function of the High Court in cases referred to it under sec. 66 is advisory only, and is confined to considering and answering the actual questions referred to it. 20 Pat. 561=22 Pat.L.T. 341=1941 Pat. 225. See also I. L.R. (1939) Mad. 770=50 L.W. 590=1939 Mad. 903=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 667 (F.B.): 1940 P.C. 158=52 L.W. 406 (P.C.).

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—Where the Commissioner holds that all the questions before him are pure questions of fact and that there is no question of law which properly can be made the subject of a reference to the High Court, there is no obligation on the part of the Commissioner to make a reference, merely because the assessee requests him to state a case on a "question of law" formulated by the assessee. The question "whether in the circumstances of this case there were any materials on which the Income-tax Officer could base his finding that the assessee (who had repeatedly failed to submit returns and account books in spite of repeated notices) was not prevented by sufficient cause from filing the returns called for under sec. 22 (2) or producing the accounts called for under sec. 22 (4)", is not a question of law, but one of fact, and hence is not a proper question for submission to the High Court under sec. 66 (2). 63 C. 401. A question of law which has not been raised in the appeal to the Assistant Commissioner does not arise out of the order under sec. 31 of the Act. The assessee has, therefore, no right to demand that that question should be referred by the Commissioner. 155 I.C. 526=1935 L. 201. The questions that can be referred by the Commissioner to the High Court cannot travel beyond the order under sec. 31 of the Act. (1944) I.T.R. 153. If the assessee did not, during the assessment by the Income-tax Officer or in his appeal from that assessment, raise the issues necessary for the determination of the question of fact which arises under sec. 14 (1), the question cannot be raised in reference, as it does not arise out of the appellate order. 14 P. 313 =1935 P. S. There is nothing in the Act to prevent the officiating Commissioner, who as the Assistant Commissioner had heard the appeal, from disposing of the application under sec. 66. 1934 L. 977. Where the Assistant Commissioner hears the appeal of the assessee and passes an appellate order under sec. 31 dismissing the appeal, the requirements of sec. 66 (2) are satisfied whether the Assistant Commissioner has jurisdiction or not. 28 S.L.R. 174=1934 S. 46. The words "served with notice of an order" in sec. 66 (2) do not mean "served with a written notice" or "served with a copy of the detailed order giving reasons". It is sufficient if the applicant or his representative is given notice of the order in Court. Where the order was announced to the applicant's mukhtar-i-am who was present in Court, notice to him is as good as notice to the applicant. 158 I.C. 382 (1)=1935 L. 959. The true intent of the first proviso to sec. 66 (2) is that a question of law common to both the Assistant Commissioner's and the Commissioner's order is not a proper subject-matter of a reference, unless the question of law is raised on a reference from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner. 1937 N. 154. Where the assessee had ample notice that a reference had been made to the High Court by the Commissioner in the form originally proposed by him and he has made no application in writing, to the High Court to decide the question under r. 12, it is not open to the High Court on an oral application made at the end of arguments in reference, to direct the Commissioner to make a modified statement of the case by the Commissioner. 1935 L. 727. It is the duty of the Commissioner on receipt of objections by the assessee to notify to the latter, if he does not modify the reference, that he is not prepared to accede to his prayer to modify the proposed reference to the High Court. 1935 L. 727.

SEC. 66 (2) AND (3).—Sec. 66 (2) does no require the assessee to formulate precise questions of law. What he has to do within the prescribed time limit is to require the Commissioner to refer to the High Court any question of law arising out of the order or decision of the Assistant Commissioner, and then the Commissioner has, within sixty days, to draw up a statement of the case and refer it to the High Court, with his own opinion thereon. Where the Commissioner refuses to state a case under sec. 66 (2), holding that no point of law arises, the Court can, under sec. 66 (3), require the Commissioner to state "the case", and to refer it to the Court, if it is not satisfied of the correctness of the Commissioner's view of the case. If the Court thinks that questions of law arise, it should indicate to the Commissioner what those questions are; the actual framing of the questions rests with the Commissioner. But the Court under sec. 66 (3) is no more limited than the Commissioner under sec. 66 (2) to the precise questions formulated by the assessee. 59 B. 405=37 Bom.L.R. 89=1935 B. 170 See also 1934 L. 977. Where the Commissioner on an application to him under sec. 66 (2) refuses to state a case as the question involved was a settled question of law it amounts to saiying that no question of law arises within the meaning of sub-cl. (3) of sec. 66 and the High Court may if it is not satisfied as to the correctness of the decision of the Commissioner require him to state the case and refer it. 1942 I.T.R. 441 =1942 O.W.N. 477=1942 O.A. 386. Where one of the questions of law arising out of the order of the Assistant Commissioner was whether the appeal to him was competent in view of the proviso to sec. 30 (1), by deciding this question himself adversely to the assessee, the Commissioner cannot deprive the assessee of the right of having the question decided by the Court. 65 I.A. 236=I. L.R. 1938 Bom. 487=42 C.W.N. 873=40 Bom.L.R. 854=1938 P.C. 175=(1938) 2 M. L.J. 115 (P.C.). Under sec. 66 (as amended) no reference lies against an order of the Income-tax Commissioner under sec. 33 unless the order is one which involves an enhancement of the assessment or is otherwise such as is prejudicial to the assessee; if the Income-tax Commissioner simply maintains the decision of the Assistant Commissioner and the assessment made by him, it cannot be said that the order of the Commissioner of Income-tax is such as is prejudicial to the assessee. 172 I.C. 511=1938 Nag. 16. The words "otherwise prejudicial" in sec. 66 (2) contemplate a prejudicial order. If an order passed by the Income-tax Officer is prejudicial, an order which confirms it or refuses to review or revise it is also prejudicial. Where an assessee has been overcharged and assessed at a figure which is far more than the figure which ought to have been taken as the proper or correct figure, and he has a good case on the merits, an order refusing to review the order of assessment is an order "otherwise prejudicial" to the assessee within the meaning of sec. 66 (2) of the Act and a reference to the High Court is therefore competent. I.L.R. (1942) All. 377=1942 I.T.R. 152=1942 A. L.J. 454=1942 All. 227. Sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act clearly contemplates a reference on any order prejudicial to the assessee and not only when an assessment has been enhanced. I.T.R. 370=1944 Lah. 445. See also 1943 Pat. 41. Before an assessee can put in an application to the High Court under sub-sec. (3), it is incumbent upon him to apply to the Commissioner under sub-sec. (2) of sec. 66. That he can do only if an order in respect of the assessment complained of is made under sec. 31 or sec. 32, or if an order under sec. 33 enhances the assessment made on him or is otherwise prejudicial to him, or if a Board of Referees decides any question relating to his assessment under sec. 33-A. Where none of these conditions exists, no application under sub-sec. (2) of sec. 66 is competent, and consequently sub-sec. (3) of sec. 66 does not come into play at all. 1938 Lah. 864. The proper course for an assessee when he desires the Commissioner to refer a question of law to the High Court is to formulate, under sec. 66 (2) of the Income-tax Act, the question which he desires to have so referred. Under sec. 66 (2) the High Court has power to direct the Commissioner to refer some question other than that which the applicant has formulated, although generally, the High Court should be slow to go outside the question which the party himself asked the Commissioner to state. 152 I.C. 972=36 Bom. L.R. 818=1934 B. 378. The assessee has no right to apply to the Court for an order in the nature of a mandamus under the Specific Relief Act requiring the Commissioner to state a case and refer a question of law, because a "specific and adequate legal remedy" in that behalf is available to the assessee under sec. 65 (2) and (3), Income-tax Act. 12 R. 322=150 I.C. 408=1934 R. 132 (S. B.). A point of law would invariably be involved in an ex parte assessment which is not shown to have been made to the best of his judgment by the Income-tax Officer, so as to make it the subject of a reference to and decision by the High Court under sec. 66 (2) or (3). 31 N.L.R. 32=1934 N. 183 (2). Sec. 66 (3) is controlled by sec. 66 (2); and under the latter an assessee is not entitled to require the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a question of law arising under sec. 48 (1) of the Act; and consequently the assessee is not entitled to apply under sec. 66 (3), to the High Court for an order directing the Commissioner to refer such a question. 13 R. 729. See also 169 I.C. 404=1937 O. 416. Under the second proviso in sec. 66 (2) it is clear that a refund of the fee of Rs. 100 will only be made if the application is withdrawn, and when the assessee applies for refund of the money, the only logical inference is that he intends to withdraw his application. Where an applicant has withdrawn his deposit of Rs. 100, it must be held that an application under sec. 66 (3) is incompetent. 1942 I.T. R. 93.

(3) If on any application being made under sub-section (1) the Appellate Tribunal rejects it on the ground that it is time-barred, the assessee or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may, within two months from the date on which he is served with notice of the rejection, apply to the High Court, and the High Court, if it is not satisfied of the correctness of the Appellate Tribunal's decision, may require the Appellate Tribunal to treat the application as made within the time allowed under sub-section (1).

SEC. 66 (3): SCOPE.—The essential condition for an application under sec. 66 (3) is that an application under sec. 66 (2) has been made to the Commissioner and refused by him. The fact that the assessee makes an application under sec. 33 invoking the powers of review and the application states that if the Commissioner is unwilling to exercise his power under sec. 33, he should draw up a statement of the case and refer it under sec. 66 (1) is not sufficient. 140 I.C. 672=1932 P. 167 (1). See also 1941 I.T. R. 679. The proper legal effect of all the proved facts which are stated in the reference by the Commissioner of Income-tax and which haive been admitted by the parties is not a question of fact, but essentially a question of law, and the finding on such a question can be interfered with by the High Court under sec 66 (3). Where the question for determination is the question of the status of an individual, and the Commissioner has committed many errors of law and has misunderstood the legal position existing between the parties, it is impossible to accept as correct the so called finding of fact arrived at by the Commissioner. Without questioning the facts the soundness of the conclusions from them can be questioned and that is a matter of law. 22 Pat. 55=(1943) I.T.R. 16=1943 Pat. 169. The only ground upon which an application under sec. 66 (3) lies is where the Commissioner refuses to state a case on the ground that no question of law arose. But where the Commissioner only dismisses an application in effect for the review of a prior order of his permitting the applicant to withdraw his application under sec. 66 (2) of the Act, it is not a refusal to state a case as contemplated by cl. (3) of sec. 66 and as such an application under that clause would be incompetent. I L.R. 1942 A. 349=1942 A. 134 =1942 O.W.N. 98=1942 A.L.J. 105 (F.B.). In references under sec. 66 (3) the same limitations are imposed on the powers of the High Court as exist in second appeals. On all questions of fact, the Income-tax Authorities are the sole arbiters and the only question of law that arises in respect of the finding of fact recorded by them is whether there was any material to support it. If the finding of an Income-tax Officer is based partly on admissible and partly on inadmissible materials, it should be left in tact. If, however, the inadmissible material is the main foundation of the entire superstructure raised by him, the finding should disappear. 1944 I.T.R. 393=1944 Lah. 353 (2) (F.B.). It is open to the High Court to recast the question itself if the exigencies of the case so required, but it cannot frame new questions not raised by the assessee or the Commissioner. Whether a reference is made under sub-sec. (2) or sub-sec. (3) of sec. 66, it is really the question indicated by the assessee in the first instance that serves as the basis. In a reference under sub-sec. (2), the Commissioner may give the question a proper shape, and in case he refuses to refer the case to the High Court that Court at the stage of issuing the mandamus or hearing the reference may determine the proper form in which the question of law indicated by the assessee may arise. But subject to this, the High Court is confined to the statement of the case drawn up by the Commissioner so far as the substance of the question is concerned and can decide that question only which is raised thereby. 1944 I.T.R. 393=1944 Lah. 353 (2) (F.B.). The High Court has no jurisdiction under sec. 66 (3) to order the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a case and to refer a question of law to the High Court which the assessee has not duly required the Commissioner to refer under sec. 66 (2). 1938 Rang. 435. See also 1938 Cal. 168=177 I.C. 300; I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 477=40 P.L.R. 308=1938 Lah. 545. The inference to be drawn from the facts as found by the Income-tax Authorities as to whether petitioners can be treated as successors of a former company and assessed on its profits prior to the conveyance of its business to the petitioners is a question of law. 167 I.C. 312=1937 Sind 41. The High Court has no jurisdiction under sec. 66 (3) to order the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a case and refer a question for the consideration of the High Court which the assessee has not duly required the Commissioner to refer under sec. 66 (2). 1934 L. 977. See also 1935 L. 727. It is not open to a Bench to consider whether an order under sec. 66 (3) directing the Commissioner to state a case was valid. 28 S.L.R. 174=1934 S. 46. Where no appeal was preferred under secs. 31 and 32 and there was no refusal by the Commissioner, an application could not be maintained before the High Court to direct the Commissioner to state a case. 3 Luck. 237 =105 I.C. 556 (2)=1927 O. 465. The refusal must be on the ground that no question of law arises. Sub-section is inapplicable where the refusal is on other grounds, such as limitation. 26 S.L.R. 235=136 I.C. 762=1932 S. 1 following 1928 B. 434 (1)= 113 I.C 619. But see 1924 L. 662. The only question in a petition under sec. 66 (3) was whether a small sum expended on the mortgaged property was to be disallowed. The assessee was not able to give any facts about his income: Held, that as the amount was small, no mandamus could be issued on it alone. 146 I.C. 551=1933 L. 822. Where a question of law is involved, viz., whether the Income-tax Officer was justified in proceeding under the proviso to sec. 13 and not under the first part of that section, it is a fit case in which the Commissioner should be directed to refer the question to the High Court. 34 P.L.R. 900=1933 L. 832. See also 16 L. 416=157 I.C. 911=1935 L. 539. Whether the association in question can be held to be an assessee within the meaning of sec. 3, is clearly a question of law which it would be proper for the Commissioner to refer for the decision of the High Court. 1935 L. 100. The High Court sits to hear the reference by the Income-tax Commissioner and any device, such as by a petition under sec. 66 (3), to ask the Income-tax Authorities to state a case on the question which they refused to refer should be deprecated. The reference cannot be extended by an application under sec. 66 (3). 58 C. 999=1931 C. 727 (F.B.). Where the matter in issue has already been decided in connection with a previous year's assessment, the assessee cannot re-agitate the matter before the Income-tax Authorities or move the High Court for a reference when the assessment for a subsequent year is in question. 139 I.C. 295=1932 N. 68. When on a loan advanced a suit is brought and a decree is obtained for an amount smaller than the amount claimed under the loan, the part of the loan disallowed by the decree becomes a "bad debt" at once at the date of the decree, or the "bad debt" is to be ascertained as a whole at the time when the decree is eventually realised; and the lender's position qua the loan finally determined is one of law. 148 I.C. 228=1934 L. 67 (2). In every case when the question is whether a particular sum is "profits" or "capital", the question is a question of fact to be determined upon the material before the Income-tax Authorities. If therefore an assessee's foreign business remits money to him in a country in which his profits from his business in that country are assessed to income-tax, the question whether the remittance is a remittance from out of the profits of the foreign business or out of capital is a question of fact. In such circumstances the only question of law that can arise is whether there was material before the Income-tax Authorities upon which they could find that a particular sum was profits or income earned by he assessee and remitted during the year of assessment. 11 R. 397=1933 R. 217. The question whether certain cash deposits on various dates entered in the khata of the assessee are income or profits assessable to tax or capital, is not a question of law, but one of fact and therefore cannot be considered in an application under sec. 66 (3). 16 Luck. 805=198 I.C. 192; 1941 O.W.N. 757=1941 I.T.I. 286=1941 Oudh 445. See also 1941 I.T.R. 373. Where it appeared that the Commissioner was wrong in refusing to state a case and refer a question of law on the request of the assessee. Held, that the Commissioner should be directed to pay the assessee's costs of the application to the High Court though the reference might ultimately turn out against the assessee. 8 R. 209=1930 R. 78 (S.B.). A decision to the effect that a mandamus should not be issued on an application under sec. 66 (3) is a final judgment. Where in a case in which the subject-matter involved Rs. 10,000 or more in value the High Court refuses to issue a mandamus under sec. 66 (3) the applicant can appeal to the Judicial Committee as of right. 12 L. 166=1931 L. 138 (F.B.). An order of the High Court dismissing an application under sec. 66 (3), and refusing to require the Commissioner to state a case and refer it is not a judgment "on a reference" under sec. 66-A (2) so as to allow a right of appeal to His Majesty in Council. 57 A. 306=1934 A.L.J. 876=1934 A. 974. The High Court cannot enquire into a finding of fact arrived at by the Income-tax Officer. 1933 L. 827. Where a Bench of the High Court has issued an order directing the Commissioner of Income-tax to state a case, the valdity of that order cannot be questioned by the Bench hearing the reference. (1944) I.T.R. 370=1944 Lah. 445.

WHAT ARE QUESTIONS OF LAW TO JUSTIFY STATING A CASE FOR REFERENCE.—The question whether money spent in taking leases for brick kilns is capital expenditure or incurred for purpose of earning profits is a question of law and the Commissioner can under sec. 66 (3) be directed to state the case and refer it. 1942 I.T.R. 441=1942 O.W.N. 477=(1943) Oudh 148=18 Luck. 311. The question as to the effect of an award made in arbitration and made a decree of Court, as to whether it has the operation of transferring the taxable property from the assessees to their mother (which the award purports to do) is a question of law on which the High Court can direct a reference to be made. 1945 I.T.R. 46. Whether an assessee does or does not carry on business in British India is in the main a question of fact, but on the other hand questions of law may arise. It may well be a question of law as to whether the proof of certain facts is sufficient to establish that actual business is being conducted which would make the assessee liable to assessment to tax. 1942 I.T.R. 13=1942 Pat. 318. Where a question arises as to the interpretation of sec. 2 (1) (a) and as to the meaning of the words used, a question of law does arise. 225 I.C. 41. As to question of Estoppel, see 106 I.C. 34; I.T.R. (1943) Kar. 541=1943 Sind 64.

WHAT ARE NOT QUESTIONS OF LAW—REFERENCE NOT COMPETENT.—Sec. 13 proviso of the Act is very wide in its scope and it cannot be said that any point of law arises where flat rate is applied with sufficient reason. The amount of rate is entirely in the discretion of the Income-tax Officer and the mere fact that a high rate of profits has been applied will not by itself warrant the High Court directing the Commissioner to state the case. 204 I.C. 195=1942 I.T.R. 441=1942 A.W.R. (C.C.) 311=1942 O.W.N. 477=1942 O.A. 386; 18 Luck 311=1943 and 148. The question whether the assessee had another set of account books than those produced before the Income-tax Officer, which he did not produce before the Income-tax Officer is a pure question of fact, and no case can be referred to the High Court under sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act. The matter is pre-eminently one within the discretion of the Income-tax Officer. 1942 I.T.R. 386. Where the account books produced by an assessee were gone through and profits were worked out from the total sales and purchases and the flat rate adopted in previous years was not adopted, nor the profits shown in the books accepted, it was held that it was impossible to say that as a question of law the flat rate adopted in previous years should be adopted and that it was not also possible to say that any question of law arose out of the fact that the books of account were produced and the Income-tax Officer was bound to accept the profits as shown from the books. I.L.R. (1942) All. 445=1942 I.T.R. 416=1942 A. L.W. 374. In an order rejecting an application for renewal of a firm under sec. 26-A, the Income tax Authorities held that the previous registration allowed to the firm was improper as one of the partners shown was then a minor and as the books of the firm showed that the distributions of income were not made in accordance with the shares shown in the partnership deed and therefore the partnership deed did not represent the true state of affairs: Held, there was no question of law upon which a reference could be ordered under sec. 66 (3) of the Income-tax Act. I.L.R. (1942) Kar. 582=(1942) I.T.R. 501=1943 Sind 85; (1942) I. T.R. 501. Whether a particular gift is real and bona fide or nominal made in order to escape income-tax is a pure question of fact and no reference lies. 1943 I.T.R. 168. Although the income of each year has to be considered separately when assessing an assessee for a particular year, the Income-tax Officers are entitled to take note of properties or businesses which the assessments of previous years show have been owned by the assessee and which have furnished him with income on which tax has previously been assessed. There is no obligation on the Income-tax Authorities to trace with meticulous accuracy a remittance of foreign income, found proved to have been received, to its precise source. Where the assessee produces no evidence there could be no question of any rebuttal by the assessee of the presumption that a receipt of a sum of money is income and not a capital receipt. The question whether in such circumstances the assessee has not rebutted the presumption is not a question of law which can be made the subject of a reference under sec. 66 (3). (1942) I.T.R. 507. The presumption that a remittance made to an assessee in British India from his foreign business is a remittance out of foreign profits is rebuttable. But whether the evidence on recoord is sufficient to rebut that presumption is a question of fact and not of law. 1942 I.T.R. 109. See also 207 I.C. 517=1943 Sind 79. The question whether a business started by a member of a Hindu joint family is joint family business or his separate business is a question of fact; and the finding of the Income-tax Authorities on that point cannot be challenged if they have not misdirected themselves in law. A pure question of fact cannot be turned into one of law by asking whether as a matter of law the Income-tax Authorities came to a correct conclusion upon a matter of fact. 1945 I.T.R. 356. See also 1943 I.T.R. 235. Where two Hindu undivided families represented by their respective kartas own a limited company, and the kartas are paid certain sums of money as directors' fees, the amounts so received by the kartas must be regarded as their personal earnings and not the income of the joint Hindu family, because the joint family property has not been spent in earning the remuneration of the directors. The dividends earned on the shares would still be the income of the joint Hindu family. 1945 Comp. C. 136=1945 I.T.R. 419=T.I.R. 1946 Pat. 50. A finding by the Income-tax Authorities that a memorandum entered into between the members of a joint Hindu family, which is not properly stamped or registered, did not affect the status of the parties and that there has been no partition of the property among the members of the family is clearly one of fact and no question of law arises on that point. 1945 I.T.R. 46. The question whether there has been a partition and change of status between the members of a Hindu joint family or whether they remain joint is one of fact and no question of law arises necessitating a reference under sec. 66. 1945 I.T.R. 46. Whether a partnership exists or not is a question of fact within the power of the Commissioner of Income-tax to determine on the evidence placed before him. When the Income-tax Commissioner comes to the conclusion that a partnership is not a real partnership but that the deed is a sham one he is entitled to refuse registration. The question being one of fact, the High Court will not call upon the Commissioner to state a case when he has arrived at a finding on evidence. 1943 I.T.R. 164. See also (1944) I.T.R. 367 Question whether new firm is successor to old firm). Deposits entered in accounts, if income, or profits or capital. See 16 Luck. 805=198 I.C. 192.

OTHER ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Ordinarily it is a question of fact to be determined by the Income-tax Officer whether a particular debt is recoverable or not. But the question, whether a sum of money which is shown in the assessee's accounts as assessable income from interest but proved irrecoverable should not be deducted from the total income in the assessment as a loss of profit and not a loss of capital is a question of law. 1934 L. 940. See also 39 P. L.R. 616=1937 Lah. 814; 167 I.C. 178, 1937 Lah. 338=18 Lah. 306. The question whether an assessment under sec. 23 (4) is valid or not is not an order of the Assistant Commissioner passed under sec. 31 and consequently such a question cannot be made the ground for an order by the High Court under sec. 66 (3) requiring the Commissioner to state a case. 56 A. 933=1934 A.L.J. 274=1934 A. 559. Where assessment is made on the assessee under sec. 23 (4), then the provisions of sec. 66 (2) and (3) would not apply to it. 15 Luck. 723=1940 I.T.R. 489=1940 O.W.N. 514=1940 Oudh 362. See also 1940 243; see also 1941 O.W.N. 757; 1938 All. 367 (Computation of profits at a high rate); 1938 Rang.L.R. 130=1938 Rang. 154 (decision of Income-tax Officer under sec. 25-A); I.L.R. The question whether a Hindu family is divided or undivided is a question of fact which is not within the competence of the High Court to decide. 1941 I.T.R. 311=1941 Pesh. 64. The assessee was called upon by a notice under sec. 22 (2) to submit a return but the return was not duly verified or signed. Subsequently, the officer issued another notice under sec. 22 (4) directing the assessee to produce his accounts. He did not produce the accounts and the Income-tax Officer made an assessment to the best of his judgment under sec. 23 (4): Held, that no questions of law could possibly arise on the findings of fact arrived at by the Income-tax Officer. 1934 A. 929. See 1941 Oudh 279; 1941 I.T.R. 241 and 306; 1941 O.W.N. 68=16 Luck. 579; 15 Luck. 723; 1942 I.T.R. 103. It cannot be laid down as a gneral proposition that it is not possible at all to evolve a question of law out of the various circumstances mentioned in sec. 27 of the Act. On the other hand a question of law can well arise from a refusal of the Income-tax Officer to cancel an assessment under sec. 27 of the Act, and certain questions may form the subject of a reference under sec. 66, though in the majority of cases no question of law would ordinarily arise out of the decision of an Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax dismissing an appeal against an order of the Income-tax Officer under sec. 27. I.L.R. (1937) All. 834=1937 A.L.J. 957=1937 All. 770. The question as to whether money deposited with the assessee belongs to the person in whose name it stands deposited is not a question of law. 154 I.C. 191=1935 L. 81 (S. B.). Whether the association in question can be held to be an assessee within the meaning of sec. 3, is clearly a question of law which it would be proper for the Commissioner to refer for the decision of the High Court. 1935 L. 100. In the case of a printing press whether "type" is part of the machinery or plant is a question of law. 37 P.L.R. 371=1934 L. 919. The assessee was assessed for the year 1933-34 at a certain sum. He claimed that a certain sum should not be included in the assessment as it consisted of bad debts. This was disallowed by the Income-tax Officer on the ground that the last balances were struck in 1930 and that it had not been shown that the amount had become irrecoverable by the accounting year, 1932-33: Held, that it did not follow that because a debtor firm was in difficulties in 1930, it would never recover, and that all debts due by it should immediately be struck off as bad debts, and that a mandamus must issue on the Commissioner to state a case on this question. 167 I.C. 178.

SEC. 66 (3) AND (5).—Sub-sec. 66 (3) does not lay down that a question is to be formulated by the Court issuing the mandamus. Further, sub-sec. (5) of the same section also does not confine the High Court to the decision of the question of law as formulated by the Commissioner or the Court issuing the mandamus but confers full power to decide the question of law in the form it actually arises from the statement of the case made by the Commissioner. The High Court may clarify the issue of law involved in the statement of the case made by the Commissioner and give its considered opinion on the question really at issue; not to do so would amount to a refusal to do its duty. I.L.R. 1938 Lah. 10=39 P.L.R. 1028 =1937 Lah. 721. If any assumptions of facts are made by the High Court at the stage when the mandamus is issued, they are not binding upon the Commissioner and they are open to correction by him when he draws up the statement of the case. The High Court on reference is concerned only with the statement drawn up by the Commissioner and by virtue of sec. 66 (5) is required to decide the question of law raised thereby. Any expression of opinion on facts made by the High Court at the time of issuing the mandamus, which ultimately turns out to be incorrect, does not, therefore, bind the Bench hearing the reference, and it can refuse to answer the question if so minded. 1944 I.T.R. 393=1944 Lah. 353 (2) (F.B.). Powers of High Court—Power to direct reference on question which the Commissioner was not asked to refer—Finding of fact—Conclusive character of. See 204 I.C. 484.

SEC. 66 (4).—Where a case referred to the High Court under sec. 66 (2) had ultimately to be decidtd on the findings which did not appear in the statement of the case as made by the Commissioner, held, that the High Court could send back the case to the Commissioner for further findings. 50 C. L.J. 300=1929 C. 753. See also 1929 A. 819.

SEC. 66 (4) AND (5).—The question whether there is any particular case a "succession" within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) of the Act is a question of fact. I.L.R. 1937 (2) Cal. 7=41 C.W.N. 132. Per Panckridge, J.—The question of succession is a question of fact, though the question whether a particular set of facts amount to succession within the meaning of sec. 26 (2) is a question of law. It is not correct to say that the High Coourt is not entitled to look beyond the specific findings of fact of the Commissioner. To so hold wiuld be a very narrow interpretation of the powers of the High Court under sec. 66 (4) of the Income-tax Act. The High Court on the other hand is entitled to look at the documents and proceedings annexed to the statement of the case by the Income-tax Commissioner. 41 C.W.N. 132=I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 7.

SEC. 66 (5).—It is the duty of the Income-tax Department to take up the question of re-assessment after a reference by the Commissioner of Income-tax has been answered by the High Court and to see in the presence of the assessee whether in the light of the judgment of the High Court, any of the figures arrived at are liable to alteration or not. It is not enough to say the material alteration in the figure of assessment is not expected and therefore re-assessment is not necessary. 1932 A.L.J. 174= 1932 A. 317. If the case stated by the Commissioner of Income-tax contains merely conclusions on pure questions of fact, the High Court cannot go behind the statement of facts. But if what the Commissioner states he has found on facts is actually a series of conclusions founded partly on pure facts and partly on inferences drawn from those facts, the High Court has power to deal with the whole case and to see whether the evidence justified what the Commissioner held. It is not as if the only course open to the High Court is to either express an opinion upon the findings of the Commissioner or to say that it is impossible to do so because the findings are not warranted by the evidence on which they are based. It is competent to the High Court to look at the real situation and to give a decision founded upon what appears to the High Court to be the real position. 62 C. 87=39 C.W.N. 70. If an officer vested with the discretion to do or not to do a particular thing, does not misdirect himself in law, or in other words, does not exercise his discretion arbitrarily, the High Court will not be justified in interfering with it. 18 Lah. 325=1937 Lah. 930. Sub sec. (5), sec. 66 enacts that the High Court upon the hearing of any such case shall decide the question of law raised thereby and the Court is not bound by the applicant's point of law or the Commissioner's. But the question of law must arise out of the appellate order. 28 S.L.R. 174=149 I. C. 1204=1934 S. 46; 18 Lah. 706=1938 Lah. 44 (Interference with question of fact). It is for the Commissioner and not for the High Court to state formally the questions which arise; and the duty of the High Court is only to decide the questions so raised. 60 I.T. 146=12 P. 318=1933 P.C. 108 =64 M.L.J. 612 (P.C.). See also I.L.R. Lah. 477=40 P.L.R. 308=1938 Lah. 545. The question of 'status" of an assessee, i.e., as to whether he is an undivided Hindu family or an individual is normally one of fact, and if the Income-tax Authoritits hold on a proper appreciation of the facts that the status of the assessee should be that of an individual the High Court would have no jurisdiction to interfere under sec. 66 (5). But if in arriving at this finding the Income-tax Authorities misappreciate the law on the point, the High Court will interfere. Where the assessee has expressed a clear intention to waive his separate rights, if any, and there is nothing to show that such declaration of intention is bogus or otherwise unreliable, the Commissioner of Income-tax errs in law in ignoring and refusing to accept the declaration, and the High Court will interfere with the finding of the Commissioner. References to be heard by Benches of High Courts, and appeal to lie in certain cases to Privy Council.

[1][66A. (1) When any case has been referred to the High Court under section 66, it shall be heard by a Bench of not less than two Judges of the High Court, and in respect of such case the provisions of section 98 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall, so far as may be, apply notwithstanding anything contained in the Letters Patent of any High Court established by Letters Patent or in any other law for the time being in force :

[2][Provided that where in any reference heard by the Bench of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province , a difference of opinion arises between the Judicial Commissioner and the Judge of the said Court, the opinion of the Judicial Commissioner shall prevail.]

(2) An appeal shall lie to His Majesty in Council from any judgment of the High Court delivered on a reference made under section 66 in any case which the High Court certifies to be a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council.

(3) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, relating to appeals to His Majesty in Council, shall, so far as may be, apply in the case of appeals under this section in like manner as they apply in the case of appeals from decrees of a High Court :

2 Added by sec. 83 of Act VII of 1939.

B. 83=39 Bom.L.R. 1209. The fee of Rs. 100 paid along with a reference under sec. 16 (2) forms part of the costs of and incidental to the reference and may be allowed to the assessee in a propsr case. 11 R. 454 =1934 R. 4. See also 1933 A.L.J. 942= 1933 A. 853 and cases under heading "costs" supra.

SECS. 66 AND 66-A.—Upon a reference of questions of law made by the Commissioner of Income-tax under sec. 66 of the Act, the prior judgment delivered by the High Court, if not appealed against, is binding between the parties (i.e., the Income-tax authorities on the one hand and the assessee on the other) and such judgment, whether right or wrong, must govern the relations of the parties in the particular case. 61 I.A. 1=56 All. 1= 1934 P.C. 34=66 M.L.J. 127 (P.C.).

REVIEW.—The High Court, when acting under the powers conferred by sec. 66 is exercising a special jurisdiction, and those proceedings are not subject to the provisions of the C. P. Code. The tribunal determining the questions referred to under sec. 66 does not operate as a Chief Court so as to attract the C. P. Code and therefore an application for review of judgment passed in an Income-tax matter under sec. 66 is incompetent and no review lies. 1940 I.T.R. 412.

SEC. 66-A.—The intention of the legislature in adding sec. 66-A was to enable an appeal to His Majesty in Council in cases in which the High Court could certify that the question of law involved was one of great private or public importance. 8 L. 269= 1927 L. 181. See also 9 L. 284=54 I.A. 421 =1927 P.C. 242=53 M.L.J. 819 (P.C.). If the law permits the Commissioner of income-tax to have the judgment of this Court examined by their Lordships of the Privy Council, there is no reason why his request for leave to appeal to the Privy Council should not be granted as it is possible that their Lordships of the Privy Council might come to a different conclusion. 1933 S. 344. The fact that the decision sought to be appealed against might affect the action or the position of other companies who sought to evade payment of income-tax by adopting the method that was adopted by the assessee in the case is not sufficient for the granting of the certificate. 8 L. 269=1928 L. 181. The Act in providing that the Commissioner in proper cases should make references to the Civil Court, merely provides a convenient procedure for obtaining the decision of the Court with regard to the matter in dispute and so when the matter comes before the Civil Court, the Commissioner is a party. 119 I.C. 689=1929 N. 265. Where the question sought to be raised before His Majesty in Council is whether or not a particular amount awarded by an improvement trust on the acquisition of a property was by way of interest or damages, it is strictly speaking not a pure question of law, but is a mixed question of fact or law, and certainly not, a substantial question of law. Nor is it one of such general importance as to justify leave to appeal being granted on that ground. 1942 A.L.J. 332=1942 All. 258 (F. B.)=I.L.R. (1942) All. 753. A decision that an assessee succeeded to the old business does not involve a question of importance within the meaning of sec. 109 (c), C. P. Code, which alone can justify a certificate allowing leave to appeal. 123 I.C. 530 (2)=1930 L. 109. Therd is no review of a judgment in an income-tax case under sec. 66-A. 1930 A. 211 (1). The words "to be a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council" coupled with the words 'so far as may be' in para. 3, sec. 66-A, exclude from the requirements of sec. 110 of the Code and are operative to confine that right to cases which are certified to be otherwise fit for appeal to His Majesty in Council. 1929 S. 336. On a reference by the Commissioner under sec. 66

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to affect the provisions of sub-section (5) or sub-section (7) of section 66 :

Provided further that the High Court may, on petition made for the execution of the order of His Majesty in Council in respect of any costs awarded thereby, transmit the order for execution to any Court subordinate to the High Court.

(4) Where the Judgment of the High Court is varied or reversed in appeal under this section, effect shall be given to the order of His Majesty in Council in the manner provided in sub-sections (5) and (7) of section 66 in the case of a judgment of the High Court.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to bar the full and unqualified exercise of His Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to His Majesty in Council, or otherwise howsoever, or

(b) to interfere with any rules made by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and for the time being in force, for the presentation of appeals to His Majesty in Council, or their conduct before the said Judicial Committee.]

(2), Income-tax Act, all the questions referred to were answered in favour of the assessee by the High Court and the Commissioner was not allowed to support the assessment on other provisions of the Act which he had not taken before. Held, that it was not a fit case for appeal to the Privy Council and that leave should not be granted. 146 I.C. 942=1933 L. 637. In granting leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council on the application of the Income-tax authorities the High Court has no power to impose a condition to the effect that the Income-tax authorities should pay the costs of the assessee respondent. The powers of the High Court are confined in this respect to those conferred by sec. 66-A of the Income-tax Act and the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code which have been made applicable to such appeals. Though the Privy Council have, on occasions, stipulated in granting special leave that the appellant shall bear the costs, the High Court has no such powers. 174 I.C. 491=47 L.W. 350=1938 Mad. 352 (F.B.). The question as to the effect of the second proviso to sec. 4 (1) of the Income-tax Act is a substantive question of law, and is a fit one for arpeal to His Majesty in Council. 174 I.C. 491=1938 M. 352=47 L.W. 350. In an application for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council in respect of an assessment to income-tax involving only Rs. 3,500, leave ought not to be refused merely because the assessment in question is less than the required amount of Rs. 10,000. Where the assessee carries on a large business and the question is likely to arise every year while he remains in the business, the amount in the end would be very considerable; a certificate of leave to appeal should therefore be granted in such a case. 47 L.W. 350=1938 Mad. 352 (F.B.). See also 1931 Lao. 138; 1934 All. 974; I.L.R. 1939 M. 770=1939 M.903=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 667 (F.B.). The right of appeal to His Majesty in Council from a judgment of the High Court delivered on a reference made under sec. 66 is conferred only by sub-sec. (2) and not by sub-sec. (3) of sec. 66-A of the Act and is therefore confined to only such cases as are cetified to be fit by the High Court. Sub-sec. (3) obviously deals with the procedure to be applied to appeals where such an appeal lies under sec. sec. (2). 1935 A.L.J. 513=1935 A. 464. An order passed by the High Court declining to call upon the Commissioner to state a case and refer it to the High Court is not a judgment "on a reference" within the meaning of sec. 66 A (2) so as to allow a right of appeal to His Majesty in Council. 57 A. 306=151 I.C. 604=1934 A.L.J. 867=1934 A. 974. The rules in Chapter XXXIII of the Rules and Orders of the Calcutta High Court, so far as they have the effect of altering the provisions of O. 45, C. P. Code have been made under sec. 129, C. P. Code and apply only to matters arising within the original civil jurisdiction of that Court, and therefore have no application to petitions for leave to appeal to the Privy Council in income tax matters. In sec. 66-A of the Income tax Act, specific provision has been made and the procedure therein laid down must be followed. 39 C.W.N. 1140=62 C. 671.

SEC. 67.—Sec. 67 is not ultra vires by virtue of sec. 32 of Government of India Act, because a suit for recovery of the tax paid would not have lain against the East India Company prior to 1858. 5 R. 825. 1928 R. 70. See also 27 Bom.L.R. 1507. A suit by the assessee for a declaration that he is not liable to be assesed to income-tax and to recover the tax paid by him is not maintainable in a Civil Court. Such a suit is barred by sec. 67 of the Act. Subject to the controlling effect of the words "made under this Act" in sec. 67, the exclusion of the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is almost absolute, and the appropriate remedies of an assesee by way of appeal and reference have been provided in the Act itself. 2. The profits and gains of life insurance business shall be taken to be either—

(a) the gross externall incomings of the preceding year from that business less the management expenses of that year, or

(b) the annual average of the surplus [1][arrived at by adjusting the surplus or deficit] disclosed by the acturial valuation made for the last inter-valuation period ending before the year for which the assessment is to be made, [2]* * * * so as to exclude from it any surplus or deficit included therein which was made in any earlier inter-valuation period and any expenditure other than expenditure which may under the provisions of section 10 of this Act be allowed for in computing the profits and gains of a business, whichever is the greater :

Provided that the amount to be allowed as management expenses shall not exceed—

(a) 7½ per cent. of the premiums received during the preceding year in respect of single premium life insurance policies, plus

(b) in respect of the first year's premiums received in respect of other life insurance policies for which the number of annual premiums received is less than twelve, or for which the number of years during which premiums are payable is less than twelve, for each such premium or each such year 7½ per cent. of such first year's premiums payable during the preceding year, plus

[3][(c) 90 per cent. of the first year's premiums received during the preceding year in respect of all other life insurance policies plus;

(d) 12 per cent. of all renewal premiums recevided during the preceding year..]

3. In computing the surplus for the purpose of rule 2,—

(a) one-half of the amounts paid to or reserved for or expended on behalf of policy-holders shall be allowed as a deduction :

Provided that in the first such computation made under this rule of any such surplus no account shall be taken of any such amounts to the extent to which they are paid out of or in respect of any surplus brought forward from a previous inter-valuation period :

Provided further that if any amount so reserved for policy holders ceases to be so reserved, and is not paid to or expended on behalf of policy-holders, one-half of such amount, if it has been previously allowed as a deduction, shall be treated as part of the surplus for the period in which the said amount ceased to be so reserved ;

(b) any amount either written off or reserved in the accounts or through the actuarial valuation balance sheet to meet depreciation of or loss on the realisation of securities or other assets, shall be allowed as a deduction, and any sums taken credit for in the accounts or actuarial valuation balance sheet on account of appreciation of or gains on the realisation of the securities or other assets shall be included in the surplus :

Provided that if upon investigation it appears to the Income-tax Officer after consultation with the Superintendent of Insurance that having due regard to the necessity for making reasonable provision for bonuses to participating policy-holders and for contingencies, the rate of interest or other factor employed in determining the liability in respect of outstanding policies, is materially inconsistent with the valuation of the securities and other assets so as artificially to reduce the surplus, such adjustment shall be made to the allowance for depreciation of, or to the amount to be included in the surplus in respect of appreciation of, such securities and other assets, as shall increase the surplus for the purposes of these rules to a figure which is fair and just ;

3. [(c) interest received in respect of any securities of the Central Government which have been issued or declared to be income-tax free shall not be excluded but the whole amount of such interest during the inter-valuation period shall be exempt from income-tax under the secod proviso to section 8 though not from super-tax";]

4. Where for any year an assessment is made in accordance with the annual average of a surplus disclosed by a valuation for an inter-valuation period exceeding twelve months, then, in computing the tax payable for that year, credit shall not be given in accordance with sub-section (5) of section 18 for the tax paid in the preceding year, but credit shall be given for the annual average of the income-tax paid by deduction at source from interest on securities or otherwise during such period.

5. For the purposes of these rules—

(i) 'preceding year' means that year for which annual accounts are required to be prepared under the Insurance Act, 1938, immediately preceding the year for which the assessment is to be made or until the commencement of the Insurance Act, 1938, the previous year as defined in section 2 of this Act :

(ii) 'gross external incomings' means the full amount of incomings from interest, dividends fines and fees and all other incomings from whatever source derived (except premiums received from policy-holders and interest and dividends on any annuity fund) and includes also profits from reversions and on the sale or the granting of annuities, but excludes profits on the realisation of securities [3][or other assets ;]

Provided that incomings, including the annual value of the property occupied by the assessee, which but for the provisions of sub-section (7) of section 10 would have been assessable under section 9 shall be computed upon the basis laid down in the last-named section, and that there shall be allowed from such gross incomings such deductions as are permissible under that section.

(iii) 'management expenses' means the full amount of expenses (including commissions) incurred exclusively in the management of the business of life insurance, and in the case of a company carrying on other classes of business as well as the business of life insurance in addition thereto a fair proportion of the expenses incurred in the general management of the whole business. Bonuses or other sums paid to or reserved on behalf of policy-holders, depreciation of, and losses on the realisation of, securities [1][or other assets] and any expenditure other than expenditure which may under the provisions of section 10 of this Act be allowed for in computing the profits and gains of a business are not management expenses for the purposes of these rules;

(iv) 'life insurance business' means life insurance business as defined in clause (11) of section 2 of the Insurance Act, 1938;

(v) 'securities' includes stocks and shares.

6. The profits and gains of any business of insurance other than life insurance shall be taken to be the balance of the profits disclosed by the annual accounts, copies of which are required under the Insurance Act, 1938, to be furnished to the Superintendent of Insurance after adjusting such balance so as to exclude from it any expenditure other than expenditure which may under the provisions of section 10 of this Act be allowed for in computing the profits and gains of a business. Profits and losses on the realisation of investments and depreciation and appreciation of the value of investments shall be dealt with as provided in rule 3 for the business of life insurance.

7. The profits and gains of companies carrying on dividing society or assessment business shall be taken to be 15 per cent. of the premium income of the previous year, or in the case of non-resident companies 15 per cent. of the British Indian premium income of the previous year.

8. The profits and gains of the British Indian branches of an insurance company not resident in British India, in the absence of more reliable data, may be deemed to be the proportion of the total world income of the company corresponding to the proportion which its British Indian premium income bears to its total premium income. For the purpose of this rule, the total world income of life insurance companies not resident in British India whose profits are periodically ascertained by actuarial valuation shall be computed in the manner laid down in these rules for the computation of the profits and gains of life insurance business carried on in British India.

9. These rules apply to the assessment of the profits of any business of insurance carried on [2][by a mutual insurance association].]

SCH. R. 8: APPLICABILITY—CONDITIONS FOR ADOPTION OF—APPLICATION OF PRINCIPLE TO INDIVIDUAL ITEMS—PROPRIETY.—The rule of assessment laid down in R. 8 of the Rules in Sch. I to the Act is to be adopted in the absence of more reliable data. Before it is adopted it has to be considered whether more reliable data are available or not. The question cannot be raised, debated and disposed of merely in the course of argument. It is a question of fact. Further the rule cannot apply to the case of a non-resident company whose profits and gains in British India are not liable to be assessed under the rule. When the principle of the rule has been applied to one portion of the income of the Company, viz., interest earned by it in the United Kingdom where it has its head office, there is no justification for extending the same principle to the income, profits, and gains calculated to have been made in British India. The rule plainly read only means that if after making all reasonable efforts to ascertain the income of an Insurance Company no reliable data is found in the case of a non-resident company, the rule laid down in R. 8 may be adopted; but that is in respect of the whole income of the company. There is no warrant for holding that in respect of individual items any such principle may be applied. The duty of the Income-tax Officer is to find out the profits and gains of the assessee; and it is not open to him to adopt any such principle in respect of one item, when he is in effect assessing the whole income on adequate materials before him. 1945 I.T.R. 272=47 Bom.L.R. 222=1945 Bom. 285.

INCOME-TAX (AMENDMENT) ACT (XL OF 1940), SEC. 14: SCOPE.—Sec. 14 of the Income-tax (Amendment) Act of 1940 does not refer to jurisdiction or judicial consideration. What it provides is that all proceedings pending before the Commissioner in connection with his powers of revision, before the date when Part II of the Act of 1939 came into force, shall save to him the effect of sec. 33 (1) of the Act. The fact that afterwards he has called for the records, Part II of the Act of 1939 comes into force and the records are received only subsequently, would not deprive him of his power of review under sec. 33 (1), though sec. 33 has become repealed by the coming into force of Part II of the 1939 Act. 1944 I.T.R. 430=(1945) Cal. 67.

An Act further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

Preliminary.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax (Amendment) Act, 1947.

(2) It shall be deemed to have come into force on the 31st day of March, 1947.

CHAPTER II.

Amendments of Act XI of 1922.

Amendment of section 2, Act XI of 1922.

2. In section 2 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 hereafter in this Chapter referred to as the said Act,—

(a) clause (4-A) shall be renumbered as clause (4-B), and after clause (4) the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

'(4-A) "capital asset" means property of any kind (other than agricultural land) held by an assessee, whether or not connected with his business, profession or vocation, but does not include—

(i) any stock-in-trade, consumable stores or raw materials held for the purposes of his business, profession or vocation;

(ii) personal effects, that is to say, movable property (including wearing apparel, jewellery and furniture) held for personal use by the assessee or any member of his family dependent on him;'

(b) for the Explanation to clause (6-A) the following shall be substituted, namely:—

'Provided further that the expression "accumulated profits", wherever it occurs in this clause, shall not include capital gains of any previous year prior to the previous year for the assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1948;'

(c) in clause (6-C), after the word and figures "section 10", the words, figures and letter "and any capital gain chargeable according to the provisions of section 12-B" shall be inserted;

(d) in clause (15), for the words "does not apply; and" the words "does not apply and except any capital gain which is not includible in the total income of an assessee;" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 4, Act XI of 1922.

3. In sub-section (3) of section 4 of the said Act,—

(a) to clause (iv) the words "and any capital gains of the Fund arising from the sale, exchange or transfer of such securities" shall be added;

(b) in clause (vii), after the words "Any receipts" the words, figures and letter "not being capital gains chargeable according to the provisions of section 12-B and" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 4-A, Act XI of 1922.

4. To clause (c) of section 4-A of the said Act, the words 'account not being taken in either case of income chargeable under the head "Capital gain" shall be added.

Amendment of section 6, Act XI of 1922.

5. To section 6 of the said Act the following clause shall be added, namely:—

"(vi) Capital gains".

Insertion of new section 12-B in Act XI of 1922.

6. After section 12-A of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Capital gains.

12-B. (1) The tax shall be payable by an assessee under the head "Capital gains" in respect of any profits or gains arising from the sale, exchange or transfer of a capital asset effected after the 31st day of March, 1946; and such profits and gains shall be deemed to be income of the previous year in which the sale, exchange or transfer took place:

Provided that where the amount of capital gains in the previous year does not exceed fifteen thousand rupees, the tax shall not be payable by the assessee and such amount shall not be included in his total income:

Provided further that the tax shall not be payable by an assessee in respect of any profits or gains arising from the sale, exchange or transfer of a capital asset, being property the income of which is chargeable under section 9 and which has been possessed by the assessee or a parent of his for not less than seven years before the date on which the sale, exchange or transfer took place; and the amount of such profits or gains shall not be included in his total income:

Provided further that any transfer of capital assets by reason of the compulsory acquisition thereof under any law for the time being in force relating to the compulsory acquisition of property for public purposes or any distribution of capital assets on the total or partial partition of a Hindu undivided family, or on the dissolution of a firm or other association of persons, or on the liquidation of a company, or under a deed of gift, bequest, will or transfer on irrevocable trust shall not, for the purposes of this section, be treated as sale, exchange or transfer of the capital assets:

Provided further that the transfer of a capital asset by a company to a subsidiary company, the whole of the share capital of which is held by the parent company or by the nominees thereof, shall not be treated as a sale, exchange or transfer within the meaning of this section where the subsidiary company is resident in British India and is registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, so however that for the purposes of clause (vi) or clause (vii) of sub-section (2) of section 10, the cost or the written down value, as the case may be, of the transferred capital asset shall be taken to be the same as it would have been if the parent company had continued to hold the capital asset for the purposes of its business.

(2) The amount of a capital gain shall be computed after making the following deductions from the full value of the consideration for which the sale, exchange or transfer of the capital asset is made, namely:—

(i) expenditure incurred solely in connection with such sale, exchange or transfer;

(ii) the actual cost to the assessee of the capital asset, including any expenditure of a capital nature incurred and borne by him in making any additions or alterations thereto, but excluding any expenditure in respect of which any allowance is admissible under any provision of sections 8, 9, 10 and 12:

Provided that where a person who acquires a capital asset from the assessee, whether by sale, exchange or transfer, is a person with whom the assessee is directly or indirectly connected, and the Income-tax Officer has reason to believe that the sale, exchange or transfer was effected with the object of avoidance or reduction of the liability of the assessee under this section, the full value of the consideration for which the sale, exchange or transfer is made shall, with the prior approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commisisoner of Income-tax, be taken to be the fair market value of the capital asset on the date on which the sale, exchange or transfer took place:

Provided further that where the capital asset is an asset in respect of which the assessee has obtained depreciation allowance in any year, the actual cost of the asset to the assessee shall be its written down value, as defined in section 10, increased or diminished, as the case may be, by any adjustment made under clause (vii) of sub-section (2) of that section:

Provided further that where the capital asset became the property of the assessee before the 1st day of January, 1939, he may, on proof of the fair market value thereof on the said date to the satisfaction of the Income-tax Officer, substitute for the actual cost such fair market value which shall be deemed to be the actual cost to him of the asset, and which shall be reduced by the amount of depreciation, if any, allowed to the assessee after the said date and increased or diminished, as the case may be, by any adjustment made under clause (vii) of sub-section (2) of section 10:

Provided further that where the capital asset was on any previous occasion the subject of negotiations for its sale, exchange or transfer, any option or other money received and retained by the assessee in respect of such negotiations shall be deducted in computing the actual cost to him of such asset.

(3) Where any capital asset became the property of the assessee under any of the circumstances referred to in the third proviso to sub-section (1), its actual cost allowable to him for the purposes of this section shall be its actual cost to the previous owner thereof, and the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply accordingly; and where the actual cost to the previous owner cannot be ascertained, the fair market value at the date on which the capital asset became the property of the previous owner shall be deemed to be the actual cost thereof.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where a capital gain arises from the sale, exchange or transfer of a capital asset which immediately before the date on which the sale, exchange or transfer took place was being used by the assessee for the purposes of his business, profession or vocation, or which in the two years immediately preceding that date was being used by him or a parent of his mainly for the purposes of his own or the parent's own residence, and the assessee has within a period of one year before or after that date purchased a new capital asset for the same purposes of his business, profession or vocation or, as the case may be, for the purposes of his own residence, then instead of the capital gain being charged to tax as income of the previous year in which the sale, exchange or transfer took place, it shall, if the assessee so elects in writing before the assessment is made to be dealt with in accordance with the following provisions of this sub-section, that is to say,—

(a) if the amount of the capital gain is greater than the cost of the new asset,—

(i) the difference between the amount of the capital gain and the cost of the new asset shall be charged under this section as income of the previous year, and

(ii) for the purposes of computing in respect of the new asset any allowance under clause (vi) or clause (vii) of sub-section (2) of section 10 or the amount of any capital gain arising from its sale, exchange or transfer, the cost or the written down value, as the case may be, shall be nil; or

(b) if the amount of the capital gain is equal to or less than the cost of the new asset,—

(i) the capital gain shall not be charged under this section, and

(ii) for the purposes of computing in respect of the new asset any allowance under the said clause (vi) or any allowance or adjustment under the said clause (vii) or the amount of any capital gain arising from its sale, exchange or transfer the cost or the written down value, as the case may be, shall be reduced by the amount of the capital gain:

Provided that where in respect of the purchase of a new capital asset consisting of plant or machinery the assessee satisfies the Income-tax Officer that despite the exercise of due diligence it has not been possible to make the purchase within the period specified in this sub-section, the Income-tax Officer may, with the prior approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax, extend the said period to such date as he considers reasonable.

Amendment of section 14, Act XI of 1922.

7. In clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 14 of the said Act, after the words "are assessable under" the words, figures and letter "section 12-B or" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 17, Act XI of 1922.

8. To section 17 of the said Act the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

(6) Where the total income of an assessee, not being a company, includes any income chargeable under the head "Capital gains", the tax, including super-tax, payable by him on his total income shall be—

(i) income-tax and super-tax payable on his total income as reduced by the amount of such inclusion, had such reduced income been his total income, plus

(ii) income-tax on the whole amount of such inclusion at the following rates, namely:—

Where such amount—	Rate.
exceeds Rs. 15,000 but does not exceed Rs. 50,000 ..	.. One anna in the rupee, exceed Rs. 50,000 but does not exceed Rs. 2,00,000 ..	.. Two annas in the rupee, exceeds Rs. 2,00,000 but does not exceed Rs. 5,00.000 ..	.. Three annas in the rupee, exceeds Rs. 5,00,000 but does not exceed Rs. 10,00,000..	.. Four annas in the rupee, exceeds Rs. 10,00.000	.. Five annas in the rupee :

Provided that where owing to the fact that the amount of such inclusion has exceeded a certain limit, income-tax thereon is payable or is payable at a higher rate, the amount of income-tax so payable shall be reduced so as not to exceed—

(a) the amount which would have been payable if the amount of such inclusion had not exceeded that limit, plus

(b) one-half of the amount by which the amount of such inclusion exceeds that limit.

(7) Where the total income of a company includes any income chargeable under the head "Capital gains", the super-tax payable by the company in any year shall be reduced by an amount computed on that part of its total income which consists of such inclusion at the rate of super-tax (excluding the rate of additional super-tax, if any) specified in the case of a company by the annual Act of the Central Legislature fixing the rate or rates of tax for that year.'

Amendment of section 18-A, Act XI of 1922.

9. To section 18-A of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

(12) Any income chargeable under the head "Capital gains" shall not be taken into account for any of the purposes of this section.'

Amendment of section 24, Act XI of 1922.

10. In section 24 of the said Act, after sub-section (2) the following sub-sections shall be inserted, namely:—

'(2-A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where the loss sustained is a loss falling under the head "Capital gains", such loss shall not be set-off except against any profits and gains falling under that head.

(2-B) Where an assessee sustains a loss such as is referred to in sub-section (2-A) and the loss cannot be wholly set-off in accordance with the provisions of that sub-section, the portion not so set-off shall be carried forward to the following year and set-off against capital gains for that year, and if it cannot be so set-off, the amount thereof not so set-off shall be carried forward to the following year and so on, so however that no such loss shall be so carried forward for more than six years:

Provided that where the loss sustained in any previous year does not exceed fifteen thousand rupees, it shall not be carried forward.'

Amendment of section 38, Act XI of 1922.

11. To section 38 of the said Act the following clause shall be added, namely:—

"(4) require any dealer, broker or agent or any person concerned in the management of a stock or commodity Exchange to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he or the Exchange has paid any sum in connection with the sale, exchange or transfer of a capital asset, or on whose behalf or from whom he or the Exchange has received any such sum, together with particulars of all such payments and receipts."

Amendment of section 42, Act XI of 1922.

12. In section 42 of the said Act,—

(a) for the marginal heading the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"Income deemed to accrue or arise within British India";

(b) in sub-section (1), after the words "in cash or in kind," the words "or through or from the sale, exchange or transfer of a capital asset in British India," shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 43, Act XI of 1922.

13. To section 43 of the said Act the following Explanation shall be added, namely:—

"Explanation.—A person, whether residing in or out of British India, who acquires, after the 28th day of February, 1947, whether by sale, exchange or transfer, a capital asset in British India from a person residing out of British India shall, for the purposes of charging to tax the capital gain arising from such sale, exchange or transfer, be deemed to have a business connection, within the meaning of this section, with such person residing out of British India."

Amendment of section 58-C, Act XI of 1922.

14. In clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 58-C of the said Act, after the words "securities purchased therewith," the words "and of any capital gains arising from the sale, exchange or transfer of capital assets of the fund," shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 58-R, Act XI of 1922.

15. In section 58-R of the said Act, after the words "deposits of an approved superannuation fund" the words "and any capital gains arising from the sale, exchange or transfer of capital assets of such fund" shall be inserted.

CHAPTER III.

Amendments of Act XV of 1940.

Amendment of section 15, Act XV of 1940.

16. In section 15 of the Excess Profits Tax Act (hereafter in this Chapter referred to as the said Act), the words "within five years of the end of the chargeable accounting period in question" shall be omitted, and shall be deemed always to have been omitted.

Insertion of new section 26-A in Act XV of 1940.

17. After section 26 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"26-A. (1) If on an application made to it through the Excess Profits Tax Officer, the Central Board of Revenue is satisfied that a person who in a chargeable accounting period ending on the 31st day of March, 1946, carried on a business the profits of which for any chargeable accounting period are charged with excess profits tax,—

Further powers of Central Board of Revenue to grant certain relief.

(i) incurred during the period commencing on the 1st day of April, 1946 and ending on the 31st day of December, 1947, in connection with that business,—

(a) expenditure on the removal of works constructed for protection against enemy attack;

(b) where under the orders of a competent authority the business was wholly or partly removed during the war, expenditure on again removing the business or part thereof;

(c) where any physical assets held for the purposes of the business were altered to adapt them to war conditions, expenditure on re-adapting them to normal requirements;

(d) expenditure in consequence of the termination of any contract for the supply of goods, materials or services, or the lease of buildings or machinery to him, where that contract is terminated by reason of the termination of a contract for the provision by him of goods, materials or services for the purposes of the war; or

(ii) incurred during the period commencing on the 1st day of April, 1946 and ending on the 31st day of December, 1947, a loss on the sale of trading stock held on the 31st day of March, 1946 for the purposes of the business; or

(iii) incurred in any accounting period ending on or before the 31st day of March, 1946, in connection with that business any expenditure referred to in the sub-clauses of clause (i) which, except under the provisions of this sub-section, is not allowable, either wholly or partly, in computing the profits of such accounting period:—

the Central Board of Revenue may direct that such allowance as it thinks just shall be made in computing the profits of the business during the chargeable accounting period ending on the 31st day of March, 1946, and effect shall be given to such direction by repayment of otherwise, as the case may require:

Provided that in giving any such direction, the Central Board of Revenue may impose such conditions as it considers appropriate:

Provided further that where the applicant satisfies the Central Board of Revenue that it was not possible to complete any work referred to in such clauses (a), (b) and (c) of clause (i) within the period specified in that clause, the Central Board of Revenue may extend the said period to such date as it considers reasonable:

Provided further that, where any change has taken place in the persons carrying on the business, the persons carrying it on after the change shall have the same right to make an application under this sub-section in respect of any expenditure referred to in sub-clauses (b) and (c) of clause (i) as the persons previously carrying on the business would have had if there had been no such change.

(2) Where an accounting period included, but did not end on, the 31st day of March, 1946, all expenditure referred to in the sub-clauses of clause (i) of sub-section (1) which would, apart from the provisions of this sub-section and rule 11 of Schedule I, be allowable as a deduction in computing the profits of the said accounting period, shall be treated for the purposes of sub-section (1) as if it were incurred after that day, and if an application is made under this section, no deduction from, or in computing, the profits of any accounting period or chargeable accounting period shall be allowed in respect of such expenditure otherwise than under sub-section (1).

(3) Where a change takes place in the persons carrying on a business, or a person carrying on a business, being a body corporate, becomes or ceases to be a subsidiary company or principal company within the meaning of sub-section (6) of section 9, and where except for the happening of that event relief would be allowable under this section, the Central Board of Revenue may, if it thinks fit, allow such relief under this section as it considers just, having regard to the extent to which the persons directly or indirectly interested in the business or body corporate, as the case may be, before the change remain interested therein after the change."

Amendment of Schedule I, Act XV of 1940.

18. To the first paragraph of rule 11 of Schedule I to the said Act the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that where any loss or expenditure incurred during the period commencing on the 1st day of April, 1946, and ending on the 31st day of December, 1947 is reasonably and properly attributable, wholly or partly, to any chargeable accounting period or standard period, such deduction as appears to the Excess Profits Tax Officer to be reasonable shall be allowed in computing the profits of such chargeable accounting period or standard period; and any relief accruing from such deduction shall be given by repayment or otherwise, as the case may require."

THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX (AMENDMENT) ACT (XXIII OF 1941)

An Act further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922.

THE INDIAN (FEDERAL COURT JUDGES) ACT, 1942.

(5 and 6 Geo VI, Ch 7)

An Act to extend the power of the Governor-General of India to make acting appointments of Judges of the Federal Court.

[26*th February*, 1942.

Be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Amendment of S. 202 of the Government of India Act, 1935, 26 Geo V and 1. Edw. 8 c. 2.

1. (1) At the end of section two hundred and two of the Government of India Act, 1935, there shall be added the following sub-section:—

"(2) If the Governor-General in his discretion is satisfied, after considering a report from the Chief Justice of India—

(a) that in view of some personal interest which any Judge of the Federal Court has in the decision of any particular case, or of some part which any judge of the Federal Court has already taken, as judge or counsel or otherwise, in or in relation to any particular case (whether or not while it was before the Federal Court), that judge ought not to take part in the hearing and determination thereof. and

(b) that without a Judge there are not sufficient Judges of the Federal Court available to sit for that purpose.

the Governor-General may in his discretion appoint a Judge of a High Court who is duly qualified for appointment as Judge of the Federal Court to act temporarily as a Judge of that Court, and the person so appointed shall, unless the Governor-General in his discretion thinks fit to revoke his appointment, be deemed to be a Judge of the Federal Court until that case has been heard and determined by the Federal Court".

(2) The amendment made by this Act in the Government of India Act, 1935, shall be deemed to have been made therein immediately before the passing thereof.

(3) A copy of the said Act giving effect to—

(a) the amendments mentioned in sub-section (2) of section seventeen of the India and Burma (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act, 1940; and shall be prepared and certified by the Clerk of the Parliament and deposited with the Rolls of Parliament, and His Majesty's printer shall print in accordance with the copy so certified all copies of the Government of India Act, 1935, which are printed after the said copy has been so prepared, certified and deposited.

(b) the amendment made by this Act,

Short title. 2. This Act may be cited as THE INDIAN (FEDERAL COURT JUDGES) ACT, 1942.

THE INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYMENT (STANDING ORDERS ACT, (XX OF 1946).

[23*rd April*, 1946.

An Act to require employers in industrial establishments formally to define conditions of employment under them.

WHEREAS it is expedient to require employers in industrial establishments to define with sufficient precision the conditions of employment under them and to make the said conditions known to workmen employed by them; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and application. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYMENT (STANDING ORDERS) ACT, 1946.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It applies to every industrial establishment wherein one hundred or more workmen are employed, or were employed on any day of the preceding twelve months, and to such class or classes of other industrial establishments as the appropriate Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, specify in this behalf:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall apply to any industry to which, before the commencement of this Act, the provisions of Chapter V of the Bombay Industrial Disputes Act, 1938 (Bombay Act XXV of 1938), have been applied.

Interpretation. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "appellate authority" means an Industrial Court, wherever it exists or in its absence an authority appointed by the appropriate Government by notification in the official Gazette to exercise in such area as may be specified in the notification the functions of an appellate authority under this Act.

(b) "appropriate Government" means in respect of industrial establishments under the control of the Central Government or a Federal railway or in a major port, mine or oil-field, the Central Government, and in all other cases, the Provincial Government;

(c) "Certifying Officer" means the Labour Commissioner wherever he exists, or in his absence an officer appointed by the appropriate Government by notification in the official Gazette to exercise in such area as may be specified in the notification the functions of a Certifying Officer under this Act;

(d) "employer" means the owner of an industrial establishment to which this Act for the time being applies, and includes—

(i) in a factory, any person named under clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 9 of the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934), as manager of the factory;

(ii) in any industrial establishment under the control of any department of any Government in India, the authority appointed by such Government in this behalf, or where no authority is so appointed, the head of the department;

(iii) in any other industrial establishment, any person responsible to the owner for the supervision and control of the industrial establishment;

(e) "industrial establishment" means—

(i) an industrial establishment as defined in clause (ii) of section 2 of the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 (IV of 1936), or

(ii) a factory as defined in clause (j) of section 2 of the Factories Act, 1934, or

(iii) a railway as defined in clause (4) of section 2 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), or

(iv) the establishment of a person who, for the purpose of fulfilling a contract with the owner of any industrial establishment, employs workmen;

(f) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the appropriate Government under this Act;

(g) "standing orders" means rules relating to matters set out in the Schedule;

(h) "trade union" means a trade union for the time being registered under the Indian Trade Unions Act, 1926 (XVI of 1926).

(i) "workman" means any person employed in any industrial establishment to do any skilled or unskilled, manual or clerical, labour for hire or reward, but does not include any member of the armed forces of the Crown.

Submission of draft sanding orders.

3. (1) Within six months from the date on which this Act becomes applicable to an industrial establishment, the employer shall submit to the Certifying Officer five copies of the draft standing orders proposed by him for adoption in his industrial establishment.

(2) Provision shall be made in such draft for every matter set out in the Schedule which may be applicable to the industrial establishment, and where model standing orders have been prescribed, shall be, so far as is practicable, in conformity with such model.

(3) The draft standing orders submitted under this section shall be accompanied by a statement giving prescribed particulars of the workmen employed in the industrial establishment including the name of the trade union, if any, to which they belong.

(4) Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a group of employers in similar industrial establishments may submit a joint draft of standing orders under this section.

Conditions for certification of standing orders.

4. Standing orders shall be certifiable under this Act if—

(a) provision is made therein for every matter set out in the Schedule which is applicable to the industrial establishment, and

(b) the standing orders are otherwise in conformity with the provisions of this Act;

and it shall not be the function of the Certiifying Officer or appellate authority to adjudicate upon the fairness or reasonableness of the provisions of any standing orders.

Certification of standing orders.

5. (1) On receipt of the draft under section 3, the Certifying Officer shall forward a copy thereof to the trade union, if any, of the workmen, or where there is no such trade union, to the workmen in such manner as may be prescribed, together with a notice in the prescribed form requiring objections, if any, which the workmen may desire to make to the draft standing orders to be submitted to him within fifteen days from the receipt of the notice.

(2) After giving the employer and the trade union or such other representatives of the workmen as may be prescribed an opportunity of being heard, the Certifying Officer shall decide whether or not any modification of or addition to the draft submitted by the employer is necessary to render the draft standing orders certificable under this Act, and shall make an order in writing accordingly.

(3) The Certifying Officer shall thereupon certify the draft standing orders, after making any modifications therein which his order under sub-section (2) may require, and shall within seven days thereafter send copies of the certified standing orders authenticated in the prescribed manner and of his order under sub-section (2) to the employer and to the trade union or other prescribed representatives of the workmen.

Appeals.

6. (1) Any person aggrieved by the order of the Certifying Officer under sub-section (2) of section 5 may, within twenty-one days from the date on which copies are sent under sub-section (3) of that section, appeal to the appellate authority, and the appellate authority, whose decision shall be final, shall by order in writing confirm the standing orders either in the form certified by the Certifying Officer or after amending the said standing orders by making such modifications thereof or additions thereto as it thinks necessary to render the standing orders certifiable under this Act.

(2) The appellate authority shall, within seven days of its order under sub-section (1), send copies thereof to the Certifying Officer, to the employer and to the trade union or other prescribed representatives of the workmen, accompanied, unless it has confirmed without amendment the standing orders as certified by the Certifying Officer, by copies of the standing orders as certified by it and authenticated in the prescribed manner.

Date of operation of standing orders.

7. Standing orders shall, unless an appeal is preferred under section 6, come into operation on the expiry of thirty days from the date on which authenticated copies thereof are sent under sub-section (3) of section 5, or where an appeal as aforesaid is preferred, on the expiry of seven days from the date on which copies of the order of the appellate authority are sent under sub-section (2) of section 6.

Register of standing orders.

THE INHERITANCE ACT (XXX OF 1839.)[1]

[16*th December*, 1839.

An Act for the amendment of the Law of inheritance.

Preamble.

1. WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the amendments in the English law of inheritance contained in the [2]Statute 3rd and 4th William IV, Chapter CVI, to the territiries of the East India Company in cases which, but for the passing of this Act, would be governed by the English law of inheritance as it existed previously to the passing of the aforesaid statute;

"Interpretation".

It is hereby enacted that the words and expressions hereinafter mentioned, which in their ordinary signification have a more confined or a different meaning, shall in this Act, except where the nature of the provision or the context of the Act shall exclude such construction, be interpreted as follows: (that is to say), the word "land" shall extend to messuages, and all other hereditaments, whether corporeal or incorporeal, and whether freehold or of any other tenure, and to money to be laid out in the purchase of land, and to chattels and other personal property transmissible to heirs, and also to any share of the same hereditaments and properties or any of them, and to any estate of inheritance or estate for any life or lives, or other estate transmissible to heirs, and to any possibility, right or title of entry or action, and any other interest capable of being inherited, and whether the same estates, possibilities, rights, titles and interest, or any of them, shall be in possession, reversion, remainder or contingency;

"Land".

"The purchaser".

and the word "the purchaser" shall mean the person who last acquired the land otherwise than by descent, or than by any escheat, partition or enclosure, by the effect of which the land shall have become part of, or descendible in, the same manner as other land acquired by descent;

"Descent".

and the word "descent" shall mean the title to inherit land by reason of consanguinity, as well where the heir shall be an ancestor or collateral relation as where he shall be a child or other issue;

"Descendants".

and the expression "descendants" of any ancestor shall extend to all persons who must trace their descent through such ancestor;

"Person last entitled".

and the expression "the person last entitled to land" shall ertend to the last person who had a right thereto, whether he did or did not obtain the possession or the receipt of rents and profits thereof;

LEG. REF.

[1] Short title, "The Inheritance Act, 1839" See the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897 (XIV of 1897). The whole Act except as to intestacies occuring before 1st January, 1866, was repealed by Act VIII of 1868, As to inheritance, where descent took place before the 1st January, 1866, the Act, has been declared, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 S. 3, to be in force in the whole of British India except as regards the Scheduled Districts. Section 29 of the Trustees and Mortgagees Powers Act, 1866 (XXVIII of 1866), is to be read as part of Act XXX of 1839. See Act XXVIII of 1866, S 29. infra and the word "assurance" shall mean any deed or instrument other than a will by which any land shall be conveyed or transferred at law or in equity;

Descent shall always be traced from the purchaser but the last owner shall be considered to be the purchaser, unless the contrary be proved.

2 [2][* * *] In every case descent shall be traced from the purchaser, and to the intent that the pedigree may never be carried further back than the circumstances of the case and the nature of the title shall require, the person last entitled to the land shall, for the purposes of this Act, be considered to have been the purchaser thereof unless it shall be proved that he inherited the same, in which case the person from whom he inherited the same shall be considered to have been the purchaser, unless it shall be proved that he inherited the same, and in like manner the last person from whom the land shall be proved to have been inherited shall in every case be considered to have been the purchaser unless it shall be proved that he inherited the same.

Heir entitled under a will shall take as devisee, and a limitation to the grantor or his heirs shall create an estate by purchase.

3. When any land shall have been devised by any testator who shall die after the first day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty to the heir or to the person who shall be the heir of such testator, such heir shall be considered to have acquired the lands as a devisee and not by descent; and, when any land shall have been limited by any assurance executed after the said first day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty to the person or the heirs of the person who shall thereby have conveyed the same land, such person shall be considered to have acquired the same as a purchaser by virtue of such assurance, and shall not be considered to be entitled thereto as his former estate or part thereof.

Where heirs take by purchase under limitations to the heirs of their ancestors, the land shall descend as if the ancestor had been the purchaser

4. [2][* * *] When any person shall have acquired any land by purchase under a limitation to the heirs or to the heirs of the body of any of his ancestors, contained in an assurance executed after the said first day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty, or under a limitation to the heir or to the heirs of the body of any of his ancestors, or under any limitation having the same effect, contained in a will of any testator who shall depart this life after the said first day of July one thousand eight hundred and forty, then any in any of such cases such land shall descend, and the descent thereof shall be traced, as if the ancestor named in such limitation had been the purchaser of such land.

Brothers, etc., shall trace descent through their parent.

5. [2][* * *] No brother or sister shall be considered to inherit immediately from his or her brother or sister, but every descent from a brother or sister shall be traced through the parent.

Lineal ancestor may be heir in preference to collateral persons claiming through him

6 [2][* * *] Every lineal ancestor shall be capable of being heir to any of his issue, and, in every case where there shall be no issue of the purchaser, his nearest lineal ancestor shall be his heir in preference to any person who would have been entitled to inherit, either by tracing his descent through such lineal ancestor, or in consequence of there being no descendant of such lineal ancestor, so that the father

Where a policy of insurance has been rendered void on the ground of fraudulent concealment of material facts in the proposal form, notwithstanding that there was no agreement for forfeiture of the premiums, a refund of the premiums paid cannot be claimed. Neither sec. 64 nor sec. 65 of the Contract Act is applicable. I.L.R. (1944) Mad. 842=57 L.W. 140=1944 M.W.N. 153=1944 Mad. 281=(1944) 1 M.L.J. 190. The insured who makes an application for reinstatement of the policy which had lapsed by the non-payment of the premium on the due date, must be held responsible for the statements in the application that he had had no sickness, ailment or injury since the last medical examination and had not been attended upon or prescribed for by any physician. Where the answers are not induced by any misrepresentation and are on the face of them untrue, the company can legally repudiate liability under the policy. 57 L.W. 429=1944 Mad. 559=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 37=I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 150. According to a term of a policy of life insurance, the proposal and declaration made by the assured were to form the basis of the policy and any untrue statement wilfully made in the proposal was to render the policy void and of no effect. The assured wilfully made an untrue statement in the proposal that no proposal for an insurance on his life had ever been declined by any Insurance Company. It was argued on behalf of the representatives of the assured that the insurer had, at the time the policy was issued, the knowledge or, at any rate the means of knowledge that the assured had made the untrue statement in question, and since in spite of of that the insurer went on accepting the premiums till the time the assred died it must be taken to have waived its right to avoid the policy. Held, that if the plea of waiver was to succeed in the case it must be shown that the premiums were taken intentionally with knowledge of the untrue statement in the proposal and that mere possession of the means of knowledge would not be sufficient to constitute waiver by the insurer I.L.R. 1 Added by sec. 2, Act XI of 1939.

2 Substituted for the words "to which the provisions of Part III apply" by sec. 2, Act XIII of 1941.

3 Inserted by sec. 2, Act XI of 1939.

SEC. 2 (10).—Where a Company acts as agent of an insurance Company and employs a number of sub agents for work in the area allotted to it, it cannot be said to fall within the description of a person acting on behalf of an insurer who for the purposes of insurance business employs "insurance agents" in sec. 40 (1) of the Indian Insurance Act. The members of the agency Company are individuals who receive payment by way of commission in consideration of their soliciting on procuring insurance business and subject to the question of their being licensed under sec. 42 of the Act, they come within the definition of "insurance agents" in sec. 2 (10). There is no reason for thinking that the two classes enumerated in sec. 40 (1) are mutually exclusive. 50 C.W.N. 73=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 496=1946 P.C. 6=72 I.A. 315 (P.C.).

(15) "Superintendent of Insurance" means the officer, who shall be a qualified actuary, appointed by the Central Government to perform the duties of the Superintendent of Insurance under this Act.

PART II.

PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO INSURERS.

Insurers to be subject to this Act while liabilities remain unsatisfied.

[1][2-A. Every insurer shall be subject to all the provisions of this Act in relation to any class of insurance business so long as his liabilities in British India in respect of business of that class remain unsatisfied or not otherwise provided for.

This Act not to apply to certain insurers ceasing to enter into new contracts before commencement of Act.

2-B. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to an insurer as defined in paragraph (i) or (ii) of sub-clause (a) of clause (9) of section 2 in relation to any class of his insurance business where such insurer has ceased, before the commencement of this Act, to enter into any new contracts of that class of business.]

Registration.

3 (1) No [2]person[shall, after the commencement of this Act, begin to carry on any class of insurance business in British India, and no insurer carrying on any class of insurance business in British India shall, after the expiry of three months from the commencement of this Act, continue to carry on any such business, unless he has obtained from the Superintendent of Insurance a certificate of registration:

SECS. 3 AND 52: SCOPE AND EFFECT.—Sec. 3 is a general section which applies to all Insurers. It requires registration in every case and prohibits an insurer which has failed to obtain a certificate of registration on or before 1st July, 1939, from carrying on its business. This rule has no exceptions. What sec. 52 of the Act lays down is thath first of all, no new insurance business shall be started on the dividing principle after the commencement of the Act, that is to sav, after 1st July, 1939. As regards those already in existence on that date, it permits them to carry on for a further three years, but no more. It does not exempt them from the necessity of registration. 223 I.C. 52. (c) a statement of the class or classes of insurance business done or to be done, and a statement that the amount required to be deposited by section 7 or section 98 before application for registration is made has been deposited together with a certificate from the Reserve Bank of India showing the amount deposited;

(d) where the provisions of section 6 or section 97, apply, a declaration verified by an affidavit made by the principal officer of the insurer authorised in that behalf that the provisions of those sections as to working capital have been complied with;

(e) in the case of an insurer having his principal place of business or domicile outside [2][India], a statement verified by an affidavit made by the principal officer of the insurer setting forth the requirements (if any) not applicable to nationals of the country in which such insurer is constituted, incorporated or domiciled which are imposed by the laws or practice of that country upon Indian nationals as a condition of carrying on insurance business in that country;

(f) a certified copy of the published prospectus, if any, and of the standard policy forms of the insurer and statements of the assured rates, advantages, terms and conditions to be offered in connection with insurance policies together with a certificate in connection with life insurance business by an actuary that such rates, advantages, terms and conditions are workable and sound:

Provided that in the case of marine, accident and miscellaneous insurance business other than workmen's compensation and motor car insurance the above requirements regarding prospectus, forms and statements shall be complied with only in so far as the prospectus, forms and statements may be available; and (g) the prescribed fee for registration being not more than [3][five] hundred rupees for each class of business.

(3) In the case of any insurer having his principal place of business or domicile outside [2][India], the Superintendent of Insurance shall withhold registration or shall cancel a registration already made, if he is satisfied that in the country in which such insurer has his principal place of business or domicile Indian nationals are debarred by the law or practice of the country relating to, or applied to insurance from carrying on the business of insurance, or that any requirement imposed on such insurer under the provisions of section 62 is not satisfied.

[4][(4) The Superintendent of Insurance shall cancel the registration of an insurer either wholly or in so far as it relates to a particular class of insurance business, as the case may be,—

Renewal of Registration.

[3-A. (1) An insurer who has been granted a certificate of registration under section 3 shall have the registration renewed annually for each year after that ending on the 31st day of December, 1941.

(2) An application for the renewal of a registration for any year shall be made by the insurer to the Superintendent of Insurance before the 31st day of December of the preceding year, and shall be accompanied as provided in sub-section (3) by evidence of payment of the prescribed fee which shall not exceed one thousand rupees for each class of insurance business, but may vary according to the volume of business done by the insurer in India in each class of insurance business to which the registration relates.

(3) The prescribed fee for the renewal of a registration for any year shall be paid into the Reserve Bank of India, or, where there is no office of that Bank, into the Imperial Bank of India acting as the agent of that Bank, or into any Government treasury, and the receipt shall be sent along with the application for renewal of the registration.

Restriction on name of insurer.

5. (1) An insurer shall not be registered by a name identical with that by which an insurer in existence is already registered, or so nearly resembling that name as to be calculated to deceive except when the insurer in existence is in the course of being dissolved and signifies his consent to the Superintendent of Insurance.

(2) If an insurer, through inadvertence or otherwise, is without such consent as aforesaid registered by a name identical with that by which an insurer already in existence whether previously registered or not is carrying on business or so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive, the first-mentioned insurer shall, if caled upon to do so by the Superintendent of Insurance on the application of the second-mentioned insurer, change his name within a time to be fixed by the Superintendent of Insurance.

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to any insurer carrying on business before the 27th day of January, 1937, under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912.

(3) No insurer other than a provident society [1][as defined in Part III], who begins to carry on insurance business after the commencement of this Act, shall adopt as its name and no such insurer carrying on business before the commencement of this Act shall continue after the expiry of six months from the commencement thereof to use as its name any combination of words which includes the word "provident".

Requirements as to capital.

6. No insurer incorporated after, or who commenced carrying on the business of life insurance in British India, whether solely or in common with any other business, after the 26th day of January, 1937, shall be registered unless he has as working capital a net sum of not less than fifty thousands rupees exclusive of the deposit to be made before registration under sub-section (5) of section 7 of this Act, and exclusive in the case of a company of any sums payable as preliminary expenses in the formation of the company.

Deposits.

7. SEC. 7 (3), PROVISO: APPLICABILITY.—The proviso to sec. 7 (3) contemplated that the insurer must deal in life insurance business exclusively at the time when the application for registration is made. It does not apply to a case where he was at that time carrying on a business of another class along with life insurance work but discontinued the other business later on. Thus it is the character of the business that he is carrying on at that time that determines the amount of deposit and also the number of instalments in which the deposit can be made. He is not, therefore, entitled to say on the discontinuance of the other business that the instalments should be readjusted on the footing that he was doing life insurance business pure and simple from the beginning and that with regard to future instalments he was entitled to the benefit of the proviso to sub-sec. less than the minimum amount required as the second instalment and shall be paid before the 1st day of January of each succeeding year:

Provided that in the case of insurers carrying on life insurance business only, the deposit may be made in not more than ten instalments, of which the first shall be not less than one-fourth of the total amount of the deposit, and shall be paid before the application for registration is made, the second shall be not less than one-ninth of the balance of the deposit, and shall be paid before [1][the expiry of four months from the commencement of this Act], and the subsequent instalments shall be of not less than the minimum amount required as the second instalment, and shall be paid before the 1st day of January of each succeeding year.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (3), in the case of an insurer [2][to whom that sub-section applies,] not being an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2, and not being an insurer incorporated in or domiciled in the United Kingdom, the deposit referred to in sub-section (1) shall be made in two instalments of which the first shall be not less than one-half of the total amount of the deposit and shall be made before the application for registration is made, and the second shall be made before the expiry of one year from the date of registration.

(5) Where the deposit is to be made by an insurer neither incorporated before,nor carying on insurance business in British India before, the 27th day of January, 1937, the deposit may be made in instalments of not less than one-fourth the total amount before the application for registration is made, not less than one-third the balance before the expiry of one year from the commencement of business in British India, and not less than one-half the residue before the expiry of two years from the commencement of business in British India and the balance before the expiry of three years from the commencement of business in British India.

Provided that in the case of any insurer not being an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2, and not being an insurer incorporated in or domiciled in the United Kingdom, the deposit shall be made in full before the application for registration is made.

(8) A deposit made in cash shall be held by the Reserve Bank of India to the credit of the insurer and shall [1][except to the extent, if any, to which the cash has been invested in securities under sub-section (9-A)], be returnable to the insurer in cash in any case in which under the provisions of this Act a deposit is to be returned; and any interest accruing due and collected on securities deposited under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be paid to the insurer, subject only to deduction of the normal commission chargeable for the realization of interest.

[2][(9) The insurer may at any time replace any securities deposited by him under this section with the Reserve Bank of India either by cash or by other approved securities or partly by cash and partly by other approved securities, provided that such cash, or the value of such other approved securities estimated at the market rates prevailing at the of replacement, or such cash together with such value as the case may be, is not less than the value of the securities replaced estimated at the market rates prevailing when they were dposited.

(9-A) The Reserve Bank of India shall, if so requested by the insurer,—

(a) sell any securities deposited by him with the Bank under this section and hold the cash realised by such sale as deposit, or

(b) invest in approved securities specified by the insurer the whole or any part of a deposit held by it in cash or the whole or any part of cash received by it on the sale of or on the maturing of securities deposited by the insurer, and hold the securities in which investment is so made as deposit, [3][and may charge the normal commission on such sale or on such investment].

SECS. 9 AND 7.—It is not necessary that an insurer should deposit the full amount as is required under sec. 7 (1) before he can present an application for refund under sec. 9 of the Act in respect of a certain class of insurance business that has been discontinued by him. Under sec. 7 (1) of the Act, the amount to be deposited by an insurer is rupees two lacs, if the business carried on by him is purely life insurance business. If on the other hand, miscellaneous insurance business is combined by him with life insurance, the deposit is increased to rupees three lacs, out of which rupees two lacs should be regarded as deposit for life insurance business. Under sub-sec. (3) of the section the insurer has the right to depoit this amount in certain instalments. As the entire deposit of rupees three lacs as required under sec. 7 (1) is to be divided into two parts, the instalments permitted under sub-sec. (3) are susceptible of similar division and it would be quite proper to allocate one third of such instalments to the miscellaneous insurance business and the remaining two thirds to the Life Insurance. If the insurer discontinues the former class of business, he can under sec. 9 of the Act obtain reffund of so much of the instalments of deposit as do not relate to the life insurance which he continues to carry on. It would be extremely unreasonable to hold [illegible] of business, he will still be bound to make deposits in respect of both classes of business and unless and until the full amount is deposited no separation of funds is permissible. section if the insurance business comprised in the sub-class consists of insurance contracts which are terminable by the insurer at intervals not exceeding twelve months and under which, if a claim arises, the insurer's liability to pay benefit ceases within one year of the date on which the claim arose.]

(2) Where the insurer carries on the business of life insurance, [1][all receipts due in respect of such business], shall be carried to and shall form a separate fund to be called the life insurance fund and the deposit made by the insurer in respect of life insurance business shall be deemed to be part of such fund.

(3) The life insurance fund shall be as absolutely the security of the life policy-holders as though it belonged to an insurer carrying on no other business than life insurance business and shall not be liable for any contracts of the insurer for which it would not have been liable had the business of the insurer been only that of life insurance and shall not be applied directly or indirectly [2]* * * * for any purposes [3][other than those of the life insurance business of the insurer].

Accounts and balance-sheet.

11. (1) Every insurer, in the case of an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2 in respect of all insurance business transacted by him, and in the case of any other insurer in respect of the insurance business transacted by him in India, shall at the expiration of each calendar year prepare with reference to that year—

(a) in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of the First Schedule, a balance-sheet in the form set forth in Part II of that Schedule;

(b) in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of the Second Schedule, a profit and loss account in the forms set forth in Part II of that Schedule, except where the insurer carries on business of one class only of the classes specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1) of section 7 and no other business;

(c) [4][in respect of each class or sub-class of insurance business for which he is required under sub-section (1) of section 10 to keep a separate account of receipts and payment] in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of the third Schedule, a revenue account in the form or forms set forth in Part II of that Schedule applicable to [5][that class or sub-class of insurance business].

(2) Unless the insurer is a company [6][, as defined in clause (2) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913], the accounts and statements referred to in sub-section (1) shall be signed by the insurer, or in the case of a company by the chairman, if any, and two directors and the principal officer of the company, or in the case of a firm by two partners of the firm, and shall be accompanied by a statement containing the names and descriptions of the persons in charge of the management of the business during the period to which such accounts and statements refer and by a report by such persons on the affairs of the business during that period.

(3) Where an insurer carrying on the business of insurance at the commencement of this Act has prepared the balance-sheet and accounts required by the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, or has based his accounts upon the financial and not the calendar year, the provisions of this section shall, if the Central Government so directs in any case apply until the 31st day of December, 1939, as if in sub-section (1) references to the calendar year were references to the financial year.

Audit.

12. The balance-sheet, profits and loss account, revenue account and profit and loss appropriation account of every insurer, in the case of an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-section (b) of clause (9) of section 2 in respect of all insurance business transacted by him, and in the case of any other insurer in respect of the insurance business transacted by him in India, shall, unless they are subject to audit under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, be audited annually by an auditor, and the auditor shall in the audit of all such accounts have the powers of, exercise the functions vested in, and discharge the duties and be subject to the liabilities and penalties imposed on, auditors of companies by section 145 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

Actuarial report and abstract.

13. (1) Every insurer carrying on life insurance business shall, in respect of the life insurance business transacted by him in India, and also in the case of an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2 in respect of all life insurance business transacted by him, once at least in every five years cause an investigation to be made by an actuary into the financial condition of the life insurance business carried on by him, including a valuation of his liabilities in respect thereto and shall cause an abstract of the report of such actuary to be made in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of the Fourth Schedule and in conformity with the requirements of Part II of that Schedule.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) regarding the making of an abstract shall apply whenever at any other time an investigation into the financial condition of the insurer is made with a view to the distribution of profits or an investigation is made of which the results are made public.

(3) There shall be appended to every such abstract as is referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) a certificate signed by the principal officer of the insurer that full and accurate particulars of every policy under which there is a liability either actual or contingent have been furnished to the actuary for the purpose of the investigation.

(4) There shall be appended to every such abstract a statement, in conformity with the requirements of Part II of the Fifth Schedule and prepared in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of that Schedule, of the life insurance business in force at the date to which the accounts of the insurer are made up for the purposes of such abstract:

Provided that, if the investigation, referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) is made annually by any insurer, the statement need not be appended every year but shall be appended at least once in every five years.

(5) Where an investigation into the financial condition of an insurer is made as at a date other than the expiration of the year of account, the accounts for the period since the expiration of the last year of account and the balance-sheet as at the date at which the investigation is made shall be prepared and audited in the manner provided by this Act.

[1][(6) The provisions of this section relating to life insurance business shall apply also to any such sub-class of insurance business included in the class 'Miscellaneous Insurance' as may be prescribed under sub-section (1) of section 10; and the Superintendent of Insurance may authorise such modifications and variations of the regulations contained in Part I of the Fourth and Fifth Schedules and of the requirements of Part II of those Schedules as may be necessary to facilitate their application to any such sub-class of insurance business:

Provided that, if the Superintendent of Insurance is satisfied that the number and amount of the transactions carried out by an insurer in any such sub-class of insurance business is so small as to render periodic investigation and valuation unnecessary, he may exempt that insurer from the operation of this sub-section in respect of that sub-class of insurance business.]

Register of policies and register of claims.

14. Every insurer, in the case of an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2 in respect of all business transacted by him, and in the case of any other insurer in respect of the insurance business transacted by him in India, shall maintain—

(a) a register or record of policies, in which shall be entered, in respect of every policy issued by the insurer, the name and address of the policy-holder, the date when the policy was effected and a record of any transfer, assignment or nomination of which the insurer has notice, and

(b) a register or record of claims, in which shall be entered every claim made together with the date of the claim, the name and address of the claimant and the date on which the claim was discharged, or, in the case of a claim which is rejected, the date of rejection and the grounds therefor.

Submission of returns.

15. (1) The audited accounts and statements referred to in section 11 and the abstract and statement referred to in section 13 shall be printed, and four copies thereof shall be furnished as returns to the Superintendent of Insurance [1][in the case of the accounts and statements referred to in section 11 within six months and in the case of the abstract and statement referred to in section 13 within nine months] from the end of the period to which they refer: [2]* * * * * *

Provided that the said period of six months shall in the case of insurers having their principal place of business or domicile outside India and in the case of insurers constituted, incorporated or domiciled in British India but also carrying on business outside India be extended by three months, and provided further that the Central Government may in any case extend the time allowed by this sub-section for the furnishing of such returns by a further period not exceeding three months.

(2) Of the four copies so furnished one shall be signed in the case of a company by the chairman and two directors and by the principal officer of the company and, if the company has a managing director or managing agent, by that director or managing agent, in the case of a firm, by two partners of the firm, and, in the case of an insurer being an individual by the insurer himself.

(3) Where the insurer's principal place of business or domicile is outside British India, he shall forward to the Superintendent of Insurance, along with the documents referred to in section 11, the balance-sheet, profit and loss account and revenue account and the valuation reports and valuation statements, if any, which the insurer is required to file with the public authority of the country, in which the insurer is constituted, incorporated or domiciled, or, where such documents are not required to be filed, a certified statement showing the total assets and liabilities of the insurer at the close of the period covered by the said documents and his total income and expenditure during that period.

LEG. REF.

1 Substituted for the words "within six months" by sec. 11 of Act XIII of 1941.

2 The words "The Superintendent of Insurance may extend the time allowed for furnishing the abstract and statement referred to in sec. 13 by a period not exceeding three months" were omitted, ibid.

Returns by insurers established outside British India.

16. (1) Where by the law of the country in which an insurer, not being an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (u) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2, is constituted, incorporated or domiciled, the insurer is required to prepare and to furnish to a public authority of that country documents of substantially the same nature as the documents required to be furnished as returns in accordance with the provisions of section 15, the provisions of sub-section (2) of this section shall apply to such insurer in lieu of the provisions of sections 11, 12, 13 and 15.

(2) The insurer shall, within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 15, furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance four certified copies in the English language of every balance-sheet, account, abstract, report and statement supplied to the public authority referred to in sub-section (1) of this section, and in addition thereto, [1][four certified copies] in the English language of each of the following statements, namely:—

(a) a statement [2][audited by a person duly qualified under the law of the insurer's country] showing the assets held by the insurer in India [3][as at the date of any balance-sheet so furnished];

(b) [4][for each class or sub-class of insurance business for which he is required under sub-section (1) of section 10 to keep a separate account of receipts and payments, a revenue account for the period covered by any account so furnished] in the form or forms set forth in Part II of the Third Schedule applicable to [5][that class or sub-class of insurance business] [2][and similarly audited,] showing separately with respect to business transacted by the insurer in India the details required to be supplied in a revenue account furnished under this clause of this sub-section;

(c) [6][a separate abstract of the valuation report in respect of all business transacted in India in each class or sub-class of insurance business to which section 13 refers, prepared in the manner required by that section, and];

(d) a declaration in the prescribed form stating that all amounts received by the insurer directly or indirectly whether from his head office or from any other source outside India have been shown in the revenue account except such sums as properly appertain to the capital account.

Exemption from certain provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913

17. Where an insurer, being a company incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, 1913 [7][or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby,] in any year furnishes [8][his balance-sheet and accounts] in accordance with the provisions of section 15, he may at the same time send to the Registrar of Companies [9][copies of such balance-sheet and accounts]; and [10][where such copies are so sent] it shall not be necessary for the company [11][to file copies of the balance-sheet and accounts] with the Registrar as required by sub-section (1) of section 134 of that Act and [12][such copies so sent] [13][shall be chargeable with the same fees and] shall be dealt with in all respects as if they were filed in accordance with that section.

Nothing in this Act shall apply to the preparation of accounts by an insurer and the audit and submission thereof in respect of any accounting year which has expired prior to the commencement of this Act, and notwithstanding the other provisions of this Act, such accounts shall be prepared, audited and submitted in accordance with the law in force immediately before the commencement of this Act.]

This Act not to apply to preparation of accounts, etc., for periods prior to this Act coming into force.

18. Every insurer shall furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance a certified copy of every report on the affairs of the concern which is submitted to the members or policy-holders of the insurer immediately after its submission to the members or policy-holders as the case may be.

Furnishing reports

19. Every insurer, being a company or body incorporated under any law for the time being in force in British India, shall furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance an abstract of the proceedings of every general meeting within thirty days from the holding of the meeting to which it relates.

Abstract of proceedings of general meetings.

20. (1) Every return furnished to the Superintendent of Insurance or a certified copy thereof shall be kept by the Superintendent and shall be open to inspection; and any person may procure a copy of any such return, or of any part thereof, on payment of a fee of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied, any five figures being deemed equivalent to one word.

Custody and inspection of documents and supply of copies.

(2) A printed or certified copy of the accounts, statements and abstract furnished in accordance with the provisions of section 15 or section 16 shall, on the application of any shareholder or policy-holder made at any time within two years from the date on which the document was so furnished, be supplied to him by the insurer within fourteen days when the insurer is constituted, incorporated or domiciled in British India and in any other case within one month of such application.

(3) A copy of the memorandum and articles of association of the insurer, if a company, shall on the application of any policy-holder, be supplied to him by the insurer on payment of one rupee.

21. (1) If it appears to the Superintendent of Insurance that any return furnished to him under the provisions of this Act is inaccurate or defective in any respect, he may—

(b) call upon the insurer to submit for his examination at the principal place of business of the insurer in British India any book of account, register or other documents or to supply any statement which he may specify in a notice served on the insurer for the purpose;

(c) examine any officer of the insurer on oath in relation to the return;

(d) decline to accept any such return unless the inaccuracy has been corrected or the deficiency has been supplied before the expiry of one month from the date on which the requisition asking for correction of the inaccuracy or supply of the deficiency was delivered to the insurer and if he declines to accept any such return, the insurer shall be deemed to have failed to comply with the provisions of section 15 or section 16 relating to the furnishing of returns.

LEG. REF. 1939.

[1] Section inserted by sec. 9 of Act XI of

(e) The Court may on the application of an insurer and after hearing the Superintendent cancel any order made by the Superintendent under clause (a), (b) or (c) of sub-section (1) or may direct the acceptance of any return which the Superintendent has declined to accept, if the insurer satisfies the Court that the action of the Superintendent was in the circumstances unreasonable:

[1][Provided that no application under this sub-section shall be entertained unless it is made before the expiration of four months from the time when the Superintendent of Insurance made the order or declined to accept the return]

Power of Superintendent of Insurance to order re-valuation

22. If it appears to the Superintendent of Insurance that an investigation or valuation to which section 13 refers [2][or an abstract of a valuation report furnished under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 16] does not properly indicate the condition of the affairs of the insurer by reason of the faulty basis adopted in the valuation, he may, after giving notice to the insurer and giving him an opportunity to be heard, cause an investigation and valuation to be made at the expense of the insurer by an actuary appointed by the insurer for this purpose and approved by the Superintendent of Insurance.

Evidence of documents.

23. (1) Every return furnished to the Superintendent of Insurance, which has been certified by the Superintendent to be a return so furnished, shall be deemed to be a return so furnished.

(2) Every document, purporting to be certified by the Superintendent of Insurance to be a copy of a return so furnished, shall be deemed to be a copy of that return and shall be received in evidence as if it were the original return, unless some variation between it and the original return is proved.

24. [Summary of returns to be published.] Omitted by S. 16 of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941 (XIII of 1941).

Returns to be published in statutory forms.

25 No insurer shall publish in British India any return in a form other than that in which it has been furnished to the Superintendent of Insurance:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall prevent an insurer from publishing a true and accurate abstract from such returns for the purposes of publicity.

Alterations in the particulars furnished with application for registration to be reported.

26. Whenever any alteration occurs or is made which affects any of the matters which are required under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 3 to accompany an application by an insurer for registration, the insurer shall forthwith furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance full particulars of such alteration.

[3][All such particulars shall be authenticated in the manner required by that sub-section for the authentication of the matters therein referred to, and, where the alteration affects the assured rates, advantages, terms and conditions offered in connection with life insurance policies, the acturial certificate referred to in clause (f) of the said sub-section shall accompany the particulars of the alteration.]

INVESTMENT, LOANS AND MANAGEMENT.

Investment of assets and restriction on loans.

27. (1) Every insurer incorporated or domiciled in British India shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), at all times invest and hold invested assets equivalent to not less than fifty-five per cent. of the sum of the amount of his liabilities to holders of life insurance policies in India on account of matured claims and the amount required to meet the liability on policies of life insurance maturing for payment in India, less the amount of any deposit made under section 7 [1][or section 98] by the insurer in respect of his life insurance business and less any amount due to the insurer for loans granted by him on policies of life insurance [2][maturing for payment in India and within their surrender values], in the manner following, namely, twenty-five per cent. of the said sum in Government securities and a further sum equal to not less than thirty per cent. of the said sum in Government securities or other approved securities or securities of or guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Government of the United Kingdom.

Explanation.—The provisions of this sub-section shall apply also to insurers incorporated in or domiciled in the United Kingdom.

(2) An insurer incorporated or domiciled elsewhere than in British India or the United Kingdom shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), at all times invest and hold invested assets equivalent to not less than the sum of his liabilities to holders of life insurance policies in India on account of matured claims and the amount required to meet the liability on policies of life insurance maturing for payment in India, less the amount of any deposit made under section 7 [1][or section 98] by the insurer in respect of his life insurance business and less any amount due to the insurer on loans granted by him on policies of life insurance [2][maturing for payment in India and within their surrender values,] in the manner following, namely, thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the said sum in Government securities, and the balance in Government securities, or other approved securities or securities of or guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Government of the United Kingdom.

(3) An insurer carrying on business at the commencement of this Act to whom sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) applies shall before the expiry of four years from the commencement of this Act invest the total amount required to be invested by those sub-sections in the manner required thereby:

Provided that of such total amount the insurer shall have invested not less than one-fourth in securities of the nature specified in sub-section (1) before the expiry of one year, not less than one-half before the expiry of two years, and not less than three-fourths before the expiry of three years from the [3][30th day of June, 1939].

(4) The assets required by this section to be held invested by an insurer to whom sub-section (2) applies shall be held in trust for the discharge of claims of the nature referred to in sub-section (2) and shall be vested in trustees resident in British India and approved by the Central Government by an instrument of trust which shall be executed by the insurer and approved by the Central Government and shall define the manner in which alone the subject matter of the trust shall be dealt with.

Explanation.—Sub-sections (2) and (4) shall apply to an insurer incorporated in British India whose share capital to the extent of one-third is owned by, or the members of whose Governing Body to the extent of one-third consists of, individuals domiciled elsewhere than in British India or the United Kingdom.

SEC. 27: CONSTRUCTION AND SCHEME—DEPOSIT OF 55 PER CENT.—HOW CALCULATED.—Sec 27 read in its natural sense, seems to direct the insurer to invest fifty-five per cent. of a sum arrived at by taking the liabilities on the matured claims, plus the liabilities on claims maturing, less any deposits under sec. 7, and less the amount of loans. That is the figure in respect of which the deposit of fifty-five per cent. has to be made. The scheme of the section (that is also the plain meaning of the section) is that the gross liabilities should be taken and then the amount of the deposits under sec. 7 must be deducted; the amount of the loans must them be deducted. The balance represents the uncovered liability of the insurer and on this deposit of fifty-five per cent. has to be made. Twenty-five per cent. of such uncovered liabilities are to be invested in Government securities and thirty per cent. in approved securities. 205 I.C. 559=45 Bom.L.R. 41=1943 Bom. 81.

Statement of Investments of assets.

28. [1][Every insurer registered under this Act carrying on the business of life insurance shall every year, within thirty-one days from the beginning of the year, submit to the Superintendent of Insurance a statement showing as at the 31st day of December of the preceding year the assets held invested in accordance with section 27, and all other particulars necessary to establish that the requirements of that section have been complied with, and such statement shall be certified by a principal officer of the insured.

(2) Every such insurer shall also furnish, within fifteen days from the last day of March, June and September, a statement certified as aforesaid showing as at the end of each of the said months the assets held invested in accordance with section 27.

(3) The Superintendent of Insurance may at his discretion require any insurer to whom sub-section (1) applies to submit before the 1st day of August in each or any year a statement of the nature referred to in sub-section (1), certified as required by that sub-section and prepared as at the 30th day of June.

(4) In the case of an insurer having his principal place of business or domicile outside British India, the Superintendent of Insurance may, on application made by the insurer, extend the periods of fifteen and thirty-one days mentioned in the foregoing sub-sections to thirty days and sixty days, respectively.]

[2][(5) The Superintendent of Insurance shall be entitled at any time to take such steps as he may consider necessary for the inspection or verification of the assets invested in compliance with section 27 [3][or for the purpose of securing the particulars necessary to establish that the requirements of that section have been complied with]. [4][The insurer shall comply with any requisition made in this behalf by the Superintendent of Insurance and if he fails to do so within two months from the receipt of the requisition he shall be deemed to have made default in complying with the requirements of this section.]

Prohibition of loans

29. [5][(1)] No insurer shall grant loans or temporary advances either on hypothecation of property or on personal security or otherwise, except loans on life policies issued by him within their surrender value, to any director, manager, managing agent, actuary, auditor or officer of the insurer if a company, or where the insurer is a firm, to any partner therein, or to any other company or firm in which any such director, manager, managing agent, actuary, officer or partner holds the position of a director, manager, managing agent, actuary, officer or partner:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to loans made by an insurer to a banking company:

Provided further that every existing loan to any director, manager, managing agent, auditor, actuary, officer or partner, notwithstanding any contract to the contrary, shall be repaid within one year from the commencement of this Act, and in case of default, such defaulting director, manager, managing agent, auditor, actuary, officer or partner shall cease to hold office on the expiry of one year from the commencement of this Act:

Provided further that nothing in this section shall prohibit a company from granting such loans or advances to a subsidiary company or to any other company of which the company granting the loan or advance is a subsidiary company.

Liability of directors, etc., for loss due to contraventions of Ss. 27 and 29.

30. If by reason of a contravention of any of the provisions of section 27 or section 29, any loss is sustained by the insurer or by the policy-holders, every director, manager, managing agent, officer or partner who is knowingly a party to such contravention shall, without prejudice to any other penalty to which he may be liable under this Act be jointly and severally liable to make good the amount of such loss.

Assets of insurer how to be kept.

31. None of the assets in British India of any insurer shall, except in the case of deposits made with the Reserve Bank of India under section 7 [2][or section 98] or in so far as assets are required to be vested in trustees by sub-section (4) of section 27, be kept otherwise than [3][in the name of a public officer approved by the Central Government, or] in the corporate name of the undertaking, if a company, or in the name of the partners, if a firm, or in the name of the proprietor, if an individual.

Limitation on employment of managing agents and on the remuneration payable to them.

32. (1) No insurer shall, after the commencement of this Act, appoint a managing agent for the conduct of his business.

(2) Where any insurer engaged in the business of insurance before the commencement of this Act employs a managing agent for the conduct of the business, then, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the articles of the insurer, if a company, or in any agreement entered into by the insurer, such managing agent shall cease to hold office on the expiry of three years from the commencement of this Act and no compensation shall be payable to him by the insurer by reason only of the premature termination of his employment as managing agent.

(3) After the commencement of this Act, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any agreement entered into by an insurer or in the articles of association of an insurer being a company, no insurer shall pay to a managing agent and no managing agent shall accept from an insurer as remuneration for his services as managing agent more than two thousand rupees per month in all, including salary and commission and other remuneration payable to and receivable by him, for his services as managing agent.

SEC. 33 (2): DISPOSAL OF APPLICATION—DUTY OF COURT.—Before an application under sec. 33 (2) can be dismissed there must at least be some serious attempts to see whether the party affected by the order of the Superintendent of Insurance has good reasons for opposing the investigation, even though it may not be possible to do more than conduct a summary enquiry. Merely to allow a party to put documents on the record without any means of proving their contents to be correct, when this is denied by the other side, does not amount to the taking of evidence in any true sense of the words and does not afford a basis for judicial determination. The final order should at least give some indication of the matters substantially in dispute between the parties and the reasons for dismissing the application. 203 I.C. 395=44 P L.R. 288=1942 Lah. 267=I.L.R. (1943) Lah. 601.

SEC. 33 (2): ORDER OF DISTRICT JUDGE—REVISION.—The High Court has power to interfere in revision with an order passed by a District Judge under sec. 33 (2) of the Insurance Act. The fact that the power given to the District Judge of issuing prohibitory order under sec. 33 (2) is discretionary does not exclude the power of revision when there has been an irregularity in the exercise of jurisdiction. The party affected by an order of the District Judge is not limited to showing that the order was not issued without good reason in the first instance, but is entitled to show that the reasons have disappeared and that there is no longer any necessity for an investigation from outside. 203 I.C. 395=44 P.L.R. 288=1942 Lah. 267.

Powers of investigator.

34. When any investigation is made in pursuance of section 33 the provisions of section 140 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, shall apply for the purposes of such investigation as they apply to an investigation made in pursuance of section 138 of that Act, and all expenses of and incidental to such investigation [1][including any expenses incurred before the making of an order by the Court under sub-section (2) of section 33] shall be defrayed by the insurer, [2][shall have priority over other debts due from the insurer and shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.]

AMALGAMATION AND TRANSFER OF INSURANCE BUSINESS.

Amalgamation and transfer of insurance business.

35. (1) No life insurance business of an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2 shall be transferred to [3][any person or transferred to] or amalgamated with the life insurance business of any other insurer except in accordance with a scheme prepared under this section and sanctioned by the Court having jurisdiction over one or other of the [4][parties concerned.]

(2) Any scheme prepared under this section shall set out the agreement under which the transfer or amalgamation is proposed to be effected, and shall contain such further provisions as may be necessary for giving effect to the scheme.

(3) Before an application is made to the Court to sanction any such scheme, notice of the intention to make the application together with a statement of the nature of the amalgamation or transfer, as the case may be, and of the reason therefor shall, at least two months before the application is made, be sent to the Central Government, [5][and certified copies, four in number, of each of the following documents shall be furnished to the Central Government, and other such copies shall] during the two months aforesaid be kept open for the inspection of the members and policy-holders at the principal and branch offices and chief agencies of the insurers concerned, namely:—

(a) a draft of the agreement or deed under which it is proposed to effect the amalgamation or transfer;

[6][(b) balance-sheets in respect of the insurance business of each of the insurers concerned in such amalgamation or transfer, prepared in the Form set forth in Part II of the First Schedule and in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of that Schedule;

(c) actuarial reports and abstracts in respect of the life insurance business of each of the insurers so concerned, prepared in conformity with the requirements of Part II of the Fourth and Fifth Schedules and in accordance with the regulations contained in Part I of the Schedule concerned;

(d) a report on the proposed amalgamation or transfer, prepared by an independent actuary who has never been professionally connected with any of the parties concerned in the amalgamation or transfer at any time in the five years preceding the date on which he signs his report;

(e) any other reports on which the scheme of amalgamation or transfer was founded.

The balance-sheets, reports and abstracts referred to in clauses (b), (c) and (d) shall, all be prepared as at the date at which the amalgamation or transfer if sanctioned by the Court is to take effect, which date shall not be more than twelve months before the date on which the application to the Court is made under this section:

(4) Where an application under sub-section (3) is made to the Court within three months from the commencement of this Act, the Court may, on application, extend for the insurer whose business is to be transferred to or amalgamated with the business of another insurer, the time allowed for registration [2][under section 3 and for the payment of the instalments of the deposit under section 7 or section 98] for such period not exceeding nine months as the Court may think fit.

Sanction of amalgamation and transfer by Court.

36. When any application such as is referred to in sub-section (3) of section 35 is made to the Court, the Court shall cause, if for special reasons if so directs, notice of the application to be sent to every person resident in British India or in an Indian State who is the holder of a life policy of any insurer concerned and shall cause a statement of the nature and terms of the amalgamation or transfer, as the case may be, to be published in such manner and for such period as it may direct and, after hearing the directors and such policy-holders as apply to be heard and any other persons whom it considers entitled to be heard, may sanction the arrangement, if it is satisfied that no sufficient objection to the arrangement has been established [3][and shall make such consequential orders as are necessary to give effect to the arrangement, including orders as to the disposal of any deposit made under section 7 or section 98] :

[4][Provided that—

(a) no part of the deposit made by any party to the amalgamation or transfer shall be returned except where, after effect is given to the arrangement, the whole of the deposit to be made by the insurer carrying on the amalgamated business or the person to whom the business is transferred is completed,

(b) only so much shall be returned as is no longer required to complete the deposit last mentioned in clause (a), and

(c) while the deposit last mentioned in clause (a) remains uncompleted, no accession, resulting from the arrangement, to the amount already deposited by the insurer carrying on the amalgamated business or the person to whom the business is transferred shall be appropriated as payament or part payment of any instalment of deposit subsequently due from him under section 7 or section 98.]

Statements required after amalgamation and transfer.

37. Where an amalgamation takes place between any two or more insurers, or [5][where any business of an insurer is transferred] whether in accordance with a scheme confirmed by the Court or otherwise, the insurer carrying on the amalgamated business or [6][the person to whom the business is transferred] as the case may be, shall, within three months from the date of the completion of the amalgamation or transfer, [7][furnish in duplicate to the Central Government]—

ASSIGNMENT OR TRANSFER OF POLICIES AND NOMINATIONS.

Assignment and transfer of insurance policies.

38. (1) A transfer or assignment of a policy of life insurance, whether with or without consideration, may be made only by an endorsement upon the policy itself or by a separate instrument, signed in either case by the transferor or by the asisgnor or his duly authorised agent and attested by at least one witness specifically setting forth the fact of transfer or assignment.

(2) The transfer or assignment shall be complete and effectual upon the execution of such endorsement or instrument duly attested but [3][except where the transfer or assignment is in favour of the insurer] shall not be operative as against an insurer and shall not confer upon the transferee or assignee, or his legal representative, any right to sue for the amount of such policy or the moneys secured thereby until a notice in writing of the transfer or assignment [3][[4][and] either the said endorsement or instrument itself or a copy thereof certified to be correct by both transferor and transferee or their duly authorised agents] [5][have been delivered] to the insurer [6][* * *]:

[7][Provided that where the insurer maintains one or more places of business in British India, such notice shall be delivered only at the place in British India mentioned in the policy for the purpose or at his principal place of business in British India.]

(3) The date on which the notice referred to in sub-section (2) is delivered to the insurer shall regulate the priority of all claims under a transfer or assignment as between persons interested in the policy; and where there is more than one instrument of transfer or assignment the priority of the claims under such instruments shall be governed by the order in which the notices referred to in sub-section (2) are delivered.

(4) Upon the receipt of the notice referred to in sub-section (2), the insurer shall record the fact of such transfer or assignment together with the date thereof and the name of the transferee or the assignee and shall, on the re-

(5) [1][Subject to the terms and conditions of the transfer or assignment, the insurer shall, from the date of the receipt of the notice referred to in sub-section (2),] recognise the transferee or assignee named in the notice as the only person entitled to benefit under the policy, and such person shall be subject to all liabilities and equities to which the transferor or assignor was subject at the date of the transfer or assignment and may institute any proceedings in relation to the policy without obtaining the consent of the transferor or assignor or making him a party to such proceedings.

[2][(6) Any rights and remedies of an assignee or transferee of a policy of life insurance under an assignment or transfer effected prior to the commencement of this Act shall not be affected by the provisions of this section.]

(7) Notwithstanding any law or custom having the force of law to the contrary, an assignment in favour of a person made with the condition that it shall be inoperative or that the interest shall pass to some other person on the happening of a specified event during the [3][lifetime of the person whose life is insured], and an assignment in favour of the survivor or survivors of a number of persons shall be valid.

Nomination by policy-holder.

39. (1) The holder of a policy of life insurance [4][on his own life, [5]* * *] may, when effecting the policy or at any time before the policy matures for payment, nominate the person or persons to whom the money secured by the policy shall be paid in the event of his death.

(2) Any such nomination in order to be effectual shall, unless it is incorporated in the text of the policy itself, be made by an endorsement on the policy communicated to the insurer and registered by him in the records relating to the policy and any such nomination may at any time before the policy matures for payment be cancelled or changed by an endorsement or a further endorsement or a will, as the case may be [6][but unless notice in writing of any such cancellation or change has been delivered to the insurer, the insurer shall not be liable for any payment under the policy made bona fide by him to a nominee mentioned in the text of the policy or registered in records of the insurer.]

(4) A transfer or assignment of a policy made in accordance with section 38 shall automatically cancel a nomination:

[1][Provided that the assignment of a policy to the insurer who bears the risk on the policy at the time of the assignment, in consideration of a loan granted by that insurer on the security of the policy within its surrender value, or its reassignment on payment of the loan shall not cancel a nomination, but shall affect the rights of the nominee only to the extent of the insurer's interest in the policy.]

(5) Where the policy matures for payment during the [2][lifetime of the person whose life is insured] or where the nominee, or, if there are more nominers than one, all the nominees die before the policy matures for payment, the amount secured by the policy shall be payable to the policy-holder or his heirs or legal representatives or the holder of a succession certificate, as the case may be.

(6) Where the nominee or, if there are more nominees than one, a nominee or nominees survive the [3][person whose life is insured], the amount secured by the policy shall be payable to such survivor or survivors.

(7) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any policy of life insurance to which section 66 of the Married Women's Property Act, 1874, applies.

COMMISSION AND REBATES AND LICENSING OF AGENTS.

40. (1) No person shall, after the expiry of six months from the commencement of this Act, pay or contract to pay any remuneration or reward whether by way of commission or otherwise for soliciting or procuring insurance business in India to any person except an insurance agent [4]* * * * * * * or a person acting on behalf of an insurer who for the purposes of insurance business employs[5]* insurance agents.

Prohibition of payment by way of commission or otherwise for procuring business.

(2) No insurance agent [4]* * * * * shall be paid or contract to be paid by way of commission or as remuneration in any form an amount exceeding, in the case of life insurance business, forty per cent. of the first year's premium payable on any policy or policies effected through him and five per cent. of a renewal premium, or, in the case of business of any other class, fifteen per cent. of the premium:

Provided that insurers, in respect of life insurance business only, may pay, during the first ten years of their business, to their insurance agents fifty-five per cent. of the first year's premium payable on any policy or policies effected through them and six per cent. of the renewal premiums.

The grant of overriding commission to such a firm is therefore no prohibited by the latter provision. 1943 O.W. N. 44=1943 Oudh 239.

SEC. 40 (3): SCOPE AND EFFECT.—Sec. 40 (3), removes the prohibition for payment of gratuities or renewal commision under a contract existing prior to the 27th January, 1937, not only against an insurance agent who must be licensed under sec. 42, but against every other person. 1943 O W.N. 44=1943 Oudh 239.

LIFE INSURANCE—RIGHT TO COMMISSION ON RENEWAL PREMIUMS AFTER TERMINATION OF AGENCY.—Prima facie the right of an agent to commission ceases on the termination of his employment except in cases in which the whole of the work necessary to earn the commission has been done by the agent before his employment ceases. Where a good deal of work has to be done by the agents to prevent policies from lapsing the commisison on renewal premiums is not payable to the agent after the termination of his agency. 72 I.A. 315= 1946 P.C. 6=50 C.W.N. 73=(1945) 2 M. (2) Any person making default in complying with the provisions of this section shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, unless the default is made by a person [5][taking out or renewing or continuing] a policy, in which case he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees only.

Licensing of insurance agents.

42. .(1) The Superintendent of Insurance or an officer authorised by him in this behalf shall, in the prescribed manner and on payment of the prescribed fee which shall not be more than [6][three rupees], issue to any individual [7][making an application in the prescribed manner] and not suffering from any of the disqualifications hereinafter mentioned a licence to act as an insurance agent for the purpose of soliciting or procuring insurance business.

(2) A licence issued under this section shall entitle the holder to act as an insurance agent for any registered insurer.

(3) A licence issued under this section [8][shall remain in force for a period of twelve months only from the date of issue], but shall, if the applicant does not suffer from any of the disqualifications hereinafter mentioned, be renewed from year to year on payment of [9][the prescribed fee which shall not be more than three rupees, and an additional fee of a prescribed amount not exceeding one rupee by way of penalty if the application for renewal of the licence does not reach the issuing authority before the date on which the licence ceases to remain in force.]

Provided that such agent has served such person continually and exclusively for at least ten years, and provided further that, after his ceasing to act as agent, he does not directly or indirectly solicit or procure insurance business for any other person.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS OF LAW.

Policy not to be called in question on ground of misstatement after two years.

45. No policy of life insurance effected before the commencement of this Act shall after the expiry of two years from the date of commencement of this Act and no policy of life insurance effected after the coming into force of this Act shall, after the expiry of two years from the date on which it was effected, be called in question by an insurer on the ground that a statement made in the proposal for insurance or in any report of a medical officer, or referee, or friend of the insured, or in any other document leading to the issue of the policy, was inaccurate or false, unless the insurer shows that such statement [1][was on a material matter or suppressed facts which it was material to disclose and that it was fraudulently made] by the policy-holder and that the policy-holder knew at the time of making it that the statement was false [2][or that it suppressed facts which it was material to disclose:]

[3][Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent the insurer from calling for proof of age at any time if he is entitled to do so, and no policy shall be deemed to be called in question merely because the terms of the policy are adjusted on subsequent proof that the age of the life insured was incorrectly stated in the proposal.]

Application of British Indian law to policies issued in British India.

46. The holder of a policy of insurance issued by an insurer in respect of insurance business transacted in British India after the commencement of this Act shall have the right, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the policy or in any agreement relating thereto, to receive payment in British India of any sum secured thereby and to sue for any relief in respect of the policy in any Court of competent jurisdiction in British India; and if the suit is brought in British India any question of law arising in connection with any such policy shall be determined according to the law in force in British India:

[3-a][Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to a policy of marine insurance].

Payment of money into Court.

47. (1) Where in respect of any policy of life insurance maturing for payment an insurer is of opinion that by reason of conflicting claims to or insufficiency of proof of title to the amount secured thereby or for any other adequate reason it is impossible otherwise for the insurer to obtain a satisfactory discharge for the payment of such amount, [4][the insurer may] before the expiry of nine months from the date of the maturing of the policy [5][or, where the circumstances are such that the insurer cannot be immediately aware of such maturing, from the date on which notice of such maturing is given to the insurer,] apply to pay the amount into the Court within the jurisdiction of which is situated the place at which such amount is payable under the terms of the policy or otherwise.

(2) A receipt granted by the Court for any such payment shall be a satisfactory discharge to the insurer for the payment of such amount.

(3) An application for permission to make a payment into Court under this section shall be made by a petition verified by an affidavit signed by a principal officer of the insurer setting forth the following particulars, namely:—

(a) the name of the insured person and his address;

(b) if the insured person is deceased, the date and place of his death;

(c) the nature of the policy and the amount secured by it;

(d) the name and address of each claimant so far as is known to the insurer with details of every notice of claim received;

(e) the reasons why in the opinion of the insurer a satisfactory discharge cannot be obtained for the payment of the amount; and

(f) the address at which the insurer may be served with notice of any proceeding relating to disposal of the amount paid into Court.

(4) An application under this section shall not be entertained by the Court if the application is made before the expiry of six months [1][from the maturing of the policy by survival, or from the date of receipt of notice by the insurer of the death of the insured, as the case may be].

(5) If it appears to the Court that a satisfactory discharge for the payment of the amount cannot otherwise be obtained by the insurer it shall allow the amount to be paid into Court and shall invest the amount in Government securities pending its disposal.

(6) The insurer shall transmit to the Court every notice of claim received after the making of the application under sub-section (3), and any payment required by the Court as costs of the proceedings or otherwise in connection with the disposal of the amount paid into Court shall as to the costs of the application under sub-section (3) be borne by the insurer and as to any other costs be in the discretion of the Court.

(7) The Court shall cause notice to be given to every ascertained claimant of the fact that the amount has been paid into Court, and shall cause notice at the cost of any claimant applying to withdraw the amount to be given to every other ascertained claimant.

(8) The Court shall decide all questions relating to the disposal of claims to the amount paid into Court.

Directors of insurers being companies.

48. (1) Where the insurer is a company incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, [2][or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby,] and carries on the business of life insurance, not less than one-fourth of the whole number of the directors of the company [3][shall notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Articles of Association of the company be elected in the prescribed manner by the holders of policies of life insurance issued by the company].

[4][(2) Only and all persons holding otherwise than as assignees policies of life insurance issued by the company of such minimum amount and having been in force for such minimum period as may be prescribed shall [5][unless disqualified under sub-section (2-a)] be eligible for election as directors under sub-section (1), and only and all persons holding policies of life insurance issued by the company and having been in force at the time of the election for not less than six months shall be eligible to vote at such elections:

Provided that the assignment of a policy to the person who took out the

[1][(2-A) A person shall be eligible for election as a director under sub-section (1), of any company, if he is a director, officer, employee, or legal or technical adviser of that company, or of any other insurer, or is an insurance agent or employer of insurance agents, and shall cease to be a director under sub-section (1) if after election he acquires, any disqualification specified in this sub-section or no longer holds the qualifications required by sub-section (2):

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall disqualify a person who is an elected director under sub-section (1) and is not otherwise disqualified under this sub-section, from being re-elected:

Provided further that any director holding office at the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1944, shall not become ineligible to remain a director by virtue of this sub-section until the expiry of six months from the commencement of that Act.]

(3) The Central Government may, for such period, or to such extent and subject to such conditions as may be specified by it in this behalf, exempt from the operation of this section—

(a) any Mutual Insurance Company as defined in clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 95, in respect of which the Superintendent of Insurance certifies that in his opinion owing to the conditions governing membership of the company or to the nature of the insurance contracts undertaken by it the application of the provisions of this sub-section to the company is impracticable, or

(b) any company in respect of which the Superintendent of Insurance certifies that in his opinion the company, having taken all reasonable steps to achieve compliance with the provisions of this section, has been unable to obtain the required number of directors with the required qualifications.]

[2][[3][(4)] This section shall not take effect, in respect of any company in existence at the commencement of this Act, until the expiry of one year therefrom, and in respect of any company incorporated after the commencement of this Act, until the expiry of two years from the date of registration to carry on life insurance business.]

Restriction on dividends and bonuses.

[4][49. No insurer, being an insurer specified in sub-clause (a) (ii) or sub-clause (b) of clause (9) of section 2, who carries on the business of life insurance or any other class or sub-class of insurance business to which section 13 applies shall for the purpose of declaring or paying any dividend to share-holders or any bonus to policy-holders or of making any payment in service of any debentures, utilize directly or indirectly any portion of the life insurance fund or of the fund of such other class or sub-class of insurance business, as the case may be, except a surplus shown in the valuation balance-sheet in Form 1 as set forth in the Fourth Schedule submitted to the Superintendent of Insurance as part of the abstract referred to in section 15 as a result of an actuarial valuation of the assets and liabilities of the insurer; nor shall he increase such surplus by contributions out of any reserve fund or otherwise unless such contributions have been brought in as revenue through the revenue account applicable to that class or sub-class of insurance business on or before the date of the valuation aforesaid, except when the reserve fund is made up solely of transfers from similar surpluses disclosed by valuations in respect of which returns have been submitted to the Superintendent of Insurance under section 15 of this Act, to the Central Government under section 11 of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912:

Notice of options available to the assured on the lapsing of a policy.

50. An insurer shall, [1][before the expiry of three months from the date on which the premiums in respect of a policy of life insurance were payable but not paid], give notice to the policy-holder informing him of the options available to him [2][unless these are set forth in the policy.]

Supply of copies of proposals and medical reports.

51. Every insurer shall, on application by a policy-holder and on payment of a fee not exceeding one rupee, supply to the policy-holder certified copies of the questions put to him and his answers thereto contained in his proposal for insurance and in the medical report supplied in connection therewith.

Prohibition of business on dividing principle.

52. [3][(1)] No insurer shall after the commencement of this Act begin, or after three years from that date continue to carry on, any business upon the dividing principle, that is to say, on the principle that the benefit secured by a policy is not fixed but depends either wholly or partly on the results of a distribution of certain sums amongst policies becoming claims within certain time-limits, or on the principle that the premiums payable by a policy-holder depend wholly or partly on the number of policies becoming claims within certain time-limits:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent an insurer from allocating bonuses to holders of policies of life insurance as a result of a periodical actuarial valuation either as reversionary additions to the sums insured or as immediate cash bonuses or otherwise:

Provided further that an insurer who continues to carry on insurance business on the dividing principle after the commencement of this Act shall withhold from distribution a sum of not less than forty per cent. of the premiums received during each year after the commencement of this Act in which such business is continued so as to make up the amount required for investment under section 27.

[4][(2) On the expiry of the period of three years referred to in sub-section (1), or on the insurer's ceasing before such expiry but at any time after the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, to carry on business on the dividing principle, the insurer shall forthwith cause an investigation to be made by an actuary, who shall determine the amount accumulated out of the contributions received from the holders of all policies to which

(3) Where at any time prior to the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, an insurer has ceased to carry on business on the dividing principle, the insurer shall, before the expiration of two months from the commencement of that Act, report to the Superintendent of Insurance the measures taken or proposed by him for the distribution among holders of policies to which the dividing principle applies of the assets due to them; and the Superintendent of Insurance may either sanction such measures or refuse his sanction, and, if he refuses his sanction or if the insurer does not report to him as required by this sub-section, the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply to the insurer forthwith.]

WINDING UP.

Winding up by the Court.

53. (1) The Court may order the winding up in accordance with the Indian Companies Act, 1913, of any insurance company and the provisions of that Act shall, subject to the provisions of this [1][Act] apply accordingly.

(2) In addition to the grounds on which such an order may be based, the Court may order the winding up of an insurance company—

(a) if with the sanction of the Court previously obtained a petition in this behalf is presented by shareholders not less in number than one-tenth of the whole body of shareholders and holding not less than one-tenth of the whole share capital or by not less than fifty policy-holders holding, policies of life insurance that have been in force for not less than three years and are of the total value of not less than fifty thousand rupees; or

(b) if the Superintendent of Insurance, who is hereby authorised to do so applies in this behalf to the Court on any of the following grounds namely:—

(i) that the company has failed to deposit or to keep deposited with the Reserve Bank of India the amount required by section 7 [2][or section 98],

(ii) that the company having failed to comply with any requirement of this Act has continued such failure [3][or having contravened any provision of this Act has continued such contravention] for a period of three months after notice of such failure [3][or contravention] has been conveyed to the company by the Superintendent of Insurance,

(iii) that it appears from the returns furnished under the provisions of this Act or from the results of any investigation made thereunder that the company is insolvent, or

SEC. 53 (1).—Court means principal Court of Original Jurisdiction (i.e.) the District Court. Hence District Court has jurisdiction to hear an application instituted under sec. 53 of the Insurance Act and not any particular Judge of that Court. 1940 A.M.L.J. 86. In a case where an insurance company is insolvent and it appears to the Court that if there is a winding up the policy-holders will get very little, but if the company is allowed to go on with a reduction of contract they will eventually receive the full amount of the reduced values of their policies, the Court should ascertain the wishes of the policy-holders as to whether they will prefer carrying on the company with a reduction of the amounts payable under their policies, or prefer its being wound up. I.L.R. (1944) 1 Cal. 557=1945 Cal. 157.

(iv) that the continuance of the company is prejudicial to the interests of the policy-holders.

Voluntary winding up.

54. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, an insurance company shall not be wound up voluntarily except for the purpose of effecting an amalgamation or a re-construction of the company, on the ground that by reason of its liabilities it cannot continue its business.

Valuation of liabilities.

55. (1) In the winding up of an insurance company or in the insolvency of any other insurer the value of the assets and the liabilities of the insurer shall be ascertained in such manner and upon such basis as the liquidator or receiver in insolvency thinks fit, subject, so far as applicable, to the rule contained in the Sixth Schedule and to any directions which may be given by the Court.

(2) For the purposes of any reduction by the Court of the amount of the contracts of any insurance company the value of the assets and liabilities of the company and all claims in respect of policies issued by it shall be ascertained in such manner and upon such basis as the Court thinks proper having regard to the rule aforesaid.

(3) The rule in the Sixth Schedule shall be of the same force and may be repealed, altered or amended as if it were a rule made in pursuance of section 246 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and rules may be made under that section for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act with respect to the winding up of insurance companies.

Application of surplus assets of life insurance fund in liquidation or insolvency

56. (1) In the winding up of an insurance company and in the insolvency of any other insurer the value of the assets and the liabilities of the insurer in respect of life insurance business shall be ascertained separately from the value of any other assets or any other liabilities of the insurer and no such assets shall be applied to the discharge of any liabilities other than those in respect of life insurance business except in so far as those assets exceed the liabilities in respect of life insurance busienss;

(2) In the winding up of an insurance company carrying on the business of life insurance or in the insolvency of any other insurer carrying on such business where any proportion of the profits of the insurer was before the commencement of the winding up or insolvency allocated to policy-holders, if when the assets and liabilities of the insurer have been ascertained, there is found to be a surplus of assets over liabilities (hereinafter referred to as a prima facie surplus) there shall be added to the liabilities of the insurer in respect of the life insurance business an amount equal to such proportion of the prima facie surplus as is equivalent to such proportion of the profits allocated to shareholders and policy-holders as was allocated to policy-holders during the ten years immediately preceding the commencement of the winding up and the assets of the insurer shall be deemed to exceed his liabilities only in so far as those assets exceed those liabilities after such addition:

Provided that—

(a) if in any case there has been no such allocation or if it appears to the Court that by reason of special circumstances it would be inequitable that the amount to be added to the liabilities of the insurer in respect of the life insurance business should be an amount equal to such proportion as aforesaid, the amount to be so added shall be such amount as the Court may direct; and

(b) for the purpose of the application of this sub-section to any case where before the commencement of the winding up or insolvency a proportion of such profits as aforesaid of a branch only of the life insurance business in question has been allocated to policy-holders the value of the assets and liabilities of the insurer in respect of that branch shall be separately ascertained in like manner as the value of his assets and liabilities in respect of the life insurance business was ascertained, and the surplus so found, if any, of assets over liabilities shall, for the purpose of determining the amount to be added to the liabilities of the insurer in respect of the life insurance business be deemed to be the prima facie surplus.

Winding up of secondary companies.

57. (1) Where the insurance business or any part of the insurance business of an insurance company has been transferred to another insurance company under an arrangement in pursuance of which the first mentioned company (in this section referred to as the secondary company) or the creditors thereof has nor have claims against the company to which such transfer was made (in this section referred to as the principal company) then, if the principal company is being wound up by or under the supervision of the Court, the Court shall (subject as hereinafter mentioned) order the secondary company to be wound up in conjunction with the principal company and may by the same or any subsequent order appoint the same person to be liquidator for the two companies and make provision for such other matters as may seem to the Court necessary with a view to the companies being wound up as if they were one company.

(2) The commencement of the winding up of the principal company shall, save as otherwise ordered by the Court, be the commencement of the winding up of the secondary company.

(3) In adjusting the rights and liabilities of the members of the several companies among themselves the Court shall have regard to the constitution of the companies and to the arrangements entered into between the companies in the same manner as the Court has regard to the rights and liabilities of different classes of contributories in the case of the winding up of a single company or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(4) Where any company alleged to be secondary is not in process of being wound up at the same time as the principal company to which it is alleged to be secondary, the Court shall not direct the secondary company to be wound up, unless, after hearing all objections (if any) that may be urged by or on behalf of the company against its being wound up, the Court is of opinion that the company is secondary to the principal company and that the winding up of the company in conjunction with the principal company is just and equitable.

(5) An application may be made in relation to the winding up of any secondary company in conjunction with the principal company by any creditor of, or person interested in, the principal or secondary company.

(6) Where a company stands in the relation of a principal company to one insurance company and in the relation of a secondary company to some other insurance company or where there are several insurance companies standing in the relation of secondary companies to one principal company, the Court may deal with any number of such companies together or in separate groups as it thinks most expedient upon the principles laid down in this section.

Schemes for partial winding up of insurance companies.

58. (1) If at any time it appears expedient that the affairs of an insurance company in respect of any class of business comprised in the undertaking of the company should be wound up but that any other class of business comprised in the undertaking should continue to be carried on by the company or be transferred to another insurer. a scheme for such purposes may be prepared and submitted for confirmation of the Court in acordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) Any scheme prepared under this section shall provide for the allocation and distribution of the assets and liabilities the company between any classes of business affected (including the allocation of any surplus assets which may arise on the proposed winding up), for any future rights of every class of policy-holders in respect of their policies and for the manner of winding up any of the affairs of the company which are proposed to be wound up and may contain provisions for altering the memorandum of the company with respect to its objects and such further provisions as may be expedient for giving effect to the scheme.

(3) The provisions of this Act relating to the valuation of liabilities of insurers in liquidation and insolvency and to the application of surplus assets of the life insurance fund in liquidation or insolvency shall apply to the winding up of any part of the affairs of a company in accordance with the scheme under this section in like manner as they apply in the winding up of an insurance company, and any scheme under this section may apply with the necessary modifications any of the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, relating to the winding up of companies.

(4) An order of the Court confirming a scheme under this section whereby the memorandum of a company is altered with respect to its object shall as respects the alteration have effect as if it were an order confirmed under section 12 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and the provisions of sections 15 and 16 of that Act shall apply accordingly.

Return of deposits.

59. In the winding up of an insurance company and in the insolvency of any other insurer the liquidator or assignee as the case may be shall apply to the Court for an order for the return of the [1][deposit made by the company or the insurer, as the case may be, under section 7 or section 98] and the Court shall on such application order a return of the deposit subject to such terms and conditions as it shall direct.

Notice of policy values.

60. In the winding up of an insurance company for the purposes of a cash distribution of the assets and in the insolvency of any other insurer the liquidator or assignee as the case may be in the case of all persons appearing by the books of the company or other insurer to be entitled to or interested in the policies granted by the company or other insurer shall ascertain the value of the liability of the company or other insurer to each such person and shall give notice of such value to those persons in such manner as the Court may direct and any person to whom notice is so given shall be bound by the value so ascertained unless he gives notice of his intention to dispute such value in such manner and within such time as may be specified by a rule or order of the Court.

Power of Court to reduce contracts of insurance.

61. (1) Where an insurance company is in liquidation or any other insurer is insolvent the Court may make an order reducing the amount of the insurance contracts of the company or other insurer upon such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks just.

(2) Where a company carrying on the business of life insurance has been proved to be insolvent, the Court may if it thinks fit in place of making a winding up order reduce the amount of the insurance contracts of the company upon such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit.

(3) Application for an order under this section may be made either by the liquidator or by or on behalf of the company or by a policy-holder, or by the Superintendent of Insurance and the Superintendent of Insurance and any person whom the Court thinks likely to be affected shall be entitled to be heard on any such application.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO EXTERNAL COMPANIES.

62. Where, by the law or practice of any country outside India in which an insurer carrying on insurance business in British India is constituted, incorporated or domiciled, insurance companies incorporated in British India are required as a condition of carrying on insurance business in that country to comply with any special requirements whether as to the keeping of deposits of assets in that country or otherwise which is not imposed upon insurers of that country under this Act, the Central Government shall, if satisfied of the existence of such special requirement, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that the same requirement, or requirements as similar thereto as may be, shall be imposed upon insurers of that country as a condition of carrying on the business of insurance in British India.

Particulars to be filed by insurers established outside British India.

63. Every insurer, having his principal place of business or domicile outside British India, who establishes a place of business within British India, or appoints a representative in British India with the object of obtaining insurance business, shall within three months from the establishment of such place of business or the appointment of such [1][representative], file with the Superintendent of Insurance—

(a) a certified copy of the charter, statutes, deed of settlement or memorandum and articles or other instrument constituting or defining the constitution of the insurer, and, if the instrument is not written in the English language, a certified translation thereof,

(b) a list of the directors, if the insurer is a company,

(c) the name and address of some one or more persons resident in British India authorised to accept on behalf of the insurer service of process and any notice required to be served on the insurer, together with a copy of the power of attorney granted to him,

(d) the full address of the principal office of the insurer in British India,

(e) a statement of the classes of insurance business to be carried on by the insurer, and

(f) a statement verified by an affidavit setting forth the special requirements, if any, of the nature specified in section 62 imposed in the country of origin of the insurer on Indian nationals; and, in the event of any alteration being made in the address of the principal office or in the classes of business to be carried on, or in any instrument here referred to, or in the name of any of the persons here referred to, or in the matters specified in clause (f) above, the company shall forthwith furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance particulars of such alteration.

Books to be kept by insurers established outside British India.

64. Every insurer having his principle place of business or domicile outside British India shall keep at his principal office in British India such books of account, registers and documents as will enable the accounts, statements and abstracts which he is required under this Act to furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance in respect of the insurance business transacted by him in India to be compiled and, if necessary, checked by the Superintendent of Insurance.

PART III.

PROVIDENT SOCIETIES.

Definition of "provident society."

[2][65. (1) In this Part "provident society" means, a person who, or a body which, not being an insurer registered for the time being of persons (whether corporate or unincorporate) under Part II of this Act, carries on the business of insuring the payment, on the happening of any of the contingencies mentioned in sub-section (2), of—

(a) an annuity of or equivalent to fifty rupees or less, payable for an uncertain period; or

(b) a gross sum of five hundred rupees or less, whether paid or payable in a lump sum or in two or more instalments over a certain period, exclusively in both cases (a) and (b) of any profit or bonus not being a guaranteed profit or bonus.

Explanation—For the purposes of this sub-section, a period is "certain" if its duration is ascertainable in advance and "uncertain" if its duration is not so ascertainable.

(2) The contingencies referred to in sub-section (1) are the following, namely:—

(a) the birth, marriage or death of any person or the survival by a person of a stated or implied age or contingency;

(b) failure of issue;

(c) the occurrence of a social, religious or other ceremonial occasion;

(d) loss of or retirement from employment;

(e) disablement in consequence of sickness or accident;

(f) the necessity of providing for the education of a dependent;

(g) any other contingency which may be prescribed or which may be authorised by the Provincial Government with the approval of the Central Government.

(3) For the purposes of sub-sections (1) and (2)—

(a) contracts entered into before the commencement of this Act shall not be taken into account;

(b) two or more policies issued to one person shall, for the purposes of determining whether the limits fixed by sub-section (1) have or have not been exceeded, be deemed to be one policy if the contingencies on the happening of which the sums are payable under the policies (whether the contingencies be the same or different) relate to one person only, whether he be the policy-holder or some other person.

(4) Every person or body of persons for the time being registered as a provident society under the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, and every person or body of persons for the time being registered as a provident society under this Act shall be deemed to be a provident society for all the purposes of this Act.

(5) If any question arises whether any person or body of person is or is not a provident society within the meaning of this section, the Superintendent of Insurance shall decide the question and his decision shall be final.]

Restrictions on provident societies.

[1][66. No provident society shall undertake any form of insurance not falling within the limits fixed by sub-section (1) of section 65, nor shall any provident society be eligible to be registered under section 3.]

Name.

67. No provident society established after the commencement of this Act shall adopt as its name, and no provident society established before the commencement of this Act shall continue after the expiry of six months from the commencement thereof to use as its name, any combination of words which fails to include the word "provident" or which includes the word "life".

Insurable interest.

68. No provident society shall receive any premium or contribution for insuring money to be paid to any person other than the person paying such premium or contribution or the wife, husband, child, grand-child, parent, brother or sister, nephew or niece of such a person.

Dividing business.

69. (1) No provident society shall carry on any business upon the dividing principle, that is to say, on the principle that the benefit secured by a policy is not fixed but depends either wholly or partly on [1][the results of a distribution of certain sums amongst policies becoming claims within certain time-limits, or on the principle that the premiums payable by a policy-holder depend wholly or partly on the number of policies becoming claims within certain time-limits.]

(2) The Superintendent of Insurance shall, as soon as possible, take steps to have any provident society which carries on business on the dividing principle wound up:

Provided that, where any such provident society in existence at the commencement of this Act applies within three months of such commencement to the Superintendent of Insurance for permission to continue carrying on its business with a view meanwhile to reorganise its business in accordance with the provisions of this Act, the Superintendent of Insurance may at his discretion, with due regard to the past history of the society, permit the society to continue business for a period not exceeding two years from the date of receipt of such permission, so however that no new business on the dividing principle is undertaken by the society.

[2][(3) Where after the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, a provident society is to be wound up in pursuance of this section, or where, whether before or after the commencement of that Act, a provident society ceases to carry on business on the dividing principle, the provisions of sub-section (2) and sub-section (3) of section 52 shall, so far as may be, apply in like manner as they apply to an insurer ceasing to carry on business on the dividing principle.]

Registration

70. (1) No provident society except a provident society registered under the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, shall receive any premium or contribution until it has obtained from the Superintendent of Insurance a certificate of registration.

(2) Every application for registration shall be accompanied by—

(a) a certified copy of the rules of the society, and when the society is a company incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, [3][or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby,] a certified copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association or where the society is not such a company a certified copy of the deed of constitution of the society;

(b) the names and addresses of the proprietors or directors, and the managers of the society [4][the full address of the registered office of the society, the full address of the principal office of the society in British India, the name of the manager at such office, and the name and address of some one or more persons resident in British India authorised to accept any notice required to be served on the society];

(c) a certificate from the Reserve Bank of India that the initial deposit referred to in section 73 has been made; [5][* *];

(d) a declaration verified by an affidavit that the minimum working capital required by section 72, is available; [6][and

(3) The Superintendent of Insurance may refuse to issue a certificate of registration until he is satisfied that the rules of the society comply with the provisions of this Act and that the minimum working capital required by section 72 is available, but if he is so satisfied he shall register the society and its rules.

(4) The Superintendent of Insurance may, after giving previous notice in writing in such manner as he thinks fit specifying the grounds for the proposed cancellation, and allowing the society concerned an opportunity of being heard, apply to the Court and obtain sanction for cancellation of the registration made under this section or made under the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912,—

(a) if he is satisfied as the result of an inquiry made under section 87—

(i) that the society is insolvent or is likely to become so, or

(ii) that the business of the society is conducted fraudulently or not in accordance wih the rules thereof, or that it is in the interests of the policy-holders that the society should cease to carry on business,

(b) if the initial deposit or any of the further deposits required by section 73 has not been made; or

(c) if the society, having failed to comply with any requirement [1][or having contravened any provision] of this Act, has continued such failure [1][or contravention], for a period of one month after notice of such failure [1][or contravention] has been conveyed to the society by the Superintendent of Insurance:

Provided that the Superintendent of Insurance may, if he thinks fit, instead of applying for cancellation of the registration under sub-clause (i) of clause (a) of this sub-section make a recommendation to the Court that the contracts of the society should be reduced in such manner and subject to such conditions as he may indicate.

[2][Provided further that the Superintendent of Insurance may, without previous notice and without application to the Court for sanction,—

(a) cancel the registration of a provident society, which has failed to have its registration renewed; or

(b) cancel. on such terms and conditions as he thinks fit, the registration of any provident society which applies to him for such cancellation if he is satisfied that the society has ceased to carry on insurance business and that all its liabilities in respect of insurance policies are either satisfied or otherwise provided for.]

[3][(5) When a registration is cancelled the provident society shall not, after the cancellation has taken effect enter into any new contracts of insurance, but all rights and liabilities in respect of contracts of insurance entered into by it before such cancellation takes effect shall, subject to the provisions of section 88, continue as if the cancellation had not taken place.

(6) Where a registration is cancelled under clause (b) of sub-section (4), or because the society has failed to have its registration renewed, the Superintendent of Insurance may at his discretion revive the registration if the provident society, within six months from the date on which the cancellation took effect makes the deposits required by section 73 or has had an application under sub-section (3) of section 70-A accepted, as the case may be, and complies with any directions which may be given to it by the Superintendent of Insurance.]

the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, shall have its registration renewed annually for each period of twelve months after that ending on the 30th day of June, 1942.

(2) An application for the renewal of a registration shall be made by the society to the Superintendent of Insurance before the 30th day of June preceding the period for which renewal is sought, and shall be accompanied as provided in sub-section (3) by evidence of payment of the prescribed fee which shall not exceed two hundred rupees but may vary according to the volume of insurance business done by the society.

(3) The prescribed fee for the renewal of a registration for any year shall be paid into the Reserve Bank of India, or, where there is no office of that Bank, into the Imperial Bank of India acting as the agent of that Bank, or into any Government treasury, and the receipt shall be sent along with the application for renewal of the registration.

(4) If a provident society fails to apply for renewal of registration before the date specified in sub-section (2) the Superintendent of Insurance may, so long as he has taken no action under section 88 to have the society wound up, accept an application for renewal of registration on receipt from the society of the fee payable with the application and such penalty, not exceeding the prescribed fee payable by the society, as he may require.

(5) The Superintendent of Insurance shall, on being satisfied that the society has fulfilled the requirements of this section, renew the registration and grant it a certificate of renewal of registration.

70-B. (1) Every provident society registered under section 70 before the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, shall, before the expiration of three months from the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance such particulars in addition to those already supplied for the purpose of obtaining registration as are required by sub-section (2) of section 70 of this Act as amended by the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941.

Supplementary information and reports of alterations in particulars furnished with application for registration.

(2) Every provident society registered under the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, shall, before the expiration of three months from the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, furnish to the Superintendent of Insurance so far as it has not already done so the documents and information required by clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (2) of section 70 to accompany an application by a provident society for registration under that section.

(3) When any alteration occurs or is made which affects any of the matters which are required under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 70 to accompany an application by a provident society for registration under that section, the provident society shall furnish forthwith to the Superintendent of Insurance full particulars duly authenticated of such alteration.]

Prohibition of managing agents.

71. The provisions of section 32 shall apply to provident societies as they apply to insurers.

72. No provident society [1]* * * * * * * * * shall be registered unless it has a paid up capital sufficient to provide as working capital a net sum of not less than five thousand rupees exclusive of deposits made under this Act and exclusive in the case of a company of any expenses incurred in connection with the formation of the company.

(ii) the manner of raising additional capital, and

(iii) the provisions for the holding of general meetings of the members and policy-holders and for the powers to be exercised and the procedure to be followed thereat; and

(p) such other matters as may be prescribed.

(2) Where the rules of any provident society registered under the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, fail to comply with the provisions of this section the society shall, before the expiry of twelve months from the commencement of this Act, amend the rules so as to comply with these provisions.

Amendment of rules.

75. (1) No amendment of any rule of a provident society shall be valid until it has been sent to the Superintendent of Insurance and has been registered by him.

(2) The Superintendent of Insurance on being satisfied that the proposed amendment is not contrary to the provisions of this Act shall, unless he is of opinion that the amendment unfairly affects the rights of existing members or policy-holders of the society, issue to the society an acknowledgment of the registration of the amended rule.

Supply of copy of rules

76. Every provident society shall on demand deliver free of cost to any member of the society a copy of the rules of the society and to any person other than a member a copy of such rules on the payment of a sum not exceeding one rupee.

Registered office.

77. Every provident society [1][shall have in British India a principal office] (on the outside of which it shall keep displayed its name in a conspicuous position in legible characters) to which all communications and notices may be addressed, and shall give notice to the Superintendent of Insurance of any change in the location thereof within twenty-eight days of its occurrence.

charge the duties and be subject to the liabilities imposed on, an auditor of companies by section 145 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(2) Every provident society shall at the expiry of the calendar year prepare with respect to that year—

(a) a statement showing separately for each class of contingency separately specified in section 65—

(i) the number of new polices effected, the total amount insured thereby and the total premium income received in respect thereof and the number of existing policies discontinued during the year with the total amount insured thereby, and

(ii) the total amount of claims made and the total amount paid in satisfaction thereof;

(b) a statement showing details of every insurance effected on a life other than the life of the person insuring; and

(c) a statement showing the total amount paid as allowances to agents and canvassers.

(3) Until the expiry of two years from the commencement of this Act this section [1][and section 73] shall apply to provident societies registered before the commencement of this Act under the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, as if the reference to the calendar year were a reference to either the financial year or the calendar year.

Actuarial report and abstract.

81. (1) Every provident society shall once in every five years or at such shorter intervals as may be laid down by the rules of the society cause an investigation to be made into its financial condition including the valuation of its liability and assets by an actuary.

(2) The report of the actuary shall contain an abstract in which shall be stated—

(a) the general principles adopted in the valuation, including the method by which the valuation age of lives was ascertained,

(b) the rate at each age of the mortality and any other factor assumed and the annuity values used in valuation,

(c) the reserve values held against policies effected,

(d) the rate of interest assumed, and

(e) the provision made for expenses, and shall have appended to it a certificate signed by a principal officer of the society that all material necessary for proper valuation has been placed at the disposal of the actuary and that full and accurate particulars of every policy under which there is a liability either actual or contingent have been furnished to the actuary for the purpose of the investigation.

(3) If the actuary finds that the financial condition of the society is such that no surplus exists for distribution as bonus to the policy-holders or as dividend to the share-holders, he shall state in his report whether in his opinion the society is insolvent and, if so, whether it should be wound up or not, and the extent to which in his opinion existing contracts should be modified or existing rates of premium should be adjusted to make good the deficiency in the assets.

Submission of returns to Superintendent of Insurance.

82. (1) The revenue account and balance-sheet with the auditor's report thereon and the report on the general state of the society's affairs referred to in sub-section (1) of section 80, [2][shall be printed and four copies of these and of the statements referred to], in sub-section (2) of section 80, shall be

(2) All the material necessary for the proper valuation of the liabilities of the society under the provisions of section 81 shall be placed at the disposal of the actuary within three months from the end of the period to which such material relates, and the report and abstract referred to in section 81 shall be furnished as a return to the Superintendent of Insurance within a further period of three months.

(3) [2][The provisions of sub-section (2) of section 15 relating to the copies therein referred to shall apply to the returns referred to in sub-section (1) of this sub-section, and] the provisions of section 17 shall apply to the accounts and balance-sheet of a provident society being a company incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, [3][or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby,] as they apply to the accounts and balance-sheet of an insurer, [2][and the Superintendent of Insurance may exercise, in respect of returns made by a provident society and in respect of an investigation or valuation to which section 81 refers, the same powers as are exercisable by him under section 21 and section 22, respectively, in the case of an insurer].

Actuarial examination of schemes.

83. (1) Every provident society, [4][registered] after the commencement of this Act, shall cause every scheme of insurance which it proposes to put into operation, and every provident society registered before the commencement of this Act under the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912 [5][shall cause any scheme which it proposes to put into operation for the first time], after such commencement to be examined by an actuary, and shall not receive any premium or contribution in connection with the scheme until the actuary has certified [6][that the rates, advantages, terms and conditions of the scheme are workable and sound], and such certificate has been forwarded to the Superintendent of Insurance.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to any alteration of a scheme already in operation but the Superintendent of Insurance may, if he is of opinion that the alteration unfairly affects the interests of existing policy-holders, prohibit the alteration, and, if he does so, the society shall not put the altered scheme into operation, unless it first discharges to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Insurance all its liabilities to those of the existing policy-holders who dissent from the alteration.

(3) Every provident society registered before the commencement of this Act under the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, shall, as soon as may be and in any event before the expiry of six months from the commencement of this Act, submit all schemes of insurance which the society has in operation at the commencement of this Act to examination by an actuary [7][and shall, before the expiration of six months from the commencement of the Insurance (Amendment) Act, 1941, send the report of the actuary], thereon to the Superintendent of Insurance.

[2][(5) If the rates, advantages, terms and conditions of any scheme are not reported by the actuary to be workable and sound, the Superintendent of Insurance shall give notice to the society prohibiting the scheme, and the society shall not after its receipt of such notice enter into any new contract of insurance under the scheme, but all rights and liabilities in respect of contracts of insurance entered into by the society before receipt of the notice shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (6), continue as if the notice had not been given.]

(6) Where a scheme is [3][prohibited] under the provisions of sub-section (5) the society shall, where its assets are sufficient to meet all existing liabilities, set apart out of its assets the sum sufficient in the opinion of the actuary to meet the liabilities incurred under the scheme so [3][prohibited], and, where its assets are not so sufficient, within three months from the date of the [4][prohibition], apply to the Court for a modification of its existing contracts or failing such modification for the winding up of the society.

Separation of accounts and funds.

84. Where a provident society effects policies of insurance in connection with more than one of the classes of contingency separately specified in [5][sub-section (2) of] section 65, the receipts and payments in respect of each such class shall be recorded in a separate account in the cash book kept in accordance with section 79.

Investment of funds.

85. (1) Every provident society shall, unless it already holds invested in Government securities or securities mentioned or referred to in clauses (c) and (d) of section 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, not less than fifty per cent. of the total assets of the society, [6][invest in such securities every increase that takes place in those assets and in that part of those assets which is held in cash as soon as practicable after the increase takes place and in any case within six months of its taking place], until the total amount so invested amounts to not less than fifty per cent. of the total assets of the society, and shall thereafter keep invested in such securities not less than fifty per cent. of the total assets of the society:

[7][Provided that for the purpose of determining the amount to be invested under this sub-section, any deposit made in cash under section 73 shall be taken into account as if such cash were Government securities amounting at the market value of the securities on the date the deposit was made to the total deposited in cash].

(2) No funds or investments of a provident society except a deposit made under section 73 shall be kept otherwise than in the name of the society [8][or in the name of a public officer approved by the Central Government].

(3) No loan shall be made out of the assets of a provident society to [9][any director, manager, managing agent, auditor, actuary, officer or partner of Appointment of liquidator.

90. (1) Where a provident society is to be wound up whether under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or under this Act, the society shall, within seven days from the date of the order of the Court ordering the winding up or the passing of the resolution authorising the winding up, as the case may be, give notice thereof to the Superintendent of Insurance, and except where the winding up is done by an order of the Court, the Superintendent of Insurance shall appoint the liquidator and shall determine the remuneration to be paid to him.

[1][Provided that if the Superintendent of Insurance is not satisfied that the assets of the society are sufficient to meet the costs of liquidation including the remuneration of the liquidator, he may decline to make such appointment, and in such a case the society shall itself appoint a liquidator who shall carry out the liquidation as if the winding up was being done by an order of the Court.]

(2) Any liquidator [2][appointed by the Superintendent of Insurance under sub-section (1)] may be removed by the Superintendent of Insurance if satisfied that the duties entrusted to him are not being properly discharged.

Powers of liquidator.

91. (1) A liquidator appointed to wind up a society shall have power—

(a) to institute or defend any legal proceedings on behalf of the society by his name of office;

(b) to determine the contribution to be made by members of the society respectively to the assets of the society;

(c) to investigate all claims against the society and to decide questions of priority arising between claimants;

(d) to determine by what persons and in what proportion the costs of the liquidation [3][including the remuneration of the liquidator and any expenses incurred under clause (g) of this sub-section] are to be borne;

(e) to give such directions in regard to the collection and distribution of the assets of the society as may appear to him to be necessary for winding up the affairs of the society;

(f) to summon, and enforce the attendance of, witnesses and to compel the production of documents by the same means and as far as may be in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908; and

(g) with the sanction of the Superintendent of Insurance, to employ such establishment and to obtain such assistance from an actuary or an auditor as may be necessary for the discharge of his duties.

(2) The liquidator shall, for settling the list of contributories and realising the amount of contributions, have the same powers as an official liquidator appointed by the Court for the winding up of a company under the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

Procedure at liquidation

92. (1) As soon as a liquidator is appointed to wind up a society he shall take charge of all property movable or immovable of the society and of all its books and documents.

(2) If any proprietor or officer of the society or any other person retains any portion of the assets of the society or fails to deliver to the liquidator any

SECS. 90-91.—When a liquidator is appointed in respect of a provident fund by the Superintendent of Insurance under sec. 90 (1) of the Act, he has no powers under sec. 91 (2) of the Act of 'realising the amount of contribution' except such powers as an official liquidator has in a winding up order of the Court. He cannot by himself make a call. The making of a call cannot be said to be merely the determination of the contribution to be made by the members within the meaning of sec. 91 (1) (b) of the Act. 1942 A. 136=1942 A.L.J. 47=199 I.C. 663=I.L.R. (1942) All. 26.

book or document when so required by the liquidator, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both, and the Court may order the delivery of the assets or book or document to the liquidator.

(3) The liquidator shall within fifteen days of his appointment send notice by post to all persons who appear to him to be creditors of the society that a meeting of the creditors of the society will be held on a date not being less than twenty-one nor more than twenty-eight days after his appointment, and at a place and hour to be specified in the notice, and shall also advertise notice of the meeting once in the local official Gazette and once at least in two newspapers circulating in the province in which the society is situated.

(4) At the meeting so held the creditors shall determine whether an application shall be made for the appointment of any person as liquidator in the place of or jointly with the liquidator already appointed, or for the appointment of a committee of inspection, and, if they so resolve and an application accordingly is made at any time not later than fourteen days after the date of the meeting by any creditor appointed for the purpose at the meeting, the Superintendent of Insurance shall appoint a suitable person in place of or jointly with the liquidator already appointed, and if so desired a committee of inspection.

(5) The committee of inspection shall, subject to any prescribed conditions have a general power of supervision over the acts of the liquidator and shall have the right to inspect his accounts at all reasonable times.

(6) The liquidator shall, with such assistance from an actuary as may be required, ascertain as soon as practicable the amount of the society's liability to every person appearing by the society's books to be entitled to or interested in any policy issued by the society, and shall give notice of the amount so found to each such person in the prescribed manner and each such person on receiving such notice shall be bound by the value so ascertained.

(7) The liquidator shall make a valuation of the assets of the society and an estimate of the costs of the winding up, and shall on the basis of these, settle the list of contributories.

(8) The liquidator shall apply to the Superintendent of Insurance for an order for the return of the deposit made by the society under section 73 and the Superintendent of Insurance shall on such application order the return of the deposit subject to such terms and conditions as he may think fit.

(9) In administering and distributing the assets of the society the liquidator shall have regard to any directions that may be given by the creditors or contributories at a general meeting or by the Superintendent of Insurance.

(10) The liquidator shall keep books of account in which he shall record the proceedings at all meetings attended by him, all amounts received or expended by him and any other matter that may be prescribed, and these books may, with the sanction of the Superintendent of Insurance, be inspected by any creditor or contributory.

(11) If the winding up continues for more than a year, the liquidator shall summon a meeting of the creditors and contributories at the end of the first year and of each succeeding year, and shall lay before them an account of his acts and dealings and of the conduct of the winding up, and that account together with any views expressed thereon by the meeting shall be forwarded by the liquidator to the Superintendent of Insurance.

(12) So far as is not otherwise provided herein or is not otherwise prescribed under this Act, the liquidator shall so far as practicable follow the procedure to be followed by an official liquidator appointed by the Court for the winding up of a company under the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

[1][(13) The costs of the liquidation including the remuneration of the liquidator and any expenses incurred under clause (g) of sub-section (2) of section 91 shall, if the liquidator decides that they shall be payable out of the assets of the society, be payable in priority to all other claims.]

Dissolution of provident society.

93. (1) As soon as the affairs of a provident society are fully wound up, the liquidator shall prepare an account of the winding up showing how the winding up has been conducted and the property of the society has been disposed of and shall call a meeting of the members, creditors and contributories for the purpose of laying before it the account and giving any explanation thereof.

(2) Notice of the meeting shall be sent to each person individually and shall be advertised in the local official Gazette and in at least two newspapers circulating in the province in which the society is situated.

(3) Within one week after the meeting the liquidator shall send to the Superintendent of Insurance a copy of the account and shall report to him the holding of the meeting and its date and shall forward to him a copy of the proceedings of the meeting.

(4) The Superintendent of Insurance may return the account to the liquidator if it is incomplete or unsatisfactory and may require the liquidator to carry out any further steps necessary to complete the winding up and the liquidator shall comply with such requirement and shall submit a further report to the Superintendent of Insurance within six months.

(5) If the Superintendent of Insurance is satisfied that the affairs of the society have been fully wound up he shall register the account of the liquidator who shall forthwith make over to the Superintendent of Insurance sums, if any, remaining undisposed of, and on the expiry of three months from the registering of the account the Superintendent of Insurance shall declare the society dissolved and cause the dissolution of the society to be notified in the local official Gazette, and the liquidator shall thereupon be discharged from further responsibility.

(6) If within a period of five years from the date on which any sums have been made over to the Superintendent of Insurance under sub-section (5) an order of a Court of competent jurisdiction has not been obtained at the instance of any claimant to such sums for their disposal the said sums shall become the property of Government.

Nominations and assignments.

94. (1) The provisions of section 38 and section 39 relating to assignment, transfer and nomination in the case of life insurance policies shall, subject to the provisions of this section, apply to policies of insurance issued by any provident society covering any of the contingencies specified in clause (a) of section 65.

(2) No nomination shall be valid if the person nominated is not the husband, wife, father, mother, child, grand-child, brother, sister, nephew or niece of the holder of the policy.

PART IV.

MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES AND CO-OPERATIVE LIFE INSURANCE SOCIETIES.

Definitions.

95. (1) In this Part—

(a) "Mutual Insurance Company" means an insurer, being a company [2][incorporated under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby,] which has no share capital and of which by its constitution only and all policy-holders are members; and

(b) "Co-operative Life Insurance Society" means an insurer being a society registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, or under an Act

1 Added by sec. 52 of Act XIII of 1941.

2 Substituted for the words and figures "incorporated under the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913", by sec. 29, Act XI of 1939.

of a Provincial Legislature governing the registration of co-operative societies which carries on the business of life insurance and which has no share capital on which dividend or bonus is payable and of which by its constitution only original members on whose application the society is registered and all policy-holders are members:

Provided that any Co-operative Life Insurance Society in existence at the commencement of this Act shall be allowed a period of one year to comply with the provisions of this Act.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), other co-operative societies may be admitted as members of a Co-operative Life Insurance Society without being eligible to any dividend, profit or bonus.

(3) A Provincial Government may, subject to any rules made by the Central Government, empower the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the province to register co-opeartive societies for the insurance of cattle or crops or both under the provisions of the Co-operative Societies Act in force in the province.

(4) A Provincial Government may make rules not inconsistent with any rules made by the Central Government to govern such societies, and the provisions of this Act, in so far as they are inconsistent with those rules, shall not apply to such societies.

Application of Act to Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies.

96. The provisions of sections 6 and 7 and of sub-section (2) of section 20, so far as those provisions are inconsistent with the provisions of this Part shall not apply, and the provisions of this Part shall apply, to Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies.

Working capital of Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies.

97. No Mutual Insurance Company incorporated after the 26th day of January, 1937, and no Co-operative Life Insurance Society registered after that date under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, or under an Act of a Provincial Legislature governing the registration of co-operative societies shall be registered under this Act, unless it has as working capital a sum of fifteen thousand rupees, exclusive of the deposit to be made before or at the time of application for registration in accordance with sub-section (2) of section 98 of this Act and of the preliminary expenses, if any, incurred in the formation of the company or society.

Deposits to be made by Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies.

98. (1) Every Mutual Insurance Company and every Co-operative Life Insurance Society shall, in respect of the life insurance business carried on by it in British India, deposit and keep deposited with one of the offices in India of the Reserve Bank of India, for and on behalf of the Central Government, a sum of two hundred thousand rupees in cash or in approved securities estimated at the market value of the securities on the day of deposit.

(2) The deposit referred to in sub-section (1) may be made in instalments, of which the first shall be a payment made before or at the time the application for registration under this Act is made [1][of not less than twenty-five thousand rupees] or such sum as with any deposit previously made by the insurer under the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, brings the amount deposited up [2][to not less than twenty-five thousand rupees] and the subsequent instalments shall be annual instalments made before the expiry of each subsequent [1][calendar year] of an amount in cash or in approved securities estimated at the market value of the securities on the day of payment of the instalment, [2][equal to not less than one-third of the gross premium] income received in the previous [1][calendar year].

[3][(3) The provisions of sub-section (7) of section 7 shall apply in respect of a Mutual Insurance Company and a Co-operative Life Insurance Society as if for the words 'under the foregoing provisions of this section' the words and figures 'under the provisions of section 98' were substituted.]

Transferees and assignees of policies not to become members.

99. No transferee or assignee of a policy issued by an insurer to whom this Part applies shall become a member of a Mutual Insurance Company of a Co-operative Life Insurance Society merely by reason of any such transfer or assignment.

Publication of notices and documents of Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies.

100. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 79 and section 131 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, a Mutual Insurance Company or a Co-operative Life Insurance Society may, instead of sending the notices and the copies of the balance-sheet, revenue account and other documents which they are required to send to the members under those sections, publish such notices or documents once in a newspaper published in the English language and in a newspaper published in an Indian language circulating in the place where the principal office of the company is situated:

Provided that, where any members of the company are domiciled in a province other than that in which the principal office of the company is situated, publication of the [4][* * * *] notice of the meetings shall be made in a newspaper or newspapers published in the principal languages of that province and circulating therein [5][and any member of the company domiciled in that province shall be entitled on application to the company to receive from it a copy of the balance-sheet and revenue account]:

Supply of documents to members.

101. Every mutual Insurance Company and every Co-operative Life Insurance Society shall, on the application of any member made within two years from the date on which any such document is furnished to the Registrar of Companies under the provisions of section 134 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or to the Registrar of Co-operative Socieites of the province in which the Co-operative Life Insurance Society is registered, furnish a copy of the document free of cost to the member within fourteen days of the application.

(2) of sec. 41" in the section qualify the words "any person", otherwise, the words "no proceedings under this Act" would have no real meaning. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 575=44 C.W.N. 454=1940 Cal. 232. Before sanction is given by the Advocate-General, he must have proposals before him for the initiation by some person of particular proceedings of a defined nature under the Act against one or more of specified persons and he must sanction the initiation of those proceedings by that person. If proceedings are initiated by some one other than the person to whom the sanction has been given, or if proceedings substantially different from those sanctioned are in fact initiated the provisions of the section are not complied with and there will be no jurisdiction for a Court to entertain the proceedings. It cannot be held that the section requires any particular form of sanction or even that it should be always in writing. What is necessary is that if challenged by a defendant or accused person, the plaintiff or the prosecutor should be able to establish to the satisfaction of the Court that the requisites of the section have been complied with in respect of the sanction on which he relies, so that the Court can be satisfied that it has jurisdiction to entertain the particular proceedings before it. 48 C.W.N. SEC. 110: APPEALS UNDER—PROCEDURE. —Appeals under sec. 110 of the Act may be made by petitions setting out the objections seriatim in a manner analogous to grounds of appeal. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 127=1940 Cal. 529.

(e) an order under section 87 directing an inquiry by an auditor or actuary; or

(f) an order made in the course of the winding up or insolvency of an insurer or a provident society.

(2) The Court having jurisdiction for the purposes of sub-section (1) shall be the principal Court of civil jurisdiction within whose local limits the principal place of business of the insurer concerned is situate.

(3) An appeal shall lie from any order made under sub-section (1) to the authority authorised to hear appeals from the decisions of the Court making the same and the decision on such appeal shall be final.

[1][(4) No appeal under this section shall be entertained unless it is made before the expiration of four months from the date on which the order appealed against was communicated to the appellant.]

[2][110-A. The Superintendent of Insurance may by general or special order delegate any of his powers or duties under this Act to any person subordinate to him. Regulations and Forms for the preparation of Balance-Sheet.

PART I.

Regulations.

1. The balance-sheet required to be prepared in respect of every class of business carried on by an insurer is, in the form in which it is set out in Part II of this Schedule (Form A), appropriate to a case where the insurer maintains a separate fund in respect of life insurance business.

2. The balance-sheet of life insurance business shall be prepared as a separate document. The balance-sheet of any class of business may be prepared as a separate document instead of being inorporated by the addition of columns and headings in the general balance-sheet, but the totals of each such separate balance-sheet (showing the total assets of the class of business, the balance at the credit of the life insurance fund or other separate fund or account, the amount of shareholders' undivided prots, and outstanding liabilities) must in any case be incorporated in the general balance-sheet.

3. If any combined balance-sheet is for any purpose issued by an insurer, it shall be in accordance with the Form set out in this Schedule, and there shall not be included among the assets shown in any such combined balance-sheet any amount in respect of any holding in or advance to any insurer whose assets and liabilities have been incorporated therein. Every combined balance-sheet must show clearly on the face thereof that it is a combined balance-sheet and must set out fully the name of every insurer whose assets and liabilities have been incorporated therein; if the assets and liabilities of any person not being an insurer are included in a combined balance-sheet the fact must be stated thereon.

4. Where any guarantee has been given by an insurer (otherwise than in the ordinary course of re-insurance business) in respect of the policies of any other insurer, the balance-sheet of the insurer by whom the guarantee was given must show clearly the name of every insurer whose policies have been so guaranteed and the extent of the guarantee:

Provided that this regulation shall not apply where a combined balance-sheet is issued incorporating the assets and liabilities of the insurer whose policies are guaranteed.

5. Where any part of the assets of an insurer is deposited in any place outside British India as security for the owners of policies issued in that place, the balance-sheet shall state that part of the assets has been so deposited, and, if any such part forms part of the life insurance fund, shall show the amount thereof and the place where it is deposited. Where any combined balance-sheet is issued by an insurer for any purpose, the information required by this regulation shall be shown in the aggregate in respect of all the insurers whose assets and liabilities have been incorporated in the balance-sheet.

6. There shall be appended to the balance-sheet a statement in Form AA as set out in Part II of this Schedule showing the market value and the book value of the assets in India.

7. Every balance-sheet shall contain the following certificates, namely:—

(a) a certificate signed by the same persons as are required by this Act to sign the balance-sheet explaining how the values as shown in the balance-sheet of the Investments in Stocks and Shares have been arrived at and how the market value thereof has been ascertained for the purpose of comparison with the values so shown;

(b) a certificate signed by the same persons as are required by this Act to sign the balance-sheet and signed also, so far as respects the value of any items, shown in the balance-sheet under the heading of "Reversions and Life Interests", by an actuary, certifying that the values of all the assets have been reviewed as at the date of the balance-sheet, and that in their belief the assess set forth in the balance-sheet are shown in the aggregate at amounts not exceeding their realisable or market value under the several headings—"Loans", "Reversions and Life Interests", "Investments", "Agents' Balances", "Outstanding Premiums", "Interest Dividends and Rents outstanding", "Interest, Dividends and Rents accruing but not due", "Amouts due from other Persons or Bodies carrying on Insurance Business", "Sundry Debtors", "Bills Receivable", "Cash' and the several items specified under "Other Accounts".

Provided that if the persons signing the certificate are unable to certify that the assets set forth in the balance-sheet are so shown as aforesaid, a full explanation of the bases upon which the values shown in the balance-sheet have been assessed shall be given in the certificate;

(c) a certificate signed by the same persons as are required by this Act to sign the balance-sheet and by the auditor certifying that no parts of the assets of the life insurance fund has been directly or indirectly applied in contravention of the provisions of this Act relating to the application and investment of life insurance funds; and

(d) certiificates signed by the auditor (which shall be in addition to any other certificate or report which he is required by law to give with respect to the balance-sheet) certifying—

(i) that he has verified the cash balances and the securities relating to the insurer's loans, reversions and life interests, and investments;

(ii) to what extent, if any, he has verified the investments and transactions relating to any trusts undertaken by the insurer as trustee; and

(iii) in the case of a combined balance-sheet, that he has audited the balance-sheet and accounts of every insurer whose assets and liabilities are incorporated therein, or that any such balance-sheet and accounts which have not been audited by him have been certified by independent auditors. The said certificate shall contain a reference to such reservations, if any, as may have been made by any auditor upon any report or certificate given by him with respect to the balance-sheet and accounts of any insurer whose assets and liabilities are incorporated in the combined balance-sheet.

8. If the values shown in the balance-sheet in respect of "Holdings in Subsidiary Companies" or "House property (i) in India (ii) out of India" have been increased since the last previous balance-sheet, the certificate required by paragraph (b) of the last foregoing regulation shall state the amount of every increase not solely due to the cost of subsequent additions or, as respects holdings in controlled companies, to increased profits, and shall contain an explanation of the reason therefor.

9. For the purposes of this Schedule the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, namely:—

(a) "combined balance-sheet" includes any combined statement made by an insurer of assets and liabilities in the form of a balance-sheet which includes the assets and liabilities of any other insurer; and

(b) "market value" means as respects any assets the market value thereof as ascertained from published market quotations, or, if there be no such value, its fair value as between a willing buyer and a willing seller.

THE THIRD SCHEDULE.

(See Section 111.)

Regulations and Forms for the preparation of Revenue Accounts.

Regulations.

1. Form D is, as set out in Part II of this Schedule, appropriate for life insurance business, but a separate revenue account must be prepared for every class [1][or sub-class] of business in respect of which the insurer is required to maintain a separate account.

2. Form F is, as set out in Part II of this Schedule, appropriate for fire insurance [2][and for marine insurance] business. A separate revenue account in the same form must be prepared for [3][* * ] miscellaneous insurance [1][exclusive of any sub-class of such business in respect of which the insurer is required to maintain a separate account] [4][ * * * *].

[6][For a sub-class of miscellaneous insurance in respect of which the insurer is required to maintain a separate account, Form D or Form F as set out in Part II of this Schedule may be used with such modifications as the Superintendent of Insurance may authorise.]

3. If any combined revenue account is for any purpose issued by an insurer it must be in accordance with the forms specified in this Schedule and must clearly show on the face thereof that it is a combined revenue account, and must set out fully the name of every insurer required to make separate returns under this Act whose revenue and expenditure have been included therein; if the revenue and expenditure of any person not being an insurer are included in a combined revenue account, the fact must be stated thereon.

4. The items on the income side of the revenue account must relate to income whether actually received or not, and the items on the expenditure side must relate to expenditure whether actually paid or not.

5. Re-insurance premiums, whether on business ceded or accepted, are to be brought into account gross (i.e., before deducting commissions) under the head of premiums.

6. As respects life insurance business the following statements shall be furnished to the Superintendent of Insurance every year showing details provided for in a Form pertaining thereto:—

(A) A statement in form DD as set forth in Part II of this Schedule.

(B) A statement in form DDD as set forth in Part II of this Schedule.

(C) A statement in form DDDD as set forth in Part II of this Schedule.

7. The following information shall be supplied in addition to the revenue account, namely, the gross premium written in India for life, fire, marine and accident and miscellaneous insurance business.

8. Any office premises which form part of the assets of a life insurance fund must be treated as an interest earning investment, and accordingly, in the revenue account for life insurance business a fair rent for the premises must be included under the heading "Interest, Dividends and Rents" and in the revenue account for every class of business for which the premises are used proper charges for the use thereof must be included under the heading "Expenses of Management".

THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

(See section 13.)

Regulations for the preparation of Abstracts of Actuaries' Reports and Requirements applicable to such Abstracts.

PART I.

Regulations.

1. Abstracts and Statements must be so arranged that the numbers and letters of the paragraphs correspond with those of the paragraphs of Part II of this Schedule.

2. In showing the proportion which that part of the annual premiums reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits bears to the total of the annual premiums, in accordance with the requirements of [1][paragraph 4] of Part II of this Schedule no credit is to be taken for any adjustments made in order to secure that no policy is treated as an asset.

3. (1) The average rate of interest yielded in any year by the assets constituting a life insurance fund shall, for the purposes of [2][paragraph 5] of Part II of this Schedule, be calculated by dividing the interest of the year by the mean fund of the year; and for the purposes of any such calculation the interest of the year shall be taken to be the whole of the interest credited to the life insurance fund during the year after deduction of income-tax charged thereon (any refund of income-tax in respect of expenses of management made during the year being taken into account), and the mean fund of the year shall be ascertained by adding a sum equal to one-half of the amount of the life insurance fund at the beginning of the year to a sum equal to one-half of that fund at the end of the year, and deduction from the aggregate of those two sums an amount equal to one-half of the interest of the year.

(2) For the purposes of the calculation aforesaid either—

(a) all profits and income arising during the year from sums invested in reversions shall be included in the interest credited to the life insurance fund during the year; or

(b) such portion of the life insurance fund as is invested in the purchase of reversions, and the profits and income arising therefrom, shall be excluded from the calculation: but in that case a statement must be added to the information required under the said [2][paragraph 5], showing in respect of the portion of the fund excluded as aforesaid, the average rate of annual profit and income for which credit has been taken during the five years last preceding the valuation date, and explaining the manner in which the said average rate has been calculated.

(3) The information given in accordance with the requirements of the said [2][paragraph 5] shall show clearly by which of the methods hereinbefore in this regulation mentioned the sums invested in reversions and the profits and income arising therefrom have been dealt with.

4. Every abstract prepared in accordance with the requirements of Part II of this Schedule shall be signed by an actuary and shall contain a certificate by him to the effect that he has satisfied himself as to the accuracy of the valuations made for the purposes thereof and of the valuation data:

Provided that in the case of an abstract prepared on behalf of [3][an insurer], if the actuary who signs the abstract is not a permanent officer of [4][the insurer] the certificate as to the accuracy of the valuation data shall be given and signed by the principal officer of [4][the insurer] and the actuary shall include in the abstract a statement signed by him showing what precautions he has taken to ensure the accuracy of the data.

5. For the purposes of the Schedule the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, namely:—

"extra premium" means a charge for any risk not provided for in the minimum contract premium;

"inter-valuation period" means, as respects any valuation, the period to the valuation date of that valuation from the valuation date of the last preceding valuation in connection with which an abstract was prepared under this Act or under the enactments repealed by this Act, or, in a case where no such valuation has been made in respect of the class of business in question, from the date on which the insurer, began to carry on that class of business;

"maturity date" means the fixed date on which any benefit will become payable either absolutely or contingently;

[1] Substituted for the word and figure "paragraph 3" by sec. 37, Act XI of 1939.

[3] Substituted for the words "an insurance company", ibid.

[4] Substituted for the words "the company", ibid.

"net premiums" means as respects any valuation the premiums taken credit for in the valuation;

"premium term" means the period during which premiums are payable;

"valuation date" means as respects any valuation the date as at which the valuation is made.

PART II.

Requirements applicable to an Abstract in respect of Life Insurance Business.

The following tabular statements shall be annexed to every abstract prepared in accordance with the requirements of this Part of this Schedule, namely:—

(a) a Consolidated Revenue Account, in the Form G annexed to this Part of this Schedule, for the inter-valuation period (except that it shall not be necessary to prepare such an account in respect of any class of business so long as the insurer deposits annually with the Superintendent of Insurance an abstract in respect of that class of business); and

(b) a Summary and Valuation in the Form H annexed to this Part of this Schedule of the policies included at the valuation date in the class of business to which the abstract relates; and

(c) a Valuation Balance Sheet in the Form I annexed to this Part of this Schedule; and

(d) a statement in Form DD as set forth in Part II of the Third Schedule of the additions to and deductions from the number of policies and the sums insured thereunder for each class of life insurance [1][for the inter-valuation period (except that it shall not be necessary to prepare such statement in respect of any class of business so long as the insurer deposits annually with the Superintendent of Insurance an abstract in respect of that class of business.)] and every such abstract shall show—

1. The valuation date.

2. The general principles and full details of the methods adopted in the valuation of each of the various classes of insurances and annuities shown in the said Form H, including statements on the following points:—

(a) whether the principles were determined by the instruments constituting the company or by its regulations or bye-laws or how otherwise;

(b) the method by which the net premiums have been arrived at and how the ages at entry, premium terms and maturity dates have been treated for the purpose of the valuation;

(c) the methods by which the valuation age, period from the valuation date to the maturity date, and the future premium terms, have been treated for the purpose of the valuation;

(d) the rate of bonus taken into account where by the method of valuation definite provision is made for the maintenance of a specified rate of bonus;

(e) the method of allowing for—

(i) the incidence of the premium income; and

(ii) premiums payable otherwise than annually;

(f) the mehods by which provision has been made for the following matters, namely:—

(i) the immediate payment of claims;

(ii) future expenses and profits in the case of limited payment and paid-up-policies;

(iii) the reserve in respect of lapsed policies, not included in the valuation, but under which a liability exists or may arise; and whether any reserves have been made for the matters aforesaid;

(g) whether under the valuation method adopted any policy would be treated as an asset, and, if so, what steps, if any, have been taken to eliminate such assets;

(h) a statement of the manner in which policies on under-average lives and policies subject to premiums which include a charge for climatic, military or other extra risks have been dealt with; and

(i) the rates of exchange at which liabilities in respect of policies issued in foreign currencies have been converted into rupees and what provision has been made for possible increase of liability arising from future variations in the rates of exchange.

3. The table of mortality used, and the rate of interest assumed, in the valuation.

LEG. REF.

[1] These words were substituted for the word "and" by sec. 71, Act XIII of 1941.

[2] Cl. (e) was omitted, ibid.

4. The proportion which that part of the annual premiums reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits bears to the total of the annual premiums, separately specified in respect of insurances with immediate profits, with deferred profits, with profits under discounted bonus systems, and without profits.

5. The average rates of interest yielded by the assets, whether invested or uninvested, constituting the life insurance fund for each of the years covered by the valuation date.

6. The basis adopted in the distribution of profits as between the insurer and policy-holders, and whether such basis was determined by the instruments constituting the company, or by its regulations or bye-laws, or how otherwise.

7. The general principles adopted in the distribution of profits among policy-holders, including statements on the following points, namely:—

(a) whether the principles were determined by the instruments constituting the company, or by its regulations or bye-laws, or how otherwise;

(b) the number of years' premiums to be paid, period to elapse and other conditions to be fulfilled before a bonus is allotted;

(c) whether the bonus is allotted in respect of each year's premium paid, or in respect of each completed calendar year or year of assurance or how otherwise; and

(d) whether the bonus vests immediately on allocation, or, if not, the conditions of vesting.

8 (1) The total amount of profits arising during the intervaluation period including profits paid away and sums transferred to reserve funds or other accounts during that period, and the amount brought forward from the preceding valuation (to be stated separately) and the allocation of such profits—

THE FIFTH SCHEDULE.

(See section 13.)

Regulations for preparing statements of business in force and requirements applicable to such statements.

PART I.

Regulations.

1. Statements prepared under this Schedule must be prepared, so far as practicable, in tabular form and must be identified by numbers and letters corresponding with those of the paragraphs of Part II of this Schedule.

2. Except with respect to rates of premium or contribution, items in statements prepared under this Schedule are to be shown to the nearest rupee.

3. Extra premium shown in the forms of Summary and Valuation prepared under the Fourth Schedule to this Act must not be included in statements prepared under this Schedule.

4. Every statement prepared under this Schedule shall be signed by the actuary making the investigation in connection with which it is prepared.

5. For the purposes of this Schedule the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, namely:—

(a) "annual loading" means the provision made for future expenses and profits;

(b) "extra premiums" means a charge for any risk not provided for in the minimum contract premium;

(c) "net premiums" means the premiums taken credit for in the valuation in connection with which any statement is prepared; and (d) "valuation date" means as respects any valuation the date as at which the valuation is made.

PART II.

Requirements for statements applicable to Life Insurance Business.

The statements required to be prepared under this Part of this Schedule are as follows, namely:—

1. Statements, separately prepared in respect of policies with and without participation in profits, showing—

(a) as respects policies for the whole term of life, the rates of office premiums charged, in accordance with the published tables in use, for new policies giving the rates for decennial ages at entry from 20 to 70 inclusive; and

(b) as respects endowment insurance policies, the rates of office premiums charged, in accordance with the published tables in use, for new policies with original terms of ten, fifteen, twenty, thirty and forty years, giving the rates for decennial ages at entry from 20 to 40 inclusive, but excluding policies under which the age at maturity exceeds 60.

2. Statements, separately prepared in respect of policies with immediate profits, with deferred profits, with profits under discounted bonus systems, and without profits, showing in quinquennial groups—

(a) as respects policies for the whole term of life—

(i) the total amount assured (specifying sums assured and reversionary bonuses separately), grouped according to ages attained;

(ii) the amount per annum, after deducting abatements made by application of bonus, of office premiums payable throughout life, and of the corresponding net premiums, grouped according to ages attained; and

(iii) the amount per annum, after deducting abatements made by application of bonus, of office premiums payable for a limited number of years, and, either, the corresponding net premiums, grouped in accordance with the grouping adopted for the purposes of the valuation, or, the annual loading reserved for the remaining duration of the policies, grouped according to ages attained;

(b) as respects endowment insurance policies—

(i) the total amount assured (specifying sums assured and reversionary bonuses separately), grouped in accordance with the grouping adopted for the purposes of the valuation; and

(ii) the amount per annum, after deducting abatements made by application of bonus, of office premiums payable, and of the corresponding net premiums, grouped in accordance with the grouping adopted for the purposes of the valuation:

Provided that—

(a) as respect endowment insurance policies which will reach maturity in less than five years, the information required by sub-paragraph (3) (i) of this paragraph and be given for each year instead of in quinquennial groups; and

(b) where the office premiums payable under policies for the whole term of life for a limited number of years, or the office premiums payable under endowment insurance policies, or the corresponding net premiums, are grouped for the purposes of the valuation otherwise than according to the number of years' payments remaining to be made, or, where the sums assured under endowment insurance policies are grouped for the purposes of the valuation otherwise than according to the years in which the policies will mature for payment or in which they are assumed to mature if earlier than the true year, then, in any such case the valuation constants and an explanation of the method by which they are calculated must be given for each group, and in the case of the sums assured under endowment insurance policies a statement must also be given of the amount assured maturing for payment in each of the two years following the valuation date.

3. Statements as respects any policies in force under which premiums cease to be payable, whether permanently or temporarily, during disability arising from sickness or accident, showing the total amount of the office premiums payable.

4. Statements as respects immediate annuities on single lives for the whole term of life, separately prepared in respect of annuities on male and female lives, showing in quinquennial age groups the total amount of such annuities.

5. Statements as respects deferred annuities, separately prepared in respect of annuities on male and female lives, showing the specimen reserve values for annuities of one hundred rupees which will be produced on maturity on the basis of valuation adopted at ages, in the case of male lives, 60 and 65, and in the case of female lives 55 and 60; the said statements must show the specimen reserve values which will be produced under the table of annual premiums in use for new policies, and if under any other table of annual premiums in use for any other debarred annuity policies in force smaller reserve value will be produced, the like specimens of these must also be given.

6. Statements as respects any policies of insurance upon the lives of a group of persons, whereby sums assured are payable in respect of the several persons included in the group, showing the total claims paid since the date as at which the last statements were prepared under this Part of this Schedule or, where no such statements have been prepared, since the date on which the insurer began it carry on the class of business to which the statements relate, and the reserve for unexpired risks and outstanding claims.

THE SIXTH SCHEDULE.

Rule as to the valuation of the Liabilities of an insurer in Insolvency or Liquidation.

The liabilities of an insurer in respect of current contracts effected in the course of life insurance business, including annuity business, shall be calculated by the method and upon the basis to be determined by an actuary approved by the Court and the actuary so approved shall, in determining as aforesaid, take into account—

(a) the purpose for which such valuation is to be made,

(b) the rate of interest and the rates of mortality and sickness to be used in valuation, and

(c) any special directions which may be given by the Court.

The liabilities of an insurer in respect of current policies other than life policies shall by such portion of the last premium paid as is proportionate to the unexpired portion of the policy in respect of which the premium was paid.

(b) after sub-section (4) the following sub-sections shall be inserted, namely:—

"(5) The Superintendent of Insurance may by notice in writing require the provident society to comply within a time to be specified therein (not being less than fifteen days from the receipt of the notice by the society) with any directions he may issue to remedy defects disclosed by an inquiry under this section.

(6) If the society fails to comply with any directions issued under sub-section (5), the Superintendent of Insurance may, after giving notice to the society and giving it an opportunity to be heard, apply to the Court for the winding up of the society."

Insertion of new section 87-A in Act IV of 1938.

38. After section 87 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"87-A. Amalgamation and transfer of insurance business.—(1) The insurance business of a provident society may be transferred to any person or transferred to or amalgamated with the insurance business of any other provident society in accordance with a scheme prepared under this section and sanctioned by the Superintendent of Insurance.

(2) Any scheme prepared under this section shall set out the agreement under which the transfer or amalgamation is proposed to be effected, and shall contain such further provisions as may be necessary for giving effect to the scheme.

(3) Before an application is made to the Superintendent of Insurance to sanction any such scheme, notice of the intention to make the application together with a statement of the nature of the amalgamation or transfer, as the case may be, and of the reason therefor, shall at least two months before the application is made, be sent to the Superintendent of Insurance and certified copies, four in number, of each of the following documents shall be furnished to him, and other such copies shall during the two months aforesaid be kept open for the inspection of the members and policy-holders at the principal and branch offices of the provident societies concerned, namely:—

(a) a draft of the agreement or deed under which it is proposed to effect the amalgamation or transfer,

(b) balance-sheets in respect of the insurance business of each of the provident societies concerned in such amalgamation or transfer,

(c) acturial reports and abstracts in respect of the insurance business of each of the provident societies so concerned,

(d) a report on the proposed amalgamation or transfer, prepared by an independent actuary.

(e) any other reports on which the scheme of amalgamation or transfer was founded;

and the balance-sheets, reports and abstracts referred to in clauses (b), (c) and (d) shall all be prepared as at the date at which the amalgamation or transfer if sanctioned by the Superintendent of Insurance is to take effect, which date shall not be more than twelve months before the date on which the application to the Superintendent of Insurance is made under this section:

Provided that the Superintendent of Insurance may exempt the provident society or societies concerned from furnishing to him and from keeping open for inspection any one or more of the above documents.

(4) When any application such as is referred to in sub-section (3) is made to the Superintendent of Insurance, he may require, if for special reasons he so directs, notice of the application to be sent to every person resident in British India or in an Indian State who is the holder of a policy of any provident society concerned and may cause a statement of the nature and terms of the amalgamation or transfer, as the case may be, to be published in such manner and for such periods as he may direct, and after hearing the societies concerned, such policy-holders as apply to be heard and such other persons as he may deem fit, may sanction the arrangement if he is satisfied that no sufficient objection to the arrangement has been established and shall make such consequential orders as are necessary to give effect to the arrangement, including orders as to the disposal of any deposit made under section 73:

Provided that—

(a) no part of the deposit made by any party to the amalgamation or transfer shall be returned except where, after effect is given to the arrangement the whole of the deposit to be made by the provident society carrying on the amalgamated business or the person to whom the business is transferred is completed;

(b) only so much shall be returned as is no longer required to complete the deposit last mentioned in clause (a);

(c) while the deposit last mentioned in clause (a) remains uncompleted, no accession, resulting from the arrangement, to the amount already deposited by the provident society carrying on the amalgamated business or the person to whom the business is transferred shall be appropriated as payment or part payment of any instalment of deposit subsequently due from it or him under section 73.

(5) A copy of the order under sub-section (4) sanctioning or refusing to sanction the arrangement shall be sent to each of the societies concerned and to each of the policy-holders who applied to be heard.

(6) If the scheme involves a reduction of the amount of the insurance and other contracts of the transfer or society or of any or all of the societies concerned in the amalgamation, the Superintendent of Insurance may sanction the scheme, reducing the amount of such contracts upon such terms and subject to such conditions as he may think proper, and the reduction of the contracts as sanctioned by the Superintendent of Insurance shall be valid and binding on all the parties concerned."

Amendment of section 88, Act IV of 1938.

39. For sub-section (2) of section 88 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(2) In addition to the grounds on which such an order may be based, the Court may order the winding up of a provident society if the Superintendent of Insurance, who is hereby authorised to do so, applies in this behalf to the court on any of the following grounds, namely:—

(a) that the registration of the society has been cancelled under sub-section (4) of section 70;

(b) that it appears from the returns furnished under the provisions of this Act or as the result of an inquiry made under section 87 that the society is insolvent;

Insertion of new section 90-A in Act IV of 1938.

40. After section 90 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"90-A. Application of Act to liquidators.—Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (VII of 1913), the provisions of sections 91, 92 and 93 shall apply to any liquidator appointed to wind up a provident society, whether by the Court, the Superintendent of Insurance or the society itself".

Amendment of section 92, Act IV of 1938.

41. In sub-section (4) of section 92 of the said Act, for the words "if so desired," the words "determine the remuneration to be paid to him, and if so desired, shall also appoint" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 94, Act IV of 1938

THE INSURANCE DEPOSITS (TEMPORARY REDUCTION) ACT (I OF 1941).

[3rd March, 1941.

An Act to provide for the reduction temporarily of the amounts payable as instalments of the sum to be deposited by an insurer under section 7 of the Insurance Act, 1938.

WHEREAS, in consequence of conditions arising out of the present war, it is expedient to provide for the reduction temporarily of the amounts payable as instalments of the sum to be deposited by an insurer under section 7 of the Insurance Act, 1938;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INSURANCE DEPOSITS (TEMPORARY REDUCTION) ACT, 1941.

It extends to the whole of British India.

Definition.

2. In this Act "insurer" means an insurer as defined in clause (9) of section 2 of the Insurance Act, 1938, except that it does not include a Mutual Insurance Company or a Co-operative Life Insurance Society to which Part IV of that Act applies.

Reduction of instalments of deposit.

3. (1) An insurer entitled to the benefits of this Act shall, subject to the provisions of section 5, be deemed in respect of any instalment of the deposit to be made by him under section 7 of the Insurance Act, 1938, which he was required to pay during the year commencing on the 1st day of January, 1940, or which he may be required to pay at any time after the end of that year and so long as this section continues to have effect, to have complied with the provisions of the said section 7 as to payment of instalments of deposits, if he has paid or pays in accordance with the provisions of that section not less than one half the total amount which would have been required by that section as the instalment, had the insurer not availed himself of the provisions of this Act.

(2) If an insurer entitled to the benefits of this Act, when paying an instalment of deposit, has, in respect of any instalment due during the year commencing on the 1st day of January, 1940, paid more than one half the total amount required by the said section 7 as the instament, he may at his option have the amount of any such surplus payment appropriated to the payment of the next or any subsequent instalment of deposit required from him under the said section 7 read with sub-section (1) of this section.

(3) This section shall cease to have effect on the expiration of one year from such date as may be fixed, for the purposes of this Act, by the Central Government by notification in the official Gazette as the date of termination of the present hostilities.

Insurers entitled to the benefits of this Act.

4. An insurer shall be entitled to the benefits of this Act only if—

(a) he carries on life insurance business only, and

INSURANCE DEPOSITS (TEMPORARY REDUCTION ACT, SEC. 5: SCOPE AND EFFECT—'CEASE'—MEANING OF.—The intention of the Insurance Deposits (Temporary Reduction) Act is to give the benefit of sec. 4 to every Insurance Company whose case is covered by that section, and the effect of sec. 5 is that the benefit, thus accruing, should cease if in future the income of the company should continue to exceed Rs. 30,000. Sec. 5 does not mean that an insurer, otherwise entitled to the benefit of sec. 4, is not so entitled if his income exceeds that amount in the year previous to the accrual of such benefit. The word 'cease' connotes the discontinuance of something already in motion. It is an abuse of language to say that the company ceased to hold under sec. 5 of the Act a benefit which it, in fact, never acquired. 45 P.L.R. 54=1943 Lah. 107. Sec. 8 of the Act specifically relates to the removal of difficulties in determining the amount of an instalment payable. It does not oust the jurisdiction of the civil courts in any question relating to the interpretation of the statute. The question of the applicability of the Act is a pure question of law and not covered by the section. 45 P.L.R. 54=1943 Lah. 107.

(b) the date on which he first assumed risk on any policy issued by him was earlier than the 3rd day of September, 1939, but not earlier than the 3rd day of September, 1929.

Cesser of title to the benefits of this Act.

5. (1) An insurer otherwise entitled to the benefits of this Act shall cease to be so entitled in any year if in the preceding year his total premium income, including annuity considerations, as shown in the revenue-account prepared under the Insurance Act, 1938, exceeded rupees thirty thousand.

(2) An insurer otherwise entitled to the benefits of this Act shall cease to be so entitled in respect of any future instalment—

(a) if after the 1st day of January, 1941, he declares any bonus or dividend at a rate higher than the rate at which such bonuses or dividends were last declared by him before the 3rd day of September, 1939, or

(b) if the proportion of his renewal premium income spent by him in payment of commission and other expenses including capital expenditure, determined in accordance with Rule 25 of the Insurance Rules, 1939, exceeds in any year the proportion as so determined for the accounting period ending on the 31st day of December, 1939.

Resumption of payment of instalments in accordance with Act IV of 1938.

6. (1) When section 3 ceases to have effect, or if before that date an insurer ceases under clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (2) of section 5 to be entitled to the benefits of this Act, instalments of deposits shall be paid in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Insurance Act, 1938 (except that no insurer shall be required to pay as an instalment an amount exceeding the amount which would have been payable by him had he not availed himself of the provisions of this Act), until the last instalment required to be paid under the said section 7 has been paid, and the balance of the deposit then remaining unpaid in consequence of the reduced instalments authorised under this Act shall be paid by the insurer in such further instalments, of such amount and at such times, as the Central Government may direct.

(2) If while section 3 continues to have effect an insurer ceases in any year under sub-section (1) of section 5 to be entitled to the benefits of this Act, instalments of deposit in that year shall be paid by him in accordance with the provisions of section 7 of the Insurance Act, 1938, except that he shall not be required to pay as an instalment an amount exceeding the amount which would have been payable by him had he not availed himself of the provisions of this Act, and the provisions of sub-section (1) of this section shall apply to the payment by such insurer of any balance of the deposit due from him which remains unpaid after the last instalment required to be paid under the said section 7 has been paid.

Saving in respect of delayed payments of instalments of deposits.

7. For the purposes of the Insurance Act, 1938, an insurer entitled to the benefits of this Act who has failed to pay before the 1st day of January, 1941, an instalment of deposit due in the year 1940 shall not be liable to any consequences on that account in respect of a failure to comply with the provisions of section 7 of the said Act as to deposits if before the 15th day of February, 1941, he has paid as such instalment not less than one half the total amount required by the said section 7.

Removal of difficulties.

8. If any difficulty arises in determining the amount payable as an instalment of deposit by an insurer under this Act, the matter shall be decided by the Central Government whose decision shall be final.

THE INTEREST ACT (XXXII OF 1839).[1]

Short title given, Act XIV of 1897.

Power of Court to allow intereest.

1. It is, therefore, hereby enacted that, upon all debts or sums certain payable at a certain time or otherwise, the Court before which such debts or sums may be recovered may, if it shall think fit, allow interest to the creditor at a rate not exceeding the current rate of interest from the time when such

The date upon which an execution sale is confirmed is the date upon which the money due by the judgment-debtor under the decree is paid by him and realized by the judgment-creditor through the Court. If there is no subsequent action on the part of the judgment-debtor, during the period between the receipt of the money into Court and the actual payment by the Court of the money to the judgment-creditor, which prevents or postpones that payment, no question arises of any further liability resting upon the judgment-debtor under the decree either for interest or otherwise. When no blame attaches to the judgment-debtor, he cannot be compelled to pay interest for any further period beyond the date when payment was made into Court in satisfaction of the decree. Merely because an injunction is issued at the instance of the auction-purchaser and delay is caused in payment out, the judgment-creditor cannot claim further interest from the judgment-debtor on the ground that the judgment-creditor has not been to blame for the delay. 55 L.W. 212= (1942) 1 M.L.J. 439=1942 M. 442.

Where an order of stay of execution is made on an application by the judgment-debtor pending appeal on condition that he deposits the decree-amount in Court and that the decree-holder is to withdraw it on furnishing security it cannot be said that an order should ordinarily follow that interest should not run on the amount deposited into Court by reason of its deposit from the date of deposit. It is only just and proper that no such order should be passed. It would weigh very heavily on an impecunius decree-holder if at the instance of a well-to-do judgment-debtor he should be put in the position of losing interest on the amount of a decree which might ultimately be due to him for no other reason except that he had not the means to furnish security to enable him to draw it out. 1943 M.W.N. 590=56 L.W. 558 A.I.R 1944 Mad. 46=(1943) 2 M.L.J. 441. See also 1944 All. 225=I.L.R. 1944 A. 379.

This Act provides for the award of interest on debts in certain cases, and provides that, where the conditions required by the Act are satisfied, interest will be recoverable, but compensation under sec. 73 of the Contract Act will not be recoverable by the creditor from the debtor on the ground that the payment of the money due to him has been withheld by the debtor, unless he can show that actual loss or damage has been caused to him. 26 C. 955. See also 1 S.L.R. 179; 9 Bom. "MAY BE RECOVERED"—MEANING.—The expression "may be recovered" in the Act does not mean the same thing as "is sought to be recovered". 134 I.C. 1028=32 P.L.R. 546=1931 L. 457.

DEBTS OR SUMS CERTAIN PAYABLE AT A CERTAIN TIME.—See 9 Bom.H.C. 7; 7 B.H.C. (A.C.) 89. The sum certain upon which interest is payable under the Interest Act must be certain at the time the promise is made.

Where a mining lease provides for interest at 12 per cent. per annum on all arrears of minimum royalty, and the claim in suit, relates not only to the arrears of such minimum royalty, but also for sums in excess of the minimum royalty, the instalments of minimum royalty are sums certain payable at a certain time, and interest would therefore be payable and can be awarded on the instalments of minimum royalty in arrear, but not on the excess. 22 Pat. 220=A.I.R. 1943 Pat. 327. A power of attorney was in the following terms. "We hereby authorise our said attorney to withdraw and receive payment. . . . and pay and make over to us in proportion to our respective shares as above set forth such amount out of the said sum of Rs. 10,000 as is due thereto within a week of the encashment of the said cheque." Held, that a sum certain was payable at certain time in this case within the meaning of sec. 1 of the Act I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 573. When by a contract, a sum of money is payable at a time certain, and upon a sum to be ascertained on a certain date, but a dispute occurs as to the amount, which is settled by the Court, interest is payable. 32 C.L.J. 239. Interest pending suit is not claimable in a suit for unliquidated damages. See 60 I.C. 288; 26 S.L.R. 167=1932 Sind 9. In a suit to recover the value of certain articles entrusted with the defendant, interest cannot be allowed on the amount decreed, as it will be tantamount to awarding damages upon damages. 137 I.C. 217=9 O.W. N 239=1932 O. 165. The mere fact that the contract does not come within the protection afforded by the Act is not a reason for holding that it is not controlled by the Act. The term 'payable at a certain time' in the Act refers to payment agreed between parties and not under a presumption of law. 40 M.L.J. 18=12 L.W. 567. See also 8 L. 524=1927 L. 287. A certain sum is not payable by the written instrument at a time certain if its payment is contingent upon events which may never happen and the amount payable is capable of ascertainment only if and when those events happen and the time for the happening of those events, if they ever do happen, may be indefinitely postponed and no interest can be allowed on such sum. 119 I.C. 615=1929 P.C. 185=57 M.L.J. 662 (P.C.).

INTEREST ON MONTHLY MAINTENANCE AMOUNT.—See 15 Luck. 537=1940 Oudh 305.

INTEREST ON MESNE PROFITS.—See 1937 P. C. 143 (P.C.)=16 P. 382=1937 (2) M.L.J. 202=64 I.A. 240; 1937 A.L.J. 297=1937 All. 328. INSTALMENT BOND.—In case of instalment bonds where there is a double penalty, namely, enhanced interest on defaulted instalments and an exigibility clause in case of certain defaults, the correct method in granting interest is to allow the enhanced interest on the defaulted instalments up to the date when the exigibility clause comes into operation and then from that date to allow interest at the original rate on the whole principal amount till the date of suit. From the date of suit, further interest may be allowed on the whole sum found due until the date fixed for payment. 142 I.C. 603=1933 N. 104 (Relying on 1928 N. 6).

REFUND OF TAX ILLEGALLY LEVIED BY MUNICIPALITY—INTEREST ON AMOUNT REFUNDED.—Where a levy of tax or rates by a Municipality is held illegal by a Court of law and the amount levied is refunded under order of Court, the person from whom the tax had been illegally levied is not entitled to claim interest on the amount refunded for the period during which the amount was with the Municipality. The Interest Act does not apply to such a case and the Court has no power to allow interest. Interest cannot be allowed by way of damages in a case which does not fall within the Act. I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 134=46 Bom.L.R. 408=A.I.R. 1944 Bom. 233 (1).

THE COURT MAY IF IT SHALL THINK FIT.—The Act is an enabling Act which vests the Court with a discretion; it does not create a right to interest in favour of creditors, which of itself could be made the subject-matter of a suit. 1 C.W.N. 219. See also 1925 N. 541. As to whether the discretion vested in the Court by this Act, in allowing or refusing interest in cases within the Act, is liable to review, see 7 M.I.A. 263. See also 562 P.W.N. 186=19 Pat.L.T. 202=17 Pat. 350=1938 Pat. 600; 1939 Pat. 323; 1938 All. 151=I.L.R. 1938 A. 243.

CURRENT RATE OF INTEREST.—Where a certain sum of money is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, the Court can under the Interest Act allow interest, if it thinks fit, at a rate not exceeding the current rate, from the time when the money is payable. Where there is no security, a rate of one per cent. per mensem, is not an unreasonable rate of interest, see 1939 All. 308=I.L.R. (1939) All. 329 (Pro ncte). 1939 All. 323; 16 Pat. 84=1937 Pat. 73, 1939 Pat. 552; 1939 Pat. 203.

IF SUCH DEBTS BE PAYABLE BY VIRTUE OF SOME WRITTEN INSTRUMENT.—A certificate of the Administrator-General admitting a debt to be due is not a "written instrument" because the amount mentioned therein is not payable by virtue of the certificate, which merely purports to certify the registration of the amount of the admitted debt for the purpose of convenience in administering the estate. 25 C. 54. See also 75 I.C. 64=1923 L. 302. It is doubtful whether a decree or an order of a Settlement Officer under sec. 40, Act XVIII of 1876, is a written instrument within the meaning of the Interest Act. 1 O.C. 94. A principal is not entitled to interest on moneys received and retained by the agent on behalf of the principal in the absence of a contract to the contrary. 41 A. 254=17 A.L.J. 169=49 I.C. 696. Interest is not allowed in a suit for recovery of money for use and occupation, because such sums are not payable by an instrument in writing and at a certain time. 9 I.C. 221 (Oudh).

WHEN DEMAND OF PAYMENT SHALL HAVE BEEN MADE IN WRITING.—The Interest Act is applicable only when a notice is given that interest will be claimed from the date of demand till date of payment. In the absence of such a notice interest cannot be claimed under the Act. 16 Luck. 701=192 I.C. 885 =1941 Oudh 254. See also 1940 Pat. 384. There must also be demand in writing. Where the plaintiff who had paid a sum of Rs. 1,400 towards shares which, however, were never allotted to him, sued for refund of the money, held, that the payment was not "a debt or sum certain payable at a certain time" within the meaning of the Interest Act, that interest was only payable "otherwise" as money had and received from the date of demand. THE JUDICIAL OFFICERS' PROTECTION ACT (XVIII OF 1850)[1].

[4th April, 1850.

An Act for the protection of Judicial Officers.

Preamble. For the greater protection of Magistrates and others acting judicially; It is enacted as follows:—

Non-liability to suit of officers acting judicially, for official acts done in good faith, and of officers executing warrants and orders.

1. No Judge, Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, Collector or other person acting judicially shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court for any act done or ordered to be done by him in the discharge of his judicial duty, whether or not within the limits of his jurisdiction: Provided that he at the time, in good faith, believed himself to have jurisdiction to do or order the act complained of; and no officer of any Court or other person, bound to execute the lawful warrants or orders of any such Judge, Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, Collector or other person acting judicially shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court for the execution of any warrant or order, which he would be bound to execute, if within the jurisdiction of the person issuing the same.

EXECUTING COURT cannot award interest; only the Court which adjudicates as to the actual debt or claim can award interest. 53 C. 735=98 I.C. 238=1926 C. 1119.

PROVIDED THAT INTEREST SHALL BE PAYABLE IN ALL CASES IN WHICH IT IS NOW PAYABLE AT LAW.—See (1942) 1 M.L.J. 250=I.L. R. (1942) M. 464=1942 A. 429; 65 I.A. 66 =I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 72=1938 P.C. 67= (1938) 1 M.L.J. 640 (P.C.); I.L.R. 1940 M. 50=50 L.W. 466=1939 Mad. 877=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 579. The proviso to sec. 1 of the Act leaves it open to the Court to award interest where a Court of Equity would recognise the claim. A Court of Equity has full power to direct interest to be paid on collections which have been wrongly retained in his hands by a mortgagee in possession. It cannot be said that no interest can be allowed either by way of damages or otherwise on the surplus profits received by the mortgagee until the date of the institution of the suit for redemption. The discretion of the Court under sec. 34, C.P. Code, to order interest at such rate as it deems reasonable remains unfettered, with the exception that it cannot grant interest on costs at a higher rate than six per cent. Where the mortgagee is charging interest at 15 per cent. and fails to discharge a prior mortgage debt carrying interest at 15 per cent. though he has over a long period sufficient money in his hands to pay off that debt as well as his own the Court would be justified in a redemption suit in allowing interest to the mortgagor at 15 per cent. on the money wrongfully retained by the mortgagee in possession. 58 L.W. 241 =1945 M.W.N. 340=A.I.R. 1945 Mad. 297 =(1945) 1 M.L.J. 478. Neither the Interest Act nor the Contract Act affects the rule of Hindu Law, that in the case of a debt wrongfully withheld after demand of payment had been made interest becomes payable by way of damages. 9 Bom.L.R. 439=31 B. 354. But see 18 M.L.J. 245=31 M. 250; 7 M. L.T. 108. The Act expressly provides that interest shall be payable in all cases in which it is payable by law. And money obtained by fraud can be recovered with interest under the law. 25 M.L J. 531=21 I.C. 394. Where an improvement lease provided that the lads were to be gradually brought under cultivation and until they were so brought nothing would be payable to the Government or to the Jenmi and it further provided that the tenant should pay from the year in which Government revenue was paid rent at a certain rate, held, that interest could not be awarded under the Interest Act in respect of the arrears of rent claimed by the lessor: Held also, that interest could not be awarded under the proviso to the Act on generally equitable grounds. 31 L.W. 655 =1930 M.W.N. 438=53 M. 549=1930 Mad. 727=59 M.L.J. 359. The Interest Act is exhaustive and only such equitable grounds as have been generally recognised in Courts of Equity can be relied on in India in awarding interest on equitable grounds. The case in 42 M. 616 is not correctly decided. 31 L. W. 665=1930 M.W.N. 438 (vide supra).

JUDICIAL OFFICERS PROTECTION ACT: SEC. 1: SCOPE OF ACT.—The Act does not probably contemplate the protection of a Judge from a suit for damages for breach of contract, but the language of the Act is sufficiently wide to grant protection even against a suit of that nature. 52 All. 844= 1931 A.L.J. 41=1931 All. 189 (F.B.). The Act has no bearing whatsoever on the case of a contract into which a Judge may enter according to the general law of the land. Enforceability of security bond executed in the name of the judge considered. 1931 Oudh 99=6 Luck. 601. If the act complained of against a judicial officer is in its nature judicial, and within his jurisdiction, he is not liable to be sued, even though the act was done maliciously. If, on the other hand, he acts without jurisdiction, his liability would depend, not on whether the act was malicious and without reasonable and probable cause, but on whether it was within the protection of the Act. (12 All. 115, Ref.) 1933 All. 749. (As to procedure for instituting criminal prosecution against judges and public servants, see Criminal Procedure Code Act V of 1898, sec. 197). By sec. 1 of the Act a judicial officer is protected if he made the order in the discharge of his judicial duties whether or not within the limits of his jurisdiction, provided that he at the time, in good faith, believed himself to have jurisdiction to pass the order. 'Jurisdiction' in the section is to be taken in the sense of authority or power to act in the matter and not in the sense of authority or power to act in a particular manner. Any person executing such an order within the 'jurisdiction' of a judicial officer is equally protected. An order of a Magistrate for the search of a shop and seizure of certain tins of oil therein, though not in the prescribed form, and the carrying out of such an order by a police officer were held to be alike protected, even though the prosecution with reference to which the order was made, ultimately failed. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 581=42 C.W.N. 50=1938 Cal. 177=9 C.W.N. 591; 1933 All. 749. The term "jurisdiction" means authority or power to act in a matter, and not authority or power to do an act in a particular manner. In the matter of warrants, the protection afforded by the section is not against suits for executing lawful warrants or orders, but against suits for executing warrants or orders, not lawful, provided that such warrants or orders have been issued by a judicial officer in a matter within his jurisdiction, and not merely in a matter in which such judicial officer has authority or power to issue the particular warrant. The term "jurisdiction" should not be construed as meaning authority or power to issue the warrant in a particular matter and in the particular manner in which it is issued. 12 A. 115. (10 M.L.J. 232 Diss.). See also 30 Bom. 241=7 Bom.L.R. 951; L.B.R. (1872-1892) 83; 8 C.L.J. 75; 2 M.H.C.R. 396; 36 Cal. 433=13 C.W.N. 458; 40 C.W.N. 500. An order of a Magistrate for the search of a shop and seizure of certain tins of oil, therein, though not in the prescribed form, and the carrying out of such an order by a police-officer were held to be alike protected, even though the prosecution with reference to which the order was made ultimately failed. 36 Cal. 433. Act does not apply to acts of Governor in Council. 7 Mad. 466. Secretary of State not liable for acts of judicial officer. 59 P.W.R. 1908. The protection afforded to judicial officers rests on public policy. And though thereby a malicious Judge or Magistrate may be given a protection designed not for him, but for the public interest, it does not follow that he can exercise his malice with impunity. His conduct can be investigated elsewhere and due punishment awarded. 7 Bom.L.R. 951=30 Bom. 241. Where the Judge acting in his judicial capacity takes in good faith all the proceedings which the law permits him to take, he is protected. See 9 I.C. 535 (All.); 45 Bom. 1989=62 I.C. 93=23 Bom.L.R. 447= 1921 B. 158. Plaintiffs sued a Magistrate on the allegation that the latter took him into custody and brought a false charge against him. The trial Court dismissed suit as barred by this Act. Held, that the allegation in the plaint disclosed a cause of action to which the Act did not apply. The defence under the Act is as much a defence on the merits as any other defence such as limitation, etc., and the Judge must before dismissing the suit take such evidence in a case as in necessary to bring the case within the act. 39 A. 516= 39 I.C. 553=15 A.L.J. 541.

The fact that allegations which ought not to be made are inserted in it does not take away the protection. 40 C.W.N. 500. A Judge knowingly pronouncing illegal orders is responsible to the State only, and cannot be sued so long as he keeps within his jurisdiction, though he may, in certain cases and by a particular procedure, be held criminally responsible. L.B.R. (1872-1892) 83. The Act is for the protection of judicial officers acting judicially, and officers acting under their orders, and never for the protection of the Police or a Magistrate in the exercise of police duties. 9 C. 341=9 I.A. 152 (P.C.). There is no law which authorises the Police or a Magistrate in the exercise of Police duties or an officer in command of a cantonment, in consequence of a bona fide belief that a person is dangerous by reason of actual lunacy to put him into confinement, in order that he may be visited and examined by medical officers, and to keep him in confinement, until such officers can feel themselves justified in reporting whether the person is a dangerous lunatic or not; a fortiori, this cannot be done in the case of a bona fide belief of danger from impending lunacy; so that such officer would not be protected from liability in respect of such acts. 9 C. 341=9 I.A. 152 (P.C.). The act of issuing a warrant for the arrest of the complainant to hear an order which directed him to pay compensation to the accused is not an act within the "jurisdiction" of the Magistrate within the meaning of that word, as used in this Act. 10 M.L.J. 232. A Deputy Magistrate, who without reasonable cause, delays proceeding with the trial of persons whom he keeps in jail is liable, notwithstanding the above Act, to an action in damages if the prisoners are eventually acquitted. 11 W.R. (C.) 10. A Magistrate is not warranted in convicting and imprisoning a person for disobeying an order, the legality of which was then properly under the consideration of an appellate Court. 2 B.H.C.R. (C.) 384. A Magistrate acting bona fide, is not liable for anything done by him in the exercise of his duty, however wrong the act may be. This Act while freeing the agent, the person who actually commits the tort complained of and who would be the person primarily responsible, from all responsibility could not have intended to leave the principal liable. 9 C.W.N. 495=1 C.L.J. 355.

PERSONS EXERCISING JUDICIAL FUNCTIONS MUST BE IN AN ENTIRELY IMPARTIAL POSITION. —They ought not to have any interest, pecuniary or otherwise, in the subject-matter of the litigation, and they must not be in such a position, but any bias in favour of one side or the other can be imputed to him. Actual bias need not be proved if the relationship is such that bias may seem likely. It is impossible to say that debtor is not, from the nature of the case, subject to bias in favour of a creditor who can call in his money. It is not enough for the Court in any it is satisfied that in a particular case no bias existed or was shown. It is necessary that the position be such that the general public may feel confident that justice has been done by an impartial tribunal, and it is of the highest importance that this principle should not be encroached upon. The Assistant Taxing Master of the High Court taxed three bills of costs of the respondent bank against the applicant. At the time he was a debtor of the respondent bank, but he did not disclose the fact at the time. Held, that the officer was not competent to entertain the taxation and the taxation was therefore bad ab initio. 40 Bom.L.R. 904=1938 Bom. 431=I.L.R. of the Muhammadan community in some parts of British India the presence of Kazis appointed by the Government is required at the celebration of marriages and the performance of certain other rights and ceremonies, and it is therefore expedient that the Government should again be empowered to appoint persons to the office of Kazi; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE KAZIS ACT, 1880;

[1][* * * * *].

Local extent.

It extends, in the first instance, only to the territories administered by the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council. But any other Provincial Government may from time to time by notification in the Official Gazette, extend it to the whole or any part of the territories under its administration.

Power to appoint Kazis for any local area.

2. Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that any considerable number of the Muhammadans resident in any local area desire that one or more Kazis should be appointed for such local area, the Provincial Government may, if it thinks fit, after consulting the principal Muhammadan residents of such local area, select one or more fit persons and appoint him or them to be Kazis for such local area.

If any question arises whether any person has been rightly appointed Kazi under this section, the decision thereof by the Provincial Government shall be conclusive.

The Provincial Government may, it if thinks fit, suspend or remove any Kazi appointed under this section who is guilty of any misconduct in the execution of his office, or who is for a continuous period of six months absent from the local area for which he is appointed, or leaves such local area for the purpose of residing elsewhere, or is declared an insolvent, or desires to be discharged from the office, or who refuses or becomes in the opinion of the Provincial Government unfit, or personally incapable to discharge the duties of the office.

Naib Kazis.

3. Any Kazi appointed under this Act may appoint one or more persons as his naib or naibs to act in his place in all or any of the matters appertaining to his office throughout the whole or in any portion of the local area for which he is appointed, and may suspend or remove any naib so appointed.

When any Kazi is suspended or removed under section 2, his naib or naibs (if any) shall be deemed to be suspended or removed, as the case may be.

Nothing in Act to confer judicial or administrative powers or,

4. Nothing herein contained, and no appointment made hereunder shall be deemed—

(a) to confer any judicial or administrative powers on any Kazi or Naib Kazi appointed hereunder; or to render the presence of Kazi necessary; or

(b) to render the presence of a Kazi or Naib Kazi necessary at the celebration of any marriage or the performance of any rite or ceremony; or to prevent any one acting as Kazi.

SEC. 1: SCOPE OF THE ACT.—The Act aims at protecting public interests. 29 B. 480=7 Bom.L.R. 497. Strict compliance with its provisions necessary. 97 I.C. 471 =1926 M. 1099=51 M.L.J. 338. See also 11 C.L.J. 612. Proceedings under this Act started with a view to gratify private spite or malice and not bona fide for a public purpose are not valid. (Ibid.) Burden of proving that an award made by a land acquisition officer is wrong lies on the claimant. 106 I.C. 909. As to burden of proof in case of rival claims to compensation, see 1927 P.C. 262=107 I.C. 347 (2)=47 C.L.J. 337 (P.C.). The Act refers only to one notice, one proceeding and one award given, taken and made regarding one holding and one ownership. 48 Cal. 892=64 I.C. 577=33 C. L.J. 509=1921 Cal. 340. It contemplates acquisition of such interests as do not belong to Government. 9 I.C. 341=9 M.L.T. 272. No provision for refund. 63 I.C. 1= 1921 L. 153. See also 21 I.C. 111=17 C.W. does not go to the Land Acquisition Judge. 36 I.C. 621=4 L.W. 535. See also 51 I. C. 501. The Act provides a speedy method of determining compensation payable and the persons to whom payable. 7 A. 817. It allows an appeal to High Court and also to Privy Council since Act XIX of 1921. Privy Council cannot interfere with the figures that have been settled by High Court (as the value to be allowed for certain compulsorily acquired land) unless it can be shown that there has been some real mistake in law or some palpable omission which would invalidate the valuation. (52 I.A. 133; 52 I.A. 367, Ref. to.) 34 C.W.N. 1106=1930 P.C. 283=59 M.L.J. 392 (P.C.). Persons who have not come before Collector or Acquisition Judge can controvert the award of the Collector to a suit, and prove that they were the lawful owners of the property and were entitled to recover the amount of compensation awarded for it. [7 Cal. 388 (P.C.), Appr.] 160 I. C. 1010=1936 Pesh. 29.

CONSTRUCTION OF ACT.—Act should be expounded liberally in favour of the public and strictly against Government or company taking the land. 44 P.R. 1904; 9 I.C. 223 =9 P.W.R. 1911; 12 B.H.C.R. 250; 29 B. 480. In case of any error of procedure by any officer in applying the provisions of the Act, every presumption should be made in favour of the party likely to have been prejudiced by the error. 53 M. 921=1930 M. 836=60 M.L.J. 410. If there is any real doubt in the interpretation in matters of procedure under the Act, the benefit of doubt ought to be given to the party as against Government. 1931 M. 50=59 M. L.J. 911. Compensation for land cannot be awarded on two bases (as) both on the basis of a cocoanut tope and as it building site. 95 I.C. 577=23 L.W. 751. The method of valuation of land may be classified under three heads: (1) the opinion of valuators or experts; (2) the price paid within a reasonable time in bona fide transactions of purchase of the lands acquired or of the lands adjacent to the lands acquired and possessing similar advantages; and (3) a number of years' purchase of the actual or immediately prospective profits from the lands acquired. It is generally necessary to take two or all of these methods of valuation in order to arrive at a fairly correct valuation. 101 I.C. 269=1927 S. 168. As to valuation of property on rental basis, see ibid. As to valuation of residential property see 101 I.C. 269=1927 S. 168. The special provisions of the Act, which govern appeals under the Act, should not be extended by analogy to vary the provisions of the Court-Fees Act, a fiscal enactment which must be construed strictly. 14 P. 4=15 Pat.L.T. 548 =1934 P. 571 (S.B.).

BURDEN OF PROOF.—When Government are acquiring immovable property for a public purpose under the Act, it is for the person claiming compensation to establish his title to its affirmatively. 57 I.A. 339=58 C. 888 =1931 P.C. 1=60 M.L.J. 142 (P.C.). See also 66 I.A. 258=I.L.R. 1939 Kar. 363= 1939 P.C. 235=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 722 (P. SEC. 3 (a).—"Land", meaning of—Bungalow in cantonment limits. 45 B. 277=23 Bom.L.R. 148. See also* 34 B. 618. Land includes trees. See 30 M. 151=16 M.L.J. 551. Definition of "land" is wider than under T.P. Act. Expression includes buildings, trees and standing crops. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 396=1940 Sind 58 and also bungalows. I.L.R. (1938) All. 994=1938 A.L.J. 1171= 1938 All. 106. "Permanently fastened", meaning of. 54 C. 582=54 I.A. 187=53 M. L.J. 99 (P.C.); 1927 P.C. 172. Machinery fastened to earth is permanent and not temporary fastening. 54 C. 582 (P.C.). Fishery rights are not land. 35 C. 525=12 C.W. N. 569. See also 35 I.C. 97.

SEC. 3 (b): "PERSON INTERESTED".—The expression includes a person claiming an interest in compensation to be made on account of the acquisition of the land. 37 B. 76=14 Bom.L.R. 507. The expression does not include the Collector. 1937 R. 176=14 R. 344. The definition of a "person interested" is wide enough to cover the interest of a reversioner in the acquired land held by a widow on life estate, when he is entitled to succeed to the land on the death of the widow. 116 I.C. 335=1929 L. 736. The term includes a presumptive shebait. 41 C.W.N. 464. Also a lessee with a fixed term to run. 18 P.R. 1902. Also party to a valid agreement for purchase of land. 18 P.R. 1917 =37 I.C. 822. Also yearly tenant. 28 C. 152. Also a ryot. 7 C. 585. Also attaching decree-holder. 49 M. 38=97 I.C. 496=1926 M. 307. Also company or person on whose behalf acquisition is made. I.L.R. (f) the expression "public purpose" includes the provision of village sites in districts in which the Provincial Government shall have declared by notification in the Official Gazette that it is customary for the Government to make such provision: and trustees for other persons beneficially interested shall be deemed the persons entitled to act with reference to any such case, and that to the same extent as the persons beneficially interested could have acted if free from disability;

(g) the following persons shall be deemed persons "entitled to act" as and to the extent hereinafter provided (that is to say)

a married woman, in cases to which the English law is applicable, shall be deemed the person so entitled to act, and whether of full age or not, to the same extent as if she were unmarried and of full age; and the guardians of minors and the committees or managers of lunatics or idiots shall be deemed respectively the persons so entitled to act, to the same extent as the minors, lunatics or idiots themselves, if free from disability, could have acted:

Provided that—

(i) no person shall be deemed "entitled to act" whose interest in the subject-matter shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Collector or Court to be adverse to the interest of the person interested for whom he would otherwise be entitled to act:

(ii) in every such case the person interested may appear by a next friend or, in default of his appearance by a next friend, the Collector or Court, as the case may be, shall appoint a guardian for the case to act on his behalf in the conduct thereof;

(iii) the provisions of Chapter XXXI of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, mutatis mutandis, apply in the case of persons interested appearing before a Collector or Court by a next friend, or by a guardian for the case, in proceedings under this Act; and ACQUISITION.

Preliminary Investigation.

Publication of preliminary notification and powers of officers thereupon.

4. (1) Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that land in any locality [1][is needed or] is likely to be needed for any public purpose, a notification to that effect shall be published in the Official Gazette, and the Collector shall cause public notice of the substance of such notification to be given at convenient places in the said locality.

(2) Thereupon it shall be lawful for any officer, either generally or specially authorised[2] by such Government in this behalf, and for his servants and workmen,— to enter upon and survey and take levels of any land in such locality; to dig or bore into the sub-soil;

to do all other acts necessary to ascertain whether the land is adapted for such purpose;

LEG. REF.

SEC. 4.—The need for the public purpose is the test and not the hardship on the owner. 29 B. 480; 30 C. 36. See 23 I.C. 765=38 B. 565.

As to amendments with which this section should be read when land is required for the purposse of a company, see sec. 38 (2). A protected monument may be acquired under this Act as if its preservation were a "public purpose" within the meaning of the Act. See sec. 10 of the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act (VII of 1904).

Market value of land to be acquired is to be considered at the date of the publication of notification under sec. 4. 25 S.L.R. 285 =131 I.C. 222=1931 S. 52. Government issued a notification under sec. 4 (1) in May, 1923, stating the need for acquiring certain lands in two named districts. It did not give the extent of the lands nor any specific description. Subsequently the Land Acquisition Act was amended by Act XXXVIII of 1923 and Government issued a second notification under sec. 4 (1) in September, 1925 which contained full details of the lands to be acquired: Held, that the first notification was superseded by the second one and that the value of the lands should be determined as on the date of the second notification. 1932 M.W.N. 853. Where Government owns some interest in property to be acquired, such interest may or may not be mentioned in the notification. 1936 Pesh. 217,

SECS. 4 AND 6.—Acquisition proceedings cannot be held to be illegal and void by reason of the lapse of some years between the notification under sec. 4 and the notification under sec. 6. In the case of an elaborate and complicated scheme for which the acquisition is made, the detailed revision of which necessarily takes much time, there is bound to be delay and lapse of time; and in such a case it is not open to the Court to treat the notifications and proceedings as illegal and void. 39 Bom.L.R. 1257=1938 Bom. 148. The Act postulates a public purpose, as to the existence of which Government is the Judge. The Act nowhere postulates identity in the scheme by means of which the public object is to be carried out. All that is legally necessary is that the lands which it is intended to acquire for a public purpose should be notified first under sec. 4 and then under sec. 6 of the Act. Where the object of the scheme for which the acquisition is made is unchanged, the fact that there has been a change in the method of carrying out the scheme and financing it would not make it a new scheme so as to necessitate a fresh notification under sec. 4 of the Act. 39 Bom.L.R. 1257=1938 Bom. 148. Under the Act, it is the Local Government that has to be satisfied as to the existence of a public purpose. In the case of an acquisition for a Municipality to enable it to carry out a scheme, Government is not deprived of the power to go on with the acquisition proceedings merely because in the interval between the issue of the first notifications and the final notifications the Municipality changes its mind as to the necessity for the scheme. If at the material time, that is to say, when the notifications are issued, the Municipality has approved of the scheme and has moved the Government to take action, and still approves of it, the fact that at some time between the dates of the two notifications it was of a different opinion is irrelevant. The proceedings are not on that ground illegal or ultra vires 39 Bom.L.R. 1257=1938 Bom. 148. No interest in favour of Government arises from the notification under sec. 4. Although the date of the notification under sec. 4 is the date at which to set out the boundaries of the land proposed to be taken and the intended line of the work (if any) proposed to be made thereon;

to mark such levels, boundaries and line by placing marks and cutting trenches; and,

where otherwise the survey cannot be completed and the levels taken and the boundaries and line marked, to cut down and clear away any part of any standing crop, fence or jungle:

Provided that no person shall enter into any building or upon any enclosed court or garden attached to a dwelling house (unless with the consent of the occupier thereof) without previously giving such occupier at least seven days' notice in writing of his intention to do so.

Payment for damage.

5. The officer so authorised shall at the time of such entry pay or tender payment for all necessary damage to be done as aforesaid, and, in case of dispute as to the sufficiency of the amount so paid or tendered, he shall at once refer the dispute to the decision of the Collector or other chief revenue-officer of the district, and such decision shall be final.

Hearing of objections.

5-A. (1) Any person interested in any land which has been notified under section 4, sub-section (1), as being needed or likely to be needed for a public purpose or for a Company may, within thirty days after the issue of the notification, object to the acquisition of the land or of any land in the locality, as the case may be.

(2) Every objection under sub-section (1) shall be made to the Collector in writing, and the Collector shall give the objector an opportunity of being heard either in person or by pleader and shall, after hearing all such objections and after making such further inquiry, if any, as he thinks necessary, submit the case for the decision of the Porvincial Government, together with the record of the proceedings held by him and a report containing his recommendations on the objections. The decision of the Provincial Government on the objections shall be final.

(3) For the purposes of this section, a person shall be deemed to be interested in land who would be entitled to claim an interest in compensation if the land were acquired under this Act.]

values are to be considered, the identity of the property is determined by the notification under sec. 6. If in the period between the two notifications a part of the property has ceased to exist, whether by act of the owner or by accident, the value of that part has not to be taken into consideration when making the award. I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 396 =187 I.C. 714=1940 Sind 58.

SEC. 5-A.—Sec. 5-A is not retrospective. 28 Bom.L.R. 582=1926 B. 369. Sec. 5-A absolutely debars a Civil Court from questioning the propriety of a notification under sec. 4. The objector has to go to the Provincial Government and the finding of that Government on his objections is conclusive. A declaration in the notification under sec. 4 that the land had been resumed by the Government of India and that the superstructure only was being acquired, does not mean that the land was resumed by the notification, for resumption is absolutely foreign to the scheme of the Land Acquisition Act. Consequently, no suit lies to declare a notification under sec. 4 invalid merely because it relates to a fait accompli antecedent in time to the notification, namely the resumption of the land by the Government. 266 I.C. 188=1943 Pesh. 27. Where a District Board passed a resolution to acquire certain land but there was want of good faith, Courts have jurisdiction to interfere at the instance of the owner of the land, and declare the resolution ultra vires and grant an injunction. The owner need not wait to seek remedy under this section. 40 C.W.N. 687=1936 C. 225.

SEC. 6: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Court has no jurisdiction to consider the legality of the acquisition on the reference. 24 L.W. 833= 1927 M. 207; 49 M. 237=1925 M. 837=48 M.L.J. 204. See 1926 M. 1099=51 M.L.J.

Declaration that land is required for a public purpose.

Provincial Government is satisfied, after considering the report, if any, made under section 5 A, sub-section (2)] that any particular land is needed for a public purpose, or for a Company, a declaration shall be made to that effect under the signature of a Secretary to such Government or of some officer duly authorised to certify its orders:

Provided that no such declaration shall be made unless the compensation to be awarded for such property is to be paid by a Company, or wholly or partly out of public revenues or some fund controlled or managed by a local authority.

388; 51 M.L.J 849. See also notes under sec. 4 (supra). Sec. 6 requires the land proposed to be acquired to be specified but it does not require a plan to be prepared at that stage and made a part of the notification. Where the text of the declaration made under sec. 6 is that the whole of a certain cadastral plot was proposed for acquisition, but the plan to which reference was made in the declaration does not comprise the whole of that plot, such plan cannot, on the principle of falsa demonstratio non nocet, restrict the operation of the acquisition to only such portion of of the plot as would be covered by the said plan. In these circumstances, the plan can only be referred to for elucidation, where elucidation is necessary, but cannot subordinate the text of the declaration. I.L.R. (1942) 2 Cal. 378=1943 Cal. 233. Where there is not the slightest ambiguity or doubt as to what actual land was proposed to be acquired, and the only error arises from the question whether in fact the boundary line between the two districts lay to the north or the south of the specific and definite land mentioned in the declaration and actually acquired, the acquisition of the land is quite effective and valid. 76 C.L.J. 430. It is a sufficient compliance with the provisions of the proviso to sec. 6 (1), if any part of the compensation is paid out of the public funds. One anna is a part, and though a small part is nevertheless a part. 58 L.W. 430=1945 M.W.N. 511 =1945 Mad. 394=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 237 (F. B.). Sec. 6 (3) of the Act is not ultra vires, as it does not take away the right of suit from the subject but merely states that the Government declaration shall be conclusive evidence of the fact. 49 Mad. 237=48 M. L.J. 204=1925 M. 837. Declaration is conclusive. 66 I.C. 600=48 C. 916=1931 C. 159. A declaration under sec. 6 (1) is final, and cannot be questioned in a Court of law in the absence of an allegation or charge that the action of the Government in directing the acquisition in question is in fraud of its powers. 58 L.W. 430=1945 M.W.N. 511= 1945 Mad. 394=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 237 (F.B.); 45 All. 443. None of the provisions of the Act relating to compensation cover the case of acquisition of a highway used by the public with the consequential compensation to them. 41 B. 291=21 C.W.N. 447=43 I.A. 310 (P.C.)=1916 P.C. 3. Provisions of the Act to be strictly observed. 11 C.L.J. 612. See also 1926 M. 1099=51 M.L.J. 338. On this section, see also 50 M. 308=1927 M. 245 =51 M.L.J. 849; 105 I.C. 377=1927 C. 968. A notification would be conclusive evidence even where the notice had been issued subsequent to the filing of the suit for an injunction restraining Government from making the acquisition. The validity of a declaration cannot be called in question before it is in fact made. To find out if the requirement of the proviso to sec. 6 has been fulfilled, the Court should have regard to the state of things at the time of the declaration. Its validity cannot be made to depend upon some future contingent event. Where Government proposed to acquire house sites by advancing 80 per cent. of the cost in the first instance and recover the same from the grantees of the sites in the course of the next twenty years, held, the condition in the proviso to sec. 6 (1) was fulfilled. 1930 M. 708=59 M. L.J 274; 1929 M.W.N. 779=1930 M. 248. See also 1931 M. 361=1931 M.W.N. 126. A declaration under sec. 6 (3) is ordinarily conclusive of the fact that the land is needed for a public purpose or for a company. It cannot be conclusive of the liability to acquisition, if it be found that any illegality was committed at the proceedings or if there was material violation of any of the provisions of the Act in any of the stages prior to the declaration. If the declaration says that the land is required for a public purpose, whereas in fact the land is admittedly required for a company, it is difficult to see how such a declaration can be conclusive of anything. It cannot be conclusive of the fact that the land is needed for a public purpose, since that is not so; and it can hardly be conclusive of the fact that the land is required for a company, if this is not stated. But where the parties are fully aware of the purpose for which the acquisition is made, a defect in the declaration will not vitiate the acquisition proceedings. 1939 A.L.J. 757=1939 All. 557. The validity of the acquisition proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act depends upon the existence of a public purpose and not upon the question whether the whole cost of the scheme could legally be debited to the Municipality or public body on whose behalf the acquisitions are made. A notification under sec. 6 does not therefore become illegal because it seeks to acquire lands for the purpose of recouping the cost of the scheme. Where the Municipality or public body has power conferred upon it under the statute creating it, to acquire adjacent land for a particular purpose, and to dispose of that land, the fact that the scheme is to be financed or partly financed out of the proceeds cannot make the acquisition illegal. 39 Bom.L.R. 1257=1938 Bom. 148. (3) The said declaration shall be conclusive evidence that the land is needed for a public purpose or for a Company, as the case may be; and, after making such declaration, the Provincial Government may acquire the land in manner hereinafter appearing.

the terms of the grant, the right to refuse compensation must depend on proof on the part of the Government that the land was required for a public purpose, for which purpose the Government might put in the notification as evidence on their side, but it was not conclusive for the purpose of defeating the claimant's right to compensation; that evidence led could not be considered for the purpose of defeating the Government's right to issue the notification to acquire the land, but would be relevant only for the purpose of determining the claimant's right to compensation under the kowl. I.L.R. (1940) Bom. 492=42 Bom.L.R. 506=1940 Bom. 260. In 1919 Government resolved to acquire the claimant's land under the Act and by arrangement with the sutidars took possession of such land. It proceeded to erect certain building on the land without the necessary notification which was not served until 4th November, 1920, when the Government notified under sec. 6 of the Act that the lands were needed for a public purpose and the Collector took order for the acquisition thereof. Held, that the Government officials were in possession 'not as mere trespassers' but under such a colour of title that the building erected by them on the land ought not to be included in the valuation as having become the property of the land-owner. The claimant was held entitled to compensation for occupation of the lands by the officials before notification of the 4th November, from the date when Government took possession. 56 I.A. 259=53 B. 589=1929 P.C. 163=57 M.L.J. 139 (P.C.). A declaration was made that a certain land was acquired for quarry in connection with the construction of a bridge. It contained a provision as follows: "Mines of coal, ironstone, slate or other minerals lying under the land or any particular portion of the land except only such parts of the mines and minerals as it may be necessary to dig or carry away or use in the construction of the work for the purpose of which the land is being acquired are not needed". On a reference to the Court as to whether the underground minerals had been acquired, held, (1) that stones other than those required for the construction of the bridge vested in the owner of the land; (2) that the stones so required came under the category of "other minerals" mentioned in the declaration. 8 P. 742=1930 P. 112.

PROCEDURE.—Statement of claim by claimant is necessary. Merely sending certified copy of sale-deed is not same as a claim to the amount stated therein as sale price. See 7 L. 416=1926 L. 401. All that sec. 9 requires is that a person claiming should (1) specify the interest he claims (2) specify the amount he claims for such interest, and (3) give particulars of his claim to compensation. It does not require him to specify the amount of compensation he claims in respect of each of the six sub-heads referred to in sec. 23 of the Act. Failure, therefore, to specify the amount claimed in respect of any particular sub-head of sec. 23 is no bar to the Judge reviewing the award of the L.A. Officer in respect of such sub-head. 1933 S. 21=146 I.C. 1040=27 S.L.R. 84. But see 1936 L. 733,

The Collector may in any case require such statement to be made in writing and signed by the party or his agent.

(3) The Collector shall also serve notice to the same effect on the occupier (if any) of such land and on all such persons known or believed to be interested therein, or to be entitled to act for persons so interested, as reside or have agents authorised to receive service on their behalf, within the revenue district in which the land is situate.

SEC. 9 (2) AND (3): NOTICE.—The provision that 15 days' time should be allowed is not repeated in Cl. (3) and therefore does not apply to a personal notice served under Cl. (3). 49 A. 145=98 I.C. 806=1927 A. 183. But see contra 1931 M. 323=1930 C. 471=57 C. 837. Section does not require fifteen clear days' notice. Where notice was served on the 8th and the date was the 23rd it is sufficient compliance with the statute. 12 P.L.T. 659 =1932 P. 134 The failure to issue the notice under sec. 9 (3) does not render the subsequent proceedings null and void. 76 C.L.J. 430. A notice which calls upon the occupier to appear before Collector to inform the nature of the right he/possessed in the lands and the amount due to him out of the compensation to be given for that right is a valid notice. It cannot be said to be ambiguous or defective merely for the reason that it did not call upon him to state the amount and particulars of his claim to compensation. 53 M 921=1930 M. 836=60 M.L.J. 410. A claimant cannot be said to have waived the irregularity of a short notice simply by reason of having appeared before the Collector on the date fixed. It must be shown that the claimant knew his legal right to fifteen days' notice and was prepared to renounce the benefit of it. 53 M. 921=1930 M. 836=60 M.L.J. 410. Where the party served with notice failed to appear on the date fixed but subsequently he was permitted by the L.A. Officer to file two sale-deeds in respect of land close to the land under acquisition, held, that there was no valid compliance with the notice and that the officer was entitled under those circumstances to award compensation as he thought fit. In order to comply with sec. 9 (2), claimant must put forward a claim for a specific amount and the filing of the sale-deeds of the adjacent land is not sufficient for the purpose. 53 M. 533=1930 M. 618= 59 M.L.J. 33.

APPELLATE COURT.—Appellate Court can consider the question as to whether the failure of the claimant to specify the amount of his claim was with or without sufficient cause and whether the omission could be condoned where the District Judge had failed to do so. Where a claimant failed to specify the amount in the belief that he was not required to do so, such belief would afford a sufficient ground for condonation, and more so, when the claimant had placed materials showing what his expert considered to be a fair compensation. 1932 S. 21=27 S.L.R. 84.

RYOTWARI LAND—COMPENSATION—BASIS OF ASSESSMENT.—In awarding compensation for land compulsorily acquired, the land acquisition officer should first of all estimate the value of the land, and with that value as a basis, take into consideration any other special factors, and calculate the proper compensation to be paid. If the value of the land can be directly estimated by the value of the property in the neighbourhood, then that is the best manner of estimating the value of the land acquired, provided that there has been a sale of the land at or about the time when the acquisition was notified under sec. 4. Where the sales of neighbouring land forming the basis of the award of the Land Acquisition Officer were dated January, 1926, and the notification under the Act was in November, 1938, and it appeared that in between these dates the price of paddy had appreciated to a certain extent: Held, that the proper method of awarding compensation was to proceed on the value of the land in the neighbourhood, at the same time making an allowance for the enhanced value in proportion to the rise in the price of paddy. In awarding compensation, whatever may be said with regard to a melwaram interest in a zamindari land or a vacant site, it would be difficult to accept the current rate of interest on gilt-edged securities as a safe guide to the multiple to be applied to the annual profits of ryotwari land. 1944 M.W.N. 103 =57 L.W. 115=1944 Mad. 271=(1944) 1 M. L.J. 142. In assessing compensation under the Land Acquisition Act the Land Acquisition Officer and the District Judge are bound to exercise their own judgment as to the correct basis of valuation, and their judgment cannot be controlled by an agreement between the parties interested. 73 I.A. 44=I. L.R. 1946 A. 185=1946 P.C. 75=50 C.W.N. 401=1946 M.W.N. 158=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 333 (P.C.).

SEC. 11 (ii).—Owner can have the price of the land fixed with reference to its situation and the probable use it is likely to be put to in the near future. 61 P.W.R. 1916=35 I. C. 283. Compensation to be allowed under sec. 11 (ii) means the total amount of compensation awardable for the land including all the considerations mentioned in sec. 23. 22 M.L.J. 279=14 I.C. 270. Award is final only when filed. 59 I.C. 429=22 Bom.L.R. 1136. The correct rule for determining the amount of compensation is that the land to be acquired is to be valued in the first instance including all interests and the amount so ascertained has then to be apportioned amongst the parties interested according to their interests. (42 M. 644, Foll.) 55 C.L. J. 558=1933 C. 312. The opinion mentioned in sec. 11 (ii) should be that of the Collector only and of no other person. Where the award made by the Collector is based on "instructions" issued by the Commissioner, it cannot be sustained. 14 R. 209=162 I.C. 700=1936 R. 206. It would be ultra vires of any other authority to usurp the functions of collector under this section. 1936 Pesh. 217.

SEC. 11 (iii).—Where under an agreement between a landlord and tenant, the tenant accepted a fixed sum as compensaton, the landlord would be entitled to all enhanced compensation. 44 C.L.J. 1=1926 C. 1000. As to compensation in case of occupancy lands see 1926. P. 16=3 P.L.R. 111. Under the Land Acquisition Act, the amount of compensation is to be divided in proportion to the value of interests of all persons interested in the land. But the question of apportionment of the sum awarded between the several interests must not be based on hypothetical grounds. Any remote interest should not be taken into consideration. In the case of an inam village granted under a sanad providing that the inam should continue in the family so long as there may be in existence descendants of the original grantee in the male line, it cannot be said that the grantor Government has any interest which is saleable of which, the law can take note and which could be made the basis of an apportionment of compensation on compulsory acquisition of the inam village. The interest of the Government is at best a remote contingent interest, the chance of the inam coming to an end by failure of the male line. Such an interest or chance can scarcely be appreciable by a money value or a money payment. The inamdar is therefore entitled to the whole compensation money without deduction. 176 I.C. 642=40 Bom.L.R. 432=1938 Bom. 325. See also 73 C.L.J. 595. According to sec. 11 the Collector must, when he makes his award, take into account the interest of all parties, assess the total amount of compensation and apportion it as between the claimants. A series of awards in respect of the same property is not contemplated by the Act. If a person interested is not given anything by the apportionment, his remedy is to claim a reference challenging the award and not to ask for another award in his favour. 1939 A.L.J. 85=1939 All. 130.

AWARD BY LAND ACQUISITION OFFICER—CONTENTS OF.—The duty of the Collector under sec. 11 is to make an award in regard to three matters, viz., (1) area of the land included in the award; (2) total compensation to be allowed for that land; and (3) apportionment of that compensation among all the persons interested in that land. 59 I. A. 155=54 A. 286=1932 P.C. 102=62 M. L.J. 682 (P.C.). Act does not contemplate that where more than one person is interested in a parcel of land there should be more than one award relating thereto. Each award should contain within its four corners the fixing of value of the land with which it deals, and the apportionment of that value between the various persons interested in that land. 59 I.A. 155=54 A. 286=1932 P.C. 102=62 M.L.J. 682 (P.C.). The Board of Trustees for Improvement of Calcutta has power to enter into a contract for settling the price of the land with the owner before proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act are started. In the land acquisition proceedings, the Collector is under no obligation to disregard the contract and to proceed to determine the market value under sec. 11 of the Act. He should rather respect the contract and make an award on its basis. If a reference is made by the Collector under sec. 18, the Improvement Tribunal is not bound to take evidence of market value and to award compensation on its basis. The contract between the owner and the Board which is a perfectly valid one and which can be enforced in a Civil Court would prevent the owner from leading any evidence relating to market value before the Improvement Tribunal or in proceedings upon any other footing than that of the contract. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 231=41 C.W.N. 1291=66 C.L.J. 134 =1937 Cal. 680.

SECS. 11 AND 26: AWARD UNDER—DIFFERENCE.—Under sec. 26 the award of the Court is not the same as an award by the Collector under sec. 11. An award by the Collector under sec. 11 must include the apportionment of the compensation among all the persons known or believed to be interested in the land, of whom, or of whose claims, he has information, whether or not they have respectively appeared before him. That forms no part of the award as defined in sec. 26. Hence an award of Court under sec. 26 cannot be deemed to be a decree executable against the Collector. 1933 R. 176=11 R. 344.

SECS. 11 AND 34.—Although the Collector, after he has made his award under sec. 11, is not competent to amend it or make a supple-

12. (1) Such award shall be filed in the Collector's office, and shall, except as hereinafter provided, be final and conclusive evidence, as between the Collector and the persons interested, whether they have respectively appeared before the Collector or not, of the true area and value of the land, and the apportionment of the compensation among the persons interested.

Award of Collector when to be final.

(2) The Collector shall give immediate notice of his award to such of the persons interested as are not present personally or by their representatives when the award is made.

13. The Collector may, for any cause he thinks fit from time to time, adjourn the enquiry to a day to be fixed by him.

Adjournment of enquiry.

14. For the purpose of enquiries under this Act the Collector shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, including the parties interested or any of them, and to compel the production of documents by the same means, and (so far as may be) in the same manner, as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Power to summon and enforce attendance of witnesses and production of documents.

15. In determining the amount of compensation, the Collector shall be guided by the provisions contained in sections 23 and 24.

mentary award, except in cases of clerical errors or other mistakes or omissions apparent on the face of the record, he is not in any way incompetent to enter into a compromise with the claimants who have got a reference under sec. 18, Land Acquisition Act, and pay them an extra sum of money on the basis of such settlement on condition of their withdrawing the reference. An entry of such an order for payment in the award statement kept in Form A prescribed in Appendix 7 of the Civil Accounts Code does not amount to an amendment of the award itself. The award statement is, therefore, not inadmissible in evidence. 73 C.L.J. 595 =43 C.W.N. 1185.

SEC. 12.—The Local Government has power to appoint a special Collector, but once appointed, it has no power to interfere with his award or ask him to substitute a smaller amount. 36 B. 599=14 Bom.L.R. 592. A separate suit for the recovery of the value of the land acquired is not maintainable. 48 I. C. 702=29 C.L.J. 53.

NOTICE.—Notice under sec. 12 (2) is not properly served on the manager of the office of the receiver of an estate in the absence of the Receiver: The notice must be served in the way provided by sec. 45 (3) of the Act. 33 M.L.J. 472=42 I.C. 235. See also 16 O.C. 374=22 I.C. 652.

ACQUIRING OFFICER'S AWARD—MODIFICATION—BURDEN OF PROOF.—The acquiring officer's award is strictly speaking not an award at all but an offer. But if his award is not accepted and the matter is taken into Court the proceedings are thenceforward judicial in character. The party claiming enhanced compensation is more or less in the position of a plaintiff and must produce evidence to show that the award is inadequate. If he has no evidence the award must stand and if he succeeds in showing prima facie that the award is inadequate, Government must support the award by producing evidence. 35 Bom.L.R. 763=1933 B. 361.

SEC. 14.—The Government is a person interested within the meaning of sec. 14 in the amount of compensation paid to a Gountia in Sambalpur in respect of bhogra land and is also entitled to a share of the compensation. Leaving the tenant's portion, the landlord in such cases will be entitled to sixteen years' purchase of the annual rent. The simple method of apportioning this amount is to award one-fourth as the Gountia's share and the balance to the Government. 11 P.L.T. 374=1931 P. 131.

SEC. 15.—See Notes under ss. 23 and 24. See also 33 B. 325; 11 I.C. 838=252 P.L.R. 1911; 103 P.L.R. 1909. The actual lay out of a site at the time of acquisition should be taken as the most lucrative way of utilizing it at that time. 1931 L. 364. On acquisition due allowance must be made for the probable use which would have given the dispossessed owner the best return and not merely its present use or disposition. The presumption must always be that a man makes the best use of his own property. It is not sufficient to rely on hypothetical building schemes but the owner must show that he was going to make a certain use of his property which would have brought him profits or that he would have made such use of it had he not been prevented by unavoidable circumstances if he wishes the Court to give an enhanced value to that property on acquisition by Government. (1931) L. 207, Foll. 1931 L. 364.

Power to take possession.

16. When the Collector has made an award under section 11, he may take possession of the land, which shall thereupon [1][vest absolutely in the Crown], free from all encumbrances.

Special powers in cases of urgency.

17. (1) In cases of urgency, whenever the Provincial Government so directs, the Collector, though no such award has been made, may, on the expiration of fifteen days from the publication of the notice mentioned in section 9, sub-section (1), take possession of any waste or arable land needed for public purposes or for a Company. Such land shall thereupon [1][vest absolutely in the Crown], free from all encumbrances.

(2) Whenever, owing to any sudden change in the channel of any navigable river or other unforeseen emergency, it becomes necessary for any Railway Administration to acquire the immediate possession of any land for the maintenance of their traffic or for the purpose of making thereon a river-side or ghat station, or of providing convenient connection with or access to any such station, the Collector may, immediately after the publication of the notice mentioned in sub-section (1) and with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government, enter upon and take possession of such land, which shall thereupon [1][vest absolutely in the Crown] free from all encumbrances:

Provided that the Collector shall not take possession of any building or part of a building under this sub-section without giving to the occupier thereof at least forty-eight hours' notice of his intention so to do, or such longer notice as may be reasonably sufficient to enable such occupier to remove his movable property from such building without unnecessary inconvenience.

(3) In every case under either of the preceding sub-sections the Collector shall at the time of taking possession offer to the persons interested compensation for the standing crops and trees (if any) on such land and for any other damage sustained by them caused by such sudden dispossession and not excepted in section 24; and, in case such offer is not accepted, the value of such crops and trees and the amount of such other damage shall be allowed for in awarding compensation for the land under the provisions herein contained.

compulsory powers, the arbitrator in awarding compensation must ascertain to the best of his ability the price that would be paid by a willing purchaser to a willing vendor of the land with its potentiality in the same way that he would ascertain it in a case where there are several possible purchasers and he is no more confined to awarding the land's 'poramboke' value, (i.e.) value of similar lands without its potentialities, in the former case than he is in the latter. 66 I.A. 104=I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 532=43 C.W.N. 557=1939 P.C. 98=(1932) 2 M.L.J. 45 (P.C.).

SEC. 16: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Acquisition of land under sec. 16 vests the land in the Government free of all "incumbrances" which include a right of passage to the public. 41 B. 291=21 C.W.N. 447=43 I.A. 310 (P.C.). The word "incumbrance" in sec. 16 means some burden created by acts or omissions of human beings. It does not mean a burden or obligation created by nature. The acquisition under the Act of a portion of a bed of a river does not therefore, extinguish the burden upon it to pass the running water downwards to the lower riparian owners. I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 172=76 C.L.J. 67=47 C.W.N. 130=1943 Cal. 128. Several fishery in a navigable river cannot be regarded as an encumbrance on the land, that is on the subjacent soil, and it would not accordingly be destroyed on a compulsory acquisition of the subjacent soil by the force of the provisions of sec. 16. 48 C.W.N. 537 =A.I.R. 1944 Cal. 315. Making of an award and taking possession of the land by the Collector vest the property absolutely in the Government. 43 M. 280=37 M.L.J. 618=53 I.C. 646. After the Government has taken possession of the land proposed to be acquired, it cannot withdraw from the acquisition. It is bound to complete the proceedings, make an award and give compensation. 14 N.L.J. 17 (Rev.). Encumbrances include easements. 46 C.W.N. 136=1943 Cal. 35=I.L.R. (1942) 1 Cal. 488. Even an easement of necessity which comes into existence at the time of acquisition is extinguished. 6 L. 329=1925 L. 523; 1936 A.L.J. 1160=1936 A. 879. On this section, see also 36 M. 373=22 M.L.J. 445.

[1][(4) In the case of any land to which, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) are applicable, the Provincial Government may direct that the provisions of section 5-A shall not apply, and, if it does so direct, a declaration may be made under section 6 in respect of the land at any time after the publication of the notification under section 4, sub-section (1).]

PART III.

REFERENCE TO COURT AND PROCEDURE THEREON.

Reference to Court.

18. (1) Any person interested who has not accepted the award may, by written application to the Collector, required that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Court, whether his objection be to the measurement of the land, the amount of the compensation, the persons to whom it is payable, or the apportionment of the compensation among the persons interested.

LEG. REF.

[1] Inserted by Act XXXVIII of 1923, sec. 6.

SEC. 18: SCOPE OF SECTION.—Conditions precedent. 26 O.C. 324=1924 O. 127. The intention of the Act is that Court should hold a separate inquiry and its proceedings are not a mere continuation of that of the Collector's. They are judicial proceedings and the decision must be based on evidence before Court or on admission made by the opposite party. Evidence before Collector cannot be considered as evidence before Court except with the consent of parties. 8 R. 364=127 I.C. 733=1930 R. 346. Sec. 18 of the Land Acquisition Act contemplates four kinds of objection, which are set forth in sub-sec. (1). Sub-sec. (2) requires the claimant to state the grounds of his objection. There is a sufficient compliance with sec. 18 (2) if the application for reference states on which of the four heads of objection detailed in sub-sec. (1) the applicant proposes to rely. Once it is ascertained that the objection taken is only to the amount of compensation, that alone is the matter referred and Court has no power to determine or consider anything beyond it. But that does not mean that when an objection to the amount of compensation has been taken, the Court has no jurisdiction to work out the amount of compensation in a manner different from that which has been adopted in the statement of objections. The Court would have jurisdiction to award compensation on a different or new basis in a proper case, though no express objection was taken on that basis and no specific claim for compensation to that effect was urged before the land acquisition officer. The rule enacted in sec. 18 (2) in one of procedure rather than of jurisdiction. I.L.R. (1938) M. 479=1937 M.W.N. 773=46 L.W. 492=1937 Mad. 902. See also 66 I.A. 145 =I.L.R. 1939 All. 460=1939 P.C. 133=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 98 (P.C.). Jurisdiction of Courts under the Act is a special one and is strictly limited by the terms of secs. 18, 20 and 21. It only arises when specific objection has been taken to Collector's award, and it is confined to a consideration of that objection. Where the only objection taken is to the amount of compensation, that alone is the "matter" referred, and the Court has no power to determine or consider anything beyond it, as, for instance, an objection to the measurement of the land. 57 I.A. 100 =57 C. 1148=1930 P.C. 64=58 M.L.J. 223 (P.C.). The Collector has power to make a reference under sec. 18 on certain specified conditions. The Court is bound to satisfy itself that the reference made to it by the Collector complies with the specified conditions. I.L.R. (1944) Bom. 90=46 Bom.L.R. 375=1944 Bom. 200. It is the duty of the Collector before he makes the reference under sec. 18 to decide on the materials before him and if he decides to make and does make a reference, it is not open to the Land Acquisition Court to go behind it. If it is not open to the High Court or any other authority to interfere when the Land Acquisition Officer refuses to make a reference his decision must be equally final when he decides to make and does make a reference. Where the Collector, as the Land Acquisition Officer, mentioned in a letter to the Subordinate Judge that he had doubts whether the reference should be made but the order of reference was worded as if it was a judicial order and gave the reason for reference and the names of the persons interested and the amount as required by the Act: Held, (1) that in the absence in the order of reference of mention as regards the propriety of making the reference, the validity of the reference could not be questioned. (2) It is not obligatory on the part of the Collector to give notice to interested persons whom he is not aware of. If he chooses to give notice, then that person will have to apply within six weeks for a reference being made. But if no notice is given, then the period of limitation within which to apply will be six months. 56 L.W. 85=1943 M.W.N. 49=1943 Mad. 327=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 66. If a claim for compensation for injurious affection on account of severance under the item "thirdly" in sec. 23 has not been made in reply to a notice under sec. 9 of the Act, such a claim cannot be made or allowed for the first time in a reference to the Court under sec. 18 of the Act. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 217=196 I.C. 285 =1941 Sind 152. On a reference to a Court,

(2) The application shall state the grounds on which objection to the award is taken.

the matters for decision may include either a question as to the total amount of compensation, a question in which the Collector is clearly interested, or a dispute between the parties claiming amongst themselves as to the person or persons to whom compensation should be paid, a question in which the Act does not consider the Collector to be interested. On such a reference the Court has not to decide whether or not the Collector had been so negligent that he should be required to pay the compensation twice over to different persons, and a question of that sort is one which can only be decided satisfactorily in a seprate suit. 1933 R. 176=11 R. 344. Application not mentioning ground for reference, but mentioning that proceedings should be postponed till decision of suit regarding validity of acquisition and that compensation was low, is not application under sec. 18, though Collector makes reference on such application; District Judge gets no jurisdiction to decide it. 49 A. 212=25 A.L.J. 35=97 I.C. 566=1926 A. 766. But see also 99 I.C. 269=1927 M. 282. Proceedings under the Act resulting in an award are merely administrative and not judicial and the decision therein binds the Collector only. 51 I.C. 501=16 A.L.J. 669. See also 36 I.C. 621=4 L.W. 535. If the owner desires a judicial ascertainment of the value of his property, he can ask the Collector to do it according to sec. 18. 51 I.C. 501=16 A.L.J. 669. No formalities are required in asking for a reference. A letter written by the claimant to the L.A. Officer stating his non-acceptance of the amount awarded and requesting a reference to the High Court is sufficient. 155 I.C. 280=1935 M. 379 (2). Tenant or sub-tenant can claim to be heard even though he has no saleable interest. 1925 C. 197=39 C.L.J. 574. Where part of the property sought to be acquired was in the possession of a tenant and he had filed an objection setting out his claims, and an award is made in favour of the owner without any reference to the claims of the tenant and the tenant applies more than a year after the award for a consideration of his claims, which is summarily rejected on the ground that he should have appealed, this order of the Land Acquisition Officer does not amount to an award and no valid reference could be made in respect of it under sec. 18. 180 I.C. 882=1939 A.L.J. 85=1939 All. 130. Under the Act there are two perfect and distinct forms of procedure contemplated. The first is necessary for fixing the amount of compensation and this is an award from which a limited right of appeal to the High Court is given by sec. 54. The second is when a question of title arises between conflicting claimants as regards the title to the compensation money in Court. 45 M. 320=1922 P.C. 80=43 M.L.J. 78=49 I. A. 129 (P.C.). When the Collector on such a dispute arising between the parties places the money under the control of the Court and the parties proceed to litigate their rights to the money, the decision of the Court on such a dispute is a decree and is appealable to the High Court and the Privy Council. It is in no sense an award and the restriction on the right of appeal imposed by sec. 54 does not govern the case. 45 M. 320 (P.C.). Where the owner of the shop, acquired for the Municipal Committee, being aware that there would be compulsory acquisition for widening the road on behalf of the Municipal Board enters into a sale with a false consideration so as to obtain a large amount by way of compensation, he is not entitled to more than the real price of the house. High rental value for taxation is immaterial where owners have voluntarily agreed to a high assessment so as to obtain extra compensation. I.L.R. (1944) All. 358=1944 All. 216.

APPLICATION OF THE SECTION.—Sec. 18 does not apply to the determination of the questions of title to and the investment of money. 13 I.C. 550=237 P.W.R. 1912. It requires only the grounds of the objection to be given, and by 'grounds' is meant such of the four grounds mentioned in sec. 18 (1) as are relied upon. 66 I.A. 145=I.L.R. (1939) All. 460=1939 P.C. 133=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 98 (P.C.). Reference to Civil Court under the Act is the only remedy of the owners or claimants. 52 P.R. 1913 (Supp.)=17 I.C. 684. Where there is a dispute as to who is the actual claimant to the compensation the Divisional Judge can decide questions of title to the money. 13 I.C. 550=237 P.W.R. 1912. A reference under sec. 30 is made solely on the question of title by the acquisition officer of his own motion, whilst the reference under sec. 18 is made on the application of a person interested in the compensation money. 53 I.C. 589=97 P.R. 1919. A case referred under sec. 18 is subject to the limitation contained in sec. 26 and not merely any particular objection, and the District Judge has power and is bound to consider the question of the compensation awarded in its entirety. 54 I.C. 920. The reference to the Court by the Collector relates to the total amount of compensation to be awarded by the Court and nothing in the Act prevents the Judge from awarding a less sum on any one of the items, though he cannot award a less sum in total than the Collector's award. 22 M.L.J. 379=14 I.C. 270. When a case is referred by the Collector to the Court, the whole case is referred and not any particular objection. 22 M. L.J. 379. The words "require that the matter be referred by the Collector for the determination of the Court" in sec. 18 (1), merely mean that the point on which the Collector's award is disputed may be referred to the Court at the instance of a claimant. When such a dispute has been referred to the Court, the scope of the enquiry before the Court should be limited within the bounds of the dispute which had actually arisen before the Collector. Therefore, on a reference made to the Court for the determination of the amount of compensation, the Court has no jurisdiction to allow the claimant to amend his application by increasing his claim to a figure far beyond that which he claimed before the Collector. I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 69. See also (1943) 1 M.L.J. 278=1943 M. 337.

BURDEN OF PROOF.—In a reference to the Court the award of the acquisition officer is prima facie evidence and the burden is on the claimant to show that the award is wrong. 96 I.C. 279=1926 M. 961; 1934 L. 97. See also I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 231=41 C.W.N. 1291=66 C.L.J. 134=1937 Cal. 680. Initially the burden of proving that the Collector's award is wrong is on the claimant, but where District Judge has assessed the value of land acquired by the Secretary of State at a particular rate and the Secretary of State is disputing the assessing value, the burden of proving that the assessing value is wrong is placed on the Secretary of State. (1926 M. 961, Expl. and Dist.) 118 I.C 541=1929 L. 112; 1934 L. 97. In cases of reference under sec. 18, the Collector is a defendant and has to support his award. He must do so by producing evidence and establishing the facts upon which he relies. He cannot rely upon any statement in his award that the amount awarded per katha of land is based on the average price per katha contained in a number of kabalas or sale-deeds, without proving those kabalas on which he relies. The kabalas must be produced, and proved if not admitted by the other party, and evidence must be given on behalf of the Collector as to where the lands, which are the subject-matter of the kabalas are situate, and as to the nature of the lands. It is enough for the Collector to obtain information from the registration office about the average sale price of several kabalas relating to lands, without causing the kabalas themselves to be produced in Court. 21 Pat.L.T. 9=1940 Pat. 362.

PRESUMPTION.—In the absence of any definite evidence the Court may presume that the interests of the landlord and of the occupancy tenant exclusive of specific amounts spent on extraordinary improvements of the land are in the ratio of 10: 6; but if there are other considerations, that presumption may be rebutted. 55 A. 897 =1934 A.L.J. 8=1934 A. 239 (F.B.).

NECESSARY PARTY.—See 1940 Pat. 362. When the Collector acquired certain land on behalf of a Municipality and the Collector made a reference under sec. 18 of the Act, held, that to such a proceeding the Municipality was not a necessary party. 7 R. 20 =117 I.C. 247=1929 R. 115. In proceedings under sec. 18 wherein ownership is claimed by Government and denied by other parties having admittedly some interest, the Secretary of State need not be made a party. 9 M.L.T. 272=9 I.C. 341. As to addition of parties, see 31 C.W.N. 384=1927 C. 352. The principle of O. 1, r. 10 (2), C.P. Code, does not apply to proceedings under the section. 31 C.W.N. 384, ibid.

PERSONS INTERESTED.—Although Government can neither be a claimant nor 'person interested' under the Act, yet its title can be decided, if an adverse title is set up by a claimant. 1936 Pesh. 217. An award was with respect to three survey numbers which were in dispute in a Civil Court between two claimants, A and B. Prior to the notification in the acquisition proceedings A had obtained a decree in the trial Court against B with respect to two out of the three survey numbers B had appealed, but A had not but could have filed cross-objections with regard to the third survey number: Held, that A was a person interested in the third survey number also. 1931 P.C. 39=60 M. L.J. 399 (P.C.). A presumptive shebait of debutter property is a 'person interested' and can ask for a reference under this section. 41 C.W.N. 464. Also company on whose behalf acquisition is made. 43 C.W.N 973=1939 Cal. 669=I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 401. As to right of heir of recorded tenant under C.P. Tenancy Act to object to award of compensation, see 1936 P. 542. Where a case is referred to the District Judge on objections being raised to the award of the L.A. Officer and the case on appeal to the High Court by some of objectors is again remanded to the District Judge an objector who has not taken part in the proceeding before the District Judge and those who have not appealed from the order of the District Judge, are not entitled to intervene as objectors on remand. 1933 L. 948=35 P.L.R. 221.

POWER OF COLLECTOR TO MAKE REFERENCE. —A Collector's authority to make a reference as the agent of Government is restricted by sec. 18. 11 I.C. 690=7 N.L.R. 88. See also 1934 A.L.J. 32=1934 A. 260 =56 All. 656 (F.B.).

GROUNDS OF REFERENCE.—Grounds of reference, if should be stated in detail. 58 I.C. 631 (1)=24 C.W.N. 716. A highly technical objection that the application requiring the Collector to make a reference was not made by the proper person should be taken at the first opportunity when it might possibly have been met by making a fresh application, and if not so taken, must be considered to have been waived. 131 I.C. 552=1931 P.C. 39=60 M.L.J. 399 (P.C.). Where in respect of certain Bungalows, both the Government as well as the owner, claimed the ownership of the site and the Collector found the Government to be the owner of the site and awarded compensation for buildings alone, a reference to the District Judge in respect of that order under sec. 18 of the Land Acquisition Act is competent and the District Judge ahs jurisdiction to deal with such a reference. 1939 A. 34=1938 A.L.J. 1161.

WHO CAN CLAIM REFERENCE.—As to whether a Hindu reversioner can claim a reference, see 105 I.C. 219=1927 M. 867. See also 41 C.W.N. 764 (Presumptive shebait).

Person entitled defending proceedings under the Act—Another person found entitled in appeal can continue the proceedings. 1928 M. 89. Persons who have received notice and who have appeared before the Collector at the time of the apportionment of the compensation money must, if they object to that apportionment make an application under sec. 18 of the Act and are not entitled to avail themselves of proviso (3), sec. 31 (2) of the Act and are therefore debarred from filing a civil suit. 147 I.C. 877=30 N.L.R. 40=1933 Nag. 322. See also I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 401=43 C.W.N. 973=1939 Cal. 669. (A company or local authority for whom land is acquired is a person interested and can claim a reference under this section).

RECEIVER.—An acceptance of the award by the receiver who is appointed by the Court to an estate and directed to accept the award on behalf of the claimants where the appointment was "without prejudice to the contentions of the parties" as to the inadequacy of the compensation money, will not take away the right of a claimant to make a reference. Though a party is not actually present when the award is drawn up and signed, when a receiver appointed by the Court for the estate is directed to accept the award on behalf of the claimants and he appears before the Collector on the date when the award is drawn up and signed and accepts the award, that is a sufficient representation of the parties concerned, and the party who is not actually present is also represented and comes within the terms of sec. 18 (2) (a). 38 C.W.N. 844=61 C. 1041=1934 C. 758.

LIMITATION.—The Court has power when a reference is made under sec. 18 to go into the question of limitation. This is specially so in a case where the Collector himself has included the question of limitation as part of the reference in his letter accompanying the reference and has not decided the question himself. When the Land Acquisition Officer purports to act under Part III of the Act he acts as a judicial officer and not merely as an agent or mouthpiece of the Government. 1945 M.W.N. 775 (2)=(1945) 2 M.L.J. 559. Under sec. 18 (2) (a) of the Act, an award cannot be said to be made until it is drawn up and signed by the Collector. It is not "made" when it is settled what the award is going to be. Hence the starting point of limitation under sec. 18 (2) (a) is the date on which it is so drawn up and signed. 38 C.W.N. 844=61 C. 1041=1934 C. 758. Where objections to an award are filed more than six months after the date of the award and after a reference has been made to the District Judge and the objections are forwarded to the District Judge who dismisses them summarily on the ground of their being barred by time it is not open to the objector thereafter to file a suit for a declaration and reagitate trict Judge is final. 1945 O.W.N. (H.C.) trict Judge is final. 1945 O.W.N. (H.C.). 315=1945 A.L.J. 525. The reference within six months of the date of the award is within time under sec. 18 (2) (b). 49 I.C. 355. See also 1943 Mad. 327=(1943) 1 M.L.J. 66. No extension of time is allowable on the ground of minority under sec. 18. 64 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 448. After a reference has been made by the Collector it is not open to the Secretary of State to plead before the Court that the application by the owner was barred by limitation and that the reference ought not to have been made. 1923 A.L.J. 752=1932 A. 597. The final determination of the question as to whether the application for a reference under sec. 18 is barred by time or not must be made by the District Judge. The L.A. Officer has no jurisdiction to refuse to make the reference even if in his opinion the application is not in time under cl. (a) or cl. (b) of sub-sec. (2) of sec. 18 of the Act. 7 Luck. 578=137 I.C. 68=1932 O. 180. On this point, see also 1926 R. 135.

AWARD WHEN VALID.—An award signed by the Collector as L. A. Officer satisfies the requirements of the law as regards signature and official designation for the purposes of this Act. 48 P.R. 1914=24 I.C. 379. The actual payment of the compensation is not part of the Collector's award which is complete as soon as the Collector apportions the amount of the compensation between the parties. 17 I.C. 395 (1). A Collector's award under the Act becomes complete on the very day on which it is made, not when it is afterwards directed to be paid to claimant. 14 I.C. 537.

OMISSION TO CLAIM.—Omission to claim —Failure of landlord to demand reference —Tenant obtaining extra—Rights of party. 38 C.L.J. 265=1924 C. 158. A person who though a party to a reference did not press his claim to any part of the compensation, is not entitled to reopen the question in a civil suit. 32 I.C. 922. In a land acquisition case, no question for which the objector has not asked the Collector to make a reference to the Civil Court under Sec. 18 can be noted. 180 P.L.R. 1914=24 I.C. 903.

APPEAL.—There is strictly speaking no right of appeal against an order of the District Judge declining to make an award on a reference under sec. 18. But the order refusing to make an award and remanding the case to the Collector clearly involves a material irregularity in the exercise of the special jurisdiction, which gives power to the High Court to interfere in revision with that order. 57 L.W. 467=1944 Mad. 539 =(1944) 2 M.L.J. 130. See also I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 69. Where a District Judge directs the return of a reference made to him under sec. 18, on the ground that he has no jurisdiction to deal with it, his order is not open to appeal to the High Court but the appeal, if preferred may be converted into a revision petition. 1938 A.L.J. 1161 =1939 All. 34.

REVISION—CONFLICT OF RULINGS.—The Collector making a reference under sec. 18 acts judicially and his proceedings are there-

Provided that every such application shall be made—

(a) if the person making it was present or represented before the Collector at the time when he made his award, within six weeks from the date of the Collector's award;

fore subject to revision by the High Court or Chief Court. 67 P.R. 1916=36 I.C. 213; 38 C.W.N. 844=1934 C. 758=61 C. 1041; 45 C.W.N. 792; 1938 A.L.J. 1181; 16 O.C. 374=22 I.C. 652; 1932 O. 180=137 I.C. 68; but see contra 47 B. 699=25 Bom.L.R. 398 =1923 B. 290; 54 All. 1085=1932 A.L.J. 769=1932 A. 568 (F.B.); 54 A. 282=1932 A. 598; 1930 L. 242=127 I.C. 711 (2); 1933 L. 242; 26 N.L.R. 309=1930 N. 271; I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 149; 1937 N. 12; 12 R. 275=1934 R. 118; 4 L.W. 535=36 I.C. 621; I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 100=1940 Lah. 299 =43 P.L.R. 408; I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 400= 41 C.W.N. 1301=1937 Cal. 705; 1938 A.L.J. 1161. But a mandamus may be issued in a proper case directing him to do a particular act. 36 I.C. 621=4 L.W. 535. It is competent for the High Court to interfere in revision in a suitable case with a decision of the Court on a reference made under sec. 18 (1). The Calcutta Improvement (Appeals) Act, 1911, by allowing an appeal from certain decisions of the tribunal to the High Court has the effect of making the tribunal a Court subordinate to the High Court within the meaning of sec. 115, C. P. Code. I. L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 69.

REFERENCE.—A reference made by the Collector to a Court under sec. 18 is neither a suit nor an appeal. The Court is, therefore, not competent to refer a case for the opinion of the High Court under O. 46, r. 1, C.P. Code. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 399= 1945 N.L.J. 274=1945 Nag. 146. The jurisdiction of the Court to entertain the reference is not ousted though the compensation money awarded by the Collector has been paid out. The Court has inherent power to re-call the money improperly paid out. 21 I.C. 111=17 C.W.N. 1087. See also 63 I.C. 1=1921 L. 153; 1930 Mad. 576=59 M.L.J. 30. Under sec. 18 a reference can only be made by a written application to the Collector requiring that the matter be referred for the determination of the Court. 26 O.C. 324=1924 O. 127. Proceedings under Part III amount to a new inquiry by the District Judge and not an appeal. 36 M. 395= 25 M.L.J. 17=12 I.C. 436. Can a District Judge ask the Collector to revise his award after reference to him under sec. 30. (Ibid.)

REVIEW.—The Collector acting under sec. 18, Land Acquisition Act, has no power to review his own order. 54 A. 282=1932 A. 598.

PAYMENT OF MONEY.—The right of a person to have a reference under sec. 18 is not affected by the opposite party having taken out the money from the Collectorate behind his back. 1 Pat.L.T. 143=56 I.C. 126. The Collector should not permit the money to be withdrawn before the expiry of the term fixed by sec. 18 for objecting to the award and applying for reference. 56 I.C. 126. L.A. Judge with whom a sum of money is deposited to a lunatic's credit cannot refuse compliance with the order of a District Judge in his lunacy jurisdiction directing payment of the money to the lunatic's natural guardian. 37 I.C. 110=20 C. W.N. 975.

AMENDMENT OF STATEMENT.—In an application for a reference under sec. 18 all that an applicant has to do is to state that he objected to the amount of compensation awarded; it is not incumbent on him to state whether he claimed compensation at a higher rate originally demanded by him or whether he limited it to some lesser amount. The Court has power to award compensation at the higher rate than originally claimed notwithstanding that in the application for reference only a lower rate is mentioned. The fact that a lower rate is claimed in the application does not necessitate an amendment of the statement of the claim, as without such amendment the Court has power to award the higher rate. 57 L.W. 179=1943 M.W.N. 213=1943 Mad. 337=(1943) 1 M.L. J. 278. But see also I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 69. The Court hearing a reference has the power to allow the reference petition to be amended, subject to the limitation that it cannot allow an amendment which would have the effect of introducing a new matter which had not been referred to it for decision by the Collector under sec. 18. Accordingly, where the matter referred to Court by the Collector is the objection to the amount of compensation, the Court has power to allow an amendment of the petition of reference by substituting a higher figure than that asked for in the petition. I.L.R. (1943) 1 Cal. 69, dissented from. 49 C.W.N. 206= 1945 Cal. 312; see also (1943) 1 M.L.J. 278. A reference petition would be quite in order, even if no amount is mentioned therein, where the reference raises an objection to the amount of the compensation awarded by the Collector. 49 C.W.N. 206=A.I.R. 1945 Cal. 312.

RIGHT OF SUIT—JURISDICTION.—In a land acquisition case party dissatisfied with award or with apportionment of compensation cannot have remedy by suit in Civil Court. 28 C.W.N. 506=1922 C. 4; 147 I.C. 877=30 N.L.R. 40=1933 N. 322. Where there is no adjudication by the Collector as to apportionment of compensation nor reference to District Court there is nothing to prevent a Civil Court from adjudicating a dispute between rival claimants. 92 I.C. 484=1926 L. 321.

SEC. 18 (2) (b).—The expression "date

Collector under section 12, sub-section (2), or within six months from the date of the Collector's award, whichever shall first expire.

of the award'' being indefinite, the Legislature meant the date of the filing of the award to be the date contemplated in cl. (b), sub-sec. (2) of sec. 18. If limitation is to start, it ought to start from the date of the filing of the award and not from the making of it. The date of the award is not the date on which it is filed. A comparison of secs. 11 and 12 will show that the date of making an award is meant by the Act to be different from the date on which the award is to be filed. Sec. 18 (2) proviso refers to the former. The date of the award is the date on which a formal declaration is made by the Collector of the amount of compensation and of the person to whom the same is payable. 27 A.L.J. 1186=1929 A. 769.

SECS. 18, 19 AND 20: POWERS OF COLLECTOR AND COURT.—The decision on a question of limitation on an application under sec. 18 rests with the Collector and not with the District Judge. Sec. 19 also indicates that the question of limitation is to be decided by the Collector. The District Judge cannot sit as a Court of Appeal over the Collector when the latter has come to the conclusion that the application is made within time. The function of the District Judge is confined to giving a decision on the objections raised. 189 I.C. 534=1940 Pesh. 35. Making a reference is an act within the jurisdiction and authority of the Collector Having made the reference it is not open to the Collector or the Secretary of State to say that the reference was wrongly made, although the ground for saying so may be that the application by the owner was belated. The ''Court'' does not sit on appeal over the Collector and the Act does not give any authority to the ''Court'' either in express terms or by implication to go behind the reference. 27 A.L.J. 1186=1929 A. 769.

SECS. 18 AND 21.—The jurisdiction of the Court on a reference by the Collector is a special jurisdiction. If the only objection is to the amount of compensation, that alone is the matter referred to and the Court has no power to determine or consider anything beyond what is referred. The question of title to the land acquired is therefore not relevant in a reference on the question of the amount of compensation only, because in an inquiry as to the amount of compensation the only question is how much more the claimant is to get and how much more is the Government to pay. The only question is the additional amount of compensation. It does not involve the determination of the question of the right to claim or the liability to pay any additional compensation. 187 I.C. 364=44 C.W.N. 411=1940 Cal. 56. Where in respect of a dispute as to the apportionment of compensation between a proprietor and three mukarraridars, a reference is made by the Collector under sec. 18 on applications by the proprietor and one of the makarraridars, the Court having seizin of the reference has power to investigate the claim of the other mukarraridars also, although there is no reference on their behalf and an application by them for reference would be beyond time under proviso (a) to sec. 18 of the Act. Their claims, or, in other words, the valuation of their interest could not be lost sight of or left undetermined in valuing the interest of the proprietor or the co-sharer mukarraridars. In complying with sec. 21 the Court has to consider the claims of the other mukarraridars as well. 12 B. R. 425=223 I.C. 553.

SEC. 18 TO 28: JURISDICTION—REMAND TO COLLECTOR FOR FRESH INQUIRY AND AWARD—LEGALITY.—The jurisdiction of the Court under secs. 18 to 28 is a jurisdiction to inquire into objections to the Collector's award and to make an award itself after hearing the relevant evidence. The Act does not empower the Court to remand the case to the Collector for fresh inquiry and for a further award. 57 L. W. 467=1944 Mad 539=(1944) 2 M.L.J. 130.

SECS. 18 AND 30.—The Collector must refer a question of title if required to do so by an application received within the prescribed time, but if an application is received after that time, he then has the option of referring the matter to the District Judge or refusing to do so and if the Collector, while forwarding the reference himself mentions that the application is received after the prescribed time, it is to be presumed that he is intentionally making a reference under sec. 30 of the Act. 43 P.L.R. 153=1941 Lah. 268=I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 50. The three main points of distinction between secs. 18 and 30 of Land Acquisition Act are that sec. 30 leaves the Collector with a power or discretion in the matter, which he does not possess under sec. 18; that the subject-matter of reference under sec. 30 is limited to cases in which Government is not directly interested and that sec. 18 alone contains a definite provision for limitation. 43 P.L.R. 153=1941 Lah. 268=I.L.R. (1942) Lah. 50.

SECS. 18 AND 31.—On a reference made to the Court under sec. 18 or sec. 31 of the Act, it is not open to the Court to decide the amount of compensation payable to a party who never asked for a reference and to give him a decree for anything more than what was awarded by the Land Acquisition Officer, in the absence of a reference made to the Court at the instance of such person. On a reference under sec. 18, the jurisdiction of the Court is confined to considering and pronouncing upon the objection which has been raised in the written application for the reference. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 753=1941 Mad. 660=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 527.

Collector's statement to the Court.

19. (1) In making the reference, the Collector shall state for the information of the Court, in writing under his hand,—

(a) the situation and extent of the land, with particulars of any trees, buildings or standing crops thereon;

(b) the names of the persons whom he has reason to think interested in such land;

(c) the amount awarded for damages and paid or tendered under sections 5 and 17 or either of them, and the amount of compensation awarded under section 11; and

(d) if the objection be to the amount of the compensation, the grounds on which the amount of compensation was determined.

(2) To the said statement shall be attached a schedule giving the particulars of the notices served upon, and of the statements in writing made or delivered by, the parties interested respectively.

Service of notice.

20. The Court shall thereupon cause a notice specifying the day on which the Court will proceed to determine the objection, and directing their appearance before the Court on that day, to be served on the following persons, namely:—

(a) the applicant;

(b) all persons interested in the objection, except such (if any) of them as have consented without protest to receive payment of the compensation awarded; and

(c) if the objection is in regard to the area of the land or to the amount of the compensation, the Collector.

SECS. 19 (1) (d): BURDEN OF PROOF.—The onus is on the claimant to show that the award is calculated on a wrong basis, but if the award was made without taking any evidence, the Collector has to justify his award under sec. 19 (1) (d). 24 I.C. 141=27 M. L.J. 106. As to mode of valuation, see 11 C.L.J. 612=6 I.C. 457. See also 36 C. 967.

SECS. 19 AND 31: TENANTS NOT MADE PARTIES TO REFERENCE—MATTER HOW TO BE DEALT WITH.—Where the Collector fails to name all persons interested in the land when he makes the reference, it is only a mere irregularity and it does not vitiate the reference. Where the tenants are not made parties to a reference, in their absence the matter would have to be dealt with as one between malguzar and the Collector. If the Collector has paid the malguzar too little he must make good the difference and the fact that he has possibly overpaid the tenants must be ignored so far as the reference proceedings are concerned. I.L. R. (1942) Nag. 740=1942 N.L.J. 303=A. I.R. 1942 Nag. 86.

SEC. 20.—Notice to Collector is necessary only in a case where the objection is in regard to the area of the land or to the amount of compensation. 1933 R. 176=11 R. 344. Reference to tribunal on question of amount of compensation—Tribunal declaring claimant to be entitled to enhanced compensation—Declaration based on compromise between claimants to property—Secretary of State for India is necessary party. 44 C.W. N. 411=1940 Cal. 56.

SEC. 20 (c).—Under sec. 20 (c), Secretary of State is not interested as a party in the distribution or apportionment of the compensation. 20 A.L.J. 604=1922 A. 438 (2). If a person to whom a wrong award of compensation is alleged to have been made is not impleaded as a party respondent to the appeal by a claimant, the Court cannot award him any relief. 1922 A. 438. The term "interested" in sec. 20 (b) is wide enough to include both, the persons interested in supporting or opposing the applicant for reference; that means cl. (b) must have reference to parties having conflicting claims to the compensation either whole or part, as against the applicant and otherwise. 223 I. C. 553. Where a reference is made at the instance of the owners of a dominant tenement on the ground that the Collector's award in their favour was too low, the Collector ought to be given notice under sec. 20, in addition to the owner of the servient tenement, and the case should be tried not as an apportionment case but as a valuation case, which under the provisions of the Calcutta Improvement Act could be tried only by the Tribunal composed of the President and the two assessors. 49 C.W.N. 203=79 C.L.J. 105=A.I.R. 1945 Cal. 142.

Restriction on scope of proceedings.

21. The scope of the inquiry in every such proceeding shall be restricted to a consideration of the interests of the persons affected by the objection.

Proceedings to be in open Court.

22. Every such proceeding shall take place in open Court, and all persons entitled to practise in any Civil Court in the province shall be entitled to appear, plead and act (as the case may be) in such proceeding.

Matters to be considered in determining compensation.

23. (1) In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for land acquired under this Act, the Court shall take into consideration—

SEC. 21.—In competition between landlord and tenant the reasonable course is to find the value of the land as a whole first. The question of rights between the landlord and tenant is to be raised subsequently as between them. The valuation of the land should be ascertained by considering cases of similar sales. It is not a proper method of approach to value the different interests separately unless it is quite clear what the rights of the different parties are and unless the evidence affords instances of dealings in exactly the same rights as are in question. 58 C. 1345=1935 I.C. 438=1932 C. 143. See also 92 I. C. 484=1926 L. 321; cited under sec. 18, supra.

SEC. 23.—Sec. 23 is not exhaustive. It does not direct that no other matters than those specified in the section may be taken into account. In special cases the Court may take other matters into consideration. 44 Bom.L.R. 57=1942 Bom. 105=47 Bom.L. R. 893=(1942) Bom. 403. Assesment of compensation—Agreement between parties not binding on District Judge. See 50 C.W. N. 401=(1946) 1 M.L.J. 333 (P.C.).

MARKET-VALUE.—The market-value of land is roughly the price which an owner willing, and not obliged to sell, might expect from a willing purchaser. 18 I.C. 638=17 C.L.J. 34; 1926 M. 732=50 M.L.J. 566; 5 R. 799. See also 57 I.C. 301=23 O.C. 89. In land acquisition proceedings decisions as to market values in so far as they are determined by prices paid by the purchaser recently should not be harsh or unduly depreciative; I. L.R. (1945) Nag. 847=1945 N.L.J. 418. The expression 'market-value' in sec. 23 means in the case of land, its value measured by a consideration of the prices that have been obtained in the past for land of similar quality and in similar positions. 66 I.A. 104= I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 532=43 C.W.N. 557=1939 P.C. 98=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 45 (P.C.). The phrase "market value of the land" as used in sec. 23 (1) means "value to the owner". The value of the land to the owner therefore must be the basis for the determination of the compensation. But the standard must be not a subjective standard but an objective one. Ordinarily, the objective standard would be the price that an owner willing and not obliged to sell might reasonably expect to obtain from a willing purchaser with whom he was bargaining for the sale of the property. The property must be valued not only with reference to its condition at the time of the declaration but its potential value must be taken into consideration. In assessing the potential value any advantage due to the carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired must be excluded. The value to the owner may also be determined by capitalizing the rent. If the land is likely to continue to produce the same rent which is being paid for it, that rent does offer the basis on which the value is to be calculated. If the rent that is paid represents a fair local rate at the time and is not a fancy rent, there is some certainty that the same rent would be paid. 48 C.W.N. 609. The market value referred to in sec. 23 means the market value of the concrete piece of land to which the notification under sec. 4 of the Act applies and not separate interests in it. The normal method is to take the market value of the land and then to apportion that amongst the different interests; but the Act does not lay down any hard and fast rule and in special cases it may be desirable to adopt a different method by valuing separately each interest in the land. 44 Bom.I.R. 57=I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 403=1942 Bom. 105. Lands are bought and sold by bargaining. Land acquisition operations are carried on at places where for generations there has not been any sale of land whatsoever. The place is such where no one wants to buy land. In such cases where there is no prevailing price of land nor any standard of comparison, market value must be ascertained by finding out the income which the land was bringing to the owner and then capitalizing it on the principle of reinstatement. 1938 Pat. 618. In determining compensation under sec. 23 what has to be done first is to find out what is the market value of the land itself irrespective of any consideration as to how it is held. The next step would be to apportion the value among the several parties holding distinct and separate interests in the land. 1929 A.L.J. 522=1929 A. 525. The function of the Court in awarding compensation under the Land Acquisition Act is to ascertain the market value of the land at the date of the notification under sec. 4 (1). The number of years' purchase which should be adopted in a given case must vary with individual cases and must be decided upon the material placed before the Court. Where definite material is not forthcoming either in the shape of sales of neighbouring land at or about the date of the notification or otherwise the Court can only proceed to do th best it can under the circumstance. In the absence of evidence, the twenty years' purchase should be adopted as the basis for fixing the market value and that is the rule ordinarily adopted in practice. 55 L.W. 763=A.I.R. 1942 Mad. 739=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 512=I.L.R. (1943) Mad. 127. See also 1943 All. 238. On acquisition due allowance must be made for the probable use which would have given the dispossessed owner the best return and not merely its present use or disposition. The presumption must always be that a man makes the best use of his own property. It is not sufficient to rely on hypothetical building schemes but the owner must show that he was going to make a certain use of his property which would have brought him in profits or that he would have made such use of it had he not been prevented by Court to give an enhanced value to that property on acquisition by Government. 1931 L. 364=135 I.C. 183; 12 L. 117=1931 L. 207; 64 I.C. 146. The valuation with reference to one plot which is very close to the acquired land cannot form the basis of valuation with regard to the lands far apart but where the distance between the plots is so negligible as 75 yards it does not make any difference when valuing a land on the locality if the valuation is based on a document with reference to one plot in the locality which is of the same description with similar advantages as the other plots. Similarly land outside the Municipal limits can be valued in the same way as land in close proximity to the Municipal area. 1933 C. 312=143 I.C. 367. The mere fact that the High Court has in a particular case given 16 years' purchase to a person claiming compensation under the Land Acquisition Act is not a sufficient basis for giving 16 years' purchase in all such cases. HOUSE PROPERTY IN CANTONMENT AREA.—A return of 12 per cent. per annum, may be taken to be fair and reasonable for an investment of money in house property in a cantonment area; compensation payable in respect of such a property can be calculated on that basis. In respect of land held by a person on cantonment tenure the Government retain the power of resumption at any time on giving one month's notice. If they give that notice they are required to pay the value of such buildings as may have been authorised to be erected. The correct principle in valuing under the Land Acquisition Act such a building apart from the site is to ascertain the cost of reproducing the buildings at the time of the compulsory acquisition allowing for depreciation in consideration of the age and condition of the buildings, and for the cost of necessary repairs, and there is no room for assessing, upon an assumed rental basis, the compensation for the valuation of the buildings as materials standing upon a site, but liable to be removed at any moment. Under sec. 23 in determining the market value of the land to be acquired, the sale prices of similar types of land in similar positions in the past as well as after the notification under sec. 4 (1) of the Act, the fact that the land was at the time of determining its value being used for building purposes, a proposal to convert the sub-division in which the land was situate into a district resulting in acceleration of high price for the land, can all be taken into account even though the aforesaid factors have come into being after the notification under sec. 4 (1) of the Act. 194 I.C. 212.=1941 Pesh. 32. It is wrong to say that only the lease money of the land in dispute could be considered for arriving at its value and not the lease money accruing from the lands in the vicinity. In considering the claim of the owner, the value to be paid for is the value to the owner as it existed at the date of taking, not the value to the taker. The value to the owner consists in all advantages which the land possesses, present or future, but it is the present value alone of such advantages that falls to be determined. Again the value to be assessed is the value to the old owner who parts with his property and not the value to the new owner who takes it over. Where the old owner takes the property subject to restrictions, it is necessary to inquire how far these restrictions affect the value. In determining the burden of the restrictions one circumstance to consider is the chance of such a restriction being determined. When there was evidence to show that the area acquired was so situate as to make it possible that within a reasonable period some of it would become a building site, some allowance was made for such a possibility. 1933 M. 190=145 I.C. 604. MARKET-VALUE, DATE OF.—The market value is the value to the seller of the property in its actual condition at the time of expropriation with all its existing advantages and with all its possibilities, excluding any advantage due to the carrying out of the scheme for the purpose for which the property is compulsorily acquired. 26 S.L.R. 321=1931 S. 67=131 I.C. 178; 163 I.C. 172 =1936 R. 226; 40 C.W.N. 1143=1936 C. 688. See also 223 I.C. 553; 17 S.L.R. 288=1925 S. 112=I.L.R. COMPENSATION — PRINCIPLES APPLICABLE. —The value of land should be calculated with reference to the most lucrative and advantageous way in which the land might be used. The special adaptability of the land acquired cannot be ignored in the determination of its market value. Such value consists of all advantages which the land possesses present or future, but, it is the present value alone of such advantages that falls to be determined. The operative effect of special adaptability or future utility must be estimated not by idle speculation and unpractical imagination but by prudent business considerations such as would weigh with an intending purchaser at the imaginary market which would have ruled had the land been exposed for sale when it was subjected to compulsory acquisition. 8 P. 793=1929 P. 733; 58 C.L.J. 38=1934 C. 97. If the owner wants compensation for the land irrespective of the consideration that it is a land used to grow a certain crop and then separately claims compensation for the loss of income from the crop, he cannot be penalised simply because he claimed under two heads what he ought to have claimed under the head of market value. The fact that the claim under one head was placed somewhat low and a higher claim was made under another head, should not stand in the way of giving full market value to the owner which may be held to be a fair market value in respect of these lands. 17 Pat. 760=1938 Pat. 618. Where land was situated within municipal limits surrounded by three roads and a line of railway; held, the land near the railway godown possessed a high potential value and assessing its value at four annas a yard was held not wrong. 118 I.C. 541=1929 L. 112. An owner of land is entitled to the value to himself of the property in its actual condition at the time of expropriation with all its then existing advantages and with all its future possibilities excluding only any advantages due to the carrying out of the scheme for the purposes for which the property is being acquired. 33 C.W.N. 458=1929 P.C. 92=57 M.L. J. 81 (P.C.). Government should not reduce compensation payable, by merely announcing in advance its intention of acquiring a piece of land and thus throwing a 'cloud' on its market price before issuing notifications required by the Act. 1936 L. 599.

MARKET VALUE—GUIDING PRINCIPLES — POST-NOTIFICATION TRANSFERS—REFERENCE TO — PERMISSIBILITY — In valuing immovable property the Court is justified in taking a broad view as favourable to the owner as the evidence permits. But the findings must be based on evidence and legitimate deductions from it and if there is an appeal both the evidence and deductions are subject to reconsideration by the Court of appeal. In determining the value of land post-notification transactions need not necessarily be ignored. But if a considerable interval has elapsed the Court will attach little value to the subsequent sale. 35 Bom.L.R. 763=1933 B. 361. In a land acquisition proceeding the owner of the land acquired is entitled to rely on a sale deed relating to land in the vicinity of his land executed a day after the notification in the Gazette, when it is proved that the deed was executed in pursuance af an agreement entered into before the notification and that earnest money was paid by the vendee in pursuance of the agreement to sell. Such a deed is not only relevant but is good evidence of the market value of the land on the date on which the notification was issued. 55 L.W.460 =1942 M.W.N. 456=1942 Mad. 665= (1945) 2 M.L.J. 137.

"LOSS OF BUSINESS," MEANING OF.—The expression "loss of business" does not mean the profit that a person will make by using the corpus, (e.g., in the case of manufacturing bricks) the result of which would be that after some lapse of time the property would be altogether valueless. It means that a man pursuing some trade or business is compelled to give it up or carry it on elsewhere which would give him less profit than what he was making at the former place. Where the owner claimed compensation on the ground that he intended to use a part of the land acquired for the purpose of making bricks but the operations themselves had not been begun and there was nothing to show that such operations could not otherwise be conducted in the vicinity, held, that the claim on the ground of alleged loss of business was not sustainable. 56 C. 819=1929 C. 826.

AGRICULTURAL LAND.—Compensation in respect of agricultural land should be allowed on the basis of 20 years' purchase, in a case where the average annual income of the land is expected in perpetuity and the owner obtains it without any effort other than the signing of a lease. 25 S.L.R. 304=134 I.C. 1002 =1931 S. 168. Per Macpherson, J.—Although in most of the decisions, the cost of cultivation to be deducted from the value has been taken to be one-third and the number of years purchase at twenty those rules which might have been appropriate to pre-war times cannot be applied to post-war conditions in Chota Nagpur. Having regard to the conditions of tenancy, the limited right of sale, lack of demand and several other adverse conditions, the cost of cultivation may well be fixed at one half and the multiplier of years purchase at fifteen. 1932 P. 134=12 Pat.L.T. 659. Per Fazal Ali, J.—"Once it is found that the main principle on which the lands have been valued is correct, it is neither usual nor proper for the High Court to lightly disturb the conclusion arived at by the Courts which must be assumed to be familiar with the local conditions merely because more than one view is possible as to what are mere details". 12 Pat.L.T. 659. In awarding compensation based on rent actually received, regard should be had to the question whether the lease was one for a considerable period and the rent received was an amount which was likely to be received for a lengthy period. If it was a long lease or one which was not likely to be determined early, the rent may be taken as an index to the value. If, on the other hand, it is a short lease and the bargain was one such as the landlord was hardly ever likely to get once again it cannot be made a basis for computing the market value. 34 Bom.L.R. 1457=1933 B. 37.

SEC. 23 (2): SCOPE.II depends on the circumstances of each case at what rate the property should be capitalized. 25 S.L.R. 285 =131 I.C. 222=1931 S. 52.

INAM LAND.—In determining the compensation payable for inam land under the Act the element of non-transferability of the land cannot enter into consideration . The publication of the declaration under sec. 6 has the effect of removing all restrictions on the rights of the owner and consequently lifts the embargo on its transferablity. So after the declaration, the inam land stands on the same footing as any freehold land. 142 I.C. 364= 1933 N. 208. See also 40 Bom.L.R. 432=1938 Bom. 325. Where the inam was granted in pre-British period to the ancestor of the present holder as remuneration for service as a Kazi, held, that even if the grant meant an assignment of revenue and not of land, it was capable of being regarded as an alienated land within the meaning of sec. 4 (17), Berar Land Revenue Code, 1896 and sec. 2 (2) of the Berar Land Revenue Code 1928; and as the grant had been confirmed under R. 4 of the Berar Inam Rules the grantee was a superior holder with an interest in the land and not a mere licensee. 142 I.C. 364=1933 N. 208. Even if no action is taken under sec. 31 (3) of the Act, the fact that the land was service inam cannot be ignorant, in computing the amount of compensation. Sec. 31 does not exclude the operation of sec. 23: on the other hand it pre-supposes the determination of the pecuniary value of the right or interest in the land held by the claimant in accordance with the direction contained in sec. 23; and sec. 31 (3) comes into operation only at the time of awarding a money compensation. 142 I.C. 364=1933 N. 208.

HOUSE PROPERTY AND BUILDINGS.—Where the subject to be valued for purposes of compensation is a building apart from the site, the value of the building has to be fixed by ascertaining the cost of reproducing the building at the present time and then allowing for depreciation in consideration of the age of the building and for the costs of such repairs as might be required apart from depreciation. 44 C.W.N. 5=66 I.A. 258=I.L.R. (1939) K. 363=50 L.W. 406=1939 P.C. 235=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 722 (P.C.). It has long been the practice of the Court in this Presidency to calculate the profits from any form of landed property as equal to the profits made by investing money in gilt-edged securities. In arriving at the proper value of a site with building thereon for the purpose of awarding compensation under the Land Acquisition Act the compulsory acquisition being at a time when the interest obtainable on Government securities is 3 per cent. the proper and correct course would be to capitalise the annual rental value of the property a 33 1|3 years' purchase. 54 L.W. 724=1941 Mad. 684=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 75. House property—Rent income —Compound appurtenant to house but in possession of cultivating tenant. 40 A. 367=44 I.C. 923=16 A.L.J. 301. House property— Onus—Principle of assesment, when based on rental value. 11 I.C. 62. House property— Valuation. 25 I.C. 393. In valuing house sites the value of the adjoining land, which is unfit for building purposes should not be taken as the basis. 14 I.C. 625=1912 M.W. N. 460. See also 1938 Cal. 75 (Premises abutting on common passage with an interest therein—Acquisition of path—Valuation). Where except for a small portion of land, the land in dispute had no value as a building site because the demand for buildings was limited, the value of the land should be assessed on the basis of what was its worth as an agricultural land. 1933 L. 508=146 I.C. 556.

FRONTAGE.—Frontage of 100 feet should be allowed. 112 I.C. 797=1928 L. 263 (33 B. 235, Rel. on). Where the value of the land in a popular locality, to be acquired under the Act, is to be determined, frontage, i.e., immediate contiguity to highway and where there is no frontage, propinquity and easy access to high road are the powerful elements of the value to be taken into consideration. 1936 C. 346.

BUILDING— DIFFERENCE BETWEEN FRONTAGE AND BACK.—A differentiation may be made in the properties acquired between frontage and back but no ratio can be fixed between the values of the former and of the latter as such case will turn on its own merits. The depth of frontage is a matter of importance and it can be best settled by assuming that the owner of a property will make the best possible use of it and that the actual "lay out" of the property at the time of acquisition was the most advantageous and lucrative, it being open to the owner to show that, owing to special circumstances such as minority or litigation or poverty or unbusinesslike methods, full advantage had not been taken of the property. 1931 L. 364=135 I.C. 183.

BUILDING WITH WALLS OF ARCHITECTURAL BEAUTY.—Where a land is acquired which contains walls of architectural beauty, the value of the walls cannot be assessed from that standpoint but only with regard to the materials used. 1933 L. 948. See also 1937 M.W.N. 1006.

RIGHT OF PRIVACY—INFRINGEMENT OF—COMPENSATION FOR.—The infringement of the right of privacy is an appropriate subject for compensation. 61 I.C. 245=38 C.W.N. 239=1934 C. 525.

BELTING SYSTEM—VALUE OF—FRONT AND BACK LANDS—SOUNDNESS OF DISTINCTION.—The value of belting system, though widely used, depends much on a variety of facts. It may be appropriate in the case of lands in populous and important towns, such as Calcutta. But in localities where land is sold by bighas or acres, and there is no real evidence of any proportionate diminution in value, the system must be regarded as unsatisfactory. Of course, there is a distinction in value between front lands and back lands everywhere, but that would not justify a recourse to the belting system in each and every case. It is a highly artificial system and cannot be resorted to as a hard and fast rule. 59 C. 921=1923 C. 25. See also 68 C. L.J. 90. A Municipality has no right or power under the District Municipal Act to refuse permission to build upon lands which the Municipality intends to acquire, and by this means prevent building sites from being used for building and thereby render them valueless, so that the Municipality may be enabled to acquire them under the Land Acquisition Act at a reduced valuation. In spite of the refusal of the Municipality to permit building, the lands must be valued on the basis of building sites and not otherwise; in other words the refusal of permission to build cannot be taken into account in valuing the lands for purposes of acquisition. 168 I.C. 705=39 Bom.L.R. 142=1937 Bom. 177.

FRUIT-BEARING TREES.—Fruit-bearing trees may be valued at twenty times the annual rental. 25 I.C. 393. In the case of a cocoanut tope, ten years' income may be fixed as the market-value. 23 L.W. 336=93 I.C. 639=1926 M. 945 (2). A land which has been assessed as a garden cannot also be assessed as an agricultural land. 1933 L. 948. See also 43 I.C. 17 (2)=2 P.L.J. 615.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Where a claim to apportionment of compensation between landlord and tenant is involved, the reasonable course is to find the value of the land as a whole first. The right between the landlord and tenant is to be raised subsequently as between them and not between the Secretary of State and the tenants. The valuation of the land should be ascertained by considering cases of similar sales. It is not a proper method of approach to value the different interests separately, unless it is quite clear what the rights of the different parties are and unless the evidence affords instances of dealings in exactly the same rights as are in question. 58 C. 1345=135 I.C. 438=1932 C. 143. See also 55 A. 897 =148 I.C. 100=1934 A.L.J. 8=1934 A. 239 (F.B.); 1933 C. 312=143 I.C. 367; 13 P. 221=150 I.C. 27=1934 P. 168; 42 C.W.N. 1191=1938 Cal. 740. In cases of apportionment of the compensation amount between the landlord and the tenant, it is almost impossible to lay down any rigid rule. In the vast majority of cases the apportionment is bound to appear arbitrary. The ratio of apportionment between them may be different in different cases and would depend on the particular facts admitted or proved. Where there is no evidence one way or the other it has to be made only on general considerations —namely to divide it according to the relative value of the interest of the landlord and tenant. Ratio of ten to six as between landlord and tenant was held to be fair. 1941 N.L.J. 620 The value of the interest of the superior holder must be included in the award and not deducted from the value of the occupant's interest. 25 Bom.L.R. 480=1924 B. 54. See also I.L.R. 1938 M. 431=46 L.W. 877=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 744. Where the landlords are by local custom entitled to a share of one-fourth of the purchase-money on the transfer of an occupancy holding, the right should be taken into account when the occupancy holding is acquired by the Government and the landlord is entitled to receive one-fourth of the compensation paid to the raiyat though unlike in the case of a private transfer the landlord has no power to withhold his approval to the acquisition. 11 P. 485=13 P.L.T. 46=1932 P. 120. The occupancy tenants usually pay to their landlords land revenue plus malikana at different rates. If the Court should assume that land revenue was equal to half the rent paid by a non-occupancy tenant, the proportion of the interest of the landlord and the occupancy tenant may be fairly taken to be the same as that between the malikana and the land revenue. 132 I.C. 698=1931 L. 649. RULE AS TO 20 YEARS' PURCHASE—APPLICABILITY TO ONE WHO ONLY HOLDS A LEASE.—It is only a full owner of land who normally gets compensation on the basis of 20 years' purchase. There is no reason why a person who holds a lease should get compensation on the same basis. What he would get would depend upon the terms of the lease and the length of time that he might be expected to remain in possession of the property. 1943 A.L.J. 87=1943 O.W.N. (H.C.) 208=1943 All. 238. See also (1942) 2 M.L.J. 512=1942 Mad. 739.

FREE-HOLD AND LEASE-HOLD LANDS.—The difference between a freehold piece of land and a piece of land leased for 999 years at a nominal rent and with no restrictive covenants would be purely sentimental. But, where there are restrictive covenants as time passes and the land changes hands, it becomes difficult to enforce the covenants between freeholders, while it is not difficult to enforce covenants against lessees. Covenants are more detrimental in the case of leaseholds than in the case of freeholds. 44 Bom.L.R. 57=1942 Bom. 105=I.L.R (1942) Bom. 403.

LESSEE UNDER LEASE FOR 99 YEARS FROM GOVERNMENT WITH PROSPECT OF BECOMING RYOTWARI PATTADAR—VALUATION—BASIS OF. —Where at the time of the issue of a notification under sec. 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, a person has a lessee's interest in the land sought to be acquired (he being a lessee under a lease from Government for 99 years), together with the prospect of having the land converted into a ryotwari tenure at the end of the period of the lease, and there is no reason to believe that the Government would not grant the lessee a ryotwari tenure at the end of his period or during it if he applied therefor, the market value of his interest, for the purpose of assessing compensation should be based on all the rights which the lessee has and on his potential rights. If the holding of the land under a ryotwari tenure had a value that value must increase the market value of the lessee's interest and that factor must therefore be considered in fixing the value of the lessee's right in the land. I.L.R. (1942) Mad. 831=1942 Mad. 596=55 L.W. 468=(1942) 2 M.L.J. 218.

ORCHARD LAND.—In valuing orchard land, regard is to be had—(1) to the recent selling price of a similar land in the neighbourhood; (2) to the suitability of the land for orchard purposes; and (3) to its situation with regard to the market. 43 I.C. 17 (2)=2 Pat.L.J. 615. See also 1933 L. 948.

NURSERY.—Where land with nursery is acquired, valuation should include the value of plants in the nursery which have come into existence between the date of the publication of declaration of intention to acquire and the date on which the Collector takes possession. 40 C.W.N. 1034.

QUARRY.—The compensation payable in respect of quarry must be based on the amount of workable stone likely to be got therefrom taken at a rate to be determined from the evidence. 44 I.C. 1. Special adaptability of a land as quarry is an element for consideration when the land is compulsorily acquired and the basis is the present value of the expected output. 44 M. 264=39 M.L.J. 623=1921 M. 324. Certain waste lands which had been leased out as a limestone quarry were sought to be acquired under the Land Acquisition Act. The lease was for 10 years and contained a clause for renewal for a further term of 10 years subject to certain conditions. The lessee claimed to be compensated for the value of all the limestone in the quarry less the cost of quarrying it. Held, that the claim of the lessee could not be allowed in the Central Provinces where the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act is not in force. There is no compensation which can be awarded to the owner of mines in this province as mines are owned by Government and further there is no question of compensation to any one having rights in the surface since the land is waste land and the surface rights are in Government. What is to be determined is the compensation to which the lessee is entitled by virtue of his having taken a lease for certain number of years from Government to work this particular quarry, and the market value of the lease has to be ascertained. Held, further, that although it is possible for a renewal clause in a lease to have a market value, it has no such value in this case. I.L.R. (1945) Nag. 847=1945 N.L.J. 418.

INQUIRY AS TO OTHER PROPERTY.—Where part of a person's land is acquired for a sewage depot, the close proximity of the depot to the other adjoining land of the person would lower its value; and compensation may be awarded for damage likely to be sustained. 22 I.C. 354=18 C.L.J. 244. See also 106 I.C. 909. An owner of land acquired for public purposes is entitled to be compensated for injuries to other lands notwithstanding the benefits that might accrue to him from the execution of the project. 31 I.C. 259.

PRICE ACCEPTED BY OTHER OWNERS OF ADJACENT LANDS, IF A GUIDE.—Where a Court ignores all the considerations pertinent to a claimant's own lands and finds itself exclusively on the evidence as to the price accepted for other plots (acquired at the same time) the conditions of which were not fully before it, the principle applied by the Court in awarding compensation on the basis of compensation accepted by the owners of other lands is erroneous. (1925 N. 292 reversed) 114 I.C. 587=1929 P.C. 92=57 M.L.J. 81 (P.C.).

DISTINCT INTERESTS.—It is competent to a judge to direct a portion of the compensation money to be paid towards the costs of the proceedings by which the money came to be awarded to an administratrix having a limited power of alienation. 65 I.C. 209 (39 C. 33, Ref.). =193 O.C. 230. Reversion—Value of. 168 I. C. 253=1928 N. 277. Where Government is seeking to acquire land subject to an easement, it has to pay compensation to the landowner, i.e., the owner of the servient tenement, and also to the owner of the easement, the value of the easement bears no relation to the value of the servient tenement. It cannot be assumed that the value of an easement or restrictive covenant to the person entitled thereto is the same as the amount by which the existence of that easement or covenant depreciates the value of the land subject thereto. 44 Bom.L.R. 57=1942 Bom. 105=I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 403. If the owner of an easement claims compensation for the acquisition of the easement, he is clearly entitled to compensation under the Act and the compensation is the value of the easement to him. If it happens that the easement is of no great value, then Government may acquire both the servient tenement and the easement at a price which is less than the market value of the land free from the easement. The value of the whole is greater than the combined value of the parts, and the increased value of the parts, and the increased value arising from the union of interests necessarily belongs to Government in whose hands the union takes place. Easements or restrictive covenants must prejudicially affect the value of the land, and it is impossible to say that the existence of those covenants though they may be of no benefit to the person entitled to enforce them, depreciates the land by only a nominal sum. There is nothing in the Act to suggest that any person interested is to be paid for anything except the interest which he possesses. 44 Bom. L.R. 57=1942 Bom. 105=I.L.R. (1942) Bom. 403. Where a possible contingent right to the land acquired is vested in a superior proprietor by way of reversion, even if the right is such as a right in embargo and may never fertilise, when Government compulsorily acquires the land from the usufructuary occupants whoever they are, the superior proprietor is entitled to a portion of compensation money in respect of his possible right to reversion which is cut off for ever by the compulsory acquisition. 128 I.C. 660=1930 P.C. 261 (P.C.). Where the premises acquired is a servient tenement the owner thereof would not be entitled to the "full market value" of his property. The easement depreciates its value to him, and the owner of the dominant tenement would be entitled to compensation for the loss of his right. It would follow from this that on the compulsory acquisition of the servient tenement a sum of money should be deducted from its "full market value" and the balance only should be awarded to its owner. But the sum so deducted would not necessarily be the value of the easement which may be more or may be less. Where the value of the easement is more than the sum deducted from the "full market value" of the servient tenement, the excess must be paid by the Government to the owner of the dominant tenement. 49 C.W.N. 203 =79 C.L.J. 105=1945 Cal. 142.

BURDEN OF PROOF AND EVIDENCE.—Where a claimant challenges the valuation made by the Special Land Acquisition Officer, the burden of proof is on him to prove that the valuation is insufficient and unfair. The price paid within a reasonable time in bona fide transactions relating to the land is the most cogent evidence of market value. So also admissions in solemn deeds by parties to a litigation. No doubt evidence of offers in respect of the land has to be considered by the Court but the probative value of such evidence is very low, for, offers alleged in land acquisition proceedings are scarcely ever bona fide. They can easily be arranged without any loss or inconvenience to either party; so, also, although the opinion of experts is evidence in such cases its value is not great and it would not be possible to place reliance on this kind of evidence unless it is supported by or coincided with other evidence; and where such evidence is not only not supported by or coincident with the best evidence in the case, but there is such divergence or disagreement on material points between the evidence of the so-called experts, no reliance can be placed over it. Moreover, even experienced architects and municipal land surveyors cannot be regarded as valuators or experts merely because in the course of their business or duty they have had an occasion to value some property here and there. 1938 Sind 225. The putting of written interrogatories to an expert witness for submission of written answers later on is an unusual procedure. 68 C.L.J. 90=1939 C. 143. Where in order to enable the determination of the market value of the acquired property, an award accepted by an owner of an adjacent property is produced in evidence, it is not obligatory on the part of the Government to examine such owner with reference to the circumstances under which the award came to be accepted. The Government using an accepted award, may or may not examine the owner or the person interested. 42 C.W.N. 27. That an award made by a L.A. Officer is wrong lies on the claimant. 106 I.C. 939. QUESTION OF FACT.—Rule as to ascertainment of value is not a question of fact. 56 C. 989. It is for the appellant to show that the assessment of the L.A. Officer is too low. (106 I.C. 909; 34 C. 599, Rel. on.) 1931 L. 364.

PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF.—In an appeal under the Act from the decision of the High Court which reversed the judgment of the Special L.A. Judge and affirmed the award of the Collector, where the appellant was unable to make out that there was any wrong application of principle by the High Court in rejecting the evidence of an expert on which the Special Judge chose to act, or that any important point in the evidence was overlooked or misapplied, the P.C., refused to disturb the conclusions of the High Court. 57 I.A. 223=1930 P.C. 249 (2)=59 M.L.J. 70 (P.C.).

POWER TO ENFORCE CONTRACT IN ABSENCE OF CONTRACTING PARTIES.—The L.A. Officer and the Court dealing with the matter on a reference from him have only to decide the market value of the property, subject to the considerations mentioned in that and the following sections. Neither the L.A. Officer nor the Court has power to enforce a contract as such in the absence of the contracting parties. 155 I.C. 280=1935 M. 279 (2).

SEC. 23, CLAUSE FOURTHLY—APPLICABILITY—"LOSS OF INCOME"—MEANING OF.—The loss of income which is contemplated in Clause fourthly of sec. 23 is the loss of personal income to the owner of the land. It contemplates a case in which, on account of the acquisition of a certain land, the value of other properties of the owner has deteriorated or the owner has suffered loss of his own income not derived from the land itself. The clause has no application in case the loss of income complained of is the loss of the income of the property itself which is being acquired. That loss of income is a factor to be taken into consideration in fixing the market-value of the land itself which the owner is to get under Clause firstly, sec. 23. The price of land is fixed on the basis that the owner should get full compensation for the loss of the income which he was getting from the land and this compensation is the market value of the land acquired. Therefore for the land itself the owner is not entitled to get anything more than the market value of the land and the statutory compensation payable to him under the law. He cannot get the market value of the land and then compensation for the loss of income from the land itself. 1938 Pat. 618=17 Pat. 760=20 Pat.L.T. 2093. The word "damage" in sec. 23 (1) (iv), must be construed as damage in carrying on a lawful business in a lawful manner and if the earnings of such a business are injuriously affected by reason of the acquisition, then the claimant would be entitled to compensation in respect thereof. But when the business is not one which is legally carried on, i.e., when the business carried on is not one in accordance with law, the damage resulting from the stoppage of such a business is not "damage" within the meaning of sec. 23 (1) (iv) and no compensation can be awarded under that head. 47 Bom.L.R. 853. The expression "loss of earnings" in sec. 23 (iv), means loss of earnings from a business which at the time of the acquisition was a going concern. Any provable diminution in the value of the good will in his trade consequent on the taking of the premises in which such trade is carried on and the consequential loss of his earnings would come within the term "earnings". It would not however, include prospective earnings. 47 Bom.L.R. 893.

SEC. 23 (2).—Award of 15 per cent. on market value on compulsory acquisition is a Court shall in every case award a sum of fifteen per centum on such market-value, in consideration of the compulsory nature of the acquisition.

Matters to be neglected in determining compensation.

24. But the Court shall not take into consideration—first, the degree of urgency which has led to the acquisition;

secondly, any disinclination of the person interested to part with the land acquired;

thirdly, any damage sustained by him which, if caused by a private person, would not render such person liable to a suit;

fourthly, any damage which is likely to be caused to the land acquired, after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, or by or in consequence of the use to which it will be put;

fifthly, any increase to the value of the land acquired likely to accrue from the use to which it will be put when acquired;

sixthly, any increase to the value of the other land of the person interested likely to accrue from the use to which the land acquired will be put; or seventhly, any outlay or improvements on, or disposal of, the land acquired, commenced, made or effected without the sanction of the Collector after the date of the publication of the [1][notification under section 4, sub-section (1)].

Rules as to amount of compensation.

25. (1) When the applicant has made a claim to compensation, pursuant to any notice given under section 9, the amount awarded to him by the Court shall not exceed the amount so claimed or be less than the amount awarded by the Collector under section 11;

SECS. 23 AND 24: OBJECT OF.—These sections only lay down rules for determining the market value and do not create any right on the part of the owners of the lands or the holders of interests therein to obtain compensation on the footing of their respective rights as at the date of the declaration. 60 C. 281=37 C.W.N. 14=1938 C. 522.

SEC. 24.—If the owner of a land invests more capital in the land after the publication of notification, he does so at his risk. 51 I.C. 501=16 A.L.J. 669. Excess area not really existing, but appearing in revenue records is not to be paid for. 42 I.C. 905=60 P.R. 1917. When agricultural land is acquired for mandi, the compensation should be assessed at the amount which similar land in the neighbourhood would fetch for purposes of agriculture. 57 P.R. 1913=17 I.C. 764.

SEC. 24 (5).—Sub-sec. (5), means that in valuing the land acquired, on the date of the notification under sec. 4 (1) of the Act; it must be valued as it then stood, and not as it would stand when the land had been acquired and used for the purpose for which it was acquired. But it does not mean that the possibility that a particular purchaser of land will give a higher price for it by reason of its possession a special adaptability must be disregarded merely because the land will be more valuable in his hands when he exploits that adaptability than it would be if left in the hands of the vendor who was unable to exploit it. 66 I.A. 104=I.L.R. Form of awards.

[1][26. (1)] Every award under this part shall be in writing signed by the Judge, and shall specify the amount awarded under clause first of sub-section (1) of section 23, and also the amounts (if any) respectively awarded under each of the other clauses of the same sub-section, together with the grounds of awarding each of the said amounts.

When Government made settlements in the Province of Agra, both permanent and temporary, as settlement of rights in the soil only, stone quarries were treated as a monopoly of Government and no rights of zamindars were recognized in stone quarries; and hence a zamindar whose land is acquired by Government under the Act cannot claim compensation for kankar, which comes under the definition of mineral, and which is essentially the property of Government. 53 All. 658=1931 A.L.J. 660=1931 A. 394. There is nothing in sec. 25 (1) which precludes the District Judge from introducing variations in different items that make up the award so long as the total amount is not reduced. 159 C. 257=1935 L. 653; 1936 Pesh. 217. Where no sufficient reason is given for not putting forward a claim under sec. 9, the Judge should not interfere with the award of the Collector. 37 A. 69=26 I.C. 795=12 A.L.J. 1319. Refusal or omission to appear according to sec. 9 (2) without sufficient cause, disentitles a claimant from getting a greater sum than that awarded by the Collector. 33 A. 376=9 I.C. 423=8 A.L.J. 115. A notice under sec. 9 was sent to the claimant by registered post so that he could make his claim for compensation. The claimant was a religious head and guru and did not attend to business affairs himself, but had a manager for that purpose. The notice was addressed to him at his residence; the receipt for it was signed by his clerk who passed on the notice to the claimant's manager. No steps were taken on the notice and there was no appearance. It appeared that the manager had been guilty of mismanagement and was dismissed and he did not inform the guru about the receipt of the notice: Held, that the claimant had shown "sufficient reason" within the meaning of sec. 25 for not appearing before the Collector pursuant to the notice under sec. 9. 46 Bom.L.R. 696=1945 Bom. 49. Where the claimants did not put in their claims at the time required by the notice under sec. 9, but did so later, the amount which the Court can award is governed by sec. 25. 1933 S. 124=143 I.C. 699. The fact that the Collector adjourned the inquiry sine die for making the award does not by itself extend the time for making the claim already fixed by the notice under sec. 9. 12 Pat.L.T. 659=1932 P. 134. See also 22 M.L.J. 379=14 I.C. 270; 57 C. 270; 57 C. 837=34 C.W.N. 323=1930 C. 471. SEC. 25 (1), (2) AND (3) AND SEC. 9 (3).—Even a personal notice under sec. 9 (3) should give the occupier of land an interval of fifteen days for stating his claim for compensation. A notice fixing a shorter term is in contravention of the statute and amounts to a 'sufficient reason' within the meaning of sec. 25 (3) for the omission of the claimant to make his claim and the stringent provisions of sec. 25 (2) cannot be applied to such a case. Where the owner of a certain land failed to submit his claim for compensation in pursuance of the notice under sec. 9 and the I.A. (2) When the award of the Collector is not upheld, the costs shall ordinarily be paid by the Collector, unless the Court shall be of opinion that the claim of the applicant was so extravagant or that he was so negligent in putting his case before the Collector that some deduction from his costs should be made or that he should pay a part of the Collector's costs.

the Act from enhancing the amount awarded by the officer. 53 M. 533=1930 M. C18 =50 M.L.J. 33.

SEC. 26 (2).—The new sub-sec. (2) of sec. 26 of the Act does not have the effect of enabling an appeal to His Majesty in Council from a judgment and decree of the High Court, Calcutta, on appeal from an award of the Calcutta Improvement Tribunal in respect of land compulsorily acquired under the Calcutta Improvement Act. (39 I.A. 197, Ref.)=51 I. A. 259=1931 P. C. 149 =61 M.L.J. 864 (P.C.). Under sec. 26 (2), 'judgment' includes a decision of the High Court in a L.A. appeal from an award of the L.A. Judge. The decision in such appeal is appealable under cl. 15, Letters Patent (Calcutta). I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 699=40 C. W.N. 1143=1936 C. 688. Where there were several connected references under the Act and they were all disposed of by a single award, and appeals were preferred in all the cases: Held, that a copy of the award must accompany the memorandum in each appeal. 6 L. 218=94 I.C. 145=1925 L. 438; 104 I.C. 281. Although sec. 26 requires the Judge to specify in his award the several particulars referred to therein, it is sufficient for the L. A. Officer under sec. 11 to state what he considers to be a fair compensation to be allowed for the whole of the land under acquisition and how it should be apportioned, Sec. 25 refers to the whole claim made by the claimant, and the whole amount of compensation awarded to him under sec. 11, and empowers the Judge to alter the award of the L.A. Officer under any one or more of the sub-heads by either decreasing or increasing the amount awarded, provided he did not award less than the total amount awarded by the officer or more than the total amount claimed before that officer by the claimant. 27 S.L.R. 84=1933 S. 21. Award under secs. 11 and 26—Difference between. See 1933 R. 176=11 R. 344, cited under sec. 11, supra.

SEC. 27.—The same method of calculating costs should be adopted in land acquisition cases as in ordinary suits. 37 I.C. 730=126 P.R. 1916. A claimant for compensation in a land acquisition matter is in the position of a plaintiff who has sued to recover a sum of money and when it is found that he is not entitled to success under the provisions of the law relating to the subject, there is no ground upon which the tribunal hearing the claim could deprive the opposite party, the Secretary of State, of the costs to which he would be entitled under the ordinary provisions of the law. There is no justification for refusing such costs on sentimental grounds. 1942 O.W.N. 131=1942 A.L.J. 141 =1942 All. 186=200 I.C. 634. For a case where Collector was ordered to pay claimant's costs though claim was extravagant, see 1928 L. 263. The word "persons" in sec. 27 (1) of the Land Acquisition Act cannot be construed as referring only to persons who are parties to the proceedings. The language of sec. 27 (1) is clear, and must on the face of it give power to the Court to order costs to be paid by a person whether he be an actual party or not. A person who is present before the Court as trustee of a devasthanam, though he has no personal interest in putting forward the claim, may be made liable for costs. Sec. 27 (1), in no way conflicts with or limits or restricts the provisions of sec. 35, C.P. Code. Reading sec. 27 (1) of the Land Acquisition Act with sec. 35, C.P. Code, it must be held that the Court has jurisdiction in a suitable case to direct the costs to be paid by the trustee of a devasthanam personally although he merely represents the devasthanam in the proceedings, when he makes a most extravagant claim and acts recklessly and when it would be unjust to call upon the real party (devasthanam) to meet the burden of costs. 52 L.W. 660=1941 Mad. 198=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 753. Where the Collector awarded compensation at Rs. 26 a cent and the claimant appealed claiming at Rs. 31 and the Court awarded compensation at Rs. 28 but disallowed his costs: Held, that under the circumstances the Collector should have been directed to pay the claimants costs, because the claim was not extravagant and there was no negligence in putting it forward. 1932 M.W.N. 853. See also 1937 M.W.N. 1006. The general rule is that costs should follow the event. The appellate Court should interfere with the exercise of discretion by the lower Court as to costs when there has been any misapprehension of facts, or violation of any established principle or where there has been no exercise of discretion at all. Where, in certain land acquisition proceedings, the Court refused to award costs to the Government, because the uncertainty of the market created by the boom and its aftermath were greatly responsible for the exaggerated demands put forward by the owners before the Judge: Held, that the reasons were inadequate to deprive the successful Government of their costs in the lower Court. 53 B. 178=30 Bom.L.R. 1622=1929 B. 64. Once a proper reference comes before the Court, the order passed in an award, whether the Judge gives an additional amount or not, or whether the Acquisition Officer's decision is not upheld for some other reason, and there should be a direction regarding the costs. Where the award of the Collector was not upheld by the Court because the Government had backed out of the acquisition after the reference was made: Held, that the claimant was entitled to his costs. 1931 M. 26 (1)=59 M.L.J. 682. Sec. 27 (2) is limited to the proceedings in the Court of first instance. Costs of the proceedings in the higher Courts are at their discretion. 33 Bom.L.R. 1210=1931 B. 520.

28. If the sum which, in the opinion of the Court, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation, the award of the Court may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date on which he took possession of the land to the date of payment of such excess into Court.

Sec. 28.—Under sec. 28, it is within the discretion of a Court to declare interest where a larger amount of compensation has been given than was awarded by the Collector. 53 All. 658=1931 A.L.J. 660=1931 A. 394. The claimant is entitled to interest on the excess amount awarded by the District Court from the date of possession by the Collector up to the date of actual payment of such excess in Court and not up to the date of the award only. 1933 S. 21=146 I.C. 1040=27 S.L.R. 84. Interest can be awarded only from the date when Collector takes possession and not from the date of award. 1926 M. 732=50 M.L.J. 566. When the amount is enhanced by the District Judge, claimant is entitled to interest on the difference. 1928 L. 263=112 I.C. 797. See also I.L.R. SEC. 29.—Principles of apportionment of compensation among zamindar, jotedar and raiyat. 40 C. 64=17 C.W.N. 1001=18 I.C. 551. Where the jagirdar or intermediate tenure-holder claims compensation to the extent of the amount which the zamindar had agreed to grant abatement in the rent, it is necessary for him to show that he has a permanent interest, that the landlord had parted with his prima facie right to enhance the rent and that the rent was mokarrari. Prima facie the zamindar has the whole of the interest; it is for the tenure-holders to show of what part of the interest the zamindar has divested himself in their favour. 140 I.C. 385=36 C.W.N. 866=1933 C. 21. In apportioning the compensation between landlord and tenant, the Court should proceed on the principle of ascertaining what is the value of the interest of the landlord on the one land and that of the tenant on the other and apportion the compensation according to those values. 32 P.L.R. 864=1932 L. 123 (2). Apportionment of compensation—Objection not taken—Effect on award. 11 C. 304. On this section, see also 33 B. 483=11 Bom.L.R. 674; 17 Bom.L.R. 192; 18 C.W.N. 531; 34 B. 618; 16 C.L.J. 301; 1 L.W. 767.

SECS. 29 AND 30.—As between lessor and lessee the acquisition should not place either party in a better or a worse position than he was before the acquisition. The acquisition transforms the property into a certain sum of money, but the rights of the parties relatively to this sum ought to be the same as they were with reference to the property. Where a property is subject to a lease, theoretically speaking, the total compensation for the property should be the sum total of the compensation payable in respect of the interests of lessor and lessee. If the total compensation is not however arrived at by separately calculating the interest of lessor and lessee, the amount should be divided between them in such proportions as would represent the value of their respective interests, whatever is obtained by one party, the other takes the balance, and this ensures to each payment of the proportionate value of his interest. In an apportionment between lessor and lessee, it ought not surely to make a difference whether the lessor's or the lessee's interest is first valued and paid for. 67 C.L.J. 532=42 C.W.N. 1191=1938 Cal. 740. Land and buildings thereon owned separately—Principle of apportionment discussed. See 54 I.A. 213=54 C. 669=53 M.L.J. 158 (P.C.).

30. When the amount of compensation has been settled under section 11, if any dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof, or as to the persons to whom the same or any part thereof is payable, the Collector may refer such dispute to the decision of the Court.

Dispute as to apportionment.

PART V.

PAYMENT.

31. (1) On making an award under section 11, the Collector shall tender payment of the compensation awarded by him to the persons interested entitled thereto according to the award, and shall pay it to them unless prevented by some one or more of the contingencies mentioned in the next sub-section.

Payment of compensation or deposit of same in Court.
